Title 3—The President

PROCLAMATION 4526

National Employ the Handicapped
Week, 1977*By the President of the United States of America*

A Proclamation

America needs the talents and energies of all her citizens, including the physically and mentally handicapped. But many handicapped people have been kept from full participation in our society. To the handicaps they must overcome have been added the barriers of an environment constructed without them in mind, a lack of equal education, and exclusion from rewarding and useful employment.

In recent months, however, progress has been dramatic. New laws are promoting equality for handicapped people. The recent White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals stimulated plans for the future. New ideas in education, housing, jobs, and transportation are adding to the opportunities for handicapped people to be independent, to lead fuller lives and to contribute to society. In support of these goals, I have asked the heads of Executive departments and agencies to set an example for fair employment practices by demonstrating what can be done to make the fullest possible use of the abilities of qualified handicapped people.

To affirm our commitment to the handicapped, the Congress, by joint resolution of August 11, 1945, as amended (36 U.S.C. 155), has called for the designation of the first week in October of each year as National Employ the Handicapped Week.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JIMMY CARTER, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week beginning October 2, 1977, as National Employ the Handicapped Week. I urge all Governors, Mayors, and other public officials, leaders in business and labor, and private citizens to take affirmative action to ensure equal employment opportunities for handicapped people and to join during this week and afterwards to work toward full equality in all aspects of American life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 27th day of September, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred seventy-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and second.

Title 13—Business Credit and Assistance CHAPTER III—ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

PART 307—TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE, RESEARCH AND INFORMATION

Subpart D—State and Local Economic Development Planning Grants

REQUIREMENTS FOR OBTAINING GRANTS AGENCY: Economic Development Administration, Commerce.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule revises the regulations which set forth the requirements for obtaining State and local economic development planning assistance under one of the planning grant programs administered by EDA. The present regulations need to be revised because they fail to distinguish adequately between time of assistance available, and because they did not reflect certain changes made to the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965. This rule is intended to implement the amendments to the Act, to clarify the format of the regulations, and to make certain administrative changes.

DATES: Effective date: September 29,
1977. Comments by: October 31, 1977.

ADDRESSES: Send comments to: Assistant Secretary for Economic Development, U.S. Department of Commerce, Room 7800B, Washington, D.C. 20230.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CON-TACT:

Information on regulations: James F.
Marten, U.S. Department of Commerce, Room 7009, Washington, D.C.
20230. (202-377-5411).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:
This publication amends 13 CFR Part 307, Subpart D by revising the following regulations:

1. 13 CFR 307.51 is amended by modifying paragraphs (a) through (e) and redesignating paragraphs (c) through
(e) as new 13 CFR 307.52. EDA is making these format changes to clarify the distinction between planning grants under section 302(a) of the Act to State and sub-State entities and grants under section 302(b) of the Act to economic development districts. As amended, new section 307.52, "Types of grants", describes the nature of the assistance which EDA offers under Subpart D.

2. 13 CFR 307.52(a)(1)(ii), as amended and redesignated, requires States to cooperate with their political subdivisions, cities and economic development districts in conducting their planning process. Section 307.52(a)(1)-

(ii) also requires State plans resulting from this process to be consistent with the plans developed by these sub-State entities. EDA is making these changes in 13 CFR 307.52(a)(1)(ii) to conform to the amendment made by section 110 of
Pub. L. 94-487.

3. The addition of a new 13 CFR
307.52 requires technical changes to current sections 307.52 through 307.58.
Accordingly, these sections are redesignated as 13 CFR 307.53 through 307.59.

13 CFR 307.53, as redesignated, is amended by deleting the requirement in paragraph (a)(3) that cities and counties meet "EDA eligibility criteria." The requirement had reflected a policy decision to contain the number of applicants in view of the limited funds appropriated. EDA no longer believes this requirement is necessary and may serve to hinder the accomplishment of the broader objectives of the Act.

Redesignated § 307.53 is amended further by deleting the final six lines of paragraph (a)(4). This change is necessitated by a related change made to § 307.56(b), as redesignated and discussed below.

4. 13 CFR 307.55, as redesignated, is amended by modifying paragraph (a)(2) to emphasize that State planning assisted under this subpart must be part of continuing process. This rule in the past failed to inform applicants adequately that the State economic development planning must be an ongoing process of analysis, evaluation and reevaluation.

In addition, EDA amends 13 CFR
307.55(a) by adding a new paragraph (4). This new paragraph requires States to utilize their planning process in the recommendation of potential projects for funding under section 304 of the Act.
EDA is adding this new paragraph to ensure that States utilize their planning process in determining which projects receive section 304 funds allocated to each State under 13 CFR Part 312.

EDA amends paragraph (c)(1) of redesignated 13 CFR 307.55 by requiring the chief executive officer of cities or counties receiving grants to certify that he has the authority to implement programs and projects resulting from the planning process. This amendment provides for uniform administration and will help to ensure that grantees coordinate all phases of their economic development planning.

Paragraph (c)(3) of redesignated
§ 307.55 is amended to follow the language of the statute more closely. Previously, EDA had required that the "primary emphasis" of planning assisted under this subpart be to reduce unemployment and increase incomes. While reducing unemployment and increasing incomes remain an important and integral part of planning assistance under this subpart, EDA now believes that the "primary emphasis" requirement is unnecessarily restrictive.

5. 13 CFR 307.56, as redesignated, is amended by deleting the final five lines of paragraph (b). Previously, these lines had prohibited the use of section 302 funds for preparation of overall economic development planning (OEDP) documents. This prohibition was put in the regulations to assure that section 302 funds did not supplant section 301(b) funds as required by section 302 of the Act. In administering the program, EDA has found that this prohibition has on occasion required a grantee to prepare separate economic development plans for planning assisted section 301(b) of the Act and for that assisted under section 302(a) of the Act. Since section 302 of the Act was intended to foster planning among all levels of government, EDA believes that the preparation of separate plans is unnecessary and impractical and may hinder the grantee's planning process. While section 302 assistance may not supplant section 301(b) assistance, the statute specifically provides that such assistance may be additional to section 301(b) assistance. The amendment to this paragraph is intended to provide the flexibility necessary to utilize section 302 funds to the fullest extent.

6. 13 CFR 307.57, as redesignated, is amended by adding new sections 307.57
(a)(4) and 307.57(a)(5). 13 CFR 307.57
(a)(4) implements the revision made to the Act by section 110 of Pub. L. 94-487 by requiring States to certify in their annual report the consistency of the State plan to other economic development plans made by sub-State entities.

§ 307.57(a)(5) requires States to describe how the planning process was used to develop projects submitted by the State for funding under section 304 of the Act. Similar to the revision made to 13 CFR 307.55(a)(4) as redesignated, this amendment will help to ensure that each State utilizes its planning process to the maximum extent.

13 CFR 307.57(b), as redesignated, is revised to clarify the reporting requirements for assistance extended to development districts under section 302(a) as opposed to section 302(b) of the Act.

Because these rules relate to the EDA grant and loan program, they are exempted from the procedures described in § 553 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553). However, in the spirit of the public policy set forth in that Act, interested persons may submit written suggestions regarding this amendment to the above address.

NOTE: EDA has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Economic Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821, as amended by Executive Order 11949, and OMB Circular No. A-107.

Accordingly, 13 CFR 307, Subpart D is revised to read as follows.

The purpose of this subpart is to set forth regulations pursuant to which eligible applicants may apply for and receive direct grants for economic development planning under section 302 of the Act.

§ 307.51 Objectives.

The primary objective of a planning grant under section 302 of the Act is to strengthen the economic development planning capability of States, cities, and other eligible sub-State entities in order to ensure a more productive use of available resources in reducing the effect of economic problems, particularly those resulting in high unemployment and low incomes.

§ 307.52 Types of grants.

Pursuant to section 302 of the Act, the Assistant Secretary may award planning grants of the following types:

(a) Planning grants under section 302 of the Act.

(1) State planning grants.—(i) States shall undertake overall State economic development planning as part of a comprehensive planning process, to:

(A) Consider the provision of public works to stimulate and channel development, economic opportunities, and choices for individuals;

(B) Support sound land use;

(C) Enhance and protect the environment, including the conservation and preservation of open spaces and environmental quality;

(D) Provide public services; and

(E) Balance physical and human resources through the management and control of physical development.

(ii) This planning process shall be conducted cooperatively by the State, its political subdivisions, and the economic development districts located in whole or in part within the State. State plans resulting from the planning process shall be consistent to the fullest extent possible with local, redevelopment area, and economic development district plans. If a State plan is inconsistent with these other plans, it shall note the inconsistencies and justify them.

(2) City and local planning grants.—(i) The planning by cities, other political subdivisions, and sub-State planning and development organizations (including redevelopment areas and economic development districts) shall be a continuous process involving public officials and private citizens in:

(A) Analyzing local economies;

(B) Defining development goals; and

(C) Formulating and implementing a development program.

(ii) This planning process shall include systematic efforts to reduce unemployment and increase incomes.

(b) Planning grants to economic development districts under section 302(b) of the Act.

(1) Professional service grant. The Assistant Secretary may make grants under this paragraph to economic development districts to enable them to provide professional and technical assistance, other than by grants, to local governments within the districts.

(2) Grants to carry out review procedures required by the Intergovernmental Cooperation Act. The Assistant Secretary may award grants to economic development districts to enable them to carry out review procedures required under Title IV of the Intergovernmental Cooperation Act of 1968.

To receive assistance under this paragraph, the economic development district must be designated by the State to conduct this review.

(a) Eligible applicants under § 302 of the Act are:

(1) The governor of a State or an agency designated by him, and the chief executive officer of the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and the Northern Mariana Islands.

(2) The chief officer of governing bodies of sub-State planning units, economic development districts, and redevelopment areas.

(3) The chief executive of cities and counties not located wholly within larger multi-county planning and development organizations receiving planning funds under section 301 of the Act.

(4) The chief executives of cities, counties, and redevelopment areas in multi-county organizations receiving funds under section 301 of the Act whose applications are endorsed by the Board of the multi-county organizations, and who demonstrate exceptional need for planning assistance beyond that provided through the multi-county organizations.

(5) Eligible applicants cited under this subpart, if the Assistant Secretary determines that planning assistance is necessary and other funds are not available to develop a plan required by Title IX of the Act.

(b) Eligible applicants under section 302(b) of the Act are the chief officer of a designated economic development district or, where a grant is made pursuant to the joint funding simplification program, a State or other applicant eligible under that program provided that such grant will be used solely to assist economic development districts.

(1) An economic development district must also be designated by the State or, where necessary, by the State and OMB, in order to qualify for assistance as an authorized A-95 reviewing agency.

§ 307.54 Submission of applications.

An initial request for assistance shall be submitted to the Assistant Secretary. If the Assistant Secretary approves the initial request, the applicant may submit an application.

§ 307.55 Application requirements.

An application shall indicate the scope of the proposed planning activity, and provide evidence that the grantee will meet the following requirements:

(a) Where the grantee is a State, the grantee shall ensure:

(1) That the grant shall be administered by the governor or by an agency he designates as responsible for the comprehensive economic development planning process.

(2) That an ongoing economic development planning process exists or will be established. This process shall be conducted cooperatively by the State, cities, other political subdivisions and economic development organizations. If the proposed planning activity is intended to result in a State plan, the planning process shall provide for the generation and application of mutually acceptable planning and programming criteria for ensuring the maximum possible consistency between the State plan and other local and district plans.

(3) That the results of the planning process shall be incorporated in the executive decisionmaking process in some formalized manner. The emphasis of the assistance, however, is on the planning process rather than the production of a plan.

(4) That the planning process shall be utilized in the recommendation of potential projects for funding under section 304 of the Act (13 CFR Part 312) in order to ensure that such projects are consistent with and contribute to State-wide development goals and strategies.

(b) Where the grantee is a sub-State planning district, the grantee shall ensure:

(1) That technical assistance provided by districts to local governments under section 302(b) of the Act shall increase their capabilities to participate in ongoing district planning programs.

(2) That districts funded under section 302(a) of the Act shall participate with the State in developing procedures for incorporating the goals of their ongoing economic development programs into the State's comprehensive planning process and for reflecting State goals and objectives in the district plans.

(c) Where the grantee is a city or county, the grantee shall ensure:

(1) That the grant shall be administered by the chief executive officer of a unit of government. This officer shall certify that he has authority to undertake broad planning activities, to develop a continuous planning process, and to implement the resulting programs and projects.

(2) That planning shall involve both public officials and private citizens. If no procedure exists for this involvement, a special planning committee of public and private citizens broadly representative of the community shall be established in the office of the Mayor or county executive.

(3) That planning shall include a systematic effort to reduce unemployment and increase incomes.

(4) That a systematic approach shall be taken to analyze the local economy, define development goals, determine project opportunities, and formulate and implement a development program. OEDP or other guidelines for areas may be used in accomplishing this requirement.

(5) That, if a city or county is located in a larger economic development planning unit, activities funded with the grant shall be coordinated with the larger unit.

§ 307.56 Grant limitations.

Planning grants shall be made on terms established by the Assistant Secretary subject to the following limitations:

(a) Grants may not cover the costs of work already performed or of services already provided.

(b) Grants under section 302 may be provided in addition to assistance available under section 301(b) of the Act, but may not supplant that assistance.

(c) A planning grant may not exceed 75 percent of the total amount of funds required for the project.

(d) No Federal funds may be included in the 25 percent non-Federal share.

(e) In determining the amount of the non-Federal share, the Assistant Secretary shall give consideration to contributions both in cash and in-kind.

(f) This assistance shall be provided in accordance with the review procedure required under Title IV of the Intergovernmental Cooperation Act of 1968, as amended, and shall be used in conjunction with any other available Federal planning assistance to further the comprehensive nature of this planning program, and to assure the efficient utilization of all available planning resources in the achievement of the objectives of the grant.

(g) Grantees will conform to EDA financial requirements including those requirements promulgated in Federal Management Circular (FMC) 74-7 (OMB Circular A-102).

§ 307.57 Annual reports.

Grant recipients shall submit to the Assistant Secretary an annual report 60 days before the anniversary of their grants. The report shall include:

(a) States. (1) How requirements in section 307.55 have been met.

(2) A review and an evaluation of the planning process supported, and the program activities undertaken, in relation to the specific goals and objectives described in the grant agreement.

(3) Policy, planning and development documents that have resulted from the planning activities assisted under this subpart.

(4) Certification to the Assistant Secretary that any plan prepared with assistance under this subpart considered all local, redevelopment area, and economic development district plans and:

(i) Is consistent with these local, redevelopment area, and economic development district plans, or

(ii) Is inconsistent with them, with each inconsistency noted and justified.

(5) A description of how the planning process was used in the development of projects submitted for section 304 funding, and of how any such projects relate to the State's development strategy.

(b) Sub-State Planning Districts and Economic Development Districts. (1) § 307.52(a) (2) grants.

(i) A description of the cooperative procedures established to include district information in the State planning process;

(ii) The planning information exchanged with the State and other districts, and an evaluation of the effect of this exchange on the district's ability to achieve its development goals.

(iii) A review and an evaluation of the planning process supported and program activities undertaken in relation to the specific goals and objectives described in the grant agreement.

(2) § 307.52(b) (1) grants. (i) For grants under § 307.52(b) (1), a description of the nature of the professional and technical assistance provided to local governments, and a documentation of the results.

(ii) For grants under § 307.52(b) (2), a description of the A-95 review process funded under 302(b) of the Act and improvements made in relating it to the State planning process.

(c) Cities and Counties. A review and an evaluation of the planning process supported and program activities undertaken in relation to the specific goals and objectives described in the grant agreement.

§ 307.58 Coordination.

The Secretary, through the Assistant Secretary for Economic Development, shall coordinate his activities in making grants under this subpart with the Title V Regional Commissions and the Appalachian Regional Commission acting through the Federal and State Cochairman. Where a project is to be located wholly or partially within the boundaries of a Title V or the Appalachian region, or is of national or regional significance, the Federal and State Cochairmen shall be furnished notice of project activity during the early phases of development and be kept advised of significant developments through the application review and final grant process.

§ 307.59 Requirements.

13 CFR Part 309, as amended, applies to planning grants under this subpart.

Dated: September 16, 1977.

PART 21—CERTIFICATION PROCEDURES FOR PRODUCTS AND PARTS

Issuance of Special Flight Permits With a Continuing Authorization to Air Taxi Operators of Large Aircraft

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment provides for the issuance of special flight permits with a continuing authorization to air taxi operators of large aircraft. In the past, these operators have been required to apply for special flight permits individually before operating their large aircraft, that might not meet applicable airworthiness requirements but are capable of safe flight, to a base where maintenance or alterations are to be performed. Since air taxi operators of large aircraft must maintain their large aircraft under a continuous airworthiness maintenance program and their operations must be covered under operations specifications, the requirement that these operators must apply for special flight permits individually is not necessary.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 28, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Raymond E. Ramakis, Regulatory Projects Branch, Safety Regulations Division, Flight Standards Service, Federal Aviation Administration, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20591, telephone 202-755-8716.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 21.197(c) provides, in pertinent part, for the issuance of a special flight permit with a continuing authorization to Part 121 and 127 certificate holders. Special flight permits, with continuing authorizations, that are issued pursuant to § 21.197(c), are included in the certificate holder's operations specifications, along with the conditions and limitations associated with the authorization. The purpose of § 21.197(c) is to eliminate the unnecessary burden, on Part 121 and 127 certificate holders and the FAA, of individually dealing with each of a relatively large number of special flight permits that those operators need for ferrying aircraft to bases where maintenance can be performed. By virtue of the continuous airworthiness maintenance program used by these operators and their operations specifications, procedures have been established to provide for the issuance of special flight permits with continuing authorizations for such ferry flights while ensuring that the flights are conducted safely.

Air taxi operators of large aircraft are required by § 135.2 to comply with the certification and operation requirements for supplemental air carriers as set forth in Part 121, unless compliance with the Part 121 rules applicable to domestic or flag carriers is required under specified circumstances. In any event, large aircraft operated under the provision of § 135.2 must be maintained under a continuous airworthiness maintenance program and operations conducted under § 135.2 must be covered in the certificate holder's operations specifications as provided in Part 121. Therefore, the reasons for providing for the issuance of special flight permits with continuing authorizations to Part 121 and 127 certificate holders are equally applicable to air taxi operators operating under the provisions of § 135.2 with respect to their large aircraft.

This amendment is based on a notice of proposed rulemaking (Notice No. 76-8) published in the Federal Register on April 5, 1976 (41 FR 14392), which proposed to provide for the issuance of special flight permits with a continuing authorization to air taxi operators of large aircraft. That notice invited comment by all persons interested in the making of the proposed rule. All interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all matter presented. Three commentators responded to Notice 76-8, none of which expressed disapproval of the intent of the proposal. However, one commentator suggested that rather than issuing a continuing authorization to operators, the FAA should amend the regulation to allow such operations without the necessity of obtaining a special permit. The FAA does not agree with this proposed change since the aircraft involved may not meet airworthiness requirements and special operating restrictions may be necessary which would be covered in special flight permits. This amendment is the same as proposed in Notice 76-8.

ADOPTION OF AMENDMENT

Accordingly, Part 21 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 21) is amended effective October 28, 1977, by revising § 21.197(c) to read as follows:

§ 21.197 Special flight permits.

(c) Upon application, as prescribed in § 121.79 or § 127.27 of this chapter, a special flight permit with a continuing authorization may be issued, for aircraft that may not meet applicable airworthiness requirements but are capable of safe flight, for the purpose of flying aircraft to a base where maintenance or alterations are to be performed. The permit issued under this paragraph may be issued to—

(1) Part 121 or 127 certificate holders; or

(2) Air taxi operators conducting operations with large aircraft under the provisions of § 135.2 of this chapter, for the aircraft used in those operations.

The permit issued under this paragraph is an authorization, including any conditions and limitations for flight, which is set forth in the certificate holder's operations specifications.

(Secs. 313(a), 601, 603, 604, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1423, 1424); sec. 8(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).)

NOTE.—The Federal Aviation Administration has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Economic Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821, as amended by Executive Order 11949, and OMB Circular A-107.

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Enstrom Helicopters Models F28, F28A, F28C, 280, and 280C

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment supersedes an existing airworthiness directive (AD) applicable to Enstrom Helicopters Models F28, F28A, F28C, 280, and 280C. In place of repetitive inspections, this directive requires the replacement of the tail rotor spindle P/N 28-15202 with a new spindle or a manufacturer-reworked spindle within 50 hours time in service but not later than six months calendar time, whichever occurs first. The new directive retains the requirement for the installation of strike tabs on the tail rotor blades.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 6, 1977. Compliance schedule—As prescribed in body of AD and was effective for all recipients of the airmail letter dated August 8, 1977, as amended by airmail letter dated August 22, 1977, upon receipt thereof.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Joseph Snitkoff, Aerospace Engineer, Airframe Section, AGL-214, Federal Aviation Administration, Great Lakes Region, 2300 East Devon Avenue, Des Plaines, Ill. 60018, telephone 312-694-4500, ext. 424.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: By airmail letter dated August 8, 1977, an airworthiness directive was adopted and made effective immediately as to all known U.S. operators of Enstrom helicopters. The directive superseded AD 77-04-04 Amendment 39-2839 (42 FR 10841) and required replacement, within 10 hours time in service, of tail rotor spindle P/N 28-15202 with a new spindle P/N 28-15202-13 or a manufacturer-reworked spindle, which was to be identified by an 8 character serial number acid-etched on the outside of the spindle center section on all Enstrom helicopter. This action was prompted in response to a failure of a tail rotor spindle inspected in accordance with AD 77-04-04. The superseded AD included the requirement for installation of strike tabs P/N 28-17308 extending forward on the tail rotor balancing screw which is also a requirement of this directive. After issuing the airmail letter dated August 8, 1977, the FAA determined that the tail rotor assembly involved in the failure, which prompted the letter, had been reassembled with one set of bearings reversed, causing a significant amplification of the normal loads. In recognition of this circumstance, the FAA amended the letter with an airmail letter dated August 22, 1977, to increase the replacement time of the tail rotor spindle to 50 hours time in service or six calendar months, whichever occurs first.

Since it was found that immediate corrective action was required, notice and public procedure thereon was impracticable and contrary to the public interest and good cause existed for making the airworthiness directive effective immediately as to all known U.S. operators of Enstrom helicopters by individual airmail letters dated August 8, 1977, as amended on August 22, 1977. These conditions still exist and the airworthiness directive is hereby published in the Federal Register as an amendment to § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to make it effective as to all persons.

In accordance with Departmental Regulatory Reform, dated March 23, 1976, it has been determined that the expected impact of this regulation is so minimal that it does not warrant an evaluation.

ADOPTION OF THE AMENDMENT

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 39.13) is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

ENSTROM. Applies to Enstrom Models F28, F28A, F28C, 280 and 280C helicopters certificated in all categories with a 3.3 inch tail rotor blade with spindle P/N 28-15202. Within the next 60 hours time in service or six (6) months calendar time, whichever occurs first, accomplish the following unless already complied with:

1. Replace tail rotor spindle P/N 28-15202 with a new spindle P/N 28-15202-13 or a manufacturer-reworked spindle which may be identified by an eight (8) character serial number acid-etched on the outside of the spindle center section. Reference should be made to Enstrom Maintenance Manual Section 15 for disassembly and reassembly instructions. Special care should be taken to have the three bearing stack positioned with the closed side toward the hub and the retaining nut properly torqued to 35-40 foot-pounds and safetied.
2. Install strike tabs P/N 28-17308 extending forward on the blade leading edge under the outer balancing screw. (This supersedes Amendment 39-2839 (42 FR 10841) AD 77-04-04.)

This amendment is effective October 6, 1977, and was effective for all recipients of the airmail letter dated August 8, 1977, as amended by airmail letter dated August 22, 1977, upon receipt thereof.

NOTE.—The Federal Aviation Administration has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Economic Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821, as amended by Executive Order 11949, and OMB Circular A-107.

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Enstrom Helicopter Models F-28, F-28A, and 280

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment amends an existing Airworthiness Directive (AD), AD 76-17-08, applicable to Enstrom Helicopter Models F-28, F-28A, and 280 by establishing chronological and service time limits, after which all unmodified main rotor shafts must be removed from service. The amendment is needed because the FAA has determined through service experience that main rotor shaft crack sites may be introduced by allowing the shafts to remain in service for extended periods without modification.

DATES: Effective, October 4, 1977. Compliance schedule. As prescribed in the body of the AD.

ADDRESSES: The applicable service bulletin may be obtained from: The Enstrom Helicopter Corporation, Menominee County Airport, P.O. Box 277, Menominee, Mich. 49858. A copy of the service bulletin is contained in the Rules Docket (AGL-7), Docket No. 76-GL-15, Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the Regional Counsel, 2300 East Devon Avenue, Des Plaines, Ill. 60018; and at FAA Headquarters, Room 916, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20501.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This rule amends Amendment 39-2700, 41 FR 36015, AD 76-17-08 which currently requires periodic inspection of the main rotor shafts on Enstrom Helicopter Models F-28, F-28A, and 280 for tool marks or other discontinuities which might promote fatigue cracking of the shafts, and provides for the discontinuation of the inspection following the rework of the main rotor shafts by the manufacturer. Since the issuance of AD 76-17-08, the FAA has determined through service experience that corrosion may develop in the critical radius of unmodified shafts which remain idle for prolonged periods. This corrosion could eventually induce fatigue cracking. In that the inspection required by AD 76-17-08 does not address this situation, the FAA is amending Amendment 39-2700 to limit both the chronological and service time of the unmodified shafts, while retaining the inspection criteria set forth in AD 76-17-08.

Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impractical and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

ADOPTION OF THE AMENDMENT

Accordingly, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 39.13) is amended by amending Amendment 39-2700, 41 FR 36015, AD 76-17-08 as follows:

- (1) By changing paragraph F to read: "Within the next 200 hours time in service or six months after the effective date of this amendment, whichever occurs first, remove main rotor shaft from service or return gearbox and shaft to Enstrom Helicopter Corporation for modification in accordance with Enstrom Service Directed Bulletin No. 0036"; and
- (2) By adding a new paragraph G to read: "Repetitive inspections of paragraphs B and C above may be discontinued after main rotor shaft modification in accordance with Enstrom Service Directed Bulletin No. 0036."

This amendment becomes effective: October 4, 1977.

McCauley Propellers Model D2AF34C56-() and D2AF34C61-() Series Propellers

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new Airworthiness Directive (AD) which replaces AD 68-8-4. The new AD requires periodic inspection of the McCauley Model D2AF34C56-() and D2AF34C61-() series propellers. The AD is needed to detect cracks and prevent failures of the hub which could result in separation of the blade(s). Since this condition is likely to exist or develop in other propellers of the same design, the Airworthiness Directive requires periodic inspection of the propeller hubs for fatigue cracking until replaced by McCauley oil-filled hubs containing a dyed oil crack detection system. Also, the AD requires retirement of the D2AF34C56-() series propellers at 1200 hours time in service.

EFFECTIVE DATES: October 6, 1977. Compliance schedule—As prescribed in the body of the AD.

ADDRESSES: Information relating to the service document referenced in the body of the AD may be obtained from McCauley Accessory Division, Cessna Aircraft Co., Box 7, Roosevelt Station, Dayton, Ohio 45417.

Copies of the service information incorporated in this AD are contained in the Rules Docket, Office of the Regional Counsel, 2300 East Devon Avenue, Des Plaines, Ill. 60018; and at FAA Headquarters, Room 916, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20591.

odic inspection of certain McCauley Model D2AF34C56-() and D2AF34C61-() series hubs for cracks, and replacement as necessary. The above inspections were no longer required when the propellers were equipped with McCauley D2AF34C61-J or subsequent model hubs. The latter hub(s) incorporated certain design improvements intended to decrease fatigue type failures.

A proposal to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations was published in the (42 FR 5703), January 31, 1977, due to service experience. The proposal which requires further periodic inspections of the affected propeller hubs was issued in conjunction with the National Transportation Safety Board's Recommendations of September 21, 1976. These recommendations were based in part on NTSB's metallurgical laboratory examination of several failed hubs, including a D2AF34C61-XM model, which incorporated the aforementioned design improvements. Therefore, the FAA has determined an additional safeguard be provided by the introduction of a red-dyed oil into the hub which will warn the operator of hub cracking. The repetitive inspections of such hubs are no longer required if they are modified to, or replaced by McCauley oil-filled hubs.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the amendment. Only one written comment was received about the proposal. On the basis of the information submitted, the Cessna T337, and REIMS F337, FT337 aircraft were added to the applicability statement, since some of these aircraft are also equipped with the affected propellers.

Also, some other minor changes were made; namely, the phrase, "or later Federal Aviation Administration approved revisions," was added after the references to the McCauley Service Bulletin, Manual, and Letter. Furthermore, the applicable propeller model designations were amplified and clarified by a footnote.

In accordance with Departmental Regulatory Reform, dated March 23, 1976, we have determined that the expected impact of this final regulation is so minimal that it does not warrant an evaluation.

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Rolls Royce Dart Engines

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD) which requires functional testing and overhaul of the low torque switch assembly on Rolls Royce Dart engines to prevent the possible occurrence of delays in propeller auto-feathering which could result in the inability to attain minimum climb performance during takeoff with one engine inoperative. There have been reports of propeller low torque switch diaphragms cracking in service.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 28, 1977.

ADDRESSES: The applicable service bulletin may be obtained from:

Rolls Royce, Ltd., P.O. Box 31, Derby DE 2 8 BJ, England.

A copy of the applicable service bulletin is contained in the Rules Docket, Rm. 916, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20591.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

D. C. Jacobsen, Chief, Aircraft Certification Staff, AEU-100, Europe, Africa, and Middle East Region, Federal Aviation Administration, c/o American Embassy, Brussels, Belgium, Tel. 513.38.30.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A notice proposing to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to require functional testing and overhaul of the low torque switches was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER at 42 FR 38388 on July 28, 1977. The proposal was prompted by reports of cracking in low torque switch diaphragms on Rolls Royce Dart engines that could cause a potentially hazardous delay in auto-feathering of the propeller that could result in the inability to attain minimum climb performance during takeoff with one engine inoperative.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the amendment. No objections were received. Accordingly, the proposal is adopted without change.

The principal authors of this document are R. E. Follensbee, Western Region, R. F. Nugent and F. H. Kelley, Flight Standards Service, and S. Podberesky, Office of the Chief Counsel.

ADOPTION OF AMENDMENT

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, § 39.13 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 39.13) is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

ROLLS ROYCE AERO, LTD. Applies to Dart Engines Series 508, 510, 511, 514, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 531, 532, 542-4, and 542-10 installed on, but not necessarily limited to, Viscount 744, 745D and 810, Armstrong Whitworth AW-650 series 101, Nihon YS-11, Conqair 600 and 640, Handley Page Herald, Fokker F-27, Grumman Gulfstream I, and Hawker Siddeley 748 Series airplanes.

Compliance is required as indicated, unless already accomplished.

To prevent snap diaphragm cracking on propeller low torque switches and potentially hazardous delay of propeller auto-feathering, accomplish the following:

(a) Within the next 1,500 hours engine time or 6 months in service after the effective date of this AD, whichever occurs first, inspect and functionally test the propeller low torque switches in accordance with paragraphs 4 A. and 4 B. of Rolls Royce Service Bulletin No. Da 61-12, dated May 1976, or an equivalent approved by the Chief, Aircraft Certification Staff, FAA, Europe, Africa, and Middle East Region; A.P.O. New York, N.Y. 09687, (hereinafter referred to as R.R.-SB or FAA-approved equivalent). If a switch is found to be defective during an inspection or functional test required by this paragraph, comply with paragraph (b) of this AD for that switch, before the switch is returned to service.

(b) Within the next 4,000 hours engine time or 1 year in service after the effective date of this AD, whichever occurs first, overhaul all propeller low torque switches in accordance with the procedures of paragraph 4 C. of R.R.-SB or FAA-approved equivalent.

This amendment becomes effective October 28, 1977.

(Secs. 313(a), 601, 603, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1423); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)); 14 CFR 11.89)

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Sikorsky Model S-64E and S-64F Helicopters

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Federal Register publication of telegraphic airworthiness directive.

SUMMARY: This amendment publishes a new Airworthiness Directive (AD) which was issued by telegram to operators of S-64 helicopters on September 9, 1977. The Airworthiness Directive was issued to require a boroscope inspection for cracks of the S-64 main transmission last stage planetary carrier plate and a daily check of the oil filter for magnesium chips. The AD also retires all plates with 2000 hours time in service after October 30, 1977.

EFFECTIVE DATE: September 29, 1977 (Upon receipt of telegraphic AD for all operators which received notice by telegraphic AD). Compliance schedule—As prescribed in the body of the AD.

ADDRESSES: To obtain copies of the service bulletin referenced in the AD, contact Sikorsky Aircraft, Division of United Technologies Corp., Stratford, Conn. 06602.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Harold W. Ferris, Propulsion Section, ANE-214, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, Flight Standards Division, Federal Aviation Administration, New England Region, 12 New England Executive Park, Burlington, Mass. 01803. Telephone: 617-273-7336.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The telegraphic Airworthiness Directive adopted and made effective to all known United States operators of Sikorsky model S-64 helicopters on September 9, 1977, was required as a result of fatigue cracks in the main transmission last stage lower planetary carrier plate caused by high amplitude, low cycle torque loads during logging operations. A failure of this plate would cause a sudden loss of torque from both engines.

Since it was found that immediate corrective action was required, notice and public procedure thereon were impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and good cause existed for making the Airworthiness Directive effective immediately to all known United States operators of Sikorsky model S-64 helicopters by individual telegrams dated September 9, 1977.

The manufacturer's service bulletin identified and described in this directive is incorporated herein and made a part hereof pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 522(a) (1). All persons affected by this directive who have not already received these documents from the manufacturer may obtain copies upon request to Sikorsky Aircraft, Division of United Technologies Corp., Stratford, Conn. 06602. These documents may also be examined at Federal Aviation Administration, New England Region, 12 New England Executive Park, Burlington, Mass. 01803, and at FAA Headquarters, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C.

DRAFTING INFORMATION

ADOPTION OF THE AMENDMENT

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 FR 13697), an Airworthiness Directive was adopted on September 9, 1977, and made effective immediately to all known United States operators of Sikorsky model S-64 helicopters. These conditions still exist and the full text of the telegraphic AD is hereby published in the FEDERAL REGISTER as an amendment to § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations:

SIKORSKY AIRCRAFT. Applies to all Sikorsky model S-64E and S-64F helicopters. Compliance required as indicated, unless already accomplished.

1. To prevent cracking and possible failure of main transmission lower planetary plates, P N 6435-20229-102, inspect for cracks in accordance with Sikorsky Service Bulletin No. 64B35-7 prior to the accumulation of 1300 hours time in service, or within the next 30 hours time in service after receipt of this telegram, whichever is later, and every 70 hours time in service thereafter. Cracked plates must be removed before further flight.

2. Effective October 30, 1977, P N 6435-20229-102 plates with 2,000 or more hours total time in service must be removed from service.

3. For P N 6435-20229-102 plates with 1,300 or more hours total time in service after receipt of this telegram, inspect main transmission oil filter pack daily for magnesium chips. If chips are found, remove main transmission from service before further flight.

Upon request of the operator, an FAA maintenance inspector, subject to prior approval of the chief, engineering and manufacturing branch, FAA, New England region, may adjust the repetitive inspection intervals specified in this AD to permit compliance at an established inspection period of the operator if the request contains substantiating data to justify the increase for that operator.

Revocation of Control Zone: Big Spring, Tex.

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment revokes the Big Spring, Tex., control zone. On September 1, 1977, communications capability down to the runway surface and weather observations were terminated when Webb Air Force Base ceased to provide this service. The cessation of these services necessitates the revocation of the control zone.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 1, 1977.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In Subpart F, § 71.171 (42 FR 355) of FAR Part 71, the Big Spring, Tex., control zone is designated as part-time through the notation that the control zone will be effective during specific dates and times established in advance by a NOTAM. The dates and times conform with the Webb Air Force Base air traffic control tower hours of operation. Hourly and special weather observations are provided during the designated hours of operation. The Air Force has informed us of the closure of Webb Air Force Base on September 1, 1977. This will terminate the services required for the control zone and necessitate revocation of the control zone.

The aforementioned action will reduce the constraints and, in effect, the impact on the user imposed by the control zone operation. Consequently, we have elected to omit circularization of the change for comment.

SUBCHAPTER F—AIR TRAFFIC AND GENERAL OPERATING RULES

PART 97—STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURES

Miscellaneous Amendments

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment establishes, amends, suspends, or revokes Standard Instrument Approach Procedures (SIAPs) for operations at certain airports. These regulatory actions are needed because of the adoption of new or revised criteria, or because of changes occurring in the National Airspace System, such as the commissioning of new navigational facilities, addition of new obstacles, or changes in air traffic requirements. These changes are designed to provide safe and efficient use of the navigable airspace and to promote safe flight operations under instrument flight rules at the affected airports.

EFFECTIVE DATES: An effective date for each SIAP is specified in the amendatory provisions.

ADDRESSES: Availability of matters incorporated by reference in the amendment is as follows:

FOR EXAMINATION

1. FAA Rules Docket, FAA Headquarters Building, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20591;
2. The FAA Regional Office of the region in which the affected airport is located; or
3. The Flight Inspection Field Office which originated the SIAP.

FOR PURCHASE

Individual SIAP copies may be obtained from: 1. FAA Public Information Center (APA-430), FAA Headquarters Building, 800 Independence Ave., SW., Washington, D.C. 20591; or

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This amendment to Part 97 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 97) prescribes new, amended, suspended, or revoked Standard Instrument Approach Procedures (SIAPs). The complete regulatory description of each SIAP is contained in official FAA form documents which are incorporated by reference in this amendment under 5 U.S.C. 552(a), 1 CFR Part 51, and § 97.20 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (FARs). The applicable FAA forms are identified as FAA Forms 8260-3, 8260-4 and 8260-5. Materials incorporated by reference are available for examination or purchase as stated above.

The large number of SIAPs, their complex nature, and the need for a special format make their verbatim publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER expensive and impractical. Further, airmen do not use the regulatory text of the SIAPs but refer to their graphic depiction on charts printed by publishers of aeronautical materials. Thus, the advantages of incorporation by reference are realized and publication of the complete description of each SIAP contained in FAA form document is unnecessary. The provisions of this amendment state the affected CFR (and FAR) sections, with the types and effective dates of the SIAPs. This amendment also identifies the airport, its location, the procedure identification and the amendment number.

This amendment to Part 97 is effective on the date of publication and contains separate SIAPs which have compliance dates stated as effective dates based on related changes in the National Airspace System or the application of new or revised criteria. Some SIAP amendments may have been previously issued by the FAA in a National Flight Data Center (FDIC) Notice to Airmen (NOTAM) as an emergency action of immediate flight safety relating directly to published aeronautical charts. The circumstances which created the need for some SIAP amendments may require making them effective in less than 30 days. For the remaining SIAPs, an effective date at least 30 days after publication is provided.

Further, the SIAPs contained in this amendment are based on the criteria contained in the U.S. Standard for Terminal Instrument Approach Procedures (TERPs). In developing these SIAPs, the TERPs criteria were applied to the conditions existing or anticipated at the affected airports. Because of the close and immediate relationship between these SIAPs and safety in air commerce, I find that notice and public procedure before adopting these SIAPs is unnecessary, impracticable, or contrary to the public interest and, where applicable, that good cause exists for making some SIAPs effective in less than 30 days.

ADOPTION OF THE AMENDMENT

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me, Part 97 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 97) is amended by establishing, amending, suspending, or revoking Standard Instrument Approach Procedures, effective on the dates specified, as follows:

CHAPTER VIII—LOW INCOME HOUSING,
DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND UR-

[Docket No. R-77-464]

PART 841—PUBLIC HOUSING PROGRAM; DEVELOPMENT PHASE

Appendix A—Prototype Cost Limits for Low Income Housing

AGENCY: Office of the Assistant Secretary for Housing-Federal Housing

Commissioner, Department of Housing and Urban Development.

ACTION: Interim rule.

SUMMARY: On June 30, 1977, the Department published a revised Schedule
A, "Prototype Cost Limits for Low-Income Housing", to Part 841. Consideration of subsequent factual cost data and other information received from the field offices shows that new prototype cost areas should be established, and others revised to make the program feasible in the affected areas. Section 6(b) of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937 provides that prototype costs become effective on the date of publication in the FEDERAL REG-ISTER.

DATES: Effective Date: September 29, 1977. Comments will be considered in preparing revisions of these schedules, which will appear in the FEDERAL REGIS-TER. Comments should be received on or before October 14, 1977.

ADDRESSES: Send comments to Director, Office of Technical Support, HUD
Central Office, Room 6160, 451 7th Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20410, and send a copy of comments to the local HUD Office.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CON-TACT:

Mr. Robert P. Cunningham, Director, Office of Technical Support, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 7th Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20410. (202-755-5730.)

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:
Based on information supplied by field offices and the public, the prototype per unit cost areas for the Baltimore Area Office are being realigned and an additional area is being established; Fort Mojave Indian Reservation is being separated from the Kingman, Ariz. prototype cost area with a new area established for Fort Mojave; and the prototype per unit cost schedules for Elko, Fallon, and Gardnerville, Nev. are being expanded to cover 0 and 1 bedroom units for detached and semi-detached as well as 0 to 6 bedroom units for row dwellings and walk-up, both of which had been inadvertently omitted in previous publications of the FEDERAL REGISTER.

These costs, issued pursuant to Section 6(b) of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937, represent per unit cost schedules for low-income housing and are required to be published at least annually in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Because of the need to maintain current prototype cost schedules, it is in the public interest to publish the changes for effect. However, timely written comments will be considered, and additional amendments will be published if the Department determines that acceptance of the comments is appropriate.
Comments with respect to cost limits for a given location should be sent to the

A finding of inapplicability respecting the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 has been made in accordance with HUD procedures. A copy of this finding of inapplicability will be available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Office of the Rules Docket Clerk, Room 5218, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 7th Street SW., Washington,
D.C.

Accordingly, the Prototype Cost Limits for Low Income Housing, pursuant to 24 CFR, Part 841, Appendix A, are amended as follows:

1. At 41 FR 33646, delete Aberdeen,
Annapolis, Cambridge, Cumberland, and Frederick prototype per unit cost schedules and add a prototype per unit cost schedule for Waldorf as shown on the table set forth hereinafter entitled Prototype Per Unit Cost Schedule—Region
III—Maryland.

2. At 41 FR 33692, add a prototype per unit cost schedule for Fort Mojave as shown on the table set forth hereinafter entitled Prototype Per Unit Cost Schedule—Region IX—Arizona.

3. At 41 FR 33700, delete the existing prototype per unit cost schedules for Elko, Fallon, and Gardnerville and substitute the expanded prototype per unit cost schedules for these same areas as shown on the table set forth hereinafter entitled Prototype Per Unit Cost Schedule—Region IX—Nevada.

(Sec. 7(d), Department of HUD Act, 42
U.S.C. 3535(d); Sec. 6(b) of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937, 42 U.S.C. 1437d.)

NOTE.—It is hereby certified that the economic and inflationary impacts of the amendment to Part 841 have been carefully evaluated in accordance with Executive Order No. 11821.

Issued at Washington, D.C., September 23, 1977.

MORTON A. BARUCH,
General Deputy Assistant Secretary for Housing.

Title 33—Navigation and Navigable Waters
CHAPTER II—CORPS OF ENGINEERS,
DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY

PART 207—NAVIGATION REGULATIONS
Anacostia River Restricted Area

AGENCY: U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, DOD.

ACTION: Final rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Corps of Engineers/Department of the Army is revoking the regulation that established a restricted area in the Anacostia River at Pier 1, Washington Navy Yard, Washington, D.C. The restricted area was established for the Presidential Yacht which has now been deactivated and sold.

EFFECTIVE DATE: September 29, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Ralph T. Eppard 202-693-5070 or write: Office of the Chief of Engineers, Attn.: DAEN-CWO-N, Washington, D.C. 20314.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: We have determined that notice of proposed rulemaking and public procedures thereto are impracticable and unnecessary. The revocation of 33 CFR 207.127 will remove a restriction on a waterway and will benefit the general public. Accordingly, 33 CFR 207.127 is hereby revoked as set forth below.

§ 207.127 Anacostia River, at U.S. Naval Administrative Unit, Washington Navy Yard, Washington, D.C.; U.S. Navy restricted area. [Revoked]

NOTE:—The Department of the Army has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107. (40 Stat. 266; (33 U.S.C. 1).)

Dated: September 12, 1977.

CHAPTER I—ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

[FRL 784-3]

PART 61—NATIONAL EMISSION STANDARDS FOR HAZARDOUS AIR POLLUTANTS

Units and Abbreviations

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action revises the General Provisions by reorganizing the units and abbreviations, and adding the International System of Units (SI). Until recently, EPA did not have a preferred system of measurement to be used in its regulations issued under this part.

Now the Agency is using SI units in all regulations issued under this part. This necessitates that SI units be added to the General Provisions to provide a complete listing of abbreviations used.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 31, 1977.

Don R. Goodwin, Emission Standards and Engineering Division, Environmental Protection Agency, Research Triangle Park, N.C. 27711, telephone (919-541-5271).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 3 of Pub. L. 94-168, the Metric Conversion Act of 1975, declares that the policy of the United States shall be to coordinate and plan the increasing use of the metric system in the United States. On December 10, 1976, a notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 54018) that set forth the interpretation and modification of the International System of Units (SI) for the United States. EPA incorporates SI units in all regulations issued under 40 CFR Part 61 and provides common equivalents in parentheses where desirable. Use of SI units requires this revision of the abbreviations section (§ 61.03) of the General Provisions of 40 CFR Part 61.

An explanation of the International System of Units was presented in the FEDERAL REGISTER notice mentioned above (41 FR 54018). EPA is using the Standard for Metric Practice (E 380-76) published by the American Society for Testing and Materials (A.S.T.M.) as its basic reference. This document may be obtained by sending $4.00 to A.S.T.M., 1916 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19103.

As this revision has no regulatory impact, but only defines units and abbreviations used in this part, opportunity for public participation was judged unnecessary.

This action is taken under the authority of sections 112 and 301(a) of the Clean Air Act, 42 U.S.C 1857g(a).

NOTE:—The Environmental Protection Agency has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Economic Impact Analysis under Executive Orders 11821 and 11949 and OMB Circular A-107.

Dated: September 26, 1977.

PART 149—REVIEW OF PROJECTS AFFECTING THE EDWARDS UNDERGROUND RESERVOIR, A DESIGNATED SOLE SOURCE AQUIFER IN THE SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS AREA

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: These final project review regulations implement aquifer requirements of the Safe Drinking Water Act. The regulations establish procedures for reviewing commitments of Federal financial assistance to projects in the San Antonio, Texas area.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 15, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Ms. Zoraida Carballeira, Program Analyst, State Programs Division,

Office of Water Supply (WH-550), Environmental Protection Agency. (202-426-2934).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On December 16, 1975, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) published under 40 CFR Part 149 (Review of Projects Affecting Sole Source Aquifers) Interim Project Review Guidelines for the Edwards Underground Reservoir, Texas Area (40 FR 58292). These guidelines went into effect immediately and authorized EPA review as of the date of their publication. A notice of a public hearing and a request for comments on the interim guidelines were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 22, 1976. Comments were received from both the public and private sectors in response to our request. On April 26, 1976, EPA held a public hearing in San Antonio, Texas, to hear the views of interested persons on the interim guidelines.

After reviewing all public comments received and evaluating the Agency's experience in the application of these interim guidelines to the Edwards Underground Reservoir, the EPA has prepared regulations for the review of Federal financially assisted projects under Section 1424(e) in the San Antonio area.

These regulations describe the project review process that is applicable to Federal financially assisted projects which may affect the Edwards Underground Reservoir through its recharge zone as described in the December 16, 1975, Notice of Determination, and therefore, supersede the interim guidelines. National proposed regulations for the implementation of Section 1424(e) are being published elsewhere in this issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 51620). The project review process contained in Subpart C of those proposed national regulations is identical to the process contained in these San Antonio regulations. EPA anticipates that the San Antonio regulations will be consolidated with the national regulations once the national regulations are promulgated.

PROJECT REVIEW

Section 1424(e) provides that no commitment of Federal financial assistance shall be made to a project which the Administrator determines may contaminate an aquifer in a designated area through its recharge zone so as to create "a significant hazard to public health." Subpart B of these regulations establishes procedures for review of projects for which an application for Federal financial assistance has been made. The project review process will be implemented by the Regional Administrator with the exception of the final determination which will be made by the Administrator. The Regional Administrator is encouraged to explore all available alternatives with the Federal agencies involved, before a recommendation is submitted to the Administrator to determine that a project may contaminate the aquifer so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

Programs and actions will be subject to EPA's project review authority only if an application for Federal financial assistance has been submitted. Federal actions such as dredging performed by the Army Corps of Engineers, which do not involve a grant of financial assistance to a project, are not affected by the project review authority granted by Section 1424(e). Similarly, Federal actions or programs performed by contractors for the Federal government, such as construction of roads on Federal lands by a contractor under the supervision of the Bureau of Land Management are not subject to project review. Although this type of Federal action does not fall within the scope of Section 1424(e), an obligation to evaluate groundwater impact may exist based on other authority. Some actions may be subject to the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), and the preparation of an environmental impact statement (EIS) may be required. Furthermore, in accordance with Executive Order 11752, all Federal facilities have a responsibility to take the initiative in the protection of the environment.

If a commitment of Federal financial assistance is sought which is within the meaning of Section 1424(e), the Administrator then has the authority to review the project for which financial assistance is sought, in order to determine whether the project may contaminate the aquifer so as to create a significant hazard to public health. EPA will not be concerned with reviewing small, isolated commitments of financial assistance such as individual home mortgage loans (e.g., Farmers Home Administration loans and Veterans' Administration loans) which presumptively have an insignificant impact on aquifer quality. However, EPA may conduct review if the cumulative impact of a large number of such projects is of concern.

Because groundwater impact evaluations are not only required under Section 1424(e), but are also an integral part of the responsibilities imposed under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), the process of project review pursuant to Section 1424(e) will be integrated as fully as possible with the review of Federal actions subject to NEPA. All Federal agencies have published guidelines for the implementation of NEPA which provide the basis for determining whether a project will have a "significant impact on the environment." Review under Section 1424(e) requires the closely related determination of whether a project may contaminate an aquifer through its recharge zone so as to pose a "significant hazard to public health." Integration of the two types of review will allow EPA and other Federal agencies to avoid needless duplication of efforts under the two statutes and will prevent inefficient use of resources in carrying out groundwater impact evaluations. It will also permit EPA to take advantage of the Federal agencies' and the public's familiarity with the NEPA process. The heads of all Federal agencies have been advised by the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) in a memorandum dated November 19, 1976, that NEPA guidelines should be amended to place specific emphasis on the evaluation of the groundwater impact of projects which might affect the quality of an aquifer through its recharge zone and that projects should be submitted to a thorough groundwater impact evaluation in accordance with NEPA procedures.

Assessment of environmental impact under NEPA results in the preparation of an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) if an initial environmental assessment shows that a project will have a significant impact on the environment. EPA will ordinarily review the potential impact of projects on the aquifer pursuant to Section 1424(e) at the time that draft or final EIS's are submitted to EPA. An EIS prepared for a project which is subject to Section 1424(e) as well as NEPA should contain all the information which is necessary for EPA to properly evaluate a project's impact on groundwater quality under Section 1424(e). EPA will routinely review under Section 1424(e) all EIS's prepared for projects which are to be located in the recharge zone or streamflow source zones which may have an impact on groundwater quality and for which an application for Federal financial assistance has been made.

Although it is anticipated that established NEPA procedures will ordinarily be sufficient to ensure adequate review of groundwater impact pursuant to Section 1424(e), the Regional Administrator shall also have the authority in implementing Section 1424(e) to specifically request that a groundwater impact evaluation which will satisfy the requirements of Section 1424(e) be prepared by the Federal agency from which a commitment of financial assistance is sought. This request may be made on the Regional Administrator's own motion based on information available to him, or upon receipt of a public petition meeting certain specified criteria. A well-researched groundwater impact chapter extracted from an environmental assessment prepared in accordance with NEPA may be sufficient to satisfy such a request for a groundwater impact evaluation under Section 1424(e).

To ensure that EPA and the public are informed of projects which may affect the quality of the aquifer, EPA will request from each funding Federal agency that a list of projects for which EIS's will be prepared and which are located in the recharge zone or streamflow source zones for the Edwards Underground Reservoir be periodically submitted to the Regional Administrator and made available to the public upon request. The Regional Administrator shall also have discretionary authority to work out with regional Federal agencies any agreements or memoranda of understanding which he feels are necessary to supplement these guidelines and to keep them informed of projects in the area. The Regional Administrator may assume the initiative in obtaining information on commitments of Federal financial assistance which are under consideration and in taking other steps to ensure that they are kept up-to-date on Federal funding of projects in the area. The Regional Administrator may, for example, request lists of applications for Federal financial assistance from the local A-95 Clearinghouse.

EPA will rely as much as possible upon existing State capabilities in protecting the groundwater quality of the aquifer. This reliance will in no way constitute a delegation of project review authority, since this is clearly an EPA responsibility which may not be delegated. However, State assistance can be very valuable in providing the agency with information and comments based on knowledge of local groundwater problems. The State's role will, of course, depend upon the State's capabilities and interests. The Regional Administrator may work out memoranda of understanding with the State in order to determine its participation in the protection of groundwater quality in the area.

The content of these regulations is primarily procedural. EPA plans to initiate a study to provide technical guidance to EPA regional reviewers for the assessment of groundwater impact evaluations prepared by Federal agencies in three major project categories: (1) Multi-unit housing developments, (2) highways, and (3) sewage collection, treatment and disposal facilities. Forthcoming technical guidance will also contain a detailed outline of the information which should be provided by Federal agencies for those project categories. In the meantime, Section 1424(e) review will be carried out in conjunction with NEPA review as currently implemented.

Issues raised by the comments received regarding the interim guidelines and the disposition of these issues in these regulations are as follows.

DISCUSSION OF MAJOR COMMENTS

NON-DEGRADATION

Several comments were received concerning the meaning of "significant hazard to public health," suggesting that to allow any level of potential contaminant to enter the aquifer would be undesirable. These persons requested that a non-degradation requirement be included in the regulations (irrespective of any National Primary Drinking Water Regulations) to assure that no significant hazard to public health could occur. Other comments expressed concern for the quality of the reservoir water but requested that the regulations not be so restrictive as to prevent all development on the recharge zone or to interfere with the rights of the individual property owner.

The definition, "Significant hazard to public health," has been expanded in these regulations § 149.1 to better reflect the EPA position that any project receiving Federal financial assistance should be designed and constructed in such a manner that the level of contaminants from the project will not contribute to the degradation of the water quality in a sole or principal source aquifer to the point "which may require a public water system to install additional treatment to prevent such adverse effect."

EPA NOTIFICATION AND REVIEW OF PROJECTS

Several comments were received requesting that EPA be notified of all Federal financially assisted projects in both the streamflow source zone and recharge zone. With regard to the review of projects in these zones, three persons requested that all projects be reviewed. One of these persons indicated a particular concern regarding an interim guidelines preamble statement noting that projects located in the streamflow source zone would be reviewed upon petition or an exceptional basis only. Other persons were concerned with the interim guidelines preamble statement that EPA would not review minor actions having an insignificant impact on the quality of the reservoir, such as individual home mortgage loans. One comment suggested that all projects reviewed under the guidelines provide an environmental impact statement (EIS) while another person requested that EPA urge other Federal agencies to prepare EIS's. These regulations specifically provide for EPA notification of projects, specify the ways in which review may be initiated, and clarify the relationship between review under Section 1424(e) and environmental review under the National Environmental Policy Act. (See the discussion of the definition of "project" below).

As discussed below under "Project Review," once an area is designated, the Regional Administrator has the discretionary authority to work out with regional Federal agencies any agreements or memoranda of understanding which are needed to supplement these regulations and to keep them informed of projects in the area.

DIRECT FEDERAL ACTION

Three persons requested that direct Federal actions be reviewed under Section 1424(e). One person asked that the executive order be cited that requires Federal agencies to comply with environmental legislation, and another person asked how the aggregate impact of direct Federal actions would be evaluated. Direct Federal actions are not subject to EPA review under Section 1424(e) and, therefore, are not subject to these regulations. The EPA Office of General Counsel has determined that only projects or actions receiving Federal financial assistance are subject to such review under the terms of the Act. However, direct Federal actions are covered under Executive Order 11752, the purpose of which is to assure that the Federal Government (in the design, construction, management, operation and maintenance of its facilities) will provide leadership in the effort to protect and enhance the quality of the nation's air, water, and land resources through compliance with applicable standards in full cooperation with

State and local governments. The effect of this order will be to protect the reservoir by assuring that Federal actions comply with the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System, state water quality standards, and regulations to be promulgated under the Safe Drinking Water Act.

DEFINITIONS

A definition has been included in the general regulations for "Federal financial assistance" in order to clearly state the nature of the programs and actions that will be affected.

The definition for "Project" in these regulations differs from that in the Edwards Underground Reservoir Interim project review guidelines in that the word "major" is not used. The deletion of the word "major" is consistent with EPA's intention to review any Federal financially assisted program or action which EPA determines could affect the quality of water in a sole or principal source aquifer whether or not the project has already been found to be a "major Federal project" under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). This deletion of "major" with respect to these regulations clearly indicates that EPA is assuming full responsibility to review any project that might contaminate a principal or sole source aquifer, and is not delegating to other Federal agencies the responsibility to decide which projects should be subject to EPA review. Federal agencies that have granted or might grant Federal financial assistance to projects in the Edwards reservoir recharge zone or the streamflow source zone have been advised of the Edwards Underground Reservoir Determination. EPA is working with these Federal agencies to develop interagency procedures whereby EPA will be notified of all projects that could contaminate the reservoir water so as to create a significant hazard to public health. In addition, these regulations allow the EPA Regional Administrator to request lists of applications for Federal financial assistance from the local A-95 Clearinghouse.

The expansion in the regulations of the "Significant hazard to public health" definition reflects the EPA position as discussed under Non-degradation.

The definition "Commitment of Federal financial assistance" in these regulations notes that a "commitment" is a "written" agreement while the interim guidelines for the Edwards did not specify "written." Also, these regulations note that the renewal of a lapsed commitment could constitute a new commitment if the project's impact on the designated aquifer has not been previously reviewed "under section 1424(e)"; while the interim Edwards guidelines did not specify "under section 1424(e)."

COMMITMENT OF FEDERAL FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Commenters asked if a project begun with State funds (such as a highway) and reimbursed with Federal funds, or a structure built with local funds but operated fully or in part with Federal funds is subject to section 1424(e) review.

Prior to a request for Federal financial assistance, a project will not be subject to review by EPA under section 1424(e). Each project for which financial assistance is requested will need to be evaluated on an individual basis. State and local agencies would be well-advised to anticipate the need to assess groundwater impact in order to obtain Federal reimbursement at a later date, by applying NEPA requirements and evaluating groundwater impact during the initial stages of a project.

PROJECT REVIEW AUTHORITY

Two commenters suggested that too much authority and discretionary power is delegated to the Regional Administrator and that the Administrator should have primary enforcement authority. Any responsibility delegated to the Regional Administrator is in line with EPA's policy of decentralization of authority. However, with regard to primary enforcement authority, these regulations, as did the Edwards interim guidelines, specify that only the Administrator may determine that a project may contaminate a designated aquifer through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

SUBMISSION OF PETITIONS

EPA received several comments requesting that the petition information requirements in the interim guidelines be simplified. In these regulations the number of requirements have been reduced in order to facilitate petition preparation and to minimize the burden on the public.

DECISION TO REVIEW

Two comments inquired about the appeal procedure available in the event that the Regional Administrator decides not to review a project. One of these comments requested that a specific appeal procedure be included in the guidelines. No appeal procedure has been included in these regulations. The Regional Administrator's decision not to review or veto a project is the final administrative decision. If a person feels that the Agency has failed to fulfill the requirements of the Act, he may file a citizen's suit under section 1449 of the Act.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF REVIEW

Two persons commented that the interim guidelines provision for public notice (by such means as the Regional Administrator deems appropriate) is inadequate, and one requested further that a mailing list of concerned citizens be compiled to receive notifications. Another person requested that a similar mailing list be used to notify persons of all projects in the recharge and streamflow source zones.

The Regional Administrator, under these regulations as under the interim guidelines, will provide public notice of project review by such means as he deems appropriate. To require specific means of notification could, with regard to certain geographical areas, preclude use of the most effective means of adequate public notification. However, as discussed below, the Regional Administrator will also request a list of projects for which EIS's will be prepared and which are located in the recharge zone or streamflow source zones of the aquifer and will make this information available to the public upon request. He may also request lists of applications for Federal financial assistance from the local A-95 Clearinghouses.

CONSIDERATION OF STATE AND LOCAL CONTROLS

Several comments requested that EPA (as stated in the interim guidelines) rely to the maximum extent possible upon existing State control mechanisms in protecting the aquifer, and several noted that the extent and effectiveness of State and local controls over possible contaminant releases should be a factor in the review of projects. However, many persons objected to such consideration of State and local control mechanisms.

It is EPA's policy to encourage State and local agencies to develop and implement environmental control programs. To be consistent with this policy, State and local controls will be considered when a project is reviewed, since the extent of local control is relevant to considering the extent of contamination. However, these regulations also state any reliance on the states "will in no way constitute a delegation of project review authority, since this is clearly an EPA responsibility which may not be delegated."

CONSIDERATION OF PROJECT BENEFITS

The majority of the comments received concerning project benefits requested that expected benefits not be a factor for consideration in the review of a project. Section 149.17 specifies that "environmental" benefits of the proposed project are to be considered. The interim guidelines for the Edwards aquifer did not specify the nature of the benefits to be considered.

RESUBMITTAL OF REDESIGNED PROJECTS

Three comments were received concerning the resubmittal of projects. One stated that a public hearing was appropriate and two that a public hearing should be mandatory in the event a redesigned project is resubmitted for review.

As in the case of the interim guidelines, these regulations, § 149.18, provide that the Regional Administrator is authorized to request public comments or hold an informal hearing when appropriate. However, under these regulations only the Administrator (not the Regional Administrator as in the interim guidelines) can actually vacate an initial determination that a project may contaminate the aquifer.

WAIVER OF REQUIREMENTS

Comments were received regarding the provision for the waiver of requirements, § 149.10 in the interim guidelines. These comments stated that it would not be contrary to the public interest for the public to know about and participate in decisions regarding Federal financially assisted projects. It is EPA's policy to encourage public participation in matters of public interest, and no waiver of requirements provision is contained in these regulations.

DISCUSSION OF MISCELLANEOUS COMMENTS

Several comments were received that either do not directly relate to the interim guidelines and/or are not reflected in a change in these regulations. Included were the following questions: What steps should be taken to review the impact of existing features (such as railroads, highways, etc.) as a basis for evaluating new projects and considering the potential of spills? What State and Federal monitoring programs are proposed? What further research is being done on the bacteriological quality of storm water runoff? What control exists for contaminants (such as viruses) not covered by permits and stream standards? How will recreational use of the watershed be handled? One comment recommended that a control plan be required for the collection of storm water runoff from projects and that septic tanks, landfills, animal feeding operations, effluent discharges (including storm water runoff, and waste treatment plants) be excluded from the recharge zone. Another comment suggested that the interim guidelines were too procedural in nature and requested that they be more technical.

With respect to the monitoring and research concerns, a monitoring network is being established for the purpose for reviewing the impact of existing developments on the reservoir. Results of this monitoring will be used to evaluate the impact of existing projects on the reservoir as well as to predict the potential impact of future projects. EPA concurs that additional research on storm water runoff and other discharges is needed. Much of this research is underway. Under section 1442(a) of the Act, the Administrator is required to conduct studies on disposal of wastes that may affect groundwater, and on means of controlling contaminants, including viruses. Information from this research will be an important source of data to be used in considering the proper disposition of discharges from projects located both in and outside of the recharge zone.

In response to those comments requesting that EPA require certain controls or prohibit specific actions in the recharge zone, such restrictions relate to land use planning. Land use planning is under local jurisdiction, and outside the scope of these regulations.

Dated: September 22, 1977.

DOUGLAS M. COSTLE,
Administrator.

AUTHORITY: Sec. 1424(e), Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300f, 300h, -3(e)); 80 Stat. 1660 et seq.; Pub. L. 93-523).

Subpart A—General Provisions

§ 149.1 Applicability.

This part sets forth, pursuant to section 1424(e) and 1450 of the Public Health Service Act, as amended by the Safe Drinking Water Act, Pub. L. 93-523, regulations relating to the Edwards Underground Reservoir which is the sole or principal drinking water source for the San Antonio area and which, if contaminated, would create a significant hazard to public health.

§ 149.2 Definitions.

As used in these regulations and except as otherwise specifically provided, the term(s):

(a) "Act" means the Public Health Service Act, as amended by the Safe Drinking Water Act, Pub. L. 93-523.

(b) "Contaminant" means any physical, chemical, biological, or radiological substance or matter in water.

(c) "Recharge zone" means the area through which water enters the Edwards Underground Reservoir as defined in the December 16, 1975, Notice of Determination.

(d) "Administrator" (Regional Administrator) means the Administrator (Regional Administrator) of the United States Environmental Protection Agency.

(e) "Person" means an individual, corporation, company, association, partnership, state, or municipality.

(f) "Project" means a program or action for which an application for Federal financial assistance has been made.

(g) "Federal financial assistance" means any financial benefits provided directly as aid to a project by a department, agency, or instrumentality of the Federal government in any form including contracts, grants, and loan guarantees. Actions or programs carried out by the Federal government itself such as dredging performed by the Army Corps of Engineers do not involve Federal financial assistance. Actions performed for the Federal government by contractors, such as construction of roads on Federal lands by a contractor under the supervision of the Bureau of Land Management, should be distinguished from contracts entered into specifically for the purpose of providing financial assistance, and will not be considered programs or actions receiving Federal financial assistance. Federal financial assistance is limited to benefits earmarked for a specific program or action and directly awarded to the program or action. Indirect assistance, e.g., in the form of a loan to a developer by a lending institution which in turn receives Federal assistance not specifically related to the project in question is not Federal financial assistance under section 1424(e).

(h) "Commitment of Federal financial assistance" means a written agreement entered into by a department, agency, or instrumentality of the Federal Government to provide financial assistance as defined in paragraph (g) of this section. Renewal of a commitment which the issuing agency determines has lapsed shall not constitute a new commitment unless the Regional Administrator determines that the project's impact on the aquifer has not been previously reviewed under section 1424(e). The determination of a Federal agency that a certain written agreement constitutes a commitment shall be conclusive with respect to the existence of such a commitment.

(i) "Streamflow source zone" means the upstream headwaters area which drains into the recharge zone as defined in the December 16, 1975, Notice of Determination.

(j) "Significant hazard to public health" means any level of contaminant which causes or may cause the aquifer to exceed any maximum contaminant level set forth in any promulgated National Primary Drinking Water Standard at any point where the water may be used for drinking purposes or which may otherwise adversely affect the health of persons, or which may require a public water system to install additional treatment to prevent such adverse effect.

(k) "Aquifer" means the Edwards Underground Reservoir.

Subpart B—Project Review

§ 149.10 Project review authority.

(a) Once an area is designated, no subsequent commitments of Federal financial assistance may be made to projects which the Administrator determines may contaminate the aquifer so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

(b) The Regional Administrator is hereby delegated the authority and assigned responsibility for carrying out the project review process assigned to the Administrator under section 1424(e) of the Act, except the final determination that a project may contaminate the aquifer through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

(c) The Regional Administrator may review any project which he considers may potentially contaminate the aquifer through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

§ 149.11 Public information.

After the area is designated under section 1424(e), Federal agencies, for projects, located in the recharge zone and streamflow source zones, are required to:

(a) Maintain a list of projects for which environmental impact statements will be prepared in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA);

(b) Revise the list at regular intervals and submit to EPA; and

(c) Make the list available to the public upon request.

§ 149.12 Submission of petitions.

Any person may submit a petition requesting the Regional Administrator to review a project to determine if such project may contaminate the aquifer through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health. Any such petition shall identify:

(a) The name, address, and telephone number of the individual, organization, or other entity submitting the petition;

(b) A brief statement of the requesting person's interest in the Regional Administrator's determination;

(c) The name of the project and Federal agency involved;

In addition, the petitioner is requested to submit to EPA available information on:

(d) Applicable action already taken by State and local agencies including establishment of regulations to prevent contamination of the aquifer and why, in the petitioner's judgment, the action was inadequate.

(e) Any actions taken under the National Environmental Policy Act and why, in the petitioner's judgment, that action was inadequate in regard to evaluation of potential effect on the aquifer.

(f) The potential contaminants involved;

(g) The means by which the contaminant might enter the aquifer; and

(h) The potential impact of the proposed project.

§ 149.13 Decision to review.

(a) The Regional Administrator shall review under section 1424(e) all projects located in the recharge or streamflow source zone of the aquifer for which a draft or final EIS is submitted which may have an impact on ground water quality and which involve Federal financial assistance as defined in these regulations.

(b) Upon receipt of a public petition, the Regional Administrator shall decide whether the project which is the subject of the petition should be reviewed under section 1424(e).

(c) The Regional Administrator may decide to review a project upon his own motion.

(d) In determining whether to review a project upon receipt of a public petition or upon his own motion, the Regional Administrator shall consider whether the project is likely to directly or indirectly cause contamination of the aquifer through its recharge zone, taking into account any factors he deems relevant, including:

(1) The location of the project, and

(2) The nature of the project.

(e) In determining whether to review a project upon receipt of a public petition or upon his own motion, the Regional Administrator may consult with, or request information from, the Federal agency to which the project application has been made, the applicant, seeking Federal assistance, appropriate State and local agencies, and other appropriate persons or entities.

(f) In determining whether to review a project which is the subject of a public petition, the Regional Administrator may request such additional information from the petitioner as he deems necessary.

§ 149.14 Notice of review.

(a) Notice to Federal agency. If the Regional Administrator decides upon receipt of a public petition or upon his own motion to review a project under section 1424(e), he shall give written notification of the decision to the Federal agency from which financial assistance is sought. The notification shall include a description and identification of the project.

(b) Notice to public. When the Regional Administrator undertakes to review a project pursuant to § 149.13 above, he shall provide public notice of project review by such means as he deems appropriate. The notice shall set forth the availability for public review of all data and information available, and shall solicit comments, data and information with respect to the determination of impact under section 1424(e). The period for public comment shall be 30 days after public notice unless the Regional Administrator extends the period at his discretion or a public hearing is held under § 149.16.

§ 149.15 Request for information.

In reviewing a project under section 1424(e), the Regional Administrator may request any additional information from the funding Federal agency which is pertinent to reaching a decision. If full evaluation of the groundwater impact of a project has not been submitted in accordance with the agency's NEPA procedures, the Regional Administrator may specifically request that the Federal agency submit a groundwater impact evaluation of whether the proposed project may contaminate the aquifer through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

§ 149.16 Public hearing.

If there is significant public interest, the Regional Administrator may hold a public hearing with respect to any project or projects to be reviewed if he finds that such a hearing is necessary and would be helpful in clarifying the issues. Public hearings held under this section should be coordinated, if possible, with other Federal public hearings held pursuant to applicable laws and regulations. Any such hearing shall be conducted by the Regional Administrator or designee in an informal, orderly and expeditious manner. Where appropriate, limits may be placed upon the time allowed for oral statements, and statements may be required to be submitted in writing. The record will be held open for further public comment for seven (7) days following the close of the public hearing.

§ 149.17 Decision under section 1424(e).

(a) As soon as practicable after the submission of public comments under section 1424(e) and information requested by the Environmental Protection Agency from the originating Federal agency, on the basis of such information as is available to him, the Regional Administrator shall review the project taking all relevant factors into account including:

(1) The extent of possible public health hazard presented by the project;

(2) Planning, design, construction, operation, maintenance and monitoring measures included in the project which would prevent or mitigate the possible health hazard;

(3) The extent and effectiveness of State or local control over possible contaminant releases to the aquifer;

(4) The cumulative and secondary impacts of the proposed project; and

(5) The expected environmental benefits of the proposed project.

(b) After reviewing the available information, the Regional Administrator shall:

(1) Determine that the risk of contamination of the aquifer through the recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health is not sufficiently great so as to prevent commitment of Federal funding to the project; or

(2) Forward the information to the Administrator with his recommendation that the project may contaminate the aquifer through the recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

(c) After receiving the available information forwarded by the Regional Administrator, the Administrator shall:

(1) Determine that the risk of contamination of the aquifer through the recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health is not sufficiently great so as to prevent commitment of Federal funding to the project; or

(2) Determine that the project may contaminate the aquifer through the recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

(d) Notice of any decisions by the Regional Administrator under paragraph (b) (1) of this section or by the Administrator under paragraphs (c) (1) and (c) (2) of this section to prevent a commitment of Federal funding shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Such notices shall include a description of the proposed project, and a statement of decision with an accompanying statement of facts and reasons.

§ 149.18 Resubmittal of redesigned projects.

If a project is redesigned in response to EPA's objections, the applicant for Federal financial assistance or the grantor agency may file a petition with the Regional Administrator for withdrawal of the determination that the project may contaminate the aquifer through the recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health. Any such petition shall demonstrate how the project has been redesigned so as to justify the withdrawal of EPA's objections. If appropriate, the Regional Administrator may request public comments or hold an informal public hearing to consider the petition. After review of pertinent information, the Regional Administrator shall either deny the petition or recommend to the Administrator that the initial determination that a project may contaminate the aquifer be vacated. Upon receipt of a recommendation from the Regional Administrator that a determination be vacated, the Administrator shall either deny the petition or order that the initial determination be vacated. The final decision regarding a petition shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER with an accompanying statement of reasons.

§ 149.19 Funding to redesigned projects.

After publication of a decision that a proposed project may contaminate a sole or principal source aquifer in a designated area through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health, a commitment for Federal financial assistance may be entered into, if authorized under another provision of law, to plan or redesign such project to assure that it will not so contaminate the aquifer.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On July 22, 1977, the EPA published a notice of proposed rulemaking in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 37578) in response to a pesticide petition (PP 6E1792) submitted to the Agency by Union Carbide Corp., 1730 Pennsylvania Ave., NW., Washington, D.C. 20460. This petition proposed that 40 CFR 480.269 be amended by the establishment of a tolerance for combined residues of the insecticide aldicarb (2-methyl-2-(methylthiopropionaldehyde O-(methylcarbamoyl) oxime and its cholinesterase-inhibiting metabolites 2-methyl-2-(methylsulfonyl) propionaldehyde O-methylcarbamoyl oxime and 2-methyl-2-(methylsulfonyl) propionaldehyde O-methylcarbamoyl oxime in or on the raw agricultural commodity bananas at 0.3 part per million (ppm). No comments or requests for referral to an advisory committee were received in response to this notice of proposed rulemaking.

It has been concluded, therefore, that the proposed amendment to 40 CFR 180.269 should be adopted without change, and it has been determined that this regulation will protect the public health.

Any person adversely affected by this regulation may, on or before October 31, 1977, file written objections with the Hearing Clerk, EPA, Rm. 1019, East Tower, 401 M St., SW., Washington, D.C. 20460. Such objections should be submitted in triplicate and specify the provisions of the regulation deemed to be objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by the grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought.

Effective on the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, Part 180, Subpart C, section 180.269 is amended by adding a tolerance for residues of aldicarb on bananas at 0.3 ppm as set forth below. (Sec. 408(e) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 346a(e)).)

Dated: September 23, 1977.

Deputy Assistant Administrator
for Pesticide Programs.

Part 180, Subpart C, section 180.269 is amended by alphabetically inserting the new item "bananas" in the table as follows:

§ 180.269 Aldicarb: tolerances for residues.
Commodity:	Parts per million

Title 43—Public Lands: Interior
CHAPTER II—BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL MANAGEMENT (1000)

[Circular No. 2427]

PART 1880—FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE, LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Payments in Lieu of Taxes

AGENCY: Bureau of Land Management, Interior.

ACTION: Final rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Department of the Interior is adopting procedures for payments in lieu of taxes to qualified local units of general government under the Act of October 20, 1976. The intended effect of these procedures is to relieve the fiscal burden of tax exempt Federal land within the boundaries of local units of government.

DATE: Effective September 30, 1977.

ADDRESS: Director (520), Bureau of Land Management, 1800 C Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20240.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Edward P. Greenberg, Division of Finance (520), Bureau of Land Management, 1800 C Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20240, (202-343-3624).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The principal author of this final rulemaking is Billy R. Templeton, Division of Legislation and Regulatory Management, assisted by Lyle Rising of the Office of the Solicitor, Department of the Interior.

Proposed rulemaking, setting forth procedures for making payments to qualified local units of general government under the Act of October 20, 1976 (31 U.S.C. 1601 et seq.), was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 8, 1977. Public comments had been invited several weeks prior to that date and additionally for 30 days after, for a period ending September 8, 1977. The major comments received are discussed below by the section of the rulemaking addressed.

§ 1881.0-5 DEFINITIONS

1. The major comment received during the period prior to the publication of proposed rulemaking concerned the eligibility of township level governments in the State of Michigan to receive payments under the Act. Comments on the same issue were received during the comment period after publication of the proposed rulemaking.

An analysis of the statistical data available indicates that the county is the principal taxing body and provider of general government services on the local level in the State of Michigan. Therefore, the definition section is essentially unchanged and the following list of local units of general government are the ones determined qualified to receive payments under the Act.

<sup>1</sup> Where organized town governments exist. If towns are unincorporated or the town governments are inactive, payments shall be made to counties.

2. The issue of entitlement as related to lands owned or administered by State and local governments and exempt from State and local taxes at the time of their acquisition by the Federal government was commented upon in two contexts: a. Exchange lands and b. lands upon which payments in lieu of taxes were being made to local units of governments by States at the time of acquisition by the Federal government.

Section 6(a) (4) of the Act is specific with regard to lands which were exempt from real estate taxes at the time of their acquisition. The Act precludes consideration of such lands as entitlement lands.

3. It was reported that in New Hampshire the State government performs those functions normally considered local government functions in unincorporated places in the State. It was suggested that the State be the qualified unit of local government in those areas. The definition of "unit of local government" in section 6(c) of the Act precludes the State as a unit of local government qualified to receive payments under the Act.

4. It was suggested that the definition of "money transfers" be changed to provide that funds received by qualified units of local government under the laws cited in section 4 of the Act and passed through to single purpose units of government, such as school districts, not be counted as a deduction against payments under the Act.

Section 2(a) (1) specifically requires that payment be reduced by the amount received by units of local government, in aggregate, under the laws cited in section 4. This cannot be changed by regulation.

§ 1881.2 USE OF PAYMENTS

1. It was suggested that section 1881.2 with regard to section 1 payments be reworded to read more restrictively regarding pass-throughs of moneys under the Act.

2. It was also suggested that the rules provide for conference with and consideration of the needs of lower levels of general government by the recipient of payments in the development of spending priorities. The language used is directly from the Act which states that the funds may be used for any governmental purpose. Limitations cannot be placed upon the use of these funds by regulations.

GENERAL COMMENTS

The following comments do not address a specific section of the proposed rulemaking.

1. It was suggested that an economic impact analysis under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107 is required.

It was determined that no economic impact statement is required because possible inflationary impacts of the Act were considered by the Congress (see House report 94-1106, page 16). After such consideration, the Act was signed into law by the President directing the Secretary to make payments to the extent that funds are made available, in advance, in appropriation Acts.

2. It was commented that to make all payments to the States and have them pass the money through would be a good system to handle the payments.

This system of handling payments would not be consistent with the Act.

3. Also, concern was expressed that funds now being received might be diverted to other purposes by the new regulations. This is not the case. Any payments authorized to be made under this Act are new revenues to be used for any governmental purposes.

4. Editorial changes and corrections have been made as necessary.

Accordingly, under the authority of the Act of October 20, 1976 (31 U.S.C. 1601 et seq.) Group 1800, Subchapter A, Chapter II, Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended by adding Part 1880 to read as follows:

GUY R. MARTIN,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

SEPTEMBER 23, 1977.

§ 1881.0-1 Purpose.

The regulations establish procedures for making payments in lieu of taxes to units of local government for certain federal lands within their boundaries.

§ 1881.0-3 Authority.

The authority for these regulations is the Act of October 20, 1976, Pub. L. 94-565, 90 Stat. 2662, 31 U.S.C. §§ 1601-1607, hereinafter referred to as "the Act."

§ 1881.0-5 Definitions.

(a) A "government," as that term is used by the Bureau of the Census for general statistical purposes, is an organized entity having substantial autonomy and whose officers are either popularly elected or appointed by publicly elected officials. Other indicia of governmental character include (1) a high degree of responsibility to the public for performance of duties of a governmental nature, (2) power to levy taxes, and (3) power to issue debt paying interest exempt from Federal taxation.

(b) (1) "Unit of general government" means a unit of that type of government which, within its state, is the principal provider of governmental services affecting the use of entitlement lands. Those services of government include (but are not limited to) maintenance of land records, police protection, fire protection, taxation, land use planning, search and rescue and road construction. Ordinarily, a unit of general government will be a county. However, where a smaller unit of government is the principal provider of governmental services affecting the use of public lands within a state, the smaller unit, even though within a larger unit of government, will be considered a general unit of government and will receive payments under the Act. These units of general government will ordinarily be "towns" or townships within states where county governments are nonexistent or nearly nonexistent. The term "unit of general government" also includes:

(i) Governments with the functions of a unit of general government in that state combined with another type of government such as city, township, parish, borough or county, e.g., a city and county as in the City and County of Denver.

(ii) Cities located outside of any of the units of general government for that state and administering functions commonly performed by those units of general government.

(iii) Alaskan boroughs in existence on October 20, 1976.

(iv) The Governments of the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands.

(2) The term "unit of general government" excludes single purpose or special purpose units of local government such as school districts or water districts.

(c) (1) "Entitlement lands" are lands owned by the United States which are:

(i) Within the National Park System including wilderness areas;

(ii) Within the National Forest System including wilderness areas and also including those areas of Superior National Forest, Minnesota, set forth in 16 U.S.C. §§ 577d and 577d-1 (1970);

(iii) Administered by the Secretary of the Interior through the Bureau of Land Management;

(iv) Water resource projects administered by the Bureau of Reclamation or Corps of Engineers; or
(v) Dredge disposal areas administered by the Corps of Engineers.

(2) "Entitlement lands" do not include:

(i) Lands which were owned or administered by State and local governments which at time of acquisition by the Federal government were not subject to State and local taxes.

(ii) Any land for which any money was paid to a unit of local government pursuant to the Act of August 28, 1937 (50 Stat. 875) or the Act of May 24, 1939 (53 Stat. 753) in that fiscal year.

(d) "Money transfers" means those money or cash payments made by or through the State government to units of local government pursuant to the laws set forth in section 4 of the Act.

(e) "Authorized officer" means that official within the Bureau of Land Management delegated the authority to carry out the provisions of the Act.

§ 1881.1 Procedures.

§ 1881.1-1 Procedures, general.

(a) The minimum payment shall be $100 to any one unit of local government under both sections 1 and 3 of the Act, in aggregate.

(b) If money actually appropriated by Congress for distribution during any fiscal year is insufficient to provide full payment to each unit of local government, all payments due to eligible recipients in that fiscal year shall be reduced proportionally, to the extent determined necessary by the authorized officer.

§ 181.1-2 Procedures, Section 1 payments.

(a) The authorized officer shall determine which governments are units of general government eligible to receive payments under section 1 of the Act in accordance with section 8(c) of the Act and the definitions in § 1881.0-5 of these regulations. In resolving questions about the eligibility of any unit of general government and the status of entitlement lands, the authorized officer may consult with the Bureau of the Census, officials of the appropriate State and local government, and officials of the agency administering the entitlement lands.

(b) Payments in excess of $100 received by counties shall be distributed by those counties to affected units of local government and affected school districts, in accordance with section 3 of the Act, within 90 days of the receipt of such payment. Distribution shall be in proportion to the tax revenues received by the affected units of local government and school districts in the year prior to acquisition of the entitlement lands by the Federal Government.

(c) A certification by the county involved that appropriate distribution of funds has been made shall be submitted to the authorized officer within 120 days after the date that payments are received.

Title 45—Public Welfare

CHAPTER II—SOCIAL AND REHABILITATION SERVICE (ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS) DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

PART 201—GRANTS TO STATES FOR PUBLIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

Correction—Title Change—Medical Assistance Program

AGENCY: Health Care Financing Administration, HEW.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule corrects an error in designation of officials authorized to defer payment of claims and disallow Federal financial participation in claims made under the Medicaid program (title XIX, Social Security Act). Amendments published September 1, 1977 (42 FR 43977) to reflect the recent HEW reorganization inadvertently failed to include the proper delegations on these matters made under administrative authority.

EFFECTIVE DATE: June 20, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Margaret O. Shnoor, 202-245-1960.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The September 1, 1977 amendments to Medicaid regulations were intended to eliminate references to the Regional Commissioner, Social and Rehabilitation Service (SRS), to comport with the new organizational structure of HCFA. They were not designed to change any of the delegations of authority made within the Department under the Departmental Reorganizational Order published on March 9, 1977 (42 FR 13282), and by administrative delegation after the effective date of that Order.

The September 1 amendment inadvertently vested in the Regional Medicaid Directors the authority to disallow funds and to defer payment of claims (45 CFR 201.14, 201.15), which previously had been exercised by the SRS Regional Commissioners. However, after the abolition of SRS, this authority reverted to the Administrator of HCFA, and was subsequently delegated to the Assistant Administrator for Financial Management, and the Associate Administrator for Medicaid (now designated as Director, Medicaid Bureau), to be exercised by them in addition to the Administrator. Since the September 1 amendment was not intended to change these delegations, this correction is necessary.

This correction is retroactive to June 20, 1977 which was the effective date of the September 1, 1977 amendment which this regulation corrects. This correction reinstates those delegations which were made administratively within HCFA by the Administrator or his designees from the period after June 20, 1977 to the present. All such delegations of authority to defer claims or to disallow State expenditures for Medicaid remain in effect.

The Department finds that there is good cause to dispense with notice of proposed rulemaking since this change is required to correct an inadvertent error in delegated authority made in the amendments published September 1.

Part 201, Chapter II, Title 45, Code of Federal Regulations is amended as set forth below.

1. Paragraph 201.14(b)(1) is changed to read as follows:

§ 201.14 Reconsideration under section 1116(d) of Act.

(b) Notice of disallowance determination.

(1) When the Regional Commissioner or, with respect to the medical assistance program under title XIX, the Administrator, Health Care Financing Administration or his designee, determines that a State claim for FFP in expenditures for a particular item or class of items is not allowable, he shall promptly issue a disallowance letter to the State.

2. Section 201.15(c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 201.15. Deferral of claims for Federal financial participation.

(c) Procedures. (1) A claim or any portion of a claim for reimbursement for expenditures reported on the Quarterly Statement of Expenditures shall be deferred only when the Regional Commissioner or, with respect to the medical assistance program under title XIX, the Administrator, Health Care Financing Administration, or his designee (hereinafter collectively referred to as the Administrator) believes the claim or a specific portion of the claim is of questionable allowability. The deferral action will be taken within 60 days after receipt of a Quarterly Statement of Expenditures prepared in accordance with instructions issued by the Service.

(2) When deferral action is taken on a claim, the Regional Commissioner or the Administrator will within 15 days send written notice to the State identifying the type and amount of the claim and the reason for deferral. In the written notice of the deferral action, the Regional Commissioner or the Administrator will request the State to make available for inspection all documents and materials which the Regional office or the Administrator then believes necessary to determine the allowability of the claim.

(3) Within 60 days of receipt of the notice of deferral action described in paragraph (c)(2) of this section the State shall make available to the Regional office, in readily reviewable form, all requested documents and materials, or when necessary, shall identify those documents and items of information which are not available. If the State requires additional time to make the documents and material available, it shall upon request be given an additional 60 days.

(4) The Regional office will normally initiate the review within 30 days of the date that materials become available for review.

(5) If the Regional Commissioner or Regional Medicaid Director finds that the documents and materials are not in readily reviewable form or that supplemental information is required, he will promptly notify the State. The State will have 15 days from the date of notification to complete the action requested. If the Regional Commissioner or the Administrator finds that the documents necessary to determine the allowability of the claim are not made available within the allowed time limits, or that the documents are not made available in readily reviewable form, he shall promptly disallow the claim.

(6) The Regional Commissioner or the Administrator will have 90 days after all documentation is available in readily reviewable form to determine the allowability of the deferred claim. If he is unable to complete the review within the time period the claim will be paid subject to a later determination of allowability.

(7) It is the responsibility of the State agency to establish the allowability of a deferred claim.

(8) The Regional Office or the Administrator will notify the State in writing of the decision on the allowability of the deferred claim.

(9) If a deferred claim is disallowed, the Regional Commissioner or the Administrator shall advise the State of its right to reconsideration pursuant to § 201.14.

(10) A decision to pay a deferred claim shall not preclude a subsequent disallowance as a result of an audit exception or financial management review. If a subsequent disallowance should occur, the State, upon request shall be granted reconsideration pursuant to § 201.14.

PART 249—SERVICES AND PAYMENT IN MEDICAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

Contracts for Providing or Paying for Services

AGENCY: Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), HEW.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This document changes the effective date of the regulations on contracts under the medical assistance program (Medicaid, title XIX, Social Security Act) is taken to avoid unduly penalizing States for certain problems stemming from the lead time provided for meeting requirements.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Henry Spiegelblatt, 202-245-0398.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Final regulations (45 CFR 249.82) on State Medicaid contracts for provision of medical or administrative services were published on May 9, 1975 (40 FR 20516), effective August 9, 1975. The regulations specify provisions that must be included in contracts between State Medicaid agencies and health insuring organizations, health maintenance organizations, fiscal agents and certain other contractors. They also contain administrative requirements to be met by State agencies in executing contracts, and conditions for obtaining Federal matching for State expenditures under the contracts.

Experience since publication of the regulations indicates that both States and HEW Regional Offices needed a greater lead time than was provided in order to put the regulations into full effect. Major changes from the previous requirements meant corresponding changes in State contracting procedures and policies, and the new requirement for HEW prior approval of large contracts created an additional workload for Regional staff that proved difficult to accommodate. Consequently, a number of States were unable to meet one or more specific requirements in a timely fashion and Regions were unable to provide technical assistance to the extent necessary to help States overcome these problems.

The penalty on States for failure to meet the requirements is denial of Federal matching for the contract expenditures. In retrospect, the Department has determined that this is an unduly severe action given the circumstances existing at the time the regulations went into effect. Accordingly, the original effective date is rescinded and a new effective date of August 9, 1976, is established. The Department finds good cause to dispense with proposed rulemaking and issue this change in final, since it will eliminate the need to impose a harsh financial penalty on States and will not disadvantage any party.

PART 83—STATIONS ON SHIPBOARD IN MARITIME SERVICES

Providing Clarification and Modification of the Rules for Emergency Position Indicating Radiobeacons on the Frequencies 121.5 and 243 MHz; Correction.

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Final rule; correction.

SUMMARY: This errata is required to correct certain editorial matter in the Report and Order, Docket No. 20775, released September 6, 1977.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Robert C. McIntyre, Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau, 202-632-7197.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Released: September 27, 1977.

In the matter of Amendment of Parts 2 and 83 of the Commission's rules to provide clarification and modification of the rules for emergency position indicating radiobeacons on the frequencies 121.5 and 243 MHz.

1. In the Report and Order in the above-captioned matter, FCC 77-583, paragraph 1, incorrectly stated that the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking amended Parts 81 and 83 of the rules. This should be corrected to read: Parts 2 and 83 of the rules.

2. The rule parts affected by this proceeding were inadvertently omitted from the Ordering paragraph. Accordingly, paragraph 13 should be modified to state that Parts 2 and 83 of the Commission's rules are amended effective October 11, 1977, to read as follows:

13. Accordingly, it is ordered, That pursuant to the authority contained in Sections 4(i) and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, Parts 2 and 83 of the Commission's Rules are amended effective October 11, 1977, as set forth in the attached Appendix.

3. As an ancillary matter, the Report and Order as printed in the FEDERAL REGISTER, 42 FR 44986, with the exceptions set out in paragraphs 1 and 2 above was correct. However, some of the copies of the Report and Order were distributed by the Commission in which page 2 of the text of the Report and Order was erroneously printed in place of page 2 of the Appendix. The corrected page 2 of the Appendix is attached hereto.

CHAPTER VIII—NATIONAL TRANSPORTATION SAFETY BOARD PART 801—PUBLIC AVAILABILITY OF INFORMATION

Fee Schedule

AGENCY: National Transportation Safety Board.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This revision sets forth price and other changes for the reproduction of factual investigative records and other documents available from the National Transportation Safety Board (Board) under the Freedom of Information Act. Certain changes in the fee schedule are now required to reflect the terms of a new contract with the commercial reproducer and to indicate revisions in the minimum charge for reproduction and the cost for photographic prints.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 1, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Fritz L. Puls, General Counsel, National Transportation Safety Board, Washington, D.C. 20594 (202-426-8911).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Pursuant to section (a)(4)(A) of the Freedom of Information Act (Pub. L. 93-502, November 21, 1974, amending 5 U.S.C. 552) (Act), fee schedules for publications must be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. In 1975, after notice, the Board issued its regulations implementing the Act. In an amended Appendix 49 CFR Part 801, which was published at 41 FR 39759, September 16, 1976, a price list for documents published by or available from the Board was established, based on the provisions of the then current contract between the Board and the commercial reproducer. That contract terminates on September 30, 1977, and the Board has entered into a new contract.

Because the price and other changes in the fee schedule were subject to and are the result of competitive bidding, the Board has determined that notice of proposed rulemaking would be impracticable and unnecessary.

Accordingly, 49 CFR Part 801 is hereby amended by revising the Appendix—Fee Schedule as set forth below.

KAY BAILEY,
Acting Chairman.

2. Commercial reproduction fees and search fees. Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552 as amended, reproduction of the documents listed below is accomplished by commercial contract. Requests must be forwarded to the Public Inquiries Section, National Transportation Safety Board, Washington, D.C. 20594. The contractor may bill and/or collect full payment before duplicating the requested documents. Fees are subject to change depending upon the Board's annual contract award.

Accident files for all transportation modes, dating from January 1, 1965, through December 31, 1973, are stored at the Federal Records Center; in filling any request for reproduction of these files, approximately two additional weeks will be needed for retrieval.

(e) Accelerated service—A 10-percent surcharge will be made for accelerated service which will be provided within two working days commencing when the contractor has received advance payment or when telephone arrangements have been made with the contractor. Accelerated delivery service will be handled as follows:

Step 1. Customer places telephone or written request to the Board's Public Inquiries Section for desired accident file.

Step 2. The Board forwards order form and file to contractor.

Step 3. Contractor sends advance billing invoice, which shows total cost, to customer.

Step 4. Customer calls contractor direct and verifies that he is wiring payment to contractor, as specified by contractor, or customer returns a copy of the contractor's invoice with full payment enclosed.

Step 5. Contractor copies documents and mails them to the customer.

(f) Document search fee.—The Board has determined that it is in the public interest to limit search fees to documents which require commercial reproduction. Further, the fee has been reduced to the labor cost for a minimum time-search. Therefore, a $4.00 search fee is required only for:

(1) Factual accident investigation reports, statements, photographs, and other material contained in the Board's accident investigation files.

(2) Accident investigation information not in the Board's public files.

(3) Copies of responses to safety recommendations from recipients of such recommendations.

NOTE.—The $4.00 search fee will be included in the commercial reproduction firm's invoice.

(g) Documents requiring commercial reproduction for copies:

(1) Transcripts of public hearings.

(2) Factual accident investigation reports and information (see (e) (1) and (2) above).

3. Reproduction fees. All documents in the Board's public files may be examined, without charge, in the Board's public reference room, located in the Public Inquiries Section. There is a self-service duplicator in the reference room, which is available to the public for reproduction at a nominal cost.

4. Documents available without commercial reproduction cost until limited supplies are exhausted.

(1) Press releases.

(2) Aircraft accident reports, narrative, and brief format probable cause reports (on request for specific accidents).

(3) Surface accident reports.

CHAPTER X—INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

[Ninth Revised Service Order No. 1234]

PART 1033—CAR SERVICE

Distribution of Freight Cars

SEPTEMBER 26, 1977.

AGENCY: Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACTION: Emergency order (Ninth Revised Service Order No. 1234).

SUMMARY: Tariff provisions often require the use of cars having high weight carrying or cubic capacity. Many carriers have shortages of these high capacity cars but have ample supplies of similar cars of lesser capacity. Service Order No. 1234 authorizes railroads, with the consent of the shipper, to substitute sufficient smaller cars for larger cars ordered to transport specified kinds of freight subject to the minimum quantity per shipment required by the applicable tariffs.

EFFECTIVE DATES: Effective 12:01 a.m., September 24, 1977. Expires 11:59 p.m., March 31, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

C. C. Robinson, Chief Utilization and Distribution Branch, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423, telephone 202-275-7840, Telex 89-2742.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The order is printed in full below.

At a Session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Railroad Service Board, held in Washington, D.C., on the 23rd day of September, 1977.

There is an acute shortage of high capacity freight cars for transporting shipments of beet pellets, citrus pulp, citrus pellets, clay, fertilizer, phosphate (dried or ground, treated or untreated), fish meal, grain, grain products, salt, soybeans, soybean products, cottonseed hulls, peanut hulls, or soybean hulls; caused by certain tariff provisions specifying the minimum quantities that must be loaded into cars offered to the carriers for transport. At the same time smaller cars, suitable except as to capacity, are available for transporting these products. The inability of the carriers and shippers to utilize the smaller capacity cars in place of the larger cars required by tariff provisions is resulting in great economic loss to both shippers and carriers. In the opinion of the Commission, an emergency exists requiring immediate action to modify existing rules, regulations and practices with respect to car service to secure maximum utilization of the available supply of freight cars and to alleviate shortages of cars. Accordingly, the Commission finds that notice and public procedure are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and that good cause exists for making this order effective upon less than thirty days' notice.

It is ordered, That:

§ 1033.1234 Distribution of freight cars.

(a) Subject to the concurrence of the shipper, carriers may substitute a sufficient number of smaller cars for larger cars ordered to transport shipments of beet pellets, citrus pulp, citrus pellets, clay, fertilizer, phosphate (dried or ground, treated or untreated), fish meal, grain, grain products, salt, soybeans soybean products, cottonseed hulls, peanut hulls or soybean hulls regardless of tariff requirements specifying minimum cubic or weight carrying capacity. (See exceptions (b) and (c).)

(b) Exception. This order shall not apply to shipments subject to tariff pro-

PART 1041—INTERPRETATION—
CERTIFICATES AND PERMITS

PART 1049—TERMINAL AREAS

Terminal Areas for Express Shipments by Bus

AGENCY: Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This document amends the regulations pertaining to the interpretation of certificates and permits to provide that the operating rights of passenger carriers to serve a municipality includes authority to pickup and deliver express shipments at points within the commercial zone of that municipality. It also defines the terminal areas of passenger carriers in connection with the transportation of express to be coextensive with the limits of the municipalities they serve. This action is taken as a result of a petition filed by Continental Trailways, Inc., on March 9, 1977, as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 24, 1977, after analysis of the representations filed by motor carriers, shippers and other interested parties.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 28, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Michael Erenberg, Assistant Deputy Director, Section of Operating Rights, Interstate Commerce Commission, 12th & Constitution Ave. NW., Washington, D.C. 20423, (202-275-7292).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In the sixth supplemental report in Commercial Zones and Terminal Areas, 54 M.C.C. 21 (1952), the Commission found that the terminal areas of all motor carriers, including passenger carriers, and freight forwarders, should be coextensive with the commercial zones of their authorized municipalities. The Commission also construed the operating rights of motor carriers to include authority to pickup and deliver shipments at all points within the commercial zones of the municipalities they are authorized to serve. Subsequently, a number of commuter bus lines in the New York, N.Y., and Philadelphia, Pa., metropolitan areas sought reconsideration of this decision. These carriers complained that such an interpretation of the operating rights of passenger carriers would enable carriers which had historically served specific cities only, to enter into competition with other commuter lines serving neighboring municipalities. As a result of these carriers' petition, the Commission, in its Seventh Supplemental Report, withdrew and vacated its ruling in the Sixth Supplemental Report insofar as it pertained to motor carriers of passengers. See Commercial Zones and Terminal Areas, 54 M.C.C. 815, 629 (1952). The Commission declined, however, to construe the operating rights of passenger carriers or to define their terminal areas and the subject of express service was not discussed. Eight years later, in Greyhound Corp., Investigation of Certificates, 84 M.C.C. 169 (1960), the Commission, Division 1, stated that the terminal areas of passenger carriers are confined to the actual limits of the municipalities they serve. The purpose of this notice is to modify 49 CFR 1041 and 49 CFR 1048 to provide that the operating rights of passenger carriers to transport express be interpreted to include authority to pickup and deliver shipments at all points within the commercial zones of the municipalities they are authorized to serve and to provide that the terminal areas of passenger carriers in connection with the transportation of express be coextensive with the limits of the commercial zones of the municipalities they serve.

This regulation is issued under the authority of Sections 552, 553, and 559 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 552, 553, and 559) and Sections 202, 203, 204, 207, 209, 402, 403, and 404 of the Interstate Commerce Act (49 U.S.C. 302, 304, 307, 309, and 1002, 1003, and 1004).

Issued at Washington, D.C.

H. G. HOMME, Jr.,
Acting Secretary.

Accordingly, the following sections of 49 CFR 1041 and 1049 are amended by inserting the words "or motor carrier of passengers in the transportation of express" after the words "motor carrier of property" wherever they appear in each section:

§ 1041.20 [Amended]

(1) 1041.20 Operating authority to serve particular municipality, construction.

§ 1041.21 [Amended]

(2) 1041.21 Operating authority to serve particular unincorporated community, construction.

§ 1049.1 [Amended]

(3) 1049.1 Terminal areas of motor carriers and freight forwarders at municipalities served.

§ 1049.2 [Amended]

(4) 1049.2 Terminal areas of motor carriers and freight forwarders at unincorporated communities served.

Detention of Motor Vehicles—Nationwide

AGENCY: Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACTION: Amendment of final rule.

SUMMARY: The Interstate Commerce Commission has amended the nationwide rules governing detention of motor vehicles. The amendments were made in response to petitions filed by interested parties, and are intended to clarify the rules.

DATES: The effective date of the prescribed rules has been stayed by the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In response to petitions for modification, reopening, and reconsideration, the Commission has issued a decision and order in Ex Parte No. MC-88, Detention of Motor Vehicles—Nationwide. The decision and order, served September 15, 1977, discusses ambiguities which assertedly existed in the rules governing spotting of vehicles, as well as the impact of those spotting rules on shippers. Also discussed are the amount of free time allowed for vehicles with power, the burden of proving the cause of detention, the level of the prescribed detention charges, who pays detention charges assessed against the shipment, and applicability of the rules. In its decision and order, the Commission clarified the first two sentences of the second full paragraph on page 807 of the report on reconsideration, 126 M.C.C. 803, to read as follows:

The definition of "spotting" contained in section 2(f) and item 33 on page 737 of the prior report and order make it clear that the carriers' line-haul obligation ends when a loaded trailer is dropped in the consignee's holding yard. The cost of moving the trailer from the holding yard to the unloading dock is the responsibility of the consignee.

Clarifying amendments were also made to the rules themselves. These amendments are set forth in the appendix.

H. G. HOMME, Jr.,
Acting Secretary.

49 CFR 1307.35(e) is amended as set forth in the following appendix.

APPENDIX

Clarifying amendments are made to the provisions under 1307.35(e).

§ 1307.35 [Amended]

1. In the first paragraph under 1307.35(e), that portion of the first sentence which now reads

... articles picked up or delivered to railroad cars having prior or subsequent transportation by rail; ...

Confirmation of effective date will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER at a future date.

is amended to read as follows:

... articles picked up or delivered to railroad cars in railroad owned or leased equipment having prior or subsequent transportation by rail; ...

2. The following change is made in the provisions under 1307.35(e) (1); under Section 1, General provisions, the second sentence of item (d) is amended to read as follows:

When detention charges are attributable to others who are not parties to the Bill of Lading contract, the party responsible for the payment of the freight charges will be held responsible for any accrued detention charges.

3. The following changes are made in the provisions under 1307.35(e) (2);

- Under Section 2, Definitions, item (f) is amended as follows:

- At the end of the second sentence, add: "at any site on premises."

- Following the last sentence, add: Empty trailers placed at the premises of consignor without specific request are not spotted until the carrier receives a consignor's request and places a trailer for spotting. Movement of the trailer from the consignor's premises to the specific site for spotting shall be the obligation of the carrier, and free time shall accrue as provided in section 3.

- Under Section 3, Computation of Free Time, item (a) (1) is amended by deleting the following language from the third sentence:

... or, in the case of an empty trailer placed at the premises of consignor without specific request, at the time a specific request to spot a trailer is received by the carrier.

- Under Section 5, Records, item (f) is deleted. Items (g), (h), and (i) are respectively relettered (f), (g), and (h).

PART 20—MIGRATORY BIRD HUNTING

Late Seasons, Bag Limits, and Possession of Certain Migratory Game Birds in the United States

AGENCY: Fish and Wildlife Service, Interior.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule prescribes the open seasons, shooting hours, areas, bag limits, and possession of certain migratory game birds, i.e., general waterfowl seasons; special seasons for scaup and goldeneyes; extra scaup and blue-winged teal in regular seasons; most sandhill crane seasons in the Central Flyway; coots, gallinules, and snipe in the Pacific Flyway; and special falconry seasons. The taking of the designated species of migratory birds is prohibited unless open hunting seasons are specifically provided. The rules will permit taking of the designated species within specified periods of time beginning as early as October 1, as has been the case in past years, and benefit the public by opening the seasons which are presently closed.

EFFECTIVE DATE: September 29, 1977 (publication date)

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Migratory Bird Treaty Act of July 3, 1918 (40 Stat. 756; 16 U.S.C. 703 et seq.), as amended, authorizes and directs the Secretary of the Interior, having due regard for the zones of temperature and for the distribution, abundance, economic value, breeding habits, and times and lines of flight of migratory game birds to determine when, to what extent, and by what means such birds or any part, nest, or egg thereof may be taken, hunted, captured, killed, possessed, sold, purchased, shipped, carried, exported, or transported.

The annual process for developing migratory game bird hunting regulations is divided into those for "early" seasons and those for "late" seasons. Early seasons include those which open before October 1 while late seasons open on or after October 1. Regulations are developed independently for early and late seasons. The early season regulations cover mourning doves, white-winged doves, band-tailed pigeons, rails, gallinules, woodcock, common snipe, sea ducks in the Atlantic Flyway, teal in September in the Central and Mississippi Flyway, lesser sandhill cranes in North Dakota and South Dakota, doves in the Virgin Islands and Hawaii, all migratory game birds in Puerto Rico and Alaska, and special falconry seasons. Late seasons include the general waterfowl seasons; special seasons for scaup and goldeneyes; extra scaup and blue-winged teal in regular seasons; most sandhill crane seasons in the Central Flyway; coots, gallinules, and snipe in the Pacific Flyway; and additional special falconry seasons.

Certain general procedures are followed in developing regulations for both the early and the late seasons. Initial regulatory proposals are first announced in a FEDERAL REGISTER document in early March, and opened to public comment. As additional information becomes available, and comments on the initial proposals are received and considered, supplemental proposed rulemakings are published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. At the termination of the comment periods and following a public hearing, the Service develops and publishes the proposed frameworks for times of seasons, season lengths, shooting hours, daily bag and possession limits, and other regulatory restraints or options. Following another public comment period and after consideration of additional comments, the Service publishes in the FEDERAL REGISTER the final frameworks. Using these frameworks, State conservation agencies select hunting season dates and offered options. States may select more restrictive seasons and options than those offered in the Service's frameworks. The final regulations, reflected in amendments to Subpart K of 50 CFR Part 20 then appear in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and become effective upon publication.

On March 10, 1977, the Service published for public comment in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 13311) proposals to amend 50 CFR Part 20 with a comment period ending May 18, 1977. That document dealt with minor modifications in § 20.11 of Subpart B, the addition of § 20.40 in Subpart D, and with establishment of seasons, limits and shooting hours for migratory game birds under §§ 20.101 through 20.107 of Subpart K. On May 25, 1977, the Service published for public comment in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 26669) a second document in the series consisting of supplemental or modified proposals and clarification or correction of minor portions of the earlier document. On July 5, 1977, the Service published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 34305) a third document in the series consisting of final rulemaking dealing specifically with final frameworks from which wildlife conservation agency officials in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands could select season dates for hunting certain migratory birds in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands during the 1977-78 season. On July 5, 1977, the Service also published for public comment in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 34342) a fourth document in the series consisting of supplemental proposed rulemaking dealing specifically with proposed frameworks for early season migratory bird hunting regulations from which, when finalized, States could select season dates and daily bag and possession limits for the 1977-78 season. On July 15, 1977, the Service announced in a fifth document in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 36495) the availability of a draft environmental assessment on shooting hours and allowed a 10-day public comment period. On July 22, 1977, the Service published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 37552) a sixth document in the series consisting of final rulemaking dealing specifically with final frameworks (except shooting hours) for early season migratory bird hunting regulations in all States during the 1977-78 seasons from which States selected early season dates and daily bag and possession limits for the 1977-78 season. On August 9, 1977, the Service published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 40211) a seventh document in the series consisting of final rulemaking dealing specifically with final frameworks for shooting hours for early season migratory game bird hunting regulations in all States during the 1977-78 season. On August 15, 1977, the Service published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 41145) an eighth document in the series consisting of supplemental proposed rulemaking dealing specifically with proposed frameworks for late season migratory bird hunting regulations from which, when finalized, States could select season dates, shooting hours, and daily bag and possession limits for the 1977-78 season. On August 18, 1977, the Service published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 41636) a ninth document in the series consisting of final rulemaking amending Subpart K of 50 CFR Part 20 to set open hunting seasons, certain closed areas, shooting hours and bag and possession limits for mourning doves, white-winged doves, band-tailed pigeons, rails, woodcock, snipe, and gallinules; September teal seasons; sea ducks in certain defined areas of the Atlantic Flyway; sandhill cranes in designated portions of North Dakota and South Dakota; and migratory game birds in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. On September 9, 1977, the Service published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 45310) a tenth document in the series consisting of final rulemaking dealing with final regulations frameworks for 1977-78 late hunting seasons on certain migratory game birds. This document is the eleventh in a series of proposed, supplemental, and final rulemaking documents for migratory game bird hunting regulations and deals specifically with final rulemaking amending Subpart K of 50 CFR Part 20 to set open hunting seasons, certain closed areas, shooting hours and bag and possession limits for waterfowl, coots, and gallinules; sandhill cranes in portions of the Central Flyway; common snipe in the Pacific Flyway; and additional special falconry seasons.

On June 21, 1977, a public hearing was held in Washington, D.C., as announced in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 26709; May 25, 1977; and 42 FR 29345; June 8, 1977) to review the status of mourning doves, woodcock, band-tailed pigeons, white-winged doves, rails, gallinules, lesser sandhill (little brown) cranes in North Dakota and South Dakota, and common (Wilson's) snipe. Proposed hunting regulations for these species were discussed plus those governing migratory game birds in Alaska, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands; mourning doves in Hawaii; September teal seasons in the Mississippi and Central Flyways; and special sea duck seasons in the Atlantic Flyway. Statements or comments were invited. On August 2, 1977, a public hearing was held in Washington, D.C., as announced in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 28709; May 25, 1977; and 42 FR 34897; July 7, 1977), to review information on population status and proposed hunting regulations for waterfowl, coots, and gallinules; lesser sandhill (little brown) cranes in portions of the Central Flyway; common (Wilson's) snipe in the Pacific Flyway; and special falconry regulations. Statements or comments were invited.

STEEL SHOT REGULATIONS

Non-toxic shot requirements in some areas apply to waterfowl regulations being finalized here. On April 28, 1977, the Service published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 21614) final regulations regarding areas in the Atlantic and Mississippi Flyways in which shotshells loaded with steel shot will be required for waterfowl hunting in seasons commencing in 1977. Subsequently, the Service proposed in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 33354; June 30, 1977) that these requirements would apply only to 12-gauge shotshells, and final rulemaking on this proposal was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 3, 1977 (42 FR 39106). The intended effect of establishing these steel shot regulations is to reduce the number of deaths of waterfowl caused by ingesting spent lead pellets. The regulations appear under 50 CFR, §§ 20.21 and 20.108, and will also be summarized in the Service's regulations leaflets, to be published late this summer.

ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW

The "Final Environmental Statement for the Issuance of Annual Regulations Permitting the Sport Hunting of Migratory Birds (FES 75-54)" was filed with the Council on Environmental Quality on June 6, 1975, and notice of availability was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 13, 1975 (40 FR 25241). The final environmental assessment on shooting hours (42 FR 40211; August 9, 1977), supplements the discussion on shooting hours in FES 75-54.

COMPLIANCE WITH SECTION 7 OF THE ENDANGERED SPECIES ACT OF 1973

Section 7 of this act provides that, "The Secretary shall review other programs administered by him and utilize such programs in furtherance of the purposes of this Act," and "by taking such action necessary to insure that actions authorized, funded, or carried out . . . do not jeopardize the continued existence of such endangered or threatened species or result in the destruction or modification of habitat of such species . . . which is determined to be critical." Consequently, the Service reviewed all migratory bird regulations being contemplated for early and late seasons in the United States this year and concluded in biological opinions that none of the proposals, including shooting hours, if implemented, would result in jeopardizing the continued existence of any species designated as endangered or threatened under the act, or adversely modify their critical habitat or habitats that may be determined as critical in the future. Likewise, the biological opinions concluded that with the imposition of certain restrictions for the protection of endangered species, the proposed regulations were not contrary to, and did not undermine the Service's obligation to conserve endangered or threatened species. The consideration of section 7 was described in more detail in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated July 22, 1977, on page 37554; and September 9, 1977, on page 45313.

The Service's biological opinions and threshold examination reports resulting from consultation under section 7 are available for public inspection in the Office of Endangered Species, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Room 1100, 1612 K Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20240, or the Office of Migratory Bird Management, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Room 2243, Department of the Interior, 18th and C Streets NW., Washington, D.C. 20240. Copies may also be supplied by mail upon request.

DRAFTING INFORMATION

This final rulemaking was authored by Dr. John P. Rogers, Chief, Office of Migratory Bird Management.

REGULATIONS PROMULGATION

After analysis of the migratory game bird survey data obtained through investigations conducted by the Service, State conservation agencies, and other sources, and consideration of all comments received on the late season proposals (42 FR 13311; March 10, 1977; 42 FR 26669; May 25, 1977; and 42 FR 41145; August 15, 1977), the Service published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 9, 1977 (42 FR 45310), final late season frameworks. Copies of the final frameworks were also sent to the officials of the State conservation agencies who were invited to submit recommendations for hunting seasons which complied with the shooting hours, daily bag and possession limits, season times and lengths, and areas specified in the frameworks.

The taking of the designated species of migratory birds is prohibited unless open hunting seasons are specifically provided. The amendments will permit taking of the designated species within specified time periods beginning as early as October 1, as has been the case in past years, and benefit the public by opening the seasons which are presently closed.

The rulemaking process for migratory game bird hunting must, by its nature, operate under severe time constraints. However, the Service is of the view that every attempt should be made to give the public the greatest possible opportunity to comment on the regulations. Thus, when the proposed rulemakings were published on March 10, May 25, and August 15, the Service established what it believed were the longest periods possible for public comment. In doing this, the Service recognized that at the periods' close, time would be of the essence. That is, if there were a delay in the effective date of these regulations after this final rulemaking, the Service is of the opinion that the printing and distribution of Federal and State regulatory announcements and leaflets would be delayed to the extent that hunters would not have regulatory information available prior to the beginning of the hunting seasons. The Service has determined that "good cause" exists, within the terms of 5 U.S.C. 553(d)(3) of the Administrative Procedure Act, and these regulations will, therefore, take effect immediately upon publication.

Accordingly, each State conservation agency having had an opportunity to participate in selecting the hunting seasons desired for its State on those species of migratory birds for which open seasons are now to be prescribed, and consideration having been given to all other relevant matters presented, it is determined that certain sections of Title 50, Chapter 1, Subchapter B, Part 20, Subpart K, are amended to read as follows:

Section 20.104 is amended to read as follows:

§ 20.104 Seasons, limits, and shooting hours for rails, woodcock, and common (Wilson's) snipe.

Subject to the applicable provisions of the preceding sections of this part, the areas open to hunting, the respective open seasons (dates inclusive), the shooting hours, and the daily bag and possession limits on the species designated in this section are prescribed as follows:

CHAPTER IX—AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE (MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND ORDERS; FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS), DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

[Valencia Orange Reg. 575]

PART 908—VALENCIA ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This regulation establishes the quantity of California-Arizona Valencia oranges that may be shipped to fresh market during the weekly regulation period September 30-October 6, 1977. This regulation is needed to provide for orderly marketing of fresh Valencia oranges for the regulation period because of the production and marketing situation confronting the orange industry.

EFFECTIVE DATE: September 30, 1977.
FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Charles R. Brader, Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250 (202-447-3545).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:
Findings. (1) pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and Order No. 908, as amended (7 CFR Part 908), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Valencia Orange Administrative Committee, established under the amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is found that the limitation of handling of Valencia oranges, as provided in this regulation will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) The need for this regulation to limit the quantities of Valencia oranges that may be marketed from District 1, District 2, or District 3 during the specified week stems from the production and marketing situation confronting the Valencia orange industry.

(i) The committee has submitted its recommendation for the quantities of Valencia oranges that should be marketed during the specified week. The recommendation, designed to provide equity of marketing opportunity to handlers in all districts, resulted from consideration of the factors covered in the order. The committee further reports the fresh market demand for Valencia oranges continues strong. Average f.o.b. price was $5.16 per carton on 649 cars for the week ended September 22, as compared with $4.77 per carton on 634 cars the previous week. Track and rolling supplies at 309 cars were up 43 cars from last week.

(ii) Having considered the recommendation and information submitted by the committee, and other available information, the Secretary finds that the quantities of Valencia oranges which may be handled should be established as provided in this regulation.

(3) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rulemaking procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until October 31, 1977 (5 U.S.C. 553), because the time intervening between the date when information become available upon which this regulation is based and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient. A reasonable time is permitted for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the regulation effective as specified. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice, to consider supply and market conditions for Valencia oranges and the need for regulation. Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting. The recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified were promptly submitted to the Secretary after the meeting was held, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been provided to handlers of Valencia oranges. It is necessary, to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this regulation effective during the period specified. The committee meeting was held on September 27, 1977.

§ 908.875 Valencia Orange Regulation 575.

(a) Order. (1) The quantities of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California which may be handled during the period September 30, 1977, through Oct. 6, 1977, are hereby fixed as follows:

- (i) District 1: 300,000 cartons;
- (ii) District 2: 450,000 cartons;
- (iii) District 3: Unlimited.

(2) As used in this section, "handled," "District 1," "District 2," "District 3," and "carton" have the same meaning as when used in the amended marketing agreement and order.

PART 948—IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN COLORADO, AREA NO. 2

PART 980—VEGETABLES: IMPORT REGULATIONS

Handling Regulation

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This regulation requires fresh market shipments of potatoes grown in Colorado, Area No. 2 to be inspected and meet minimum grade, size and maturity requirements. The regulation should promote orderly marketing of such potatoes by keeping less desirable qualities and sizes from being shipped to consumers.

EFFECTIVE DATE: September 29, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Charles R. Brader, Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, AMS, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Telephone: 202-447-3545.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:
Marketing Agreement No. 97 and Order No. 948, both as amended, regulate the handling of potatoes grown in designated counties of Colorado Area No. 2. It is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674). The Colorado Area No. 2 Potato Committee, established under the order, is responsible for its local administration.

Notice of proposed rulemaking was published in the September 2, 1977, FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 44242) inviting comments by September 19, 1977. None was received.

This regulation is based upon recommendations made by the committee at its public meeting in Monte Vista, Colo., on August 18, 1977.

The grade, size, maturity and inspection requirements specified herein are similar to those issued during past seasons. They are necessary to prevent potatoes of low quality or less desirable sizes from being distributed to fresh market outlets. They will benefit consumers and producers by standardizing and improving the quality of the potatoes shipped from the production area.

Exceptions are provided to certain of these requirements to recognize special situations in which such requirements would be inappropriate or unreasonable.

Shipments are permitted to certain special purpose outlets without regard to the grade, size, maturity and inspection requirements, provided that safeguards are met to prevent such potatoes from reaching unauthorized outlets. Certified seed is exempt because requirements for this outlet differ greatly from those for fresh market. Shipments for use as livestock feed likewise are exempt. Since no purpose would be served by regulating potatoes used for charity purposes, such shipments are exempt. Potatoes for most processing uses are exempt under the legislative authority for this part.

Findings. After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including the proposal set forth in the aforesaid notice which was recommended by the Colorado Area No. 2 Potato Committee, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, it is hereby found that the handling regulation, as hereinafter set forth, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

It is hereby further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of this section until 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that (1) shipments of potatoes grown in the production area will begin on or about the effective date specified herein, (2) to maximize benefits to producers, this regulation should apply to as many shipments as possible during the marketing season, and (3) compliance with this regulation, which is similar to that in effect during previous marketing seasons, will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective date hereof.

The regulation is as follows:

§ 948.378 Handling regulation.

During the period September 29, 1977, through June 30, 1978, no person shall handle any lot of potatoes grown in Area No. 2 unless such potatoes meet the requirements of paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section, or unless such potatoes are handled in accordance with paragraphs (d), (e), or (f) of this section. The maturity requirements specified in paragraph (b) shall terminate October 31, 1977, at 11:59 p.m. M.S.T.

(a) Minimum grade and size requirements.

(1) Round varieties. U.S. No. 2, or better grade, 2 inches minimum diameter.

(2) Long varieties. U.S. No. 2, or better grade, 1 7/8 inches minimum diameter.

(3) All varieties. Size B, if U.S. No. 1, or better.

(4) All varieties for export. 1 1/2 inches minimum diameter.

(b) Maturity (skinning) requirements.

(1) Russet Burbank and Red McClure varieties. For U.S. No. 2 grade not more than "moderately skinned" and for other grades not more than "slightly skinned."

(2) All other varieties. Not more than "moderately skinned."

(c) Inspection.

(1) No handler shall handle any potatoes for which inspection is required unless an appropriate inspection certificate has been issued with respect thereto and the certificate is valid at the time of shipment. For purposes of operation under this part it is hereby determined pursuant to paragraph (d) of § 948.40, that each inspection certificate shall be valid for a period not to exceed 5 days following the date of inspection as shown on the inspection certificate.

(2) No handler may transport or cause the transportation by motor vehicle of any shipment of potatoes for which an inspection certificate is required unless each shipment is accompanied by a copy of the inspection certificate applicable thereto and the copy is made available for examination at any time upon request.

(d) Special purpose shipments. (1) The grade, size, maturity and inspection requirements of paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section and the assessment requirements of this part shall not be applicable to shipments of potatoes for:

- (i) Livestock feed;
- (ii) Relief or charity; or
- (iii) Canning, freezing, and "other processing" as hereinafter defined.

(2) The grade, size, maturity and inspection requirements of paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section shall not be applicable to shipments of seed pursuant to § 948.6 but such shipments shall be subject to assessments.

[Avocado Regulation 19, Amendment 1]

PART 915—AVOCADOS GROWN IN SOUTH FLORIDA

Maturity Requirements

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Amendment to final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment revises the maturity requirements for Hickson Marcus and Booth 5 varieties of avocados. These three avocado varieties can be shipped one week earlier, on September 26, than is currently permitted. Currently, these varieties cannot be shipped prior to October 3 at specified minimum weights or diameters. Recently completed maturity studies on these avocados indicate they will be mature at the specified dates, minimum weights, or diameters. The maturity requirements are necessary because weight or diameter and picking dates are indices used at harvest to assure that avocados are mature and will ripen satisfactorily after picking.

EFFECTIVE DATE: September 26, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Charles R. Brader, 202-447-3545.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, and Order No. 915, both as amended (7 CFR Part 915), regulating the handling of avocados grown in South Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Avocado Administrative Committee, established under the marketing order, and upon other available information, it is found that the maturity requirements for the handling of avocados, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice to engage in public rulemaking procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that the time intervening between the date when information became available upon which this amendment is based and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of the specified varieties of avocados.

(e) Safeguards. Each handler of potatoes which do not meet the grade, size, and maturity requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section and which are handled pursuant to paragraph (d) for any of the special purposes set forth therein shall:

(1) Prior to handling, apply for and obtain a Certificate of Privilege from the committee;

(2) Furnish the committee such reports and documents as requested, including certification by the buyer or receiver as to the use of such potatoes; and

(3) Bill each shipment directly to the applicable processor or receiver.

(f) Minimum quantity. For purposes of regulation under this part, each person may handle up to but not to exceed 1,000 pounds of potatoes without regard to the requirements of paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section, but this exception shall not apply to any shipment which exceeds 1,000 pounds of potatoes.

(g) Definitions. The terms "U.S. No. 1," "U.S. No. 2," "Size B," "slightly skinned," and "moderately skinned" shall have the same meaning as when used in the U.S. Standards for Potatoes (7 CFR 51.1540-51.1566), including the tolerances set forth therein. The term "other processing" has the same meaning as the term appearing in the act and includes, but is not restricted to, potatoes for dehydration, chips, shoestrings, starch, and flour. It includes only that preparation of potatoes for market which involves the application of heat or cold to such an extent that the natural form or stability of the commodity undergoes a substantial change. The act of peeling, cooling, slicing, dicing, or applying material to prevent oxidation does not constitute "other processing." Other terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 97, as amended, and this part.

(h) Applicability to imports. Pursuant to § 8e of the act and § 980.1, Import regulations (7 CFR 980.1), Irish potatoes of the red skinned round type, except certified seed potatoes, imported into the United States during the period October 3, 1977, through June 30, 1978, shall meet the grade, size, and quality requirements specified in paragraph (a) of this section, and during the period October 3 through October 31, 1977, shall be not more than "moderately skinned." (Secs. 1-19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601-674.)

Dated: September 27, 1977, to become effective September 29, 1977.

Emergency Livestock (EL) line of credit guarantees issued before August 19, 1977, will be administered, and the guaranteed loans serviced and liquidated, in accordance with this Part 1845.

§ 1845.29 Records and reports of lenders.

(b) Reports to FmHA. The lender will be responsible for providing the County Supervisor with a statement certified by an officer of the lender of the unpaid principal balance owed on guaranteed EL loan advances semiannually as of June 30 and December 31. In addition, the lender is responsible for analyzing financial statements obtained periodically from the borrower, taking any servicing actions needed, and providing copies of the statements and record of actions to the County Supervisor.

§ 1845.33 Liquidation of a claim under a Contract of Guarantee.

(b) Report of Loss. The lender will complete form FmHA 449-20 except that items VII C, IX, and X B and E are inapplicable and will be left blank. The lender will send the form as completed to the County Supervisor. Final loss payments will be made only after a review has been made to accurately determine FmHA liability. County Supervisors will conduct such reviews and may tentatively approve the Report of Loss when it appears the loss does not exceed $35,000. District Directors will conduct the review and may give their tentative approval when it appears the loss does not exceed $100,000. (In both cases, the Report of Loss will be forwarded to the State Director who, after his review, will give the Report of Loss final approval or return it with his comments to the District Director or County Supervisor for their reconsideration.) State Directors will conduct the review when it appears the loss exceeds $100,000 and may give final approval in all cases. If the State Director wishes National Office assistance in the conduct of the review, he may request it. The State Director will submit to the Finance Office for payment any losses claimed on an approved Form FmHA 449-20. The Finance Office will forward loss payment checks within 10 days of receipt of the claim to the County Supervisor for delivery to the lender.

CHAPTER I—NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

PART 73—PHYSICAL PROTECTION OF PLANTS AND MATERIALS

Requirements for the Physical Protection of Nuclear Power Plants

AGENCY: U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

ACTION: Effective rule.

SUMMARY: As a result of a number of objections raised with respect primarily to pat-down searches of licensee employees prior to admittance to the protected area of a nuclear power reactor, and the Commission's further consideration of the matter, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission is amending its regulations to delay implementation of the physical search requirement for regular employees of a licensee at nuclear power reactor sites.

EFFECTIVE DATE: September 29, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. R. J. Jones, Chief, Materials Protection Standards Branch, Office of Standards Development, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555 (301-443-6973).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On February 24, 1977, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 10836) effective amendments to its regulations in 10 CFR Part 73, "Physical Protection of Plants and Materials." One requirement included in these amendments was to search individuals for firearms, explosives, and incendiary devices. The regulation specified that the search function would be conducted by a physical search or by use of equipment capable of detecting such devices. The requirements involving procedural measures were scheduled for implementation by May 25, 1977, and those involving use of equipment were scheduled for implementation by August 24, 1978, or earlier if the equipment were installed. Since equipment now available is not capable of detecting all types of explosives and incendiary devices, the search requirement calls for additional measures, such as random physical searches, to provide high assurance of protecting against industrial sabotage.

The Commission is reassessing the implications of physical "pat-down" searches of licensee employees and their value as a part of a total physical system considering their relation to other features of the security systems required by the new amendments. The issue is quite complex and involves ramifications of employee morale and the effectiveness of the search per se and in the context of the total security system. The Commission believes that the question of pat-down searches warrants more deliberate and thorough review, with extensive solicitation of public review and comments, before the utility licensees are required to use such searches for their employees. The Commission, therefore, is amending its regulations to delay the implementation of physical searches of utility licensee employees until August 24, 1978, the date when implementation of all of the requirements of § 73.55 is required, to provide time for reexamination of the impact and value of such searches.

Public comment on the issue has been solicited in connection with a petition for rule making noticed in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 15, 1977 (42 FR 46431; NRC docket PRM-73-2). The Commission has determined that this action is consistent with the common defense and security and protection of public health and safety. The Commission has further found that, in view of the opportunity for comment already afforded prior to publication of the rules on February 24, 1977, and the fact that the amendment set forth below serves to relieve a restriction, notice and public procedure on the amendment are unnecessary, and that the amendment may be made effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974, as amended, and sections 552 and 553 of Title 5 of the United States Code, the following amendment to Title 10, Chapter I, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 73 is published as a document subject to codification:

1. Section 73.55 of 10 CFR Part 73 is amended by adding the following sentences to the unnumbered prefatory paragraph:

§ 73.55 Requirements for physical protection of licensed activities in nuclear power reactors against industrial sabotage.

... Except for individuals for whom the licensee has a well-grounded suspicion that such individuals are carrying firearms, explosives or incendiary devices, a licensee need not implement the physical search requirement of paragraph (d) (1) of this section for individuals who are regular employees of the licensee at the site at which the licensee is authorized to operate a nuclear power reactor pursuant to Part 50 of this Chapter until August 24, 1978, unless the Commission directs otherwise prior to that date. Until that date and pending its further review of this subject, the Commission has determined that the search requirement of paragraph (d) (1) of this section, implemented using only equipment capable of detecting firearms, explosives and incendiary devices, satisfies the performance requirements of this section as they apply to searches of regular employees of the licensee at the site entering the protected area of the nuclear power reactor.

Effective date: September 29, 1977.

SUMMARY: This rulemaking amends the stability regulations for tank vessels. The amendments require each newly constructed tank vessel of 150 gross tons and over, except a tank barge that operates only on inland waters, and each other tank vessel the stability of which is questioned by the Coast Guard, to meet the stability standards and stability testing and information requirements that currently apply to cargo and miscellaneous vessels in Subchapter I of Title 46. These requirements have been applied to tank vessels by the Coast Guard for several years and, therefore, represent current enforcement practice.

This rulemaking also sets forth conditions under which tank vessels are exempt from the requirement to have a stability test conducted. These conditions have been developed on the basis of a recent Coast Guard review of existing tank vessels and current tank vessel designs. The exemptions apply essentially to tank vessel designs for which a stability test is not currently required and to tank vessels over 300 feet in length that have one longitudinal bulkhead.

EFFECTIVE DATE: These amendments become effective on December 28, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Captain George K. Greiner, Marine Safety Council (G-CMC/81), Room 8117, Department of Transportation, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20590 (202-426-1477).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A notice of proposed rulemaking was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 7, 1977 (42 FR 7170). Interested persons were invited to submit written comments before March 23, 1977. One comment was received. The commenter concurred with the rules as proposed.

DRAFTING INFORMATION

The principal persons involved in drafting these regulations are: Ralph E. Johnson, Project Manager, Office of Merchant Marine Safety, and William R. Register, Project Attorney, Office of the Chief Counsel.

DISCUSSION OF REGULATIONS

The stability test exemptions, as proposed in the notice of proposed rulemaking, were intended to apply only to current tank vessel designs. On the basis of further review, however, it has been determined that the description of current tank vessel designs contained in the notice of proposed rulemaking is not entirely accurate. Accordingly, the final rules clarify the exemption provisions in order to describe more accurately the designs covered by the exemptions. As clarified in § 31.10-30(e), the exemptions apply to a tank vessel that—

(1) Has a flush freeboard deck, one or more longitudinal bulkheads, and no independent tanks;

(2) Has ordinary proportions and form; and

(3) Is designed not to carry cargo above the freeboard deck. The exemptions, as proposed, did not cover items (2) and (3).

The exemptions, as clarified, also provide that the center of gravity of a vessel assumed for purposes of performing stability calculations must be its center of gravity while in an assumed "lightweight" condition. A definition of "lightweight" has been added to the final rules as § 31.10-30(f)(1). The definition is the same as the definition of "lightweight" in Part 157 of Title 33, Code of Federal Regulations. (Part 157 of Title 33 contains rules for the Protection of the Marine Environment Relating to Tank Vessels Carrying Oil in Bulk.) The purpose of the clarification is to reflect a longstanding practice to have stability tests performed on a vessel only when it is in a lightweight condition.

A definition of "molded depth" has been added to the final rules as § 31.10-30(f)(2). As explained in the notice of proposed rulemaking, the definition is the same as the definition of "molded depth" contained in the load line regulations in Part 42 of Title 46, Code of Federal Regulations.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 31 of Title 46, Code of Federal Regulations, is amended as follows:

§ 31.10-30 Stability requirements—TB/ALL.

(a) This section applies to—

(1) Each tank vessel of 150 gross tons and over construction of which is started on or after December 28, 1977, except a tank barge that operates only on inland waters; and

(2) Each other tank vessel the stability of which is questioned by the Commandant or Officer in Charge, Marine Inspection.

(b) Each tank vessel must meet the stability requirements for cargo and miscellaneous vessels contained in the following provisions of Part 93 of this chapter:

(1) The requirement in § 93.05-1(a) to conduct a stability test, except as modified in paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section.

(2) The procedural rules in § 93.05-1(b) and § 93.05-5 for conducting a stability test.

(3) The stability standards in §§ 93.07-5, 93.07-10, and 93.07-15.

(4) The requirement in § 93.10-1 to provide stability information to the master.

(5) The information requirements concerning stability letters in §§ 93.15-1 and 93.15-5, except that the stability letter issued to a tank barge may be kept in any location on the barge that is dry, protected and accessible.

(c) The exemptions in paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section apply only to a tank vessel that—

(1) Has ordinary proportions and form;

(2) Has a flush freeboard deck, one or more longitudinal bulkheads, and no independent tanks; and

(3) Is designed not to carry cargo above its freeboard deck.

(d) A stability test need not be conducted for a tankship of a type described in paragraph (c) of this section if, in performing the stability calculations required by this chapter and 33 CFR Part 157, the assumption is made that the center of gravity of the ship while in a lightweight condition is located a vertical distance of at least 0.7 times the molded depth of the ship from the keel amidships or from a horizontal plane tangent to the keel amidships.

(e) A stability test need not be conducted for a tank barge of a type described in paragraph (c) of this section if, in performing the stability calculations required by this chapter and 33 CFR Part 157, the assumption is made that the center of gravity of the barge while in a lightweight condition is located a vertical distance of at least 0.6 times the molded depth of the tank barge from the keel amidships or from a horizontal plane tangent to the keel amidships.

(f) As used in this section—

(1) "Lightweight" has the same meaning that is provided for the term in 33 CFR § 157.03(h); and

(2) "Molded depth" has the same meaning that is provided for the term in § 42.13-15(e) of this chapter.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. RM77-2]

[18 CFR Part 141]

MONTHLY REPORT OF COST AND QUALITY FOR ELECTRIC PLANT Proposed Reporting Requirements

AGENCY: Federal Power Commission.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: The Federal Power Commission proposes to amend the reporting requirements of Form 423, Monthly Report of Cost and Quality of Fuel for Electric Plant, a form now required of electric power producers. The Commission is responding to petitioners who allege that certain information obtained from this form and made available by the Commission, among other things causes injury to the petitioners and their customers in negotiating new contracts. The Commission proposes to continue collecting this information but to limit the distribution of the information once it is collected.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before October 14, 1977.

ADDRESSES: Comments should be submitted to the Secretary, Federal Power Commission, 825 N. Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20426.

<sup>1</sup> The date in the original document was September 30, 1977. The Federal Power Commission has extended the date to October 14, 1977, because of a request for extension in the proceeding filed by the Public Interest Research Group on September 19, 1977, and because of a delay in the publication of the original document.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Alex Gakner, Bureau of Power, 202-275-4677; Charles F. Reusch, Office of General Counsel, 202-275-4328.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to section 553, Title 5, United States Code and sections 301, 304, 307, 308, 309, and 311 of the Federal Power Act, as amended, (49 Stat. 854, 855-856, 856-857, 858, 858-859, 859; 16 U.S.C. 825, 825c, 825f, 825g, 825h, 825j) that the Commission proposes to amend § 141.61 of Subchapter D, Chapter 1, Title 18, Code of Federal Regulations.

Section 141.61 presently requires that each month an electric power producer shall complete a separate Form No. 423 for each of its fossil-fueled electric generating plants having a capacity of 25 megawatts or greater during the reporting month. Form No. 423 requires the origin, cost and quality of fossil fuels and other information for each individual delivery to each plant. Form No. 423 was issued originally in Docket No. R-432 pursuant to Order No. 453, June 7, 1972, 47 FPC 1496, 37 FR 11860, and amended in Docket No. R-432(A) pursuant to Order No. 512, September 12, 1974, 52 FPC 745, 39 FR 34030.

Upon receipt by the Commission, the data are processed in the Bureau of Power and are the basis for the Monthly Report of Cost and Quality of Fuels, a State-by-State, region-by-region and national summary. Copies of the individual forms are placed in the Commission's Office of Public Information for public inspection.

The Commission proposes to continue collecting the information presently required on Form No. 423, but to limit the distribution of the information once it is collected. A sample sheet of the kind of summary the Commission will place in its Office of Public Information is attached as Appendix A below.

PETITION FOR AMENDMENT

On October 15, 1976 twelve utilities<sup>1</sup>, presently required to file Form No. 423, petitioned the Commission to amend the reporting requirements on Form No. 423. A copy of the petition is attached as Appendix B. The petitioner utilities allege that the public disclosure of price information is causing injury to them and their customers by providing fuel suppliers with specific price data for use in negotiations on new contracts. They contend that the price at which fossil fuel is purchased by utilities is, with few exceptions, a matter of negotiation between buyer and seller and not a matter of competitive bidding. They assert that by making Form 423 data available to the general public, including fuel suppliers, the Commission places the utilities at a decided disadvantage in negotiations for fuel purchases, resulting in higher fuel costs to utilities and their customers.

The petitioner utilities also allege that the collection and dissemination of specific price information regarding specific transactions create and maintain a dangerous and wholly unnecessary risk of fostering anticompetitive conditions.

DISCUSSION

In the original proceedings which led to establishment of Form 423 reporting as of June 7, 1972, the same allegations as made by the petitioners were made, and were determined by the Commission to be insufficient to outweigh the benefits of public availability of the data collected. A petition for rehearing of the Order establishing the reporting was denied on April 16, 1973, and affirmed by the Court of Appeals November 11, 1974. Nevertheless, the availability of current contract price information to competing suppliers is sometimes considered to be anticompetitive, as alleged by the petitioners. Consequently, the subject has been reviewed again in the light of both the allegations and comments furnished by others in connection with the petition.

It appears to be generally agreed that the availability of current contract price information can have a tendency to put a floor under quotations. Bidders are afraid of "leaving money on the table" and tend to bias their bids to be close to the latest contract, even though their cost analyses may indicate that lower prices would still be profitable. In practice, however, the degree to which the price of utility fuels is actually affected by the available delivered price information is at least questionable. Available data do not show measurable effects and the laws of supply and demand still apply. Thus, a fuel dealer who wants to move his product will reduce his quotations until it does. For example, despite the existence of the FPC fuel price information, the average price of spot coal sold to electric utilities declined from $31.95 a ton in November 1974 to $21.28 a ton in October 1976.

Typically, only about 20 percent of utility fuel is purchased on a "spot" basis. Long-term contracts provide 80 percent of the fuel supply and run from one to twenty-five years. The key price factors in the long-term contracts are the escalation provisions and the escape clauses established by the contracts. These can be far more influential over the life of the contracts than differences in the base prices, but the FPC reporting covers only the price of the fuel as delivered. It says nothing about the escalation provisions of the contract and in many cases merely reflects contracts executed years earlier. Where the deliveries are under new contracts, and the contracts are identifiable as new, the price information does provide a limited indication of the base price the buyer has recently accepted, but still does not reveal the very important contract terms and conditions. The fact that utilities have executed a considerable number of long-term coal supply contracts since the initiation of Form 423 reporting is an indication that delivered price information has not been a significant contracting impediment.

Fuel price information is not required to be reported to the FPC until six weeks after the close of the reporting month. Therefore, the data may be two months or more old by the time they become available to the fuel industry. The "time constant" for the spot market is far shorter than this, with quotations fluctuating significantly in the space of a few days. Generally, fuel quantities moved in the spot market are strongly dependent on the mine or refinery production situation, quantities held in storage by the producer, the transport situation, etc. The producer or broker needs to move the fuel in short order and sells at the best price obtainable. Usually, the quotations and acceptances are made by telephone. Consequently, it is fairly evident that the FPC data cannot have much effect on the spot fuel market.

In long-term fuel contracting, there is sometimes a formal solicitation of quotations, with terms and conditions. This is more usual with publicly owned systems, where there are legal requirements for disclosure of bids and requirements for accepting the bid with the lowest evaluated cost. However, many utility purchasing people believe they can do better through "negotiated" purchases. In practice, this is a competitive procedure, but on an informal basis. A utility buyer will contact several potential fuel sources, indicate his requirements and discuss the ability and interest of the fuel company in meeting the requirements. On the basis of its knowledge of the interested candidate suppliers, their indications of price, their past performance, and other considerations, the utility will select one supplier and begin negotiations with it to establish specific base prices, escalation provisions, cancellation terms, and other elements of the contract. If the utility is not satisfied with the negotiations, it can begin talks with another source, but usually the preliminary discussions will have provided a framework within which a final agreement can be negotiated. Utilities believe that they often will get better contracts through this approach than with formal bidding, because the formal bids require several levels of internal approval within the fuel companies, which tend to make the bids more conservative, and because it is less easy for the fuel companies to modify a written position than a verbal one.

The petition contends that an important competitive factor in the supply of oil to electric utilities is the role of the independent oil jobber, who buys oil from the major oil refiners and then competes with them for electric utility sales. It is implied that knowledge of the price at which a jobber resold oil to an electric utility, even with a delay of two months or more, would act to raise the cost of the jobbers' purchases from the refiners, and the ultimate cost to the electric utilities. In fact, jobbers sell only a very small share of the total oil used by electric utilities, and jobber sales cannot be a major factor in utility fuel costs. The economic service performed by the jobbers for the refiners is unchanged by the availability of utility purchase price data, even though a refiner's marketing staff may tend to bargain harder with a jobber because of fear that publication of a significantly higher final sale price might draw management criticism. When a refiner wants to sell some oil, he contacts several jobbers and takes the best price he can get, without being concerned greatly about the ultimate disposition of the oil. The fact that the jobber may sometimes realize a substantial profit (or loss) does not negate the advantage of the arrangement to the producer, and it is hard to see that the delayed disclosure of the ultimate sales price has any significant effect on jobber costs.

With respect to the alleged negotiating advantage for fuel suppliers of delivered price information, the staff analysis concluded that this effect, while possibly present, is in practice not substantial. The alleged effect operates through the resolve of the participants in the bargaining process. It is contended, in effect, that utilities can negotiate lower prices when neither party knows the pattern of recent sales as compared to both parties being aware of sales data.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and the Justice Department, in letters to the Commission, expressed the view that prompt disclosure for Form No. 423 data does incur some risk of anticompetitive behavior by fuel suppliers. The FTC letter is attached as Appendix C below; the Justice Department letter is attached as Appendix D below. The letters endorse the proposal of the petitioners to hold the individual delivery price and supplier information confidential while continuing to publish average cost data. However, the FTC recommends that the FPC make the individual delivery data available to Federal and State regulatory agencies. It suggests that the individual delivery data be made publicly available when it is so old as to be useless for anticompetitive purposes.

Comments from twenty state public utilities commissions, the Honorable Milton J. Shapp, Governor of Pennsylvania and the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC) indicate that detailed Form No. 423 data are regarded as important to state commissions and that a substantial number of requests for the original data may be anticipated if the proposed rulemaking is adopted.

The Commission also recognizes the concern of wholesale customers and consumer groups that fuel cost information be available to verify fuel cost adjustment charges and to allow comparison of the fuel costs of neighboring utilities for similar fuels. However, it believes that the expanded summary reports of fuel costs, issued monthly and annually by the Commission, provide better information for these purposes than the raw Form No. 423 reports. Average fuel costs by utility and plant are included in the 1976 annual summary report, issued in May 1977, and in the monthly summary report beginning with January 1977. A sample page of the comparative summary is provided in Appendix A below. In view of the availability of these comparative summaries the Commission believes that access to the original Form 423 reports would provide very little additional benefit to the public.

The Commission has the authority to require and enforce the collection of the data now presented on Form No. 423. The data are used by the Commission to administer the Federal Power Act. The data are also used by the Environmental Protection Agency, Federal Energy Administration, Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Commerce Department, other Federal agencies, and several state public utilities commissions. Based on the staff analyses and comments received, the Commission is not able to determine unequivocally whether releasing Form No. 423 data to the public, as it does now, in fact leads to increased costs of fossil fuel for electric utilities, and their customers. However, the position proposed by the Federal Trade Commission and the Justice Department preserves all governmental uses of the data while minimizing the possibility of anticompetitive effects. Consequently, adoption of that position is attractive. The Commission does not want to be in the position of possibly causing increases in fuel costs to electric utilities and their customers.

The proposed additions to § 141.61 of the Commission's rules, Subchapter D, Part 141, Statements and reports (schedules), would be issued under the authority granted to the Federal Power Commission by sections 301, 304, 307, 308, 309, and 311 of the Federal Power Act, as amended (49 Stat. 854, 855-856, 856-857, 858, 858-859; 16 U.S.C. 825, 825c, 825f, 825g, 825h, 825j).

Any interested person may submit data, suggestions, views, and comments in writing concerning all of part of the amendments proposed herein to the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, not later than September 30, 1977. Written submittals will be placed in the Commission's public files and will be available for public inspection at the Commission's Office of Public Information, 825 North Capitol Street NE., Room 1000, Washington, D.C. 20426 during regular business hours. The Commission will consider all such written submittals before acting on the matters herein proposed. An original and 14 confirmed copies should be filed with the Secretary of the Commission. Submittals to the Commission should indicate the name, title, mailing address, and telephone number of the person to whom communications concerning the proposal should be addressed, and whether the person filing them requests a conference with the Staff of the Federal Power Commission to discuss the proposed rulemaking. The Staff, in its discretion, may grant or deny requests for conference.

Accordingly, the Commission proposes to amend § 141.61, "Form No. 423, Monthly Report of Cost and Quality of Fuel for Electric Plant," Part 141, Chapter I, Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations as follows:

§ 141.61 Form No. 423, Monthly Report of Cost and Quality of Fuel for Electric Plant.

• • • Access to the individual Form No. 423 utility reports will be limited for a period of one year to the staff members of this Commission, and to other Federal agencies and state agencies upon written request of the head of the agency, and will not be provided to any other person. Pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552, a summary of information on each form will be made public, reporting the average cost of each type of fuel delivered to a plant instead of the actual price of each delivery and eliminating information with respect to the fuel supplier and the date of contract expiration. Forms furnished to the Commission by utilities will be available for public inspection one calendar year after they are received.

The Secretary shall cause prompt publication of this notice to be made in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By direction of the Commission.

KENNETH F. PLUMB,
Secretary.

APPENDIX B

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA BEFORE THE FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. RM77-2]

PETITION FOR AMENDMENT OF 18 CFR PART 141

PETITION OF CERTAIN ELECTRIC UTILITIES FOR AMENDMENT OF COMMISSION'S REGULATIONS
WITH RESPECT TO FORM NO. 423

Pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 553(e), and § 1.7(b) of the Commission's rule of practice and procedure, the undersigned utilities (hereinafter "Petitioners") respectfully petition the Commission to issue an order amending section 141.61 of its Regulations under the Federal Power Act by modifying the requirements respecting information to be reported on Form 423 or in the alternative by limiting the distribution of the Form to the government agencies and making public in summary form the information reported on the Form.

AMENDMENT REQUESTED

Petitioners respectfully ask that the information required to be reported on Form No. 423 be modified by (1) requiring that the average cost of fossil fuels delivered to a plant be reported instead of the actual price of each delivery and (2) eliminating the reporting of information with respect to the identity of the fuel supplier and the date of contract expiration.

In the alternative it is requested that the distribution of Form 423 be limited by the addition of the following provision to § 141.61:

Information furnished on these forms will be treated as confidential. These forms will be made available only to the staff members of this Commission and to other federal agencies upon written request of the head of the agency and will not be made available to any other person. Pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552, a summary of information on each form will be made public, reporting the average cost of fuel delivered to a plant instead of the actual price of each delivery and eliminating information with respect to the fuel supplier and the date of contract expiration.

PRIOR HISTORY

Section 141.61 of the Commission's Regulations, which was adopted by Order No. 453 on June 7, 1972, instituted Form 423 for the reporting by electric utilities of monthly data with respect to coal, oil and gas deliveries for boiler use in generating plants. The information required to be reported on Form includes the price, quantity, quality, coal region, and oil supplier for each delivery made at each generating plant during the month ending 45 days prior to the date of the filing.

On January 16, 1973, Petitioners filed with the Commission the "Petition of Certain Electric Utilities for Amendment of Commission's Regulations with Respect to Form No. 423" requesting that the information required to be reported on Form No. 423 be modified or that the distribution of Form 423 be limited. In an order dated March 2, 1973, the Commission denied the requested relief. By application filed April 2, 1973, the petitioners applied for rehearing of the March 2, 1973,

Order, and by Order issued April 16, 1973, the Commission denied rehearing. The petitioners thereupon appealed to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit by filing their petition for review of the Commission's Orders issued March 2, 1973, and April 16, 1973. On November 11, 1974, the Court of Appeals affirmed the Commission's dismissal of the petition. Alabama Power Co. v. FPC, 511 F. 2d 383.

The Court's opinion, written by Judge Leventhal, pointed out (p. 393) that the Commission retains continuing oversight and, subject to reasonable rules to limit administrative burden, a responsibility to consider a new petition for amendment of regulation 141.61. The Court pointed out that "The Commission retains an obligation to give reasoned consideration to the bearing an obligation to give reasoned consideration to the bearing of antitrust policy on matters within its jurisdiction."

By

mation on prices paid by companies which are not utilities.

Because of the nature of the oil distribution business, there is another piece of valuable bargaining information which Order No. 453 has placed in the hands of the major oil suppliers. Suppliers in the oil industry are made up principally of major oil companies, which do their own refining, and independent oil jobbers, which typically obtain their supplies from major oil companies. The two compete for sales to electric utilities, among others. As a result of Order No. 453, the price at which an oil jobber, who originally purchased oil from a major oil supplier, has resold it to a utility can now be learned by that supplier.

If the Commission believed that it was in the public interest for the oil and coal suppliers to be in possession of the specific and current price information provided on Form 423, it is not evident from the text of Order No. 453. If the Commission made any independent effort to determine the effect which the public availability of this price information might have on utility fuel purchases, it is also not evident from the text of Order No. 453.

That the confidentiality of the detailed information required by Order No. 453 should be protected is demonstrated by the holding of the United States Court of Appeals in Continental Oil Co. v. F.P.C., 519 F.2d 31 (5th Cir., 1975), cert. denied sub. nom. Superior Oil v. F.P.C., ___ U.S. ___, 96 S. Ct. 2168, 48 L. Ed. 2d 794 (May 18, 1976). That case involved Order No. 521, which required disclosure of detailed intrastate natural gas sales information, including the names of purchasers, date and location of the sale, pressure base, annual sales volume, and price terms. After holding that the F.P.C. could require that the information be disclosed to the Commission, the Court vacated that portion of the order which would make public all the details of the information. The Court said (footnotes omitted):

"... the petitioners maintain that the information should not be made public. The thrust of their argument is that this information comes within the 'trade secrets' exception to the Freedom of Information Act, (FOIA) which provides: '(b) This section does not apply to matters that are: (1) trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person and privileged or confidential'."

National Parks and Conservation Association v. Morton, 162 U.S. App. D.C. 23, 498 F.2d 765 (1974) aids in interpreting this section. "In order to bring a matter (other than a trade secret) within this exemption, it must be shown that the information is (a) commercial or financial, (b) obtained from a person, and (c) privileged or confidential". 498 F.2d at 766. For the purposes of the FOIA, a corporation comes within the definition of person, and since the information is commercial or financial, the dispute comes down to whether the information is confidential. "[C]ommercial or financial matter is 'confidential' for purposes of the exemption if disclosure of the information is likely to have either of the following effects: (1) to impair the Government's ability to obtain necessary information in the future; or (2) to cause substantial harm to the competitive position of the person from whom the information was obtained". National Parks and Conservation Association v. Morton, 498 F.2d at 770.

This is not to say, however, that the information gathered must be kept from the public altogether. Only confidential information is protected. To the extent that confidentiality can be secured by composite disclosure and by deletion of the filing party's name and other identifying characteristics, petitioners do not dispute its release. See National Cable Television Ass'n, Inc. v. FCC, 156 U.S. App. D.C. 91, 479 F.2d 183, 195 (1973). The only requirement in today's case is that the rights of those required to divulge be protected. In Erans v. Dept. of Transportation, 446 F.2d 821 (5th Cir. 1971), we explained the necessity of balancing public and private interest in interpreting the FOIA. Assurance as to accuracy in the determination of volume and pricing of intrastate sales, not the identity of the parties to each such transaction, is the critical public factor. An impersonal disclosure of the data filed will protect both interests. We leave to FPC discretion the details of implementing public disclosure which will accord with these views.

We affirm the portion of Order No. 521 which requires jurisdictional companies to disclose fully their intrastate natural gas transactions to the FPC. We vacate that portion of the order which would make public all details of such information furnished by petitioners.

The right of the Petitioners to protect the confidentiality of the detailed information reported on Form No. 423 is sustained also by the decision of the United States Courts of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in Union Oil Co. of California v. F.P.C., Nos. 75-2891 et al., decided June 2, 1976, CCH Utilities Law Reporter, Federal § 11,822, application for rehearing pending. That case involved Orders 526 and 526-A of the Federal Trade Commission which required natural gas companies to make reports on Form 40 regarding proved reserves of natural gas. The Orders indicated that certain data would be placed on public files, while other data would be kept confidential unless the Commission ordered otherwise. The court noted that "In substance, this rule recognizes no legal restraint on the Commission's authority to disclose all data submitted on Form 40." The Court set aside the orders adopting Form 40, holding that the Freedom of Information Act exemptions mandate that the data submitted on Form 40 be kept confidential, and that the Commission's rule making such information a matter of public record, or confidential subject to the will of the Commission, was arbitrary and capricious. The Court said (slip opinion p. 16; CCH at p. 13,936):

"The Commission's justification for publicly revealing the submitted data is that the

"In Pennacoil Co. v. F.P.C., 534 F.2d 627 (July 2, 1976), the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit again reviewed an FPC order which required public disclosure of confidential information. The order required natural gas producers to provide detailed information regarding reserves and concluded "all responses to this order will be a matter of public record." The Court held that the Commission had abused its discretion in ordering that responses should be part of the public record when the Commission had not fully considered the relevant factors, namely, whether disclosure of this type of detailed information will significantly aid the Commission in fulfilling its functions; not only the harm done to the producers by releasing the information but the harm to the public generally; and "finally and most importantly" whether there are alternatives to full disclosure.

public has the right to know the information upon which agency regulations and rates are based. Certainly, there is a public interest in such disclosure. Here, however, the Commission has adopted a rule for the potentially damaging disclosure of information which fails to consider the degree of harm such disclosure would cause to the reporting companies, whether or not the data revealed in fact played any part in an agency decision, or whether or not the data could satisfy the public's need to know if presented in an alternative form which avoided any harm to the industry. We are not told why aggregate data which do not identify individual producers or specific reserve information of individual producers could not satisfy the public's need. In short, the Commission makes data available to the public without any regard for the harm that this would cause or the need that would be served. Such a rule is without any rational basis and must be found to be arbitrary and capricious.

In the event that information disclosed with potentially damaging specificity would advance the public interest, the Commission should take appropriate precautions to determine (1) whether the information is such that it is entitled to absolute protection under section 552, and (2) if not, whether the balance of interests in the specific case are such as to justify disclosure. Any broad rule of disclosure of trade secrets such as that embodied in Orders 526 and 526-A which fails to consider such matters is arbitrary and capricious.

The Commission has recognized the force of the considerations favoring protection of confidential information by permitting publication of data in a composite or aggregate form or by deleting the filing party's name and other identifying characteristics. In Order No. 543-A issued April 19, 1976 in Docket No. RM75-24, the Commission considered petitions for rehearing and reconsideration of Order No. 543, which required reports on Form No. 64 from gas producers regarding expenditures, exploration and development activities, reserve additions, production and revenue. Noting the objections which had been made to the disclosure of confidential information, the Commission modified its prior order with the following explanation:

We recognize our obligation to comply with the legislative intent of the Freedom of Information Act which "places emphasis on the fullest disclosure". S. Rep. No. 813, 89th Congress, 1st Session 3 (1965). However, upon further consideration, we find that there is some merit in petitioners' argument that the information contained in Form 64 be given protection from full disclosure (citing "Continental Oil Corporation v. F.P.C.", 519 F.2d 31 (5th Cir., 1975)). While we are not in complete agreement with the holding in "Continental," it is clear that it does permit publication of data in a composite or aggregate form or by deleting the filing party's name and any other identifying characteristics. The court noted that an impersonal disclosure of the data as described above would protect both public and private interests. Therefore, we shall utilize this data in composite or aggregate form where appropriate. We shall also make Form No. 64 information public but shall delete the name of each independent producer from the heading. If there is a need for the identification of any individual independent producer or group of independent producers, we shall consider that question when it arises in the context of a specific case."

Clearly the Commission's conclusion, after weighing the alternatives, should be to revise Form No. 423 to require less detailed information regarding individual transactions and individual suppliers. Alternatively the Commission should conclude that only the less detailed information should be made public. The alternative could provide that complete details from the form as filed should be available to the staff and members of the Commission, and to any other federal agency upon written request of the agency head. Authoritative decisions of the courts, and the Commission's own decision, quoted above, in Order No. 543-A issued April 19, 1976, in Docket No. RM75-24, show that the Commission should revise Form No. 423.

B. The Collection and Dissemination of Specific Price Information Regarding Specific Transactions Creates and Maintains a Dangerous and Wholly Unnecessary Risk of Fostering Anti-Competitive Conditions.

The exchange of price information can have an anti-competitive effect, chilling the vigor of price competition. In "United States v. Container Corp. of America," 393 U.S. 333 (1968), the Court reversed a District Court order dismissing the complaint in a civil anti-trust action. The case involved the exchange of price information among companies in the business of supplying corrugated containers. Mr. Justice Douglas said, for the Court:

Here all that was present was a request by each defendant of its competitor for information as to the most recent price charged or quoted, whenever it needed such information and whenever it was not available from another source. Each defendant on receiving that request usually furnished the data with the exception that it would be furnished reciprocal information when it wanted it.

"... the essence of the agreement was to furnish price information whenever requested."

The result of this reciprocal exchange of price was to stabilize prices though at a downward level. Knowledge of a competitor's price usually meant matching that price.

Price is too critical, too sensitive a control to allow it to be used even in an informal manner to restrain competition. (pp. 335-338; footnotes omitted)

"The Commission has acted recently to terminate rulemaking proceedings which would have imposed new reporting requirements regarding fuel. See "Order Terminating Proposed Rulemaking Proceeding", issued April 29, 1976, in Docket RM74-1, "Report of Cost and Quality of Fuels for Nuclear Plants" and "Order Terminating Proposed Rulemaking Proceeding", also issued April 29, 1976, in Docket RM74-2, "Monthly Report of Fuel Storage Capacity and Fuel Stored". In RM74-1, objections filed included objections to the anti-competitive effect of the proposal. It is reasonable to assume that the Commission is taking a critical look at the multiplicity of reporting requirements, all of which impose burdens on its own staff and on the reporting utilities, and some of which may be of extremely marginal value if any, while delay in disposing of the Commission's backlog seriously jeopardizes the public interest. As the Chairman said in testimony before the Senate Committee on Government Operations on May 27, 1976, "... we are on a treadmill and rapidly going backwards ... the system is in serious danger of breaking down."

As the Court said in "American Column & Lumber Co. v. U.S.", 257 U.S. 377 (1921), in affirming a decree under the Sherman Act (p. 410):

Genuine competitors do not make daily, weekly, and monthly reports of the minutest details of their business to their rivals, as the defendants did;

See also "U.S. v. American Linseed Oil Co.", 262 U.S. 371 (1922).

Clearly the practice of collecting specific information regarding the details, including price, of every sale of fossil fuel to the utilities and the publishing of that information to the sellers who are alleged to be in competition with one another, is an unsatisfactory practice which should cause grave concern to the Commission.

While the information is made available to all participants in the market, and not merely to the firms of one side, of the market as was the situation in some of the leading cases, e.g., "Container," this circumstance does not afford any degree of protection to the buyers. The knowledge which is made available to them does not enable them to offset, neutralize or destroy the obvious anti-competitive tendency on the part of the sellers noted by Mr. Justice Douglas in "Container": "Knowledge of a competitor's price usually meant matching that price". Further, the sellers have other knowledge regarding the rest of the market, i.e. the non-utility purchasers, which is not available to the utilities.

It does not meet the problem for the Commission to call for evidence of specific harm. Although a fuel purchaser may have a strong and clear impression that a supplier would offer a better price if it were not to be publicized, it is not likely that any supplier will write a letter or tender other specific evidence stating that it would have cut a price, or at least tempered a price increase, if it had not been reassured by price data collected on Form No. 423.

The Commission is charged with considering the policies of the antitrust laws when it exercises authority under the Federal Power Act. In "F.P.C. v. Conway Corp.", ___ U.S. ___, 48 L. Ed. 626 (decided June 7, 1978) the United States Supreme Court said (p. 633-4):

The exercise by the Commission of powers otherwise within its jurisdiction "clearly carries with it the responsibility to consider, in appropriate circumstances, the anti-competitive effects of regulated aspects of interstate utility operations pursuant ... to directives contained in section 205, section 206 ... " "Gulf States Utilities Co. v. F.P.C.", 411 U.S. 744, 758-759 (1973)

See also "Northern Natural Gas Co. v. F.P.C.", 399 F.2d 933, 958 (D.C.C.A., 1968).

The policy of the antitrust laws is that anti-competitive practices are to be prevented in their incipency before such practice result in damage to the free market. In "Gulf States Utilities Co. v. F.P.C.", supra, the Supreme Court said (p. 760):

Consideration of antitrust and anti-competitive issues by the Commission, moreover, serves the important function of establishing a first line of defense against those competitive practices that might later be the subject of anti-trust proceedings. (emphasis supplied)

Clearly it is no fair measure of the responsibility of the Commission to describe it merely in terms of willingness to consider specific claims of specific injury. On the contrary, it is the responsibility of the Commission to be conscious of the possible injury to hard bargaining in the fuel markets and to devise a reporting system which does not set the stage for anti-competitive behaviour by suppliers. The risk of anti-competitive behaviour should not be imposed on the utilities by the Commission. Under extraordinary circumstances, when some important objective could be achieved only by subjecting the utilities and their customers to the risk of a tacit agreement regarding prices or to the risk of parallel pricing policies, the Commission might carefully weigh and articulate the considerations involved and explicitly justify the imposition of the risk. This is not the situation. Here there is no reason whatever why the objectives of Order No. 423 cannot be completely served with the changes requested herein to eliminate the anti-competitive weapon placed in the hands of the fuel suppliers.

The Commission should assume, of course, that the fuel suppliers are or should be independent competitors who should compete with one another.

Wherefore, for the foregoing reasons Petitioners respectfully request the Commission, after public notice and opportunity for comment, to revise the Form 423 requirements in accordance with the rule proposed in this Petition.

Respectfully submitted,

VERIFICATION

United States of America, District of Columbia, ss:

Howard C. Anderson, being duly sworn, says that he is Attorney for the electric utilities, making the foregoing petition; that he has read the petition and knows the contents thereof; and that the allegations

"The risk of anti-competitive conduct is the evil to be guarded against, since the mere dissemination of price information is, of course, not a per se violation of the Sherman Act. Obviously a conspiracy to fix prices may follow from dissemination of price information. In "U.S. v. Citizens National Bank", 422 U.S. 86 (1975) the Court accepted a District Court finding that dissemination of interest rates and service charges did not result in a tacit agreement to fix prices, but only because the banks involved were not independent competitors but participants in a "de facto branching program" which was "plainly ... pro-competitive" (p. 119). The Court said (pp. 113-114):

"Were we dealing with independent competitors having no permissible reason for intimate and continuous cooperation and consultation as to almost every facet of doing business, the evidence adduced here might well preclude a finding that the parties were not engaged in a conspiracy to affect prices. But, as indicated below, the correspondent associate program, as such, was permissible under the Sherman Act. In this unusual light, we cannot hold clearly erroneous the District Court's finding that the lack of significant price competition did not flow from a tacit agreement but instead was an indirect, unintentional, and formally discouraged result of the sharing of expertise and information which was at the heart of the correspondent associate program."

APPENDIX C

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

MAY 27, 1977

HON. RICHARD L. DUNHAM,
Chairman, Federal Power Commission, 825
North Capitol Street NE., Washington,
D.C.

DEAR CHAIRMAN DUNHAM: On October 15, 1976, certain electric utilities filed with the Federal Power Commission ("FPC") a petition seeking the amendment of the FPC's regulations with respect to FPC Form 423, which at present requires utilities on a monthly basis to submit detailed information on the cost and quality of fuel received. The petition, which has been assigned FPC Docket No. RM77-2, requests that Form 423 be modified to call for the average cost of fuel rather than the actual cost of each delivery and to eliminate the requirement of reporting the identity of each fuel supplier and the expiration date of each contract. Alternatively, the petition requests that the submitted information be treated as confidential (to be disclosed only to FPC staff and to other federal agencies) and that only a summary of each form (to consist of average cost information without identification of each fuel supplier or contract expiration date) be made available to the public.

One of the petitioners' arguments in support of their request is that the collection and dissemination of specific price information regarding specific transactions creates and maintains a dangerous and wholly unnecessary risk of fostering anticompetitive conditions. Mr. Jerome C. Muys of Debevoise & Liberman, the law firm representing the petitioners before the FPC, brought this matter to the attention of the Commission and pointed out that in earlier litigation over Form 423, where similar arguments were raised, the court stated as follows:

"Other agencies, having primary concern with enforcement of the antitrust statutes, are presumably able to assist the [FPC] by giving advice on disputed issues of antitrust policy and by identifying the factual questions relevant to an assessment of a proposed action." Alabama Power Co. v. F.P.C., 511 F.2d 383, 393 (D.C. Cir. 1974).

The Commission is pleased to offer the following comments on the antitrust argument made by the petitioners and other antitrust and consumer protection issues raised by the petition.

I. THE DETAILED DATA PRESENTLY COLLECTED ON FORM 423 ASSISTS GOVERNMENTAL ENTITIES CONCERNED ABOUT COMPETITIVE AND OTHER ABUSES IN THE FUEL PROCUREMENT AREA

In addition to providing the FPC with information for use in connection with its own statutory responsibilities, Form 423 is a useful source of data for other governmental entities, including both the Commission and other agencies concerned with maintaining competition and protecting consumers. For example, the Commission's staff is using Form 423 data in analyzing vertical integration by electric utilities into coal production. The Commission understands that this analysis, which is being incorporated into a staff report to the Commission, would not have been possible if Form 423 contained only average cost data and did not identify each supplier.

In addition, for a variety of reasons including the nature of rate-of-return regulation and the use of automatic fuel adjustment clauses, there is at present considerable concern that electric utilities do not have adequate market incentives to seek to minimize the cost of fuel. The Commission understands that state regulatory commissions are increasing their surveillance of utilities' fuel procurement practices and that they are using Form 423 data in doing so. This encouraging trend would receive a severe setback if the FPC did not collect detailed cost and quality information and make it available to other governmental entities.

II. PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF THE DETAILED INFORMATION PRESENTLY COLLECTED ON FORM 423 CREATES A RISK OF ANTICOMPETITIVE BEHAVIOR

The basis for antitrust concern over the public reporting of detailed price information is the usefulness of such information in a price fixing scheme. If competitors have a means to learn promptly of any price cutting, they can quickly match or exceed the initial price cut, and the firm initiating the price cut would have the benefit of increased sales for only a short period of time. Prompt public disclosure of price information can therefore reduce the incentive of a firm to cut prices.

The extent to which a fuel supplier has an incentive to reduce its price when seeking a particular contract depends upon the profit potential of that contract in relation to the supplier's overall marketing situation. Thus, if a supplier could by reducing its price sell all of its supply of fuel, the public availability of Form 423 data would not reduce its incentive to do so. On the other hand, if a supplier must enter into a number of contracts to sell all or a significant amount of its fuel, price cutting might occur only if the supplier could enter into several contracts without detection. In this latter situation, the prompt disclosure of Form 423 data could deter price competition.

To assess the likely consequences of publishing Form 423 data on any given supplier, the FPC would have to analyze (1) the number of firms competing with the supplier, and (2) the duration and size (in relation to total output) of the suppliers' likely future contracts. The number of competitors is relevant to the likelihood that a price fixing agreement could be established and maintained. The duration and size of the contracts would determine how the publication of Form 423 data would affect the supplier's decision to undercut its competitors' price.

A supplier-by-supplier analysis by the FPC would presumably identify instances where Form 423 data could be disclosed without creating an unreasonable risk that the data would be used to fix prices. It seems equally clear, however, that such an analysis would identify situations where the prompt publication of Form 423 data could promote price-fixing.

In assessing the duration of fuel supply contracts it would be important to note that "evergreen" contracts containing price renegotiation provisions may not be as long as their stated term. Some such contracts may provide the utility with a means of getting out of the contract by not agreeing to a renegotiated price. The only fuel that is truly "committed" under such a contract may be the fuel to be delivered prior to the date when renegotiation is permitted.

III. RECOMMENDATIONS

The detailed cost and quality information collected on Form 423 is useful to the Commission and to other governmental entities, including state regulatory commissions. The Commission therefore recommends that the FPC reject the petitioners' request that the FPC cease collecting this information.

Since the prompt disclosure of Form 423 data creates a risk of anticompetitive behavior by fuel suppliers, the Commission recommends that the FPC modify its regulations concerning the dissemination of such data. The Commission in general endorses the petitioners' proposal that the FPC publish only each utility's average cost of fuel, but this endorsement is subject to the following qualifications. First, the Commission believes that the detailed information collected by the FPC should be made available upon request not only to federal agencies, but also to state regulatory commissions. Second, the detailed information collected on Form 423 obviously loses its competitive significance over time, and the Commission recommends that the FPC establish a time period (e.g., two years after submission) at the end of which it would be presumed that the information had become dated and therefore would be publicly available.

By direction of the Commission.

MICHAEL PERTSCHUK,
Chairman.

APPENDIX D

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

JULY 19, 1977.

HON. RICHARD L. DUNHAM,
Chairman, Federal Power Commission,
Washington, D.C.

Re Petition of Certain Electric Utilities for Amendment of Form 423, FPC Docket No.
RM 77-2.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: As you know, a group of electric utilities has petitioned the Federal Power Commission to amend its regulation (18 CFR 141.61) relating to Form 423 which requires electric utilities to submit on a monthly basis a detailed breakdown of costs and quality of fuel received. By their petition the utilities request that the average rather than actual cost of fossil fuel delivered be reported and that the identity of each fuel supplier and the expiration date of each contract be eliminated from the reporting form. Alternatively, the utilities request that information provided pursuant to Form 423 be treated as confidential. Under the utilities' proposal, detailed data would be made available only to FPC staff and to other federal agencies; only summaries of each form would be made available to the public.

We have reviewed the arguments of the petitioning utilities as well as a recent letter from Chairman Pertschuk of the Federal Trade Commission expressing the FTC's view on certain antitrust and consumer protection issues raised by the petition. We concur with the FTC's recommendation that the FPC should continue to collect the data in detailed form while only releasing summary information to the public. We also agree that the detailed data should be made available upon request not only to federal agencies but to state regulatory commissions.

The Antitrust Division shares the FTC's concern that the public dissemination of detailed price information could have harmful anticompetitive effects. First, the detailed data could be useful in stabilizing fuel prices; suppliers who might normally lower their prices to compete would lose incentive to do so since their competitors could easily discover the amount of any discounts offered, denying the supplier the opportunity to increase his market share through price competition. Similarly, individual utilities which might aggressively seek lower prices in the market place would be discouraged from "shopping" for lower prices. Public disclosure of fuel costs also could encourage price-fixing among suppliers by giving them an easy way to enforce a price fixing agreement. Full access to one another's prices would reduce the incentive to "cheat" on such an agreement since any violation could easily be discovered.

On the other hand, the data presently collected by the Commission on Form 423 is useful both to the Commission and to other governmental entities concerned with anticompetitive practices and abuses in fuel procurement. For one thing, as Chairman Pertschuk noted in his letter, the FPC staff is using Form 423 data to analyze vertical integration by electric utilities. That analysis, the Chairman notes, "would not have been possible if Form 423 contained only average cost data and did not identify each supplier." There also appears to be substantial reason to allow access of specific cost data to state regulatory commissions on request. The data is particularly useful to state agencies in their efforts to monitor fuel cost increases. This increasing state surveillance of utility fuel cost increases should be encouraged. Any exclusionary rule would work to the detriment of state regulatory commissions, as well as the federal government.

The obvious remedy to balance the possible anticompetitive effects of full disclosure with state and federal interests in receiving accurate cost data is for the Commission to continue to collect Form 423 data in its entirety but to modify the regulations concerning dissemination. We suggest that the detailed information collected by the FPC be made available upon request not only to federal agencies but also to state regulatory commissions. In addition, to avoid anticompetitive problems noted above, we suggest that only the average cost of each utility's fuel be made public.

The recommended modifications of the Commission's regulations strike a useful balance; such an approach protects the public from the risk of anticompetitive behavior which could result from full disclosure while maintaining scrutiny of cost data by appropriate federal and state agencies.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN H. SHENEFIELD,
Acting Assistant Attorney General, Antitrust Division.

Proposed Amendments to Financial Disclosure Regulations for Commission Employees

AGENCY: U.S. International Trade Commission.

PROPOSED RULES

ACTION: Notice of proposed rule-making.

SUMMARY: This proposal amends existing financial disclosure requirements for employees of the U.S. International Trade Commission. These amendments are made in order to provide for a more thorough assessment of conflicts of interest and apparent conflicts of interest among Commission employees. The proposal, if adopted, will require a greater number of Commission employees to file confidential statements of employment and financial interests with the Commission's Deputy Counselor for Employee Responsibilities and Conduct. In addition, the proposal, if adopted, will require disclosure of certain financial interests, previously exempted or partially exempted from disclosure.

DATES: Comments must be received before 5:15 p.m. on (thirty days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER).

ADDRESS: Interested persons are invited to submit written comments concerning the proposed amendments to the Secretary to the Commission, 701 E Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20436.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Rhond R. Roth, Esq., Office of the General Counsel, U.S. International Trade Commission, Washington, D.C. 20436, telephone 202-523-0480.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Specifically, the U.S. International Trade Commission is promulgating proposed amendments to Title 19, Part 200, Subpart C, of the Code of Federal Regulations respecting the filing of confidential statements of employment and financial interests by Commission employees. The purposes of the proposed amendments are (1) to modify the reporting and financial disclosure requirements of §§ 200.735-114 and 200.735-115, of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, (2) to further implement the governmentwide reporting requirements of 5 CFR 835.403-735.411, as required by 5 CFR 735.402, (3) to provide a basis for justifiable exemption from the reporting requirements of § 200.735-114 of the Commission's rules through a new § 200.735-114a, and (4) to provide a basis for voluntary financial disclosure by employees not required to make such disclosure through a new § 200.735-114c. The authority for these amendments inheres in Executive Order 11222 (3 CFR 306 (1964-1965 Comp.)) and in the Commission's general rulemaking power as found in 19 U.S.C. 1335.

PART 200—EMPLOYEE RESPONSIBILITIES AND CONDUCT

The proposed amendments to the Commission's financial disclosure regulations are set forth as follows:

Title 19, Part 200, Subpart C, of the Code of Federal Regulations is hereby proposed to be amended by deleting the language of present §§ 200.735-114, 200.-

735-114a, and 200.735-115 and by substituting the following language therefor:

§ 200.735-114 Employees required to submit statements.

Except as provided in § 200.735-114a, the following employees shall submit statements of employment and financial interests:

(a) Employees paid at a level of the Executive Schedule in subchapter II of chapter 53 of title 5, United States Code.

(b) (1) Employees in grade GS-13 or above of section 5332 of title 5, United States Code, or in comparable or higher positions not subject to that section.

(2) The Director of Personnel shall list all such positions, shall include the listing in the chapter of the Commission's Policy Manual pertaining to the filing of confidential statements of employment and financial interests, and shall furnish copies thereof to the Deputy Counselor and to affected employees.

(3) The Director of Personnel shall update the listing required by paragraph (b) (2) of this section and shall take all other steps required by paragraph (b) (2) as of January 1 and July 1 of each year.

(c) (1) Employees classified below GS-13 under section 5332 of title 5, United States Code, or at a comparable pay level under other authority, who are (1) responsible for making a decision or taking an action in regard to Commission contracting or procurement, (2) responsible for conducting investigative and research activities where the decision to be made or action to be taken could have an economic impact on any non-Federal enterprise, or (3) responsible for exercising the authority of any supervisory or investigative employee in the absence of such employee.

(2) The Director of Personnel, upon obtaining the advice of the General Counsel, shall be responsible for determining which positions below GS-13 meet the criteria of paragraph (c) (1) of this section. The Director of Personnel shall justify his or her determination in writing and shall submit it to the Civil Service Commission for its approval. Upon obtaining the approval of the Civil Service Commission, the Director of Personnel shall include the listing of these positions in the chapter of the Commission's Policy Manual pertaining to the filing of confidential statements of employment and financial interests and shall furnish copies thereof to the Deputy Counselor and to affected employees.

(3) The Director of Personnel shall evaluate his or her determination under paragraph (c) (2) of this section as of January 1 and July 1 of each year. When organizational changes or personnel actions indicate that positions should either be added to or taken from the list of positions which the Director of Personnel has determined meet the criteria of paragraph (c) (1) of this section, the Director of Personnel shall make a new determination under paragraph (c) (2) of this section and shall take all other steps required by paragraph (c) (2) immediately upon the implementation of said organizational changes or personnel actions.

§ 200.735-111a Employees not required to submit statements.

(a) Employees in positions that meet the criteria in paragraphs (b) (1) or (c) (1) of § 200.735-114 of this subpart may be exempted from the reporting requirement of § 200.735-114 if the Director of Personnel, upon obtaining the advice of the General Counsel, determines that:

(1) The duties of a position are such that the likelihood of the incumbent's involvement in a conflict-of-interest situation is remote;

(2) The duties of a position are at such a level of responsibility that the submission of a statement of employment and financial interests is not necessary because of the degree of supervision and review over the incumbent or the inconsequential effect on the integrity of the Government.

(b) All determinations made pursuant to paragraph (a) shall be documented in a writing which shall be annexed to the listings required by paragraphs (b) (2) and (c) (2) of § 200.735-114 of this subpart. The factual bases and reasons for determinations under paragraphs (a) (1) and (a) (2) of this section shall be specified by the Director of Personnel in said writing. Said writing shall refer to the position only and shall not include the name, or other identifying particular, of the incumbent occupying the position.

(c) A statement of employment and financial interests from commissioners is not required by this subpart. Such employees are subject to separate reporting requirements under section 401 of Executive Order 11222 (3 CFR 306 (1964-1965 Comp.)).

§ 200.735-111b Employee complaints on filing requirements.

Any employee who believes that his position has been improperly included under the reporting requirements of section 200.735-114 may obtain a review thereof through the Commission's grievance procedures.

§ 200.735-111c Voluntary submission by employees.

Any employee not required to submit a statement of employment and financial interests under the criteria established by § 200.735-114 may submit such a statement to the Deputy Counselor in the manner specified in § 200.735-116 if he or she so desires.

§ 200.735-115 Forms—Interests not to be reported.

(a) Statements required to be submitted by the provisions of this subpart shall be prepared on forms (the format of which is prescribed by the Civil Service Commission) available from the Deputy Counselor.

(b) Pursuant to the authority contained in 18 U.S.C. 208(b) (2), it has been determined that the categories of financial interests hereinafter described are, to the extent indicated, exempted from the application of the prohibition of 18 U.S.C. 208(a) and need not be reported to the Deputy Counselor. Such interests are too remote or too consequential to affect the integrity of a Commission employee's services in any matter in which he may act in his governmental capacity. Therefore, the provisions of 18 U.S.C. 208(a) do not preclude the participation by a Commission employee, including a special Commission employee, in matters of a type covered by the prohibition of section 208(a) where the financial interest involved has been exempted hereunder. The following financial interests need not be reported under this subpart:

(1) Ownership of shares of a mutual fund or regulated investment company if the current aggregate market value of such shares so owned in any single mutual fund or regulated investment company does not exceed $5,000.

LAKE WASHINGTON SHIP CANAL

AGENCY: U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, DOD.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: We proposed to amend regulations which govern the use, administration and navigation of the Lake Washington Ship Canal, Seattle, Washington, to intensify the control of passage of hazardous cargoes through the locks. This amendment is necessary to provide additional safety requirements.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before October 15, 1977.

ADDRESS: Send comments to: Office of the Chief of Engineers, Attn: DAEN-CWO-N, Washington, D.C. 20314.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Ralph Eppard at 202-693-5070.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A regulation was promulgated in 33 CFR 207.750(g) to govern the use, administration and navigation of the Lake Washington Ship Canal, Seattle, Washington. The changes we now propose are in accordance with Department of Transportation regulations in 46 CFR, Part 30, 35, 146 and 151, as set forth below:

§ 207.750 Puget Sound Area, Washington.

(g) Lake Washington Ship Canal; use, administration and navigation—

(1) Definitions. The term "canal" as used in the regulations in this paragraph shall include the water area in the locks and the channel and adjacent waters from a point 5,500 feet northwest of the Burlington Northern, Inc. railway bridge to the east end of the channel opposite Webster Point, Lake Washington. The term "canal grounds" shall include all grounds set aside for the use of the canal or occupied in its construction.

(2) * * *

(3) * * *

(4) Traffic signal lights. In addition to the lock signal lights described in subparagraph (5) (ii) of this paragraph, a red light, and a green light are installed on the west side of the Ballard Bridge, on the east side of the Fremont Bridge, 1,000 feet west of the Montlake Bridge, and 1,000 feet east of the Montlake Bridge, for the guidance of vessels approaching the sections of the canal between Salmon Bay and Lake Union and between Lake Union and Lake Washington, respectively. Vessels of 300 gross tons and over and all vessels with tows, except as hereinafter provided, shall not pass the red lights. The green lights will indicate that vessels may proceed. Vessels of less than 300 gross tons without tows may disregard these signals, but they shall travel at very slow speed when passing other vessels. Vessels of 300 gross tons and over and vessels with tows, except logs, whose destination is easterly between the Ballard Bridge and the Burlington Northern, Inc. railway bridge, may pass the red signals on the Ballard Bridge: Provided, such passage will not interfere with approaching traffic.

(5) Approaching and passing through locks—

(i) Signals for locks. Vessels with tows desiring to use the locks shall so indicate by two long and three short blasts of a whistle, horn or megaphone. All other vessels desiring to use the locks shall so indicate by two long and two short blasts. NOTE: The term "long blasts" means blasts of four seconds duration, and the term "short blasts" means blasts of one second duration. Signals for the opening of drawbridges are prescribed in § 203.795 of this chapter.

(ii) Lock signal lights. Red and green signal lights are installed on the guide pier west of the Burlington Northern, Inc. railway bridge below the locks. The green light will indicate to vessels bound for the large lock that the lock has been made ready. If the red light is burning, vessels bound for the large lock shall moor at the pier. Vessels bound for the small lock shall be guided into the small lock by traffic signals thereon. The masters of all vessels approaching the locks from Puget Sound shall be alert to receive and shall immediately comply with instructions by voice or signal from the employee on the west pier.

(iii) Precedence at locks. All vessels approaching the locks shall stop at the points indicated by signs placed on the canal piers or as directed by a lockman until ordered to proceed into the lock. Unless otherwise directed by the District Engineer or his authorized assistants, vessels owned or operated by the United States or the City of Seattle and passenger vessels operating on a regular schedule shall have precedence over all others in passing through the locks. Registered merchant vessels shall have precedence over pleasure craft, which shall pass through in the order of their arrival at the locks, and both shall have precedence over vessels towing floated timber or logs. Tows of floated timber and logs may be denied the use of the locks during certain hours when both locks are busy passing other traffic. However, advance notice will be given to towboat companies as to the periods when log tows will be denied lockage.

(iv) Entering locks. Masters of vessels shall exercise the greatest care when entering either lock. The forward movement of vessels while taking position in the locks shall be very slow, and boats entering the small lock shall reduce their speed to not more than two and one-half miles per hour when within 200 feet of the outer gate and come to practically a full stop before entering the lock so that in case the engine mechanism fails to operate properly the momentum of the boat may be stopped easily by its lines. The masters of vessels entering either lock from either direction shall be alert to receive and shall immediately comply with instructions by voice or signal from the lock attendants.

(v) Mooring in locks. Vessels entering the locks shall be equipped with adequate lines, at least 50 feet in length being required fore and aft. While in the large lock vessels and rafts will be moored at the top of the lock wall. While in the small lock vessels shall be moored to the floating mooring wall. Lines shall not be released until the signal has been given by the lock force to leave the lock, after which there shall be no delay in leaving. All vessels not equipped to handle tie-up lines with power winches shall be equipped with suitable mooring lines of manila, or other suitable fiber, of sufficient size and strength to hold the vessel against the currents to be met within the lock chamber. The use of wire rope for tie-up by vessels not equipped to handle such lines with power winches is prohibited. Vessels may be denied the use of the locks if their lines are not in good condition, or if the mooring bits on barges are not accessible or are not equipped to prevent lines from slipping off when the water is lowered in the lock. All vessels entering the locks should have, in addition to the master, at least one person on deck to handle lines. Mates and deckhands, when preparing to moor within the lock chambers, should not throw heavy mooring lines at the lockmen on the walls, but should wait for a heaving line to be passed to them unless otherwise directed. All towboat crews, while locking or moving a tow out of the lock chamber, should station themselves so as to preclude the possibility of being injured by the parting of cable or lines under strain. Persons attempting to take vessels through the locks without assistance on deck may be required to wait until the lock is clear of other traffic before passing through. All operators of vessels are especially cautioned to use extreme care while crowded in the locks to avoid accident or fire on their boats. Under no circumstances will small craft, such as rowboats, launches and houseboats, or any other type of pleasure boats, be locked through with barges used for carrying any type of petroleum product or other hazardous material. At the discretion of the lockmaster, small craft as described above may be locked through with barge tows containing other than dangerous material. Operators of small vessels and larger vessels operating in the proximity of each other shall be alert to the danger arising from the limited maneuverability of the larger vessels, and shall exercise all precautions to prevent accident.

(6) Damage to locks or other structures.

(i) The regulations in this paragraph shall not affect the liability of the owners and operators of vessels for any damage caused by their operations to the locks or other structures. The sides and corners of all vessels and rafts passing through the locks should be free from spikes or projections of any kind which might damage the locks or other structures. Vessels with apertures or projections which might damage the locks or other structures shall be fitted with adequate fenders. Lockage of leaking vessels or vessels with overhanging loads may be refused. Such barge or craft shall be moored in a location outside of the channel approach to the lock so as to not interfere with passing navigation. Vessels of unusual dimensions, or other characteristics which, in the opinion of the lockmaster, pose a threat to the integrity or safety of the locks or canal will be refused passage until written permission to pass is provided by the District Engineer. Sufficient written data and drawings shall be provided the District Engineer that an engineering determination can be made as to the safety of the vessel. The District Engineer shall have the right to inspect any such vessels prior to passage. The operators of all vessels shall use care to avoid striking the guide walls or other structures pertaining to the canal.

(ii) In the interest of safety and fire prevention, all woven rope fenders used with barges carrying flammable cargo should be water-soaked or otherwise fireproofed prior to entering the lock approaches.

(iii) Burning fenders should be dropped overboard immediately rather than being placed on the deck of a barge or towboat.

(iv) A minimum of one man with a portable fender shall be stationed at the head end of every tow of hazardous cargo and at the aft end if the lockmaster so directs so as to protect the lock and guide walls from damage while entering or departing the lock structures.

(v) All cylinders or containers holding gases under pressure, or any other chemical or substance, shall be securely fastened to the hull of the vessel to prevent their rolling overboard into the lock chamber and becoming a hazard.

(vi) All containers holding paint, gasoline or other volatile materials shall be securely fastened with tight-fitting covers. To preclude a concentration of potentially explosive vapors, no paint will be allowed to be applied to the exterior of vessel hulls, houses, machinery or other equipment while the vessels are in the lock chamber.

(vii) All hatches of tank barges must be closed prior to entering lock. Tank barges with open hatch or hatches will be denied lockage.

(viii) No smoking will be permitted aboard vessels with cargoes of fuel or explosives.

(ix) All vessels carrying hazardous cargoes shall so be identified with the lockmaster. They shall be in compliance with Department of Transportation (U.S. Coast Guard) regulations (CFR Title 46, Parts 30, 35, 146, and 151, etc.) and shall accordingly carry required markings. All DOT safety regulations for transit of hazardous cargoes shall be adhered to, whether or not specifically cited or duplicated herein.

(7) Commercial statistics.

(i) On each passage through the locks, as required by section 11 of the River and Harbor Act of September 22, 1922 (42 Stat. 1043; 33 U.S.C. 555), the master or clerk of any vessel or other craft other than pleasure vessel shall furnish, upon prescribed forms provided for the purpose and obtainable at the locks, a statement of the passengers, freight, and tonnage, and such other statistical information as may be required by the forms. The total cargo carried must be reported showing separately the tonnage in transit, and the tonnage, kind, and destination of cargo to be unloaded.

(ii) * * *

(iii) Except by special permit, no vessel other than pleasure craft will be allowed to pass through the lock until a correct statement is furnished of the passengers, freight, and tonnage, and such other statistical information as may be required by the prescribed forms provided for the purpose.

(8) Rafts.

(9) Tows.

(10) Obstructing navigation.

(11) Turning. Vessels exceeding 100 feet in length shall not turn around, or attempt to turn around, in the concrete revetted portions of the canal east of the Ballard Bridge and a point 400 feet east of the Fremont Bridge or in the Portage Cut.

(12) Excessive working of propellers or engines.

(13) Landing or mooring.

(14) Deposit of refuse.

(15) Aids to navigation. Persons in charge of log rafts or other tows, and the masters of vessels and boats using the canal, shall keep a careful watch when passing buoys or other aids to navigation and promptly report to the District Engineer or his authorized assistants any displacement or damage to such aids.

NOTE.—Aids to navigation and other related data are shown on Nautical Chart No. 18447 published by the National Ocean Survey.

(16) Operation of salt water barrier in the large lock of the Hiram M. Chittenden Locks.

APPROVAL AND PROMULGATION OF IMPLEMENTATION PLANS

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: Gas turbine installations with a heat input greater than 32.1 gigajoules per hour (3,000 HP) are proposed to be added to the list of source categories which require preconstruction review under the prevention of significant deterioration regulations.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before November 28, 1977.

ADDRESS: Comments must be submitted (preferably in triplicate) to: Environmental Protection Agency, Control Programs Development Division (MD-15), Research Triangle Park, N.C. 27711. Attn.: Mr. Richard G. Rhoads. All public comments received may be inspected and copied at the Public Information Reference Unit (EPA Library), Room 2922, 401 M Street SW., Washington, D.C.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Richard G. Rhoads, Environmental Protection Agency, Control Programs Development Division (MD-15), Research Triangle Park, N.C. 27711 (919-541-5497).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On December 5, 1974 (39 FR 42510), the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency published final regulations for the prevention of significant deterioration of air quality (PSD) applicable in all 55 States and territories. The plan for preventing significant deterioration, as set forth on December 5 and amended on June 9, 1975, is implemented through a preconstruction review of major stationary sources to determine if construction of such sources in a particular area would cause a violation of specified air quality increments. Presently there are 19 source categories which require preconstruction review under the PSD requirements included in the ruling.

Certain gas turbine installations are proposed to be added to the list of sources subject to PSD at this time. Although turbines vary widely in terms of size, fuel type, and emissions, installations greater than 32.1 gigajoules per hour heat input (3,000 HP) will generally have emissions in excess of 25 lbs/hr under the proposed NSPS limit. Therefore, the Administrator feels that such installations meet the criteria for source inclusion as set forth on June 9, 1975 (40 FR 24534), and should be subject to PSD review. While the addition of these gas turbines to the list of PSD categories is now being proposed, the Administrator acknowledges the possible need to revise this action pending the outcome of current deliberations to amend the Clean Air Act.

Dated: September 21, 1977.

DOUGLAS M. COSTLE,
Administrator.

It is proposed to amend Part 52 of Chapter I, Title 40 of the Code of Federal Regulations as follows:

1. In § 52.21, paragraph (d) is revised to read as follows:

§ 52.21 Prevention of significant deterioration.

WATER PROGRAMS

Sole or Principal Source Aquifer Areas

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: These proposed regulations implement aquifer requirements of the Safe Drinking Water Act. The regulations establish procedures for designating areas where an aquifer is the sole or principal source of drinking water, and for reviewing commitments of Federal financial assistance to projects in designated areas. The purpose is to prevent grants of Federal financial assistance to projects which may contaminate a "sole source" aquifer so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

DATE: Comment period: November 28, 1977.

ADDRESS: Send comments to: Environmental Protection Agency, Office of Water Supply (WH-550), 401 M Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20460.

PROJECT REVIEW

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Ms. Zoraida J. Carballeira, Program Analyst, State Programs Division, Office of Water Supply (WH-550), Environmental Protection Agency (202-426-3934).

Section 1424(e) states:

If the Administrator determines, on his own initiative or upon petition, that an area has an aquifer which is the sole or principal drinking water source for the area and which, if contaminated, would create a significant hazard to public health, he shall publish notice of that determination in the FEDERAL REGISTER. After the publication of any such notice, no commitment for Federal financial assistance (through a grant contract, loan guarantee, or otherwise) may be entered into for any project which the Administrator determines may contaminate such aquifer through a recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health, but a commitment for Federal assistance may, if authorized under another provision of law, be entered into to plan or design the project to assure that it will not so contaminate the aquifer.

In summary, Section 1424(e) authorizes:

- (a) Designation of sole or principal source aquifer areas; and
- (b) Review of Federal financially assisted projects which may contaminate the aquifer.

DESIGNATION

Subpart B of these regulations establishes requirements for an area to qualify for designation under Section 1424(e). Designation of an area will be made by the Administrator on his own motion, or upon receipt of a public petition meeting specified criteria. If the Administrator determines that an aquifer is the sole or principal source for the area and would, if contaminated, create a significant hazard to public health, the Administrator's determination will be based upon significant Regional input and upon the recommendation of the Regional Administrator.

The FEDERAL REGISTER notice of a designation will include a description of the boundaries of the recharge zone and the streamflow source zone of the aquifer in question. Maps of the area will be made available to the public upon request. Upon designation of an area, the EPA Regional Office in the area will also notify all regional Federal agencies of the designation and will provide the agencies with maps outlining the recharge zone and the streamflow source zone. EPA headquarters will notify the heads of all Federal agencies.

The only area which has been designated to date is the San Antonio, Texas area where the Edwards Underground Reservoir is the sole source of water supply for over 1,000,000 people.

Section 1424(e) provides that no commitment of Federal financial assistance shall be made to a project which the Administrator determines may contaminate an aquifer in a designated area through its recharge zone so as to create "a significant hazard to public health." Subpart C of these regulations establishes procedures for review of projects for which an application for Federal financial assistance has been made. The project review process will be implemented by the Regional Administrators with the exception of the final determination which will be made by the Administrator. Regional Administrators are encouraged to explore all available alternatives with the Federal agencies involved, before a recommendation is submitted to the Administrator to determine that a project may contaminate an aquifer in a designated area so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

Programs and actions will be subject to EPA's project review authority only if an application for Federal financial assistance has been submitted. Federal actions such as dredging performed by the Army Corps of Engineers, which do not involve a grant of financial assistance to a project, are not affected by the project review authority granted by Section 1424(e). Similarly, Federal actions of programs performed by contractors for the Federal Government, such as construction of roads on Federal lands by a contractor under the supervision of the Bureau of Land Management are not subject to project review. Although this type of Federal action does not fall within the scope of Section 1424(e), an obligation to evaluate ground water impact may exist based on other authority. Some actions may be subject to the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), and the preparation of an environmental impact statement (EIS) may be required. Furthermore, in accordance with Executive Order 1752, all Federal facilities have a responsibility to take the initiative in the protection of the environment.

If a commitment of Federal financial assistance is sought which is within the meaning of Section 1424(e), the Administrator then has the authority to review the project for which financial assistance is sought, in order to determine whether the project may contaminate an aquifer in a designated area so as to create a significant hazard to public health. EPA will not be concerned with reviewing, on an individual basis, small, isolated commitments of financial assistance such as individual home mortgage loans (e.g., Farmers Home Administration loans and Veterans' Administration loans) which presumptively have an insignificant impact on aquifer quality. However, EPA may conduct review of the cumulative impact if a large number of such projects is of concern.

Because ground water impact evaluations are not only required under Section 1424(e), but are also an integral part of the responsibilities imposed under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), the process of project review pursuant to Section 1424(e) will be integrated as fully as possible with the review of Federal actions subject to NEPA. All Federal agencies have published guidelines for the implementation of NEPA which provide the basis for determining whether a project will have a "significant impact on the environment." Review under Section 1424(e) requires the closely related determination of whether a project may contaminate an aquifer through its recharge zone so as to pose a "significant hazard to public health." Integration of the two types of review will allow EPA and other Federal agencies to avoid needless duplication of efforts under the two statutes and will prevent inefficient use of resources in carrying out ground water impact evaluations. It will also permit EPA to take advantage of the Federal agencies' and the public's familiarity with the NEPA process. The heads of all Federal agencies have been advised by the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) in a memorandum dated November 19, 1976, that NEPA guidelines should be amended to place specific emphasis on the evaluation of the ground water impact of projects which might affect the quality of an aquifer through its recharge zone and that projects should be submitted to a thorough ground water impact evaluation in accordance with NEPA procedures.

Assessment of environmental impact under NEPA results in the preparation of an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) if an initial environmental assessment shows that a project will have a significant impact on the environment. EPA will ordinarily review the potential impact of projects on aquifers in designated areas pursuant to Section 1424(e) at the time that draft or final EIS's are submitted to EPA. An EIS prepared for a project which is subject to Section 1424(e) as well as NEPA should contain all the information which is necessary for EPA to properly evaluate a project's impact on ground water quality under Section 1424(e). EPA will routinely review under Section 1424(e) all EIS's prepared for projects which are to be located in the recharge zone or streamflow source zones of aquifers in designated areas which may have an impact on ground water quality and for which an application for Federal financial assistance has been made.

Although it is anticipated that established NEPA procedures will ordinarily be sufficient to ensure adequate review of ground water impact pursuant to Section 1424(e), the Regional Administrators shall also have the authority in implementing Section 1424(e) to specifically request that a ground water impact evaluation which will satisfy the requirements of Section 1424(e) be prepared by the Federal agency from which a commitment of financial Administrator's own motion based on information available to him, or upon receipt of a public petition meeting certain specified criteria. A well-research ground water impact chapter extracted from an environmental assessment prepared in accordance with NEPA may be sufficient to satisfy such a request for a ground water impact evaluation under Section 1424(e).

To ensure that EPA and the public are informed of projects which may affect the quality of the aquifer, EPA will request from each funding Federal agency that a list of projects for which EIS's will be prepared and which are located in the recharge zone or streamflow source zones of sole source aquifers be periodically submitted to the appropriate Regional Administrator and made available to the public upon request. Once an area is designated the Regional Administrators shall also have discretionary authority to work out with regional Federal agencies any agreements or memoranda of understanding which they feel are necessary to supplement the general regulations and to keep them informed of projects in the area. The Regional Administrators may assume the initiative in obtaining information on commitments of Federal financial assistance which are under consideration and in taking other steps to ensure that they are kept up-to-date on Federal funding of projects in the area. The Regional Administrators may, for example, request lists of applications for Federal financial assistance from the local A-95 Clearinghouse. EPA will rely as much as possible upon existing State capabilities in protecting the ground water quality of aquifers. This reliance will in no way constitute a delegation of project review authority, since this is clearly an EPA responsibility which may not be delegated. However, State assistance can be very valuable in providing the agency with information and comments based on knowledge of local ground water problems. The State's role will, of course, depend upon the individual State's capabilities and interests. Regional Administrators, upon designation of an area, may workout memoranda of understanding with the States in order to determine their participation in the protection of ground water quality in the area.

The content of these regulations is primarily procedural. EPA plans to initiate a study to provide technical guidance to EPA regional reviewers for the assessment of ground water impact evaluations prepared by Federal agencies in three major project categories: (1) Multi-unit housing development, (2) highways, and (3) sewage collection, treatment, and disposal facilities. Forthcoming technical guidance will also contain a detailed outline of the information which should be provided by Federal agencies for those project categories. In the meantime, Section 1424(e) review will be carried out in conjunction with NEPA review as currently implemented.

Experience with the interim guidelines issued for the San Antonio area (40 FR 58292, December 16, 1975) has been evaluated in formulating these national regulations.

Public comment on these proposed regulations shall be submitted on or before November 28, 1977 to the following address:

Environmental Protection Agency, Office of Water Supply (WH 550), 401 M Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20460.

Subpart A—General Provisions

§ 148.1 Applicability.

This part sets forth, pursuant to Section 1424(e) and 1450 of the Public Health Service Act, as amended by the Safe Drinking Water Act, Pub. L. 93-523, regulations relating to aquifers which are the sole or principal drinking water source for an area and which, if contaminated, would create a significant hazard to public health.

§ 148.2 Definitions.

As used in these regulations and except as otherwise specifically provided, the term(s):

(a) "Act" means the Public Health Service Act, as amended by the Safe Drinking Water Act, Pub. L. 93-523.

(b) "Contaminant" means any physical, chemical, biological, or radiological substance or matter in water.

(c) "Research zone" means any area through which water enters the aquifer.

(d) "Administrator" (Regional Administrator) means the Administrator (Regional Administrator) of the United States Environmental Protection Agency.

(e) "Person" means an individual, corporation, company, association, partnership, state, or municipality.

(f) "Project" means a program or action for which an application for Federal financial assistance has been made.

(g) "Federal financial assistance" means any financial benefits provided directly as aid to a project by a department, agency, or instrumentality of the Federal government in any form including contracts, grants, and loan guarantees. Actions or programs carried out by the Federal government itself such as dredging performed by the Army Corps of Engineers do not involve "Federal financial assistance." Actions performed for the Federal government by contractors, such as construction of roads on Federal lands by a contractor under the supervision of the Bureau of Land Management, should be distinguished from contracts entered into specifically for the purpose of providing financial assistance, and will not be considered programs or actions receiving "Federal financial assistance." "Federal financial assistance" is limited to benefits earmarked for a specific program or action and directly awarded to the program or action. Indirect assistance, e.g., in the form of a loan to a developer by a lending institution which in turn receives Federal assistance not specifically related to the project in question, is not "Federal financial assistance" under Section 1424(e).

(h) "Commitment of Federal financial assistance" means a written agreement entered into by a department, agency, or instrumentality of the Federal Government to provide financial assistance as defined in paragraph (g) of this section. Renewal of a commitment which the issuing agency determines has lapsed shall not constitute a new commitment unless the Regional Administrator determines that the project's impact upon a designated aquifer has not been previously reviewed under Section 1424(e). The determination of a Federal agency that a certain written agreement constitutes a commitment shall be conclusive with respect to the existence of such a commitment.

(i) "Streamflow source zone" means the upstream headwaters area which drains into the recharge zone.

(j) "Significant hazard to public health" means any level of contaminant which causes or may cause the aquifer to exceed any maximum contaminant level set forth in any promulgated National Primary Drinking Water Standard at any point where the water may be used for drinking purposes or which may otherwise adversely affect the health of persons, or which may require a public water system to install additional treatment to prevent such adverse effect.

(k) "Aquifer" means a geological formation, group of formations, or part of a formation that contains sufficient saturated permeable material to yield significant quantities of water to wells or springs.

(l) "Public water system" means a system for the provision to the public of piped water for human consumption, if such system has at least fifteen service connections or regularly serves an average of at least twenty-five individuals daily at least sixty (60) days out of the year. Such term includes (1) any collection, treatment, storage, and distribution facilities under control of the operator of such system and used primarily in connection with such system, and (2) any collection or pretreatment storage facilities not under such control which are used primarily in connection with such system.

(m) "Sole or principal source aquifer" means an aquifer which supplies 50 percent or more of the drinking water for an area.

(n) "Area" means a large territory, usually encompassing more than one county.

Subpart B—Designation of Sole or Principal Source Aquifer Areas

§ 148.10 Submission of petitions.

Any person may submit a petition requesting the Administrator to determine that an area has a sole or principal source aquifer. Petitions not meeting the requirements set forth below may be returned to the petitioner with a request that available information be submitted. Any petition shall be submitted in duplicate and shall include:

(a) The name, address, and telephone number of the individual, organization, or other entity submitting the petition;

(b) A brief statement of the requesting person's interest in the Administrator's determination;

(c) A statement of why, in the petitioner's view, contamination of the aquifer would result in a significant hazard to public health;

(d) All pertinent information known to the petitioner regarding:

(1) The aquifer and its location;

(2) The location of the area for which the petitioner alleges the aquifer is the sole or principal source of drinking water;

(3) The population in the area described under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph;

(4) Alternative sources of drinking water for the area described under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph;

(5) The recharge and streamflow source zone (or zones) for the aquifer and its location;

(6) The sources of recharge to the aquifer and their location;

(7) Projects which might contaminate the aquifer through the recharge zone; and

(8) The public water systems utilizing water from the aquifer, the number of people served by each system and the water treatment provided by each system.

(e) Maps showing, to the best of the petitioner's knowledge and belief:

(1) The location and boundaries of the aquifer;

(2) The location and boundaries of the recharge zone or zones for the aquifer; and

(3) The location of the source or sources of recharge to the aquifer.

§ 148.11 Decision to initiate designation procedures.

(a) The Administrator may consider designation of an area on his own initiative, on the initiative of a Regional Administrator, or as a response to a public petition.

(b) Upon receipt of a petition meeting the requirements of § 148.10, or upon his own initiative, the Regional Administrator shall review all the information readily available to him which is relevant to the existence of a sole or principal source aquifer. All such information shall be forwarded by the Regional Administrator to the Administrator along with this recommendation.

(c) The Administrator will review all information available to him, determine whether the region should initiate formal designation procedures, and notify the Regional Administrator. If the notification is affirmative, and where appropriate and in the public interest, the Regional Administrator will publish in the FEDERAL REGISTER notice of any petition submitted in accordance with § 148.10 hereof, and shall indicate in the FEDERAL REGISTER the availability for public review of data and information available to the Regional Administrator which are relevant to a determination regarding the existence of a sole or principal source aquifer in the area.

§ 148.12 Public hearing.

Where there is a significant public interest the Regional Administrator may hold a public hearing on whether an area should be designated under this subpart. Any such hearing shall be conducted by the Regional Administrator or his designee in an informal, orderly, and expeditious manner. Where appropriate, limits may be placed upon the time allowed for oral statements, and statements may be required to be submitted in writing. The Regional Administrator will give notice of such a public hearing by any reasonable means he deems appropriate.

§ 148.13 Determination by the Administrator.

The Regional Administrator will make his recommendation on designation to the Administrator no later than six (6) months after the date of publication of the FEDERAL REGISTER notice under § 148.11.

(b) Upon the recommendation of the Regional Administrator, the Administrator shall either make the designation or determine that the area should not be designated. In deciding whether to designate an area under Section 1424(e), the Administrator shall consider:

(1) The availability of alternative sources of drinking water;

(2) The size of the area and population served by the aquifer;

(3) The susceptibility of the aquifer to contamination through the recharge zone;

(4) The location of the aquifer;

(5) The number of public water systems utilizing water from the aquifer, the number of people served by such systems, and the treatment provided by such systems; and

(6) Such other factors as he deems relevant.

(c) If the Administrator determines that an area will be designated, he shall identify the boundaries of the recharge zone, the streamflow source zone, or portions thereof, through which contamination could affect the area for which the aquifer is the sole or principal source of drinking water, and, to the extent known, the water body or bodies which contact such recharge zone.

(d) The Administrator shall publish his determination in the FEDERAL REGISTER, including the basis for his decision.

Subpart C—Project Review

§ 148.20 Project review authority.

(a) Once an area is designated pursuant to Subpart B of this part, no subsequent commitments of Federal financial assistance may be made to projects which the Administrator determines may contaminate the aquifer so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

(b) The Regional Administrator is hereby delegated the authority and assigned responsibility for carrying out the project review process assigned to the Administrator under Section 1424(e) of the Act, except the final determination that a project may contaminate a sole or principal source aquifer in a designated area through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

(c) The Regional Administrator may review any project which he considers may potentially contaminate a sole or principal source aquifer in a designated area through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

§ 148.21 Public information.

After an area is designated under Section 1424(e), Federal agencies, for projects located in the recharge zone and streamflow source zones, are required to:

(a) Maintain a list of projects for which environmental impact statements will be prepared in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA);

(b) Revise the list at regular intervals and submit to EPA; and

(c) Make the list available to the public upon request.

§ 148.22 Submission of petitions.

Any person may submit a petition requesting the Regional Administrator to review a project to determine if such project may contaminate an aquifer in an area designated under Subpart B of this part through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health. Any such petition shall identify:

(a) The name, address, and telephone number of the individual, organization or other entity submitting the petition;

(b) A brief statement of the requesting person's interest in the Regional Administrator's determination;

(c) The name of the project and Federal agency involved;

In addition, the petitioner is requested to submit to EPA available information on:

(d) Applicable action already taken by State and local agencies including establishment of regulations to prevent contamination of the aquifer and why, in the petitioner's judgment, that action was inadequate;

(e) Any actions taken under the National Environmental Policy Act and why, in the petitioner's judgment, the action was inadequate in regard to evaluation of potential effect on the aquifer;

(f) The potential contaminants involved;

(g) The means by which the contaminant might enter the aquifer; and

(h) The potential impact of the proposed project.

§ 148.23 Decision to review.

(a) The Regional Administrator shall review under Section 1424(e) all projects located in the recharge or streamflow source zone of sole source aquifers for which a draft or final EIS is submitted which may have an impact on groundwater quality and which involve Federal financial assistance as defined in these regulations.

(b) Upon receipt of a public petition, the Regional Administrator shall decide whether the project which is the subject of the petition should be reviewed under Section 1424(e).

(c) The Regional Administrator may decide to review a project upon his own motion.

(d) In determining whether to review a project upon receipt of a public petition or upon his own motion, the Regional Administrator shall consider whether the project is likely to directly or indirectly cause contamination of the aquifer through its recharge zone, taking into account any factors he deems relevant, including:

- (1) The location of the project, and
- (2) The nature of the project.

(e) In determining whether to review a project upon receipt of a public petition or upon his own motion, the Regional Administrator may consult with, or request information from, the Federal agency to which the project application has been made, the applicant seeking Federal assistance, appropriate State and local agencies, and other appropriate persons or entities.

(f) In determining whether to review a project which is the subject of a public petition, the Regional Administrator may request such additional information from the petitioner as he deems necessary.

§ 148.24 Notice of review.

(a) Notice to Federal agency. If the Regional Administrator decides upon receipt of a public petition or upon his own motion to review a project under Section 1424(e), he shall give written notification of the decision to the Federal agency from which financial assistance is sought. The notification shall include a description and identification of the project.

(b) Notice to Public. When the Regional Administrator undertakes to review a project pursuant to § 148.23 above, he shall provide public notice of project review by such means as he deems appropriate. The notice shall set forth the availability for public review of all data and information available, and shall solicit comments, data and information with respect to the determination of impact under Section 1424(e). The period for public comment shall be 30 days after public notice unless the Regional Administrator extends the period at his discretion or a public hearing is held under § 148.26.

§ 148.25 Request for information.

In reviewing a project under Section 1424(e), the Regional Administrator may request any additional information from the funding Federal agency which is pertinent to reaching a decision. If full evaluation of the groundwater impact of a project has not been submitted in accordance with the agency's NEPA procedures, the Regional Administrator may specifically request that the Federal agency submit a groundwater impact evaluation of whether the proposed project may contaminate the aquifer through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

§ 148.26 Public hearing.

If there is significant public interest, the Regional Administrator may hold a public hearing with respect to any project or projects to be reviewed if he finds that such a hearing is necessary and would be helpful in clarifying the issues. Public hearings held under this section should be coordinated, if possible, with other Federal public hearings held pursuant to applicable laws and regulations. Any such hearing shall be conducted by the Regional Administrator or designee in an informal, orderly and expeditious manner. Where appropriate, limits may be placed upon the time allowed for oral statements, and statements may be required to be submitted in writing. The record will be held open for further public comment for seven (7) days following the close of the public hearing.

§ 148.27 Decision under Section 1424(e).

(a) As soon as practicable after the submission of public comments under Section 1424(e) and information requested by the Environmental Protection Agency from the originating Federal agency, on the basis of such information as is available to him, the Regional Administrator shall review the project taking all relevant factors into account, including:

- (1) The extent of possible public health hazard presented by the project;
- (2) Planning, design, construction, operation, maintenance and monitoring measures included in the project which would prevent or mitigate the possible health hazard;
- (3) The extent and effectiveness of State or local control over possible contaminant releases to the aquifer;

(4) The cumulative and secondary impacts of the proposed project; and

(5) The expected environmental benefits of the proposed project.

(b) After reviewing the available information, the Regional Administrator shall:

(1) Determine that the risk of contamination of the aquifer through the recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health is not sufficiently great so as to prevent commitment of Federal funding to the project; or

(2) Forward the information to the Administrator with his recommendation that the Administrator determine that the project may contaminate the aquifer through the recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

(c) After receiving the available information forwarded by the Regional Administrator, the Administrator shall:

(1) Determine that the risk of contamination of the aquifer through the recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health is not sufficiently great so as to prevent commitment of Federal funding to the project; or

(2) Determine that the project may contaminate the aquifer through the recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health.

(d) Notice of any decisions by the Regional Administrator under paragraph (b)(1) of this section or by the Administrator under paragraph (c)(1) and (c)(2) to prevent a commitment of Federal funding shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Such notices shall include a description of the proposed project, and a statement of the decision with an accompanying statement of facts and reasons.

§ 148.28 Resubmission of redesigned projects.

If a project is redesigned in response to EPA's objections, the applicant for Federal financial assistance or the grantor agency may file a petition with the Regional Administrator for withdrawal of the determination that the project may contaminate the aquifer through the recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health. Any such petition shall demonstrate how the project has been redesigned so as to justify the withdrawal of EPA's objections. If appropriate, the Regional Administrator may request public comments or hold an informal public hearing to consider the petition. After review of pertinent information, the Regional Administrator shall either deny the petition or recommend to the Administrator that the initial determination that a project may contaminate the aquifer be vacated. Upon receipt of a recommendation from the Regional Administrator that a determination be vacated, the Administrator shall either deny the petition or order that the initial determination be vacated. The final decision regarding a petition shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER with an accompanying statement of reasons.

§ 148.29 Funding to redesigned projects.

After publication of a decision that a proposed project may contaminate a sole or principal source aquifer in a designated area through its recharge zone so as to create a significant hazard to public health, a commitment for Federal financial assistance may be entered into, if authorized under another provision of law, to plan or redesign such project to assure that it will not so contaminate the aquifer.

DEVELOPMENT OF REGULATIONS FOR THE TRANSPORTATION OF HAZARDOUS WASTE

Joint Public Meeting

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency and Office of Hazardous Materials, Department of Transportation

ACTION: Supplemental advanced notice of proposed rulemaking; notice of meeting.

SUMMARY: The Environmental Protection Agency announces a joint meeting with the Office of Hazardous Materials Operations/DOT to determine whether current DOT regulations under the Hazardous Materials Transportation Act of 1974 may have the potential to be expanded to partially meet the mandates of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976.<sup>1</sup> The purpose of this meeting is to maximize the coordination of the RCRA regulatory requirements with existing DOT rules for the benefit of all parties.

DATES: The meeting will be held on October 26, 1977. Comments must be received on or before November 9, 1977.

ADDRESSES: Send comments to: U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Office of Solid Waste, Hazardous Waste Materials Division, Docket Section, Room 2111, 401 M St. SW., Washington, D.C. 20460, and Department of Transportation, Room 6500, Trans Point Building, 2100 Second Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20590.

The meeting will be held at the Ramada O'Hare Inn, Mannheim and Higgins Road, Des Plaines, Ill., 312-827-5131.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976 (RCRA) mandates a comprehensive Federal-State-local approach to all aspects of waste management, including resource conservation and recovery, land disposal of municipal and industrial wastes, and authorizes a new regulatory program for hazardous wastes.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) under Subtitle C—Hazardous Waste Management—is required to write standards for generators, shippers, transporters, and receivers of hazardous waste. In addition EPA is required to develop criteria and a list to define what are hazardous wastes.

During the analysis of the RCRA requirements, it became apparent that current Department of Transportation (DOT) regulations under the Hazardous Materials Transportation Act of 1974 (HMTA) may have the potential to be expanded to partially meet the mandate of RCRA. EPA would like to maximize the coordination of the RCRA regulatory requirements with existing DOT rules for the benefit of all parties.

The Act requires that regulations developed under Subtitle C of RCRA be consistent with the requirements of HMTA and the regulations thereunder. In addition, it authorizes the EPA to make recommendations to DOT respecting regulations for hazardous wastes under HMTA and for the addition of materials to be covered by that Act.

Authority for the regulation of hazardous waste transportation is contained in both HMTA and RCRA. The HMTA is concerned with the protection of public safety, health, and property during the loading, transportation, storage incident to transportation, and unloading of hazardous materials. HMTA requires the Secretary of Transportation to designate materials as hazardous upon finding that the transportation of a particular quantity and form of material in commerce may pose an unreasonable risk to health and safety or property. The materials designated as hazardous may include, but are not limited to: explosives, radioactive materials, etiologic agents, flammable liquids or solids, combustible liquids or solids, poisons, oxidizing or corrosive materials, and compressed gases.

Under Subtitle C, RCRA is concerned with the protection of the public health and the environment from improper hazardous waste management during transportation, treatment, storage or disposal. Hazardous waste as defined by RCRA is a solid waste, or combination of solid wastes which because of its quantity, concentration, or physical, chemical, or infectious characteristics may cause, or significantly contribute to an increase in mortality or an increase in serious irreversible, or incapacitating reversible, illness or pose a substantial present or potential hazard to human health or the environment when improperly treated, stored, transported, or disposed of. In turn, RCRA defines "solid" waste to include solid, liquid, semisolid, or contained gaseous material resulting from industrial, commercial, mining, and, with some exception, agricultural operations, and from community activities. The Administrator shall take into account, when designating hazardous wastes, toxicity, persistence and degradability in nature, potential for accumulation in tissue, and other related factors such as flammability, corrosiveness and other hazardous characteristics.

For the transportation of hazardous wastes under RCRA, Section 3002 requires the Administrator to develop standards for generators/shippers of hazardous wastes concerning labeling practices for any containers used for storage, transport, or disposal that will identify accurately such wastes; use of appropriate containers, and use of a manifest system to assure that all hazardous waste generated is designated for treatment, storage or disposal to a permitted hazardous waste management facility. The manifest as defined by the Act means the form used for identifying the quantity, composition, and the origin, routing, and destination of hazardous waste during its transportation from the point of generation to the point of disposal, treatment, or storage. Section 3003 requires the Administrator to develop standards for transporters of hazardous waste concerning recordkeeping, transportation of hazardous wastes only if properly labeled, compliance with the manifest system and transportation of all the hazardous wastes to the designated permitted facility. In addition, the Administrator is considering the development of standards for the acceptance of hazardous waste for transport, loading and stowage of hazardous wastes, notification in the event of a spill and spill reporting, marking and placarding of vehicles, and notification of the transportation of hazardous wastes.

Many of the standards being considered under RCRA for transportation are currently required under HMTA. Specifically, definition of a hazardous material (waste), labeling, placarding, packaging, manifest (shipping document) spill notification and reporting, and loading and stowage. In addition, HMTA has provisions for the development of standards concerning recordkeeping and registration.

In December of 1976 the Department of Transportation evidenced concern for the development of regulations for hazardous waste transporters. HM-145, Environmental and Health Effects Materials Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, published December 9, 1976, in the FEDERAL REGISTER, presented several questions concerning hazardous wastes: "with regard to hazardous wastes, what classification system may be used to clearly identify mixtures as opposed to single compound materials; what packaging may be appropriate for transportation; and how existing transportation documentation can be used to cover transport of hazardous wastes from the generator (shipper) to the disposer (consignee)." Several comments were received expressing concern for the development of hazardous waste transportation regulations by both EPA and DOT.

DISCUSSION TOPICS

A one-day public meeting will be held on October 26, 1977, to solicit public, industry, State and local government comment on the regulation of hazardous waste transportation by the Department of Transportation and the Environmental Protection Agency. The public meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Ramada O'Hare Inn, Mannheim and Higgins Road, Des Plaines, Ill. 312-827-5131. Interested members of the public; representatives of industry that ship as well as transport hazardous materials (waste); entities, both public and private, that respond to transportation emergencies; State and local governments; and firms that receive hazardous wastes for storage, treatment, and disposal are urged to attend and respond to any or all of the discussion topics listed below, as well as any other issues concerning the regulation of hazardous waste transportation.

The meeting is open to the public and will be conducted by a panel from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the U.S. Department of Transportation.

The following procedural rule will apply. The Chairman of the panel is empowered to conduct the meeting in a manner that in his judgment will facilitate the orderly conduct of business, to schedule presentations by participants, and to exclude material which is irrelevant, extraneous, or repetitious. The time allotment for oral statements shall be at the discretion of the Chairman, but shall not ordinarily exceed 15 minutes. With the permission of any person offering a statement, questions may be asked by members of the panel. At the discretion of the Chairman, a procedure may be made available for presentation of pertinent questions from other persons or participants. Individuals with prepared statements are requested to bring at least one copy for the record. Persons unable to attend, but wishing to comment on the Discussion Topics, are invited to send written comments to the address below by November 9, 1977.

A transcript of the meetings will be made and a copy of the transcript, together with copies of all documents presented at the meeting, and all written submissions will constitute the record of the meeting. A copy of the record of the meeting will be available for public inspection by December 16, 1977, at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Office of Solid Waste, Hazardous Waste Management Division, Docket Section, Room 2111, 401 M Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20460 and at the Department of Transportation, Room 6500, Trans Point Building, 2100 Second Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

Anyone desiring additional information on the meeting or wishing to be placed on the program to present a statement is requested to contact: Mrs. Geraldine Wyr, Public Participation Officer, Office of Solid Waste, WH-462, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 20460. Phone: 202-755-9157 before October 21, 1977.

1. Regulations being developed by the Environmental Protection Agency and existing regulations of the Department of Transportation impact the transportation of hazardous wastes. Which Agency should take the lead in developing the regulations for hazardous waste transportation? What approach should be taken? Should DOT modify its definition of hazardous materials to include all hazardous wastes? (Wastes which are bioaccumulative, toxic above current DOT definition levels, infectious, carcinogens, or having potential for genetic change are likely to be identified under RCRA as hazardous wastes and are not currently covered by the DOT Hazardous Materials Regulations.) Should EPA then incorporate DOT regulations by reference or should EPA consider a separate set of regulations to supplement the gaps in DOT regulatory coverage, in that EPA regulations would cover only wastes which are hazardous, not all hazardous materials?

2. If DOT does modify its definition of hazardous materials to include all hazardous wastes, should DOT regulations specifically address the transportation of hazardous wastes or treat them the same as hazardous materials that are bioaccumulative, toxic, infectious, carcinogenic, etc.?

3. Section 3002 of RCRA requires the development of a manifest (shipping paper) to assure that the hazardous waste is designated to a permitted hazardous waste management facility and that all the hazardous waste is delivered to that facility. Should DOT modify its shipping paper requirements to fulfill the needs of the RCRA manifest or should EPA develop requirements to supplement existing shipping paper requirements (including the possibility of a separate document)?

4. Are the current DOT requirements for labeling, marking and placarding sufficient for handling of hazardous waste in transportation? For those hazardous wastes which will not fall under DOT purview, should EPA develop labels and placards of separate design or should DOT develop the labels and placards for these hazardous wastes that are compatible with current DOT design?

5. HMTA authorizes the registration of anyone transporting hazardous materials; RCRA requires notification of the transportation of hazardous wastes. Should registration requirements be developed for transporters of hazardous wastes?

6. In the event of an accident or a spill of a hazardous material during loading, transportation, or unloading, DOT requires notification of the incident and the filing of a report. For the spill of hazardous waste, EPA is also considering similar requirements. Should notification of spills be directed to EPA, DOT (Office of Hazardous Material Operations), or the U.S. Coast Guard National Emergency Response Center? Should EPA and DOT receive incident reports (DOT for hazardous materials and EPA for hazardous wastes), or should all reports be filed with DOT (even when spilled hazardous wastes are not covered by DOT regulation)?

7. In the event of a spill, the material cleaned up may become a hazardous waste. Should DOT or EPA develop the regulations for handling the spilled hazardous material?

8. HMTA authorizes DOT to require training to be conducted by shippers and transporters of hazardous materials. Are training programs necessary relative to emergency response and cleanup of hazardous wastes specifically? If so, to what extent should they be required?

9. Since hazardous wastes are mixtures or may be mixed during collection for transportation, is it necessary for DOT to modify its loading and stowage requirement to address the mixing and stowage of incompatible wastes?

10. Any other comments relevant to the development of regulations for transportation of hazardous wastes by the Department of Transportation and the Environmental Protection Agency are welcome.

REVISION OF PROCEDURES FOR PROCESSING COAL MINE HEALTH AND SAFETY DISCRIMINATION CASES

AGENCY: Office of Hearings and Appeals, Department of the Interior.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: Section 110 (b) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969 (30 U.S.C. § 820) provides miners, who believe they have been discharged or otherwise discriminated against because they have reported alleged health or safety violations or dangers to the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration (MESA) or initiated or testified in a proceeding brought under the Act, the right to file an application for review of the discriminatory actions they feel have been taken against them. These proposed rules are designed to allow for greater leeway in the present 30-day time period set for filing an application. They also provide for an investigation by MESA of each § 110(b) application filed and give MESA the right to intervene in § 110(b) cases. DATE: Written comments, suggestions, and objections must be received by October 31, 1977.

ADDRESSES: Written comments, suggestions, and objections should be sent to Thomas A. Mascolino, Assistant Solicitor, Administrative Litigation, Office of the Solicitor, U.S. Department of the Interior, 4015 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Virginia 22203, or to David Torbett, Acting Director, Office of Hearings and Appeals, U.S. Department of the Interior, 4015 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Va. 22203.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

W. Michael Hackett, Trial Attorney, Office of the Solicitor, U.S. Department of the Interior, 4015 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Va. 22203. (703-235-1171).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Under the provisions of § 508 of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969 (30 U.S.C. § 957), the Secretary of the Interior has the authority to issue such regulations as are deemed appropriate to carry out the functions of the Act. Based on this authority, it is proposed that Part 4, Subtitle A, Title 43, Code of Federal Regulations, be amended as set forth below.

Proposed § 4.560a will be added specifying MESA's right to intervene in § 110 (b) cases without requiring the permission of an Administrative Law Judge or the Board of Mine Operations Appeals.

Section 4.513 presently requires MESA and other potential intervenors to set forth an interest in the proceeding and show that their participation will assist in the determination of issues in question in order to convince the Administrative Law Judge or the Board of Mine Operations Appeals they are entitled to intervention status. Section 4.513 will be revised to allow MESA an absolute right to intervene in § 110(b) cases as provided in § 4.560a.

Proposed § 4.564 will require MESA to conduct an investigation into each application filed under § 110(b). Presently, MESA is not conducting investigations into each § 110(b) case. Section 4.564 will also require MESA to prepare a report of its investigation within 60 days and file that report with the Office of Hearing and Appeals. Copies will be sent to the miner and the coal mine operator or to their representatives.

Section 4.561 presently requires an application for review to be filed within 30 days after the alleged discriminatory discharge or other act of discrimination. The proposed rule will allow for late filing where extenuating circumstances exist or where the applicant has filed an action under grievance-arbitration proceedings or a complaint with another agency. The determination whether extenuating circumstances exist will be made by the Administrative Law Judge or the Board of Mine Operations Appeals.

Proposed § 4.561a(a) will direct the applicant to file his application with the Office of Hearings and Appeals, but will make delivery within the 30-day period to any MESA office of the Associate Solicitor, Division of Mine Health and Safety, acceptable since the application will then be promptly forwarded to the Office of Hearings and Appeals.

PROPOSED RULES

Proposed §§ 4.562(c) and 4.562(d) add two new paragraphs which will require copies of all pleadings and papers to be served on the Associate Solicitor, Division of Mine Health and Safety, and to be promptly delivered from the Office of Hearings and Appeals to the Associate Solicitor when distribution to the Associate Solicitor is not shown.

The Department of the Interior has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring the preparation of an Economic Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

DRAFTING INFORMATION

The principal persons responsible for preparation of this notice are: W. Michael Hackett, Trial Attorney, Office of the Solicitor, and Kate O'Beirne, Attorney-Adviser, Board of Mine Operations Appeals.

Dated: September 21, 1977.

JAMES A. JOSEPH,
Under Secretary of the Interior.

Accordingly, it is proposed to amend 43 CFR Part 4 as follows:

1. By revising the last sentence in § 4.513 to read:

§ 4.513 Intervention.

2. By adding § 4.560a to read:

§ 4.560a Intervention by the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration under § 110(b) of the Act.

Notwithstanding § 4.513, the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration may intervene at any time in any proceeding brought to review an alleged discriminatory discharge or other act of discrimination pursuant to section 110(b) of the Act. Such intervention shall be deemed to be a matter of right and the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration shall not be required to obtain permission to intervene from the Administrative Law Judge or the Board of Mine Operations Appeals. Such right of intervention shall include the right of the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration to participate in discovery procedures to the same extent as would be allowed any party.

(b) An application for compensation shall be filed within 45 days after the date of issuance of the withdrawal order which gives rise to the claim.

4. By adding new § 4.561a to read:

§ 4.561a Where to file.

(a) An application for review of an alleged discriminatory discharge or other act of discrimination shall be filed with the Office of Hearings and Appeals, 4015 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Va. 22203. Such application may be delivered to any office of the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration or to the Associate Solicitor, Division of Mine Health and Safety, which shall promptly forward the application to the Office of Hearings and Appeals for filing. Delivery to any designated office other than the Office of Hearings and Appeals shall operate to toll the 30-day period.

(b) An application for compensation shall be filed with the Office of Hearings and Appeals, 4015 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Va. 22203.

5. By adding paragraphs (c) and (d) to § 4.562 to read:

§ 4.562 Contents of application.

(c) Copies of all pleadings and papers filed shall be served by the parties on each other and upon the U.S. Department of the Interior, Office of the Solicitor, Associate Solicitor, Division of Mine Health and Safety, 4015 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Va. 22203.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Adopted: September 22, 1977.

Released: September 28, 1977.

By the Federal-State Joint Board:

1. This Joint Board was convened to develop recommendations in an inquiry into the revisions, if any, which should be made in the prescribed jurisdictional separations procedures in order to compensate for any shift in revenue requirements and/or distribution of revenues amongst the telephone companies which might result when the customer provides his own terminal equipment.<sup>1</sup> In furtherance of this objective the staff members assigned to work on this Joint Board conducted a meeting in Denver, Colorado, on July 27 and 28, 1977. At that meeting the staff described various studies which had been undertaken to develop recommendations that the staff would make to the Joint Board. These studies and recommendations will provide the Joint Board with a focus from which it can develop further procedures to meet the mandate of the Commission. We encourage the staff to continue these studies and report their results to the Joint Board in an expeditious manner. Following review of the staff recommendations and studies, the Joint Board will promulgate such procedures, e.g. comment and reply pleadings, oral testimony, evidentiary hearings, as may be appropriate for the successful future of this Joint Board proceeding.<sup>3</sup>

2. Inquiries have been addressed to the Joint Board concerning how the routine matters that develop in rule making proceedings will be dealt with and whether ex parte rules apply to the Joint Board proceeding. This Joint Board was convened to prepare a recommended decision in a restricted rule making proceeding of the Commission. Since the Chief, Common Carrier Bureau is delegated broad authority in rule making proceedings before the Commission, we believe he is authorized to conduct routine matters of this Joint Board including ruling on requests for extensions of time. In the event matters are raised requiring full Joint Board action, the Chief, Common Carrier Bureau is authorized to record the votes of the Joint Board members by means of telephone inquiry. As we previously noted, this proceeding is one phase of a restricted rule making. See § 1.1207 of the Commission's rules and regulations. Therefore the Commission's ex parte rules apply to this Joint Board proceeding. While the Commission's rules only identify decisionmaking Commission personnel, since the State Commissioners appointed to the Joint Board fully participate in the decision-making process, they and their designated staffs are considered decision-making personnel fully subject to the provisions of the Commission's ex parte rules. To avoid the possibility of an inadvertent ex parte presentation being made to the staffs of the State Commission members of this Joint Board, the State Commissioners will designate and make part of the docket file maintained at the Commission, names of those staff personnel they will utilize to assist them in this Joint Board effort. All parties are strongly encouraged to review the rules, 47 CFR 1.1201-1.1251.<sup>4</sup>

3. It is ordered, That the routine matters concerning this proceeding will be dealt with by the Chief, Common Carrier Bureau. The Chief, Common Carrier Bureau is authorized to solicit and record the votes of the Joint Board via telecommunications for matters requiring Joint Board action.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

Adopted: September 22, 1977.

Released: September 28, 1977.

By the Federal State Joint Board:

1. By "Notice of Inquiry, Proposed Rule-Making and Creation of Federal-State Joint Board," FCC 77-365, released June 7, 1977, reconsideration denied, FCC 77-615, released September 7, 1977, the Commission convened this Joint Board to prepare a recommended decision for its consideration for the purpose of establishing the separations procedures applicable to Alaska and Hawaii. The Joint Board having convened is now in a position to establish the procedures under which it will operate and which will enhance the development of information required for the preparation of a recommended decision.

2. This proceeding is a result of the Commission's rate integration policy which is designed to eliminate the distinctions in levels of charges and rate patterns between the mainland and Alaska and Hawaii. The Commission has stated that it anticipates that full implementation of rate integration will result in the affected carriers participating in the division of revenues in the interstate revenue pool on the same basis as mainland companies, e.g., the recovery of their costs associated with the provision of interstate service and a rate of return. "Reconsideration of Integration of Rates and Services," FCC 77-364, released June 6, 1977. To accomplish this goal the carriers must separate their interstate costs on the basis of a prescribed methodology. Although the current Separations Manual is the basis for Alaska intrastate settlements, no methodology has been prescribed for Alaska and Hawaii interstate separations. Therefore, this Joint Board was convened pursuant to section 410(c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

3. The notice creating this Joint Board clearly pointed out the Commission's initial impression that the jurisdictional separations procedures applicable on the mainland should also pertain to the carriers providing message telephone service to Alaska and Hawaii. (FCC 77-365, para. 4.) The Commission did, however, point out that some of the affected carriers and governments expressed concerns that the existing NARUC-FCC Manual, which incorporate the "Ozark Plan" may require modification. The Joint Board does not presently have a record on which to draw any conclusions. We are instructing the staff of this Joint Board to prepare recommendations concerning what information should be obtained to develop an adequate record in this proceeding. After review of these staff recommendations, the Joint Board will adopt appropriate specific procedures to develop the record.

4. A service list will be prepared for this Joint Board proceeding. Parties who desire to file and be filed on are requested to file with the Commission a notice of intent to file and be filed on within 20 days of publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The notice should contain the address to which service should be executed. Failure to file such a notice will not preclude any person from filing comments or replies, however, other parties who have filed such notice will not be required to file copies of their comments and replies of such persons. Unless otherwise ordered an original and 6 copies of all documents filed shall be filed in the Commission's offices, and an additional copy shall be filed with each of the State Commissioners serving as participants on this Joint Board. The service list will contain addresses for each of these Commissioners.

5. Inquiries have been addressed to the Joint Board concerning how the routine matters in this proceeding will be dealt with and whether ex parte rules apply to the Joint Board proceeding. This Joint Board was convened to prepare a recommended decision in a restricted rule making proceeding of the Commission. Since the Chief, Common Carrier Bureau is delegated broad authority in rule making proceedings before the Commission, we believe he is authorized to conduct the routine matters of this Joint Board including ruling on requests for extensions of time. In the event matters are raised requiring full Joint Board action, the Chief, Common Carrier Bureau is authorized to record the votes of the Joint Board members by means of telephone inquiry. As we previously noted, this proceeding is one phase of a restricted rule making. See § 1.1207 of the Commission's rules and regulations. Therefore, the Commission's ex parte rules apply to this Joint Board proceeding. While the Commission's rules only identify decision-making Commission personnel, the State Commissioners appointed to the Joint Board fully participate in the decision making process. Therefore, they and their designated staffs are to be considered decision-making personnel fully subject to the provisions of the Commission's ex parte rules. To avoid the possibility of an inadvertent ex parte presentation being made to the staffs of the State Commission members of this Joint Board, the State Commissioners will designate and make part of the docket file maintained at the Commission, names of those staff personnel they will utilize to assist them in this Joint Board effort. All parties are strongly encouraged to review the rules, 47 CFR §§ 1.1201-1.1251.

6. Accordingly, it is ordered, That any interested party may file, within 20 days of publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a notice of intention to participate. The Joint Board shall then issue a Public Notice stating the names of parties intending to participate herein. All comments, replies, and other submissions in this proceeding shall be served on all parties listed in the Public Notice.

7. It is further ordered, That all participants shall file an original and six copies of all comments, replies, or other submissions with the Secretary, Federal Communications Commission and one copy with each of the State Commission members at addresses specified by them. Copies of all filings in this proceeding shall be available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Commission's Reference Room at its headquarters at 1919 M Street NW., Washington, D.C.; and

8. It is further ordered, That the routine matters concerning this proceeding will be dealt with by the Chief, Common Carrier Bureau. The Chief, Common Carrier Bureau is authorized to solicit and record the votes of the Joint Board via telecommunications for matters requiring Joint Board action.

FM BROADCAST STATION IN GARBERVILLE, CALIF.

Proposed Changes in Table of Assignments
AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rule making.

SUMMARY: Action taken herein proposes the assignment of a first FM channel to Garberville, California. Petitioner, Daniel J. Healy, states that the proposed station would provide a first local aural broadcast service to the community.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before November 7, 1977, and reply comments must be received on or before November 28, 1977.

ADDRESSES: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mildred B. Nesterak, Broadcast Bureau, 202-632-7792.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Adopted: September 21, 1977.

Released: September 28, 1977.

In the matter of amendment of section 73.202(b), table of assignments, FM broadcast stations. (Garberville, California); Docket No. 21404, (RM-2923).

1. The Commission has before it a petition<sup>1</sup> filed by Daniel J. Healy ("petitioner"), requesting the assignment of Channel 261A to Garberville, California, as its first FM channel assignment. Channel 261A could be assigned to Garberville in conformity with the minimum distance separation requirements. No oppositions to the petition have been filed.

2. Garberville (pop. 900)<sup>2</sup>, is an unincorporated community located some 257 kilometers (160 miles) northwest of Sacramento, California. It has no local aural broadcast service, but petitioner indicates that it receives service from Station KFMI (FM), Eureka and daytime-only AM Station KNCR, Fortuna, California.

3. Petitioner states that Garberville and the surrounding communities within fifteen miles have a population of approximately ten thousand permanent residents.<sup>2</sup> He notes that it is a popular recreational area whose population increases to between 50,000 and 80,000 during the months of June through October. Petitioner asserts that Stations KFMI (FM) and KNCR, which serve Garberville, have specialized formats and neither station has regular news and information programming directed to Garberville and its surrounding communities. He states that persons who were interviewed in the Garberville area expressed an interest in having access to local news and general programming. Petitioner further adds that the California Highway Patrol, Forestry Service, Superintendent of Schools, and the Sheriff of Humboldt County, indicated they would welcome an outlet for information concerning road and weather conditions, camping space for summer-time tourists, etc.

4. An initial review of the petition appears to indicate a need for a first local aural broadcast service in Garberville which is located in an area of California with few radio services. The proposal is being advanced for the purpose of determining whether such an assignment is warranted, however. Thus, there is a need for the petitioner to submit additional information which would assist the Commission in determining whether the proposed channel assignment would be in the public interest. Petitioner is therefore requested to submit the following information in his comments:

(a) Information which demonstrates whether Garberville in fact is a community. This information should include a description of governmental structure, and social and economic activities.

(b) Clarification of his claim that the population of the area is between 50,000 and 80,000 between the months of June and October by indicating whether these figures apply to the total population for these months or whether they apply only to a certain segment of this period. If the population data is the aggregate figure, the population that is expected during any one time period should be submitted.

(c) The 1970 United States Census Minor Civil Division of Humboldt County indicates that the Garberville Division has a population of 5,026. Petitioner should submit information as to the permanent population of the unincorporated area in which he claims Garberville is situated, the unofficial boundary of the community and the location of the community relative to any neighboring incorporated communities.

5. In view of the above, the Commission proposes to amend the FM Table of Assignments, Section 73.202(b) of the Commission's Rules, with regard to Garberville, California:

FM BROADCAST STATION IN MANTI, UTAH

Proposed Changes in Table of Assignments
AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rule making.

SUMMARY: Action taken herein proposes the assignment of a Class C channel assignment to Manti, Utah, as its first FM assignment. Petitioner, Sanpete County Broadcasting Co., states that the proposed assignment would provide a first or second FM service to a substantial area.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before November 7, 1977. Reply comments must be received on or before November 28, 1977.

ADDRESSES: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Adopted: September 21, 1977; Released: September 28, 1977.

In the matter of amendment of section 73.202(b), table of assignments, FM broadcast stations, (Manti, Utah); Docket No. 21403, (RM-2888).

1. Petitioner, Proposal, Comments— (a) Notice of Proposed Rule Making is given concerning amendment of the FM Table of Assignments (Section 73.202(b) of the Commission's Rules) as it relates to Manti, Utah.

(b) Petition for rule making<sup>1</sup> was filed on behalf of Sanpete County Broadcasting Company ("petitioner"), licensee of AM Station KMTI, Manti, Utah, seeking the assignment of Channel 286 to Manti, Utah. No responses to the petition have been filed.

2. Community Data—(a) Location. Manti is located in Sanpete County, approximately 168 kilometers (105 miles) south of Salt Lake City, Utah.

(b) Population. Manti—1,803; Sanpete County—10,976.<sup>2</sup>

(c) Local Broadcast Service. Manti currently has only one local broadcast facility, full-time AM Station KMTI, licensed to the petitioner.

(d) Economic Data. Petitioner states that the chief industry in Manti and surrounding area, which is substantially all of Sanpete County, is agriculture. It notes that other industry in the county includes clothing and apparel concerns, mobile homes and recreation vehicle production. Petitioner has also submitted information with respect to education, churches and recreational facilities. It states that it will apply for the channel, if assigned.

3. Preclusion Studies. Petitioner's preclusion study shows twenty-four communities of population greater than 1,000 located in the preclusion area created by the proposed assignment. Five of these have commercial FM stations or channel assignments. It shows that the remaining nineteen<sup>3</sup> have Class A or Class C channels available for assignment.

4. Additional Considerations. Petitioner states that there is presently no FM station operating in or serving the population of Sanpete County. It notes that the county is large in area and the communities are distributed substantially throughout the county, and it is for this reason it urges that a Class C channel must be used in order to guarantee that service can be rendered not only to Manti but to all of the populations in Sanpete County. In its Roanoke Rapids/Anamosa study it shows that a Class C station operating with effective radiated power of 25 kilowatts and antenna height of 56 meters (183 feet) would provide a first FM service to a population of 4,645 in an area of 1,378 square kilometers (532 square miles) and a second FM service to a population of 5,699 in an area of 2,793 square kilometers (1,078 square miles). A first nighttime aural service would be provided to a population of 2,845 in an area of 1,248 square kilometers (482 square miles) and a second nighttime aural service to a population of 7,500 in an area of 2,923 square kilometers (1,128 square miles).

5. Based on an examination of petitioner's proposal, there appears to be a basis for considering an exception to our general policy of assigning Class C channels only to larger communities. This has been done in other cases to provide a channel to small isolated communities when the density of the population in the area to be served is low and its distribution is scattered.

6. Accordingly, the Commission proposes to amend the FM Table of Assignments (Section 73.202(b) of the Com-

<sup>3</sup> Nevada: McGill (pop. 2,164); Utah: Delta (1,610); Fillmore (1,411); Green River (1,033); Gunnison (1,073); Salina (1,494); Helper (1,964); Mt. 7. The Commission's authority to institute rule making proceedings; showings required; cut-off procedures; and filing requirements are contained in the attached Appendix and are incorporated by reference herein. NOTE: A showing of continuing interest is required by paragraph 2 of the Appendix before a channel will be assigned.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
WALLACE E. JOHNSON,
Chief, Broadcast Bureau.

2. Showings required. Comments are invited on the proposal(s) discussed in the Notice of Proposed Rule Making to which this Appendix is attached. Proponent(s) will be expected to answer whatever questions are presented in initial comments. The proponent of a proposed assignment is also expected to file comments even if it only resubmits or incorporates by reference its former pleadings. ### BUMPER STANDARD

Damageability Requirements

AGENCY: National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, DOT.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: This notice proposes to amend 49 CFR Part 581, Bumper Standard, to permit a limited amount of damage to filler panels and stone shields on vehicles manufactured on or after September 1, 1979. The proposed amendment is in response to petitions for reconsideration which asserted that production of filler panels and stone shields that would incur no damage during testing would be very expensive and not provide consumers with commensurate benefits.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before October 31, 1977.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The amendment would be added immediately to the text of the standard and would be effective September 1, 1979.

ADDRESSES: Comments should refer to the docket number and be submitted to: Room 5108 Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20590.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Tim Hoyt, Office of Crashworthiness, Motor Vehicle Programs, NHTSA, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20590 (202-426-2264).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On March 4, 1976, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) published a notice (41 FR 9346) establishing a new bumper standard limiting damage to vehicle bumpers and other vehicle surfaces in low-speed crashes. Petitions for reconsideration of that notice were submitted by several motor vehicle manufacturers. General Motors (GM), Chrysler, and American Motors (AM) objected to the NHTSA's interpretation that filler panels and stone shields were exterior vehicle surfaces and therefore prohibited from experiencing damage during the prescribed test impacts. The petitioners contended that filler panels and stone shields were actually parts of the bumper system and, as such, should be permitted to sustain the same degree of damage allowed for the bumper face bar and those components that participate in its attachment to the vehicle frame.

The agency found merit in the petitioners' arguments and granted their requests in the FEDERAL REGISTER notice responding to petitions for reconsideration of Part 581 (42 FR 24056); May 12, 1977). In that notice the NHTSA categorized filler panels and stone shields as components of the bumper system that would be permitted to incur unlimited damage on vehicles manufactured from September 1, 1978, until September 1, 1979. The agency's decision was based upon assertions by petitioners that bumper stroke during impact testing causes unavoidable surface scratches, abrasions, and displacements which could be eliminated only by using expensive materials and mounting techniques. Although the filler panel and stone shield material is generally sufficiently flexible to withstand impacts without permanently losing its shape, damage to the bumper face bar often results in some damage to the filler panel and stone shield. It was the agency's conclusion that permitting damage to those components would not significantly degrade the level of performance required for vehicles manufactured after September 1, 1978, primarily because filler panels and stone shields are less visible than the bumper, which is permitted to incur damage.

The May 12, 1977, notice did not make a determination regarding damage criteria for filler panels and stone shields on vehicles manufactured after September 1, 1979. It was stated in that notice that the agency would address in a future notice the application of damage criteria to those components. This notice speaks to the performance of filler panels and stone shields on vehicles manufactured after September 1, 1979.

Part 581 currently requires passenger cars manufactured after September 1, 1979, to be capable of incurring prescribed impacts without sustaining damage to vehicle surface areas other than the bumper face bar. The bumper face bar may not sustain damage exceeding  $\frac{3}{8}$  inch dent and  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch set. The effect of these requirements is to prohibit damage to filler panels and stone shields while permitting limited damage to the bumper face bar. As was indicated in the May 12 notice, damage to the bumper face bar is quite likely to cause damage to the filler panel and stone shield components because of their location. Filler panels and stone shields serve as essentially cosmetic components that cover the bumper shock absorber units. Since filler panels and stone shields have low visibility and would require expensive redesign to prevent damage in low-speed impacts, the agency hereby proposes to amend Part 581 to permit damage to filler panels and stone shields on vehicles manufactured after September 1, 1979.

Two alternative damage levels are proposed. The first alternative would permit damage to filler panels and stone shields not to exceed  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch from their original contours. This level of damage coincides with the amount of permanent set permitted to the bumper face bar. The other alternative would permit unlimited damage to filler panels and stone shields. Given the limitation on damage to the bumper face bar and the use of flexible plastics to avoid damage to body panels, it would appear unlikely that any significant damage would occur to the filler panels or stone shields. However, it is recognized that the stroke of the bumper during testing could cause some significant damage to those components if certain unyielding materials are used in their construction.

Commenters are asked to focus on the costs that would be associated with compliance with both of the alternatives. Specifically, the agency is interested in the cost of producing filler panels and stone shields that meet each of the alternatives and the costs that would be necessary to replace a damaged filler panel or stone shield. The amount of damage that could be expected to occur to those components during testing is also requested. In addition, manufacturers should indicate whether an amendment allowing damage to filler panels and stone shields would reduce the costs of model changeovers undertaken to comply with fuel economy requirements. If a cost reduction would be realized, we would like to be apprised of the extent of that cost savings.

The principal authors of this notice are Tim Hoyt, Motor Vehicle Programs, and Karen Dyson, Office of Chief Counsel.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed that 49 CFR Part 581, Bumper Standard, be amended as follows:

§ 581.4 [Amended]

1. Section 581.4, Definitions, is amended by adding the following two definitions after the definition of "bumper face bar."

"Filler panel" means a component located between the top of the bumper face bar and the body panels that conceals and protects the components that structurally attach the bumper face bar to the chassis frame.

"Stone shield" means a component located between the bottom of the bumper face bar and the body panels that conceals and protects the components that structurally attach the bumper face bar to the chassis frame.

§ 581.5 [Amended]

2. Section 581.5(b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Vehicles manufactured on or after September 1, 1979. Each vehicle manufactured on or after September 1, 1979, shall meet the damage criteria of § 581.5(c)(1) through § 581.5(c)(7), and § 581.5(c)(9) through § 581.5(c)(12), when tested in accordance with the requirements of § 581.5(a).

3. Section 581.5(c)(10) is amended to read as follows:

(10) For vehicles manufactured on or after September 1, 1979, the exterior surfaces, except for the bumper face bar, filler panel, and stone shield, shall have no separations of surface materials, paint, polymeric coatings, or other materials from the surface to which they are bonded, and no permanent deviations from their original contours 30 minutes after completion of each pendulum and barrier impact.

4. Under the first alternative, a new subparagraph (12) is added to § 581.5(c), to read as follows:

(12) Thirty minutes after completion of each pendulum and barrier impact test, the filler panel and stone shield shall have no permanent deviation greater than  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch from their original contour.

Interested persons are invited to submit comments on the proposal. It is requested but not required that 10 copies be submitted. All comments must be limited not to exceed 15 pages in length. Necessary attachments may be appended to these submissions without regard to the 15-page limit. This limitation is intended to encourage commenters to detail their primary arguments in a succinct and concise fashion.

In the case of comments that contain materials for which confidential treatment is requested, those materials should be deleted from the copies submitted to the docket. A copy of the complete comments should be submitted to the Office of Chief Counsel at the above address, with an indication of which portions of the comments are the subject of the request for confidentiality.

All comments received before the close of business on the comment closing date indicated above will be considered, and will be available for examination in the docket at the above address both before and after that date. To the extent possible, comments filed after the closing date will also be considered. However, the rulemaking action may proceed at any time after that date, and comments received after the closing date and too late for consideration in regard to the action will be treated as suggestions for future rulemaking. The NHTSA will continue to file relevant material as it becomes available in the docket after the closing date, and it is recommended that interested persons continue to examine the docket for new material.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[ 49 CFR 1301 ]

[No. 30584]

LONG-AND-SHORT-HAUL AND AGGREGATE-OF-INTERMEDIATE RATES—RAILROADS

Petition Seeking Institution of Rulemaking Proceeding to Amend 49 CFR Part 1301

AGENCY: Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposing a rule modifying 49 CFR 1301.75 to require that applications for Fourth Section relief in connection with joint rail-steamship international tariffs ("mini-bridge operations") be filed by the railroads rather than by steamship companies acting as agents for the railroads, as is currently the practice. This action is taken pursuant to a petition of the Ports of Houston, Galveston and New Orleans together with the Alabama State Docks Department and the State of Texas. Also, the Commission is proposing an alternative modification by issuing one outstanding order granting relief from section 4 for all departures from that section which may occur now and in the future involving "mini-bridge operations." This action is proposed on the Commission's own motion.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before October 31, 1977.

ADDRESSES: Send comments to:

Office of Proceedings, Room 5342, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Janice M. Rosenak, Deputy Director, or Harvey Gobetz, Assistant Deputy Director, Section of Rates, Office of Proceedings, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423 (202-275-7693).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A petition was filed by the State of Texas, the Alabama State Docks Department, and the Ports of Houston, Galveston, and New Orleans requesting a rulemaking to require that applications for fourth section relief in connection with joint rail-steamship international tariffs ("mini-bridge operations") be filed by the railroads themselves rather than by the steamship companies, acting as agents for the railroads, as is currently the practice. Petitioners claim that only the railroads possess the financial information to demonstrate that the rates resulting in fourth section departures will be reasonably compensatory. Since, pursuant to 49 CFR 1301.80, such a showing must be made before the necessary relief will be granted, it may be more appropriate that the railroads themselves file for the necessary permission so that the requisite financial information will be more readily available to the Commission.

The nature of "mini-bridge operations" requires numerous requests for fourth section relief. To avoid unnecessarily frequent and repetitious filings the Commission, on its own motion, proposes to issue an outstanding order granting relief for all departures from section 4 which may occur now and in the future involving "mini-bridge operations."

This notice is issued to begin a rulemaking proceeding dealing with these proposals, to inform all interested parties, and to invite relevant comment.

The proposed rules are in the alternative since the issuance of the outstanding order would obviate the necessity for the filing of individual applications for fourth section relief in connection with individual "mini-bridge" tariff publications.

§ 1301.75 [Amended]

Proposed Rule No. 1: 49 CFR 1301.75 shall be amended as follows: Petitions for fourth section relief in connection with joint rail-steamship international tariffs shall be filed by the railroad participants to the tariffs.

Proposed Rule No. 2: 49 CFR 1301.75 shall be amended as follows: Departures from section 4 involving joint rail-steamship international tariffs are approved by outstanding fourth section order number ----; provided that the application shall automatically be reopened for reconsideration whenever rates established under this order are contested, by protest (including verified complaint), or in an investigation or complaint proceeding before this Commission. The proponent of the rates will then be required to justify the granting of relief from the fourth section of the Act.

The proposed rulemaking does not appear to be a major Federal action requiring preparation of an environmental impact statement under the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, 42 U.S.C. 4321, et seq. However, comments regarding environmental issues, if any, should be included in statements responding to this notice.

It is ordered: 1. The petition is granted and a rulemaking proceeding is instituted to specify what carriers are required to file for fourth section relief for "mini-bridge operations." The proceeding will also consider the issuance of an outstanding order granting fourth section relief, now and in the future, for "mini-bridge operations."

2. All Class I railroads are made respondents to this proceeding.

3. Respondents and other interested persons will file an original and 15 copies (if possible) of their views at the dates and places noted above.

4. To expedite procedures and to avoid the delay and expense associated with cross-service of pleadings by parties on each other, we only require that the above views and comments be filed with this Commission, one set of which will be available in the Secretary's Office for public inspection during regular business hours of the Commission. Because this is not an adversary proceeding, the filing of replies to the views and comments is not necessary.

This notice of proposed rulemaking is promulgated under the authority of 49 U.S.C. 4 and 5 U.S.C. 553 and 559, and was adopted formally at a Session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 2, held at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 20th day of September 1977.

By the Commission, Division 2, Commissioners Murphy, MacFarland, and Clapp.

H. G. HOMME, Jr.,
Acting Secretary.

SURVEY OF DISTRIBUTORS' STOCKS OF CANNED FOODS

Notice of Consideration

Notice is hereby given that the Bureau of the Census is planning to conduct its annual survey of inventories, covering stocks of 30 canned and bottled products, including vegetables, fruits, juices, and fish, as of December 31, 1977. This survey, which will be conducted under the provisions of title 13, United States Code, sections 182, 224, and 225, provides the only continuing source of information on stocks of the specified canned foods held by wholesalers and in warehouses of retail multiunit organizations.

On the basis of information received by the Bureau of the Census, these data will have significant application to the needs of the public, industry and the distributive trades, as well as governmental agencies. The data are not publicly available from non-governmental or other governmental sources.

This survey, if conducted, shall begin not earlier than October 28, 1977.

Reports will not be required from all firms, but will be limited to a scientifically selected sample of wholesalers and retail multi-unit organizations handling canned foods in order to provide, with measurable reliability, year-end inventories of the specified canned food items. These stocks will be measured in terms of actual cases, with separate data requested for "all sizes smaller than No. 10" and for "sizes No. 10 or larger." (In addition, multiunit firms will be requested to update the list of their establishments maintaining canned food stocks.)

Copies of the proposed forms and a description of the collection methods are available upon request to the Director, Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233. Any suggestions or recommendations concerning the subject matter of this survey will receive consideration if submitted in writing to the Director on or before October 28, 1977.

gram unit of separative work furnished by ERDA and the base charge ($/kg U) for the sale of Government-owned natural uranium will be published by separate notice. (c) The base charge ($/kg U) for uranium, enriched, or depleted in the isotope U-235 and in the form of UF<sub>6</sub>, is determined by summing the number opposite the desired assay in the Feed Component column of Table 1 multiplied by the then applicable current base charge ($/kg U) for the sale of Government-owned natural uranium in the form of UF<sub>6</sub>, and the number opposite the desired assay in the Separative Work Component column of Table 1 multiplied by the then current charge per kilogram unit of separative work furnished pursuant to other than requirements-type contracts. The calculated base charge is rounded up to the nearest $0.01. For assays not shown in Table 1, the feed component and separative work component are first determined by linear interpolation before calculation of the base charge. Any resulting base charge less than $3.00 is increased to $3.00. The base charge for depleted uranium requested without specification as to assay is $2.50. The assay furnished by ERDA in this case will normally be in the neighborhood of 0.20 percent U-235 of which large amounts are available. (d) The standard processing loss factor to be applied to toll enricher's acquisition of tails material is 0.05 percent.

4. Use charge for material. The use charge rate for special nuclear material and other materials leased by ERDA is twelve percent (12%) per annum of the base charge or value established by ERDA for such materials. Effective date: This notice is effective November 28, 1977.

Dated: September 21, 1977.

URANIUM SUPPLY POLICY

This Notice sets forth Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) policy for supplying natural uranium and enriched uranium and supersedes a previous notice concerning uranium supply policies published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 7, 1976, 41 FR 18914.

1. In 33 FR 12756 published on September 7, 1968, the history of uranium production in the United States is summarized, and the program under which the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) purchased uranium concentrate (U<sub>3</sub>O<sub>8</sub>) is described. The last U<sub>3</sub>O<sub>8</sub> deliveries to the AEC were completed in early 1971, and as of late 1971, the AEC had about 50,000 tons of U<sub>3</sub>O<sub>8</sub> in its stockpile.

2. For the past several years, AEC and ERDA have been furnishing enriched uranium on a "split tails" basis, which results in enriching services customers supplying less feed than that actually used to produce their enriched uranium requirements. The Government supplies, from its stockpile, the additional feed necessary for the customer's product, while a portion of the customer's cash payments constitutes payment to the Government for such additional feed used.

3. Another use of Government owned U<sub>3</sub>O<sub>8</sub> has been to preproduce enriched uranium. AEC and ERDA have been producing enriched uranium in excess of current requirements in order to make the best use of the Government's enrichment facilities and meet future requirements for enriched uranium.

4. ERDA will continue the policy adopted by the AEC for supplying enriched uranium; namely, that the preferred method for industry to secure enriched uranium from ERDA is through toll enrichment of natural uranium obtained from private sources. However, in the circumstances set forth below, ERDA is willing to furnish Government-owned enriched uranium on a single transaction basis. ERDA may furnish enriched uranium on a single transaction basis if the quantity of enriched uranium desired is small enough that undue effort would be involved in securing material through toll enrichment or if the customer demonstrates the ERDA's satisfaction that such action is appropriate because rapid delivery is required to meet an unforeseen emergency in which all reasonable attempts have been made, without success, to procure natural uranium from commercial sources and, therefore, delivery of privately-owned natural uranium for toll enrichment is not possible. The furnishing of Government-owned enriched uranium will be subject to ERDA's determination as to the availability of such material. The amount available from ERDA will depend upon the quantities needed to meet Government and contractual requirements and the extent to which it is considered desirable to maintain a Government reserve. However, ERDA will continue to honor existing agreements for sale or lease of enriched uranium.

5. If the quantity of enriched uranium desired is small enough that undue effort would be involved in securing material through toll enrichment, Government-owned enriched uranium will be furnished pursuant to an agreement for sale of such uranium. The preferred method for ERDA to furnish enriched uranium under the emergency conditions set forth in 4 above is through an agreement for the lease of the natural uranium in the form of UF<sub>6</sub>, contained in the feed component of the enriched uranium and for the sale of the enriching services contained in the separative work component of the enriched uranium, in accordance with the then current ERDA standard table of enriching services. ERDA will ease such material in situations where the customer has firm arrangements for the supply of natural uranium in the future. Such arrangements must indicate a delivery date of natural uranium which would permit the return to ERDA in a time frame consistent with ERDA enrichment plant operating plans of natural uranium in the form of UF<sub>6</sub>, equivalent in amount to that contained in the feed component of the enriched uranium to be furnished by ERDA. In cases where the customer cannot obtain such firm arrangements, ERDA will furnish enriched uranium under the emergency conditions set forth in 4 above through an agreement for the sale of the natural uranium in the form of UF<sub>6</sub>, contained in the feed component of the enriched uranium and for the sale of the enriching services contained in the separative work component of the enriched uranium in accordance with the then current standard table of enriching services.

6. The charge for any sale of Government-owned enriched uranium will be ERDA's base charge for such enriched uranium. The charge for provision of enriched uranium pursuant to an agreement to lease the natural uranium in the form of UF<sub>6</sub>, contained in the feed component and an agreement to provide the enriching services contained in the separative work component of such uranium will consist of two elements: a use charge applied to ERDA's base charge ($/kg U) for natural uranium in the form of UF<sub>6</sub>, contained in the feed component of the enriched uranium and the charge per kilogram unit of separative work applicable under the enriching service agreement for the separative work units contained in the separative work component of the enriched uranium. The charge for provision of enriched uranium pursuant to an agreement to sell the natural uranium in the form of UF<sub>6</sub>, contained in the feed component and an agreement to provide the enriching services contained in the separative work component of such uranium will consist of two elements: ERDA's base charge ($/kg U) for natural uranium in the form of UF<sub>6</sub>, contained in the feed component of the enriched uranium and the charge per kilogram unit of separative work applicable under the enriching services agreement for the separative work units contained in the separative work components of the enriched uranium.

7. ERDA has heretofore used, as one of the bases for determining its base charges for uranium, the weighted average price of all commercial sales of natural uranium as computed from its semi-annual, "Survey of United States Uranium Marketing Activity". This average price for all such sales has, in the recent past, been markedly lower than current market prices for new sales due to the inclusion of many sales under old, fixed price contracts. Accordingly, ERDA has determined that its present policy of utilizing the weighted average price of all natural uranium sales as one of the bases in determining its base charges for uranium does not reflect true market conditions. ERDA's contractual relationships involving the furnishing of natural uranium on a "split tails" basis are long-term enrichment contracts which were executed some time in the past. ERDA's long-term customers incurred obligations at that time for delivery of natural uranium feed to ERDA and, accordingly, many of them executed long-term firm price contracts with private sector suppliers for natural uranium feed. For these customers and customers having long-term agreements with ERDA for the sale or lease of enriched uranium, a charge reflecting the weighted average price of all firm price and market price commercial natural uranium purchases is considered equitable and appropriate as a basis for determining the "split tails" component of the charge per separative work unit. ERDA stands willing to provide enriched uranium to customers on a short notice, one time basis as described in paragraphs 4 and 5 above. Had such customers been able to secure the desired material from the commercial market, they would have expected to execute a commercial contract requiring the payment of the market price at that time. For this category of customer, a charge reflecting the weighted average price of all market price commercial purchases rather than purchases under old long-term firm price commercial contracts is equitable and appropriate as a basis for determining the charge for the natural uranium in the form of UF<sub>6</sub>, contained in the feed component of the enriched uranium provided. The base charges for providing Government-owned uranium on a short notice, one time basis will be determined by utilizing a weighted average of prices paid during the previous year for natural uranium purchased under commercial contracts requiring payment of "market price at the time of delivery".

8. The base charge for Government-owned natural uranium in the form of UF<sub>6</sub> will be published by separate notice.

Effective date: This notice is effective November 28, 1977.

Dated: September 21, 1977.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY ISSUANCE OF AN EXPERIMENTAL USE PERMIT

Pursuant to section 5 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), as amended (86 Stat. 973; 89 Stat. 751; 7 U.S.C. 136(a) et seq.), an experimental use permit has been issued to the following applicant. Such permit is in accordance with, and subject to, the provisions of 40 CFR Part 172; Part 172 was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 30, 1975 (40 FR 18780), and defines EPA procedures with respect to the use of pesticides for experimental purposes.

No. 239-EUP-68. Chevron Chemical Co., Richmond, Calif. 94804. This experimental use permit allows the use of 7,152 pounds of the fungicide cis-N-(1,1,2,2-Tetrachloroethyl)thio-4-cyclohexene-1,2-dicarboximide (captan) on potatoes to evaluate control of late and early blight. A total of 450 acres is involved; the program is authorized only in the States of Idaho, Oregon, and Washington. The experimental use permit is effective from August 22, 1977, to October 31, 1978. A permanent tolerance for residues of the active ingredient in or on potatoes has been established (40 CFR 180.267).

Interested parties wishing to review the experimental use permit are referred to Room E-315, Registration Division (WH-567), Office of Pesticide Programs, EPA, 401 M St. SW., Washington, D.C. 20460. It is suggested that such interested persons call 202-755-4851 before visiting the EPA Headquarters Office, so that the appropriate permit may be made conveniently available for review purposes. This file will be available for inspection from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Statutory authority: Section 5 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), as amended (86 Stat. 973; 89 Stat. 751; 7 U.S.C. 136(a) et seq.).

PESTICIDE PROGRAMS

Cancellation of Pesticide Products Containing Heptachlor/Chlordane

As a result of the hearings now in progress concerning heptachlor/chlordane, certain registrations have been cancelled and applications denied. In these hearings, the Administrative Law Judge instructed the following registrants and applicants to supply, for the record, specific information. The data was to be supplied by April 5, 1977. Attorneys representing all of the party registrants informed the court that a number of these registrants or applicants had not supplied the required data by the required date.

Subsequently, an Order to File was issued April 14, 1977, in which it was ordered again that this requested data be supplied by the pertinent parties by May 9, 1977. It was stated in that order that failure to supply the information by such date would result in an Accelerated Decision as provided for by § 164.91(a)(8) of the rules of practice (40 CFR 164.91(a)(8)). The accelerated decision has the effect of cancelling or denying the registrations and applications for registration involved in these proceedings.

A status report dated May 10, 1977, indicated that the following registrants or applicants had not responded to these communications with respect to the filing of the required data.

The issuance of an Accelerated Decision at that time in accordance with section 164.91(a)(8) of the rules of practice was appropriate. Accordingly, under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), as amended (86 Stat. 973, 89 Stat. 751, 7 U.S.C. 136(a) et seq.), and these proceedings, the following registrations are cancelled and the applications are denied.

Cancellation/denial by Accelerated Decision of these products was effective May 12, 1977.

PESTICIDE PROGRAMS

Requirement for Certain Pesticide Registrants and Applicants for Registration to Submit Analyses of Pesticides for N-nitroso Contaminants

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) will shortly issue a general statement of policy concerning H-Nitroso contaminants in pesticide products. The statement in preparation will establish Agency policy in regard to data requirements on registrants and applicants for registration, regulatory options and interim standards for registered products. Chemistry data are among the requirements determined by the Agency to be necessary to assess safety of pesticides that the Agency suspects may contain N-nitroso contaminants. The chemistry data are essentially those analytical data required to verify whether those pesticides theoretically expected to contain N-nitroso contaminants do, indeed, contain them. Data requirements other than chemistry, which will be imposed on registrants and applicants as well as regulatory options exercised, will be dependent on whether or not N-nitroso contaminants are found, by analysis, to be present in the pesticide, and the chemical identity of any N-nitroso contaminants found.

In order to avoid further delay in developing the analytical chemistry data on N-nitroso contaminants in pesticides which are prerequisite to regulatory action, the Agency is requiring by this notice that applicants and registrants of affected pesticides (as described below) submit results of analysis of these pesticides for N-nitroso contaminants. This requirement is authorized under Section 162.8(d) of the data requirements for applicants which are generally discussed in 40 CFR 162 of the registration regulations. Section 162.8(d) also authorizes the imposition of such data requirements on a case by case basis for registrants.

I. Analytical Chemistry Program in Progress. In February, 1977, the EPA began sampling and analysis of approximately 70-80 pesticide products in an attempt to assess the scope of N-nitroso contamination of pesticides. Pesticides to be analyzed included representatives of products containing as active ingredients triazines and dinitroanilines plus some pesticides formulated as dimethylamine salts. Over 70 product samples have already been analyzed. These analyses are scheduled for completion by September 30, 1977.

Several registrants have submitted information on the N-nitroso content of their products. The Agency examined these and other data to determine how and when N-nitroso contaminants are formed in products. In some cases, nitrosamines are formed as unavoidable contaminants created during the nitration and subsequent amination steps involved in dinitroaniline manufacture. Company data provided to the Agency indicate that modification of the manufacturing process results in significant reductions in nitrosamine content.

In other products it has been found that N-nitroso compounds may be formed by the reaction of a product ingredient with the nitrite in the formulation or in the walls of the storage container. Nitrites are commonly used as corrosion inhibitors in pesticide formulations. When nitrites are omitted from a pesticide formulation containing nitrosatable compounds, N-nitroso levels are reduced by as much as two orders of magnitude. N-nitroso contaminants have also been detected in the amines (e.g. dimethylamine) used for pesticide formulation.

II. Affected Registrants and Applicants. Agency chemists have examined the data obtained in the analytical chemistry program in progress. From their deliberations they have defined the range of pesticides affected by this requirement for analytical data. The requirement applies to all registrations and applications for registration of pesticide products which contain as intentionally added inert or active ingredients, or contaminants any of the following: alkylamine salts, alkanolamine salts, dinitroaniline derivatives, substituted ureas, alkyl carbamates, dithiocarbamates, amides, secondary and tertiary amines, quaternary ammonium compounds, guanidines, triazines, hydrazides and the compound phenothiazine. The requirement will also apply when a pesticide production process utilizes an alkyl- or alkanolamine as a reactant.

III. Analytical Chemistry Data Requirements. All registrants and applicants for registration of pesticide products in the specified categories must test these pesticides for N-nitroso contaminants theoretically expected as reaction products of ingredients listed in section II above with nitrites, nitrous acid and/or related compounds expected as an impurity from the manufacturing process of those ingredients.

Analysis of pesticides for volatile N-nitroso compounds shall be undertaken by a sensitive selective method such as GC-MS, GC-AFID, GC-Electrolytic conductivity or GC-TEA. Analyses for non-volatile N-nitroso compounds shall be undertaken by a sensitive selective method such as HPLC-UV. Positive results shall be confirmed by GC-MS when possible or by valid independent methods. Appropriate methodologies for evaluating a pesticide for N-nitroso content are available in the open literature. Several methods are listed in the Appendix below. Since a major exposure concern is for applicators and users exposed to commercial products, the chemistry studies required must be performed on a sample obtained from a container or package normally utilized to sell or distribute the product. Moreover, the sample must be taken from a container or package that has been stored for at least 180 days under conditions ordinarily associated with the distribution of the product in question. If a sample stored for at least 180 days can not be tested and the results submitted to the Agency in the time required, the chemistry studies shall be performed on two samples: an available sample and the sample stored for at least 180 days. The data from the available sample shall be made available to the Agency within a 90 day time period; the data from the stored sample, within 90 days of its having been stored for 180 days (see IV below).

IV. Procedures. Registrants and applicants will have 90 days from the issuance of this notice to obtain the required pesticide analyses and to submit analytical data to the Agency. Such submissions should be submitted to their Product Manager in the Registration Division, Office of Pesticide Programs. Submissions to the Agency should include, minimally, a detailed description of the analytical method(s) used, sample chromatograms, raw analytical data, age and identity of sample(s) tested and a summary of the analytical findings.

Failure to supply the information specified in this notice will result in either a denial of registration, denial of reregistration or initiation of cancellation proceedings as appropriate to the regulatory status of the pesticide in question.

V. Public Comment. The Administrative Procedure Act [5 U.S.C. 553(b)] provides that the solicitation of comments is not required of Federal agencies for "interpretative rules, general statements of policy, or rules of agency organization, procedure or practice." EPA has determined that this notice falls within this exemption from the requirement to solicit public comment. Accordingly, the Agency is not directly soliciting public comment regarding matters published in this notice. However, persons affected by this notice may submit written comments to the Federal Register Section, Technical Services Division (WH-569), Office of Pesticide Programs, EPA, Rm. 401, East Tower, 401 M St. SW., Washington, D.C. 20460. Three copies of the comments should be submitted to facilitate the work of the Agency and of others interested in inspecting them. Comments filed with the Federal Register Section will be available for public inspection in Rm. 401 of the East Tower from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Comments should be submitted on or before October 31, 1977 and should bear the identifying document control number "OPP-00047."

Dated: September 21, 1977.

Deputy Assistant Administrator
for Pesticide Programs.

PUBLIC PARTICIPATION IN THE REGULATORY PROCESS

Invitation to Participate in the Development of Major EPA Environmental Regulations
The Environmental Protection Agency encourages participation by interested members of the public in the development of regulations. The purpose of this notice is to identify rulemaking actions now under consideration by the Agency and to invite interested parties to become involved in the decision-making process.

EPA prepares and promulgates regulations to implement environmental programs in the areas of air and water pollution abatement, drinking water protection, noise abatement, radiation protection, solid waste management, control of toxic substances, and pesticide control. These regulations include general regulations for the implementation and enforcement of major programs as well as specific emission limitations for individual industrial categories.

Regulations are developed by EPA staff and are subjected to a number of internal and public reviews prior to final approval and promulgation. In addition to the formal opportunities for comment provided when regulations are proposed in the Federal Register and when public hearings are scheduled, EPA encourages interested parties to contact EPA staff directly. This participation in the rule-making process can include providing comments on a particular regulation, obtaining answers to questions, reviewing draft documents, and attending informal meetings. Significant new data and arguments that are not supplied in writing will be summarized by EPA and placed in an appropriate file.

The following list indicates the subjects for which regulations are now being considered by EPA and provides a brief description, schedule, and name of a person within the Agency to be contacted. Additional information concerning this notice or EPA's regulatory procedures may be obtained from:

Phil Schwartz, Chief, Standards and Regulations Coordination Branch, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 20460 (202-755-2693).

This notice will be revised periodically. A separate notice concerning the regulations being prepared to implement the Clean Air Amendments of 1977 will be published shortly. Other notices will be published after the Administrator determines that an environmental problem should be considered for rulemaking action.

Dated: September 21, 1977.

Acting Director, Standards and Regulations Evaluation Division.

STATE OF LOUISIANA

Issuance of a Specific Exemption To Use 2,4-D To Control Sesbania on Soybeans

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has granted a specific exemption to the State of Louisiana (hereafter referred to as the "Applicant") to use a dimethylamine salt of 2,4-D for the control of sesbania on 60,000 acres of soybean plants. This exemption was granted in accordance with, and is subject to, the provisions of 40 CFR Part 166, which prescribes requirements for exemption of Federal and State agencies for use of pesticides under emergency conditions.

This notice contains a summary of certain information required by regulation to be included in the notice. For more detailed information, interested parties are referred to the application on file with the Registration Division (WH-567), Office of Pesticide Programs, EPA, 401 M Street SW., Room E-315, Washington, D.C. 20460.

According to the Applicant, the weed sesbania (Sesbania exaltata or Sesbania macrocarpa) may significantly reduce the yield of the soybean crop on 60,000 acres in 48 parishes in Louisiana. In most previous years, satisfactory weed control has been obtained by using preplant incorporated, preemergence, and overtop herbicides. However, the Applicant stated that when high rainfall occurs, which causes dissipation of herbicides and greater weed germination, sesbania emerges through the soybean canopy and, without additional control measures, may reduce yield 50 percent or more. Yield reduction occurs as a result of the weeds taking fertilizer and water away from the soybeans, from shading resulting in the lack of adequate amounts of sunlight and by excessive harvest losses. The Applicant stated that the occurrence of this pest is particularly severe this year in portions of the rice and sugarcane producing areas of south Louisiana. The overtop sprays 2,4-DB (Butoxone and Butyrac) and Basagran are being used to control sesbania prior to bloom stage of soybean plants; however, research conducted by Louisiana State University indicates that these products will not control sesbania in Louisiana that has emerged through soybean canopy.

The Applicant will use a single application of 2,4-D by air as an overtop foliage spray on 60,000 acres of soybeans in the 48 parishes affected. The herbicide will be applied at the rate of four to eight ounces of a four pound per gallon active ingredients, amine 2,4-D per acre. The herbicide will be applied in three to five gallons of water per acre. This is equivalent to one-eighth to one-quarter pound of 2,4-D acid equivalent per acre applied as the amine salt. In order to obtain maximum results and prevent yield reduction and excess residues in harvested beans, two conditions are necessary: the sesbania canopy cover must be approaching 100 percent, and the stage of maturity of the bean must be after pod set and before beans can be felt in the pod. Best control will be obtained if the weeds are sprayed when in full bloom. Soybeans are more tolerant to the herbicide and sesbania is more sensitive to the herbicide when the above conditions exist.

All aerial applications will be made by certified applicators who are licensed by the Louisiana Department of Agriculture. To prevent damage to other susceptible crops in the area of application, special permission will be obtained from the Commissioner of the Louisiana Department of Agriculture for the use of 2,4-D, except in the southwestern part of the State where cotton is not grown.

It appears that income derived from soybeans is very important to Louisiana farmers. Because of the low prices farmers are receiving for rice, many of them are more dependent than usual on income from soybeans. According to the Applicant unless 2,4-D can be applied, the average yield on the 60,000 acres of soybean plants infested with sesbania may be reduced by approximately 10 bushels per acre. At $6.00 per bushel, this represents a dollar loss of $3,600,000.

After reviewing the application and other available information, EPA has determined that (a) a pest outbreak of sesbania has occurred; (b) there is no pesticide presently registered and available for use to control sesbania in soybean fields in Louisiana; (c) there are no alternative means of control, taking into account the efficacy and hazard; (d) significant economic problems may result if the sesbania is not controlled; and (e) the time available for action to mitigate the problems posed is insufficient for a pesticide to be registered for the use. Accordingly, the Applicant has been granted a specific exemption to use the pesticide noted above October 15, 1977 to the extent and in the manner set forth in the application. The specific exemption is also subject to the following conditions:

1. A dimethylamine salt of 2,4-D will be applied at the rate of from one-eighth to one-quarter pound 2,4-D acid equivalent per acre;
2. An overtop foliage, aerial application will be limited to 60,000 acres in 48 parishes listed below;
3. Aerial application will be made by certified applicators licensed by the Louisiana Department of Agriculture;
4. The total quantity of 2,4-D to be applied will not exceed 15,000 pounds of active ingredient;
5. Applications will be limited to the following 48 parishes: Acadia, Allen, Ascension, Assumption, Avoyelles, Beauregard, Calcasieu, Caldwell, Cameron, Catahoula, Concordia, East Baton Rouge, East Carroll, East Feliciana, Evangeline, Franklin, Grant, Iberia, Iberville, Jefferson Davis, Lafourche, Lafayette, Livingston, Madison, Morehouse, Natchitoches, Ouachita, Pointe Coupee, Rapides, Red River, Richland, Sabine, St. Charles, St. Helena, St. James, St. John the Baptist, St. Landry, St. Martin, St. Tammany, Tangipahoa, Tensas, Terrebonne, Vernon, Vermillion, Washington, West Carroll, West Baton Rouge, and West Feliciana;
6. Special permission will be obtained from the Louisiana Department of Agriculture for all applications in restricted areas;
7. Soybeans with residue levels not exceeding 0.75 ppm (part per million) of 2,4-D may be offered in interstate commerce. The Food and Drug Administration, U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, has been advised of this action;
8. The herbicide 2,4-D should not be applied unless sesbania is present to the extent that it will cause harvesting problems or it is approaching 100 percent canopy;
9. A thirty-day intervals for grazing cattle on treated soybean fields will be observed;
10. The State of Louisiana will obtain chemistry residue data in support of a tolerance for 2,4-D on soybeans;
11. The EPA shall be immediately informed of any adverse effects resulting from the use of this pesticide in connection with this exemption;
12. Precautions will be taken to avoid or minimize spray drift to non-target areas; and
13. Applications will not be made to any body of water.

STATE OF MONTANA

Amendment to State Plan for Certification of Commercial and Private Applicators of Restricted Use Pesticides

Section 4(a)(2) of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), as amended (86 Stat. 973; 7 U.S.C. 136 et seq.), and the implementing regulations of 40 CFR Part 171, require each state desiring to certify applicators of restricted use pesticides to submit a plan for that purpose, subject to approval by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), and maintain that plan as approved. Notice of approval of the Montana State Plan was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 13, 1976 (41 FR 54214). Subsequently, on June 13, 1977, Montana requested that EPA approve an amendment to the State Plan that reflects amendments to the Montana Pesticides Act. These amendments cover 4 areas: (1) The sections listing the procedures to be followed when instituting enforcement actions were deleted because they duplicated the State Administrative Procedures Act; (2) The Montana Department of Agriculture's duties and responsibilities when conducting an inspection were more clearly stated; (3) The standards for private applicator certification were taken from the regulations unchanged and incorporated into the law; and (4) The options for qualifying for certification by private applicators were changed by adding another option which allows qualification by completion of an approved training course. Completion is determined by the applicator taking an ungraded quiz or by trainee feedback to the instructor.

The amendments do not change the design or operation of the Montana applicator certification program but only serve to make clear the procedures, responsibilities, and requirements of the program. These amendments are not considered to be so substantial that they should be published as a proposal. Therefore, the Regional Administrator, EPA Region VIII, gives notice that the Montana State Plan as amended is approved.

WASHINGTON STATE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Issuance of a Specific Exemption To Use TEPP To Control Twospotted Spider Mite on Hop Crop

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has granted a specific exemption to the Washington State Department of Agriculture (hereafter referred to as the "Applicant") to use TEPP (tetraethyl pyrophosphate) for the control of twospotted spider mites which are threatening the commercial hop crop in three (3) counties in Washington. This exemption was granted in accordance with, and is subject to, the provisions of 40 CFR Part 166, which prescribes requirements for exemption of Federal and State agencies for use of pesticides under emergency conditions.

This notice contains a summary of information required by regulation to be included in the notice. For more detailed information, interested parties are referred to the application on file with the Registration Division (WH-567), Office of Pesticide Programs, EPA, 401 M St. SW., Room E-315, Washington, D.C. 20460.

According to the Applicant, the twospotted spider mite (Tetranychus urticae Koch) is normally present in Washington hop yards. Current climatic and growing conditions are ideal for pest population buildup now. Although several miticides are registered for use on hops, Washington State University entomologists alleged that none of the registered miticides were viable options for one or more of various reasons: (1) the spider mites were resistant to the other miticides; (2) aerial applications were precluded because of ineffectiveness or labeling restrictions; and/or (3) the required preharvest interval excluded application at the time required. Ground pesticide applications were not feasible because of possible damage to hop foliage, lodged hops, and irrigation equipment. According to the Applicant, TEPP has prevented economic damage to the commercial hop crop by this pest in previous years.

The Applicant requested permission to treat the 20,000 acre commercial hop crop with two (2) pounds of actual TEPP per acre in a single aerial application; application will be limited to Yakima, Benton, and Pierce counties. The pesticide will be applied by State licensed commercial applicators under the Applicant's supervision. A three-day preharvest interval will be maintained.

The State of Washington produces about 71% of the national hop crop; the Applicant stated that the potential economic loss from a major outbreak of the twospotted spider mite could reach $10,000,000, representing one-third of Washington hop production and 20% of the United States' production. The Applicant cited the following factors which contribute to relatively low probability of exposure of man to harmful residues of TEPP from hops: (1) raw hops are never consumed by humans and hops are kiln-dried following harvest; (2) one-fourth pound of hops is added to each thirty-one (31) gallons of beer, a 1:1,000 dilution by weight; (3) fermentation in the brewing vats results in additional breakdown of pesticide residues; and (4) a two-pound application on hops presents less residue potential to humans than applications on six other food crops which have tolerances of 0.01 ppm. The dilution of 1 to 1,000 would allow establishment of a tolerance adequate to protect human health. The Applicant further stated that all data reviewed indicated no residue transfer from 3-day preharvest interval to finished beer.

However, TEPP exhibits acute toxicity to fish and wildlife species, especially avian species. The Office of Endangered Species, U.S. Department of the Interior, has reported that the American Peregrine Falcon (Falco peregrinus anatum), an endangered species, is endemic within the three counties proposed for treatment.

After reviewing the application and other available information, EPA has determined that (a) a pest outbreak of twospotted spider mites has or is about to occur; (b) there is no pesticide presently registered and available for use to control the twospotted spider mite in Washington State; (c) there are no alternative means of control, taking into account the efficacy and hazard; (d) significant economic problems may result if the twospotted spider mites are not controlled; and (e) the time available for action to mitigate the problems posed is insufficient for a pesticide to be registered for this use. Accordingly, the Applicant has been granted a specific exemption to use the pesticide noted above until September 30, 1977, to the extent and in the manner set forth in the application. The specific exemption is also subject to the following restrictions:

- (1) Aerial applications of TEPP are limited to one (1) at the rate of two (2.0) pounds of active ingredient per acre;
- (2) Total acreage treated shall not exceed 20,000 acres;
- (3) A maximum of 40,000 pounds of actual TEPP will be applied;
- (4) Treatment area is limited to the three counties listed in this notice;
- (5) A three-day preharvest interval will be observed;
- (6) The Applicant is responsible for monitoring aerial applications of TEPP;
- (7) Liaison shall be established among the Washington State Departments of Agriculture, Fisheries and Game to minimize any adverse effects on fish and wildlife resources;
- (8) The EPA shall be immediately informed of any adverse effects resulting from the use of this pesticide in connection with this exemption;

(9) All applicable directions, restrictions and precautions on the EPA-registered label will be observed;

(10) All precautions will be taken to avoid or minimize spray drift to non-target areas; and

(11) Hops with residue levels not exceeding 0.1 ppm of TEPP may be offered in interstate commerce. The Food and Drug Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has been advised of this action.

Dated: September 26, 1977.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[Docket No. 21402; FCC 77-653]

AMERICAN TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY (LONG LINES DEPARTMENT); WIDE AREA TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICES (WATS)

Inquiry

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: Inquiry to determine if American Telephone and Telegraph Company's (AT&T) Interstate Wide Area Telecommunications (WATS) services are "like" or "unlike" services to AT&T's Interstate Message Telecommunications Services (MTS) within meaning of section 202(a) of the Communications Act of 1934, which prohibits unjustified discriminations in rates, practices, etc. applicable to "like" services. Inquiry follows a prior Commission action where AT&T had failed to justify rates applicable to WATS services in relation to MTS services.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before November 4, 1977, and reply comments on or before November 25, 1977.

ADDRESSES: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

Mr. Daniel J. Harrold, Common Carrier Bureau, (202-632-6917).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Adopted: September 26, 1977.

Released: September 26, 1977.

By the Commission: 1. In our Memorandum Opinion and Order, FCC 77-529, adopted July 21, 1977 and released August 12, 1977, (WATS Order) we rejected American Telephone and Telegraph Company's (AT&T) proposed WATS tariff provisions filed on April 29, 1977 under Transmittal No. 12745 for reasons given at paras. 120 and 121 therein and directed AT&T to file a revised WATS tariff consistent with our Order. We also indicated at paras. 42-49 our intention to institute an inquiry into the legal question of whether Outward and Inward WATS services respectively, are "like" or "unlike" services to Message Telecommunications Services (MTS) within the meaning of section 202(a) of the Act. 47 USC 202(a).

2. In addressing this subject in our WATS Order, we stated with respect to Outward WATS at para. 46:

The showing made in this filing is insufficient to convince us the Outward WATS and MTS are not "like services," in which case any difference in rates must be justified under section 202(a) of the Act. Besides the differences between the services enumerated above, there are many significant similarities. For example, the same technology is used to provide MTS DDD and Outward WATS services and once an MTS or Outward WATS call enters the network, they are indistinguishable. Cf. DDS, 62 FCC 2d at 796. Indeed, when Outward WATS and MTS services are used in conjunction with a "WATS box," i.e., arranged in rotary such that the "box" chooses between WATS and MTS lines on the basis of availability or economy no difference exists between the two services except rates. Moreover, it appears that the primary basis for customer preference for WATS appears to be the substantial cost savings which results from the lower unit tariff charge for Outward WATS calls. Cf., DDC, 62 FCC 2d at 796. The formal pleadings, comments and letters received from WATS subscribers repeatedly emphasize the cost savings they obtain from WATS services vis-a-vis MTS and other services, and that this fact initially induced them to secure Outward WATS to replace some of their MTS lines. Further, the WATS business market studies submitted in this filing demonstrate that the primary reason given by customers for starting WATS services is economy in the customer's total communications bill. See Volume 51 of Justification, pp. 2-24 and 2-25. This is also shown in this filing by the cross-elasticity between MTS and Outward WATS, which is described as "pronounced."

3. About Inward WATS at para. 48 we stated:

To some extent, our discussion above may apply to Inward WATS as well. On a tentative basis, it appears that Inward WATS and MTS could possibly be considered "like services" subject to Section 202(a), although we cannot make such a finding from the record before us. There appear to be no functional differences between Inward WATS and MTS calls as they traverse the network, and in Inward WATS, even more so than in Outward WATS, the customer's preference for the service appears to be based in large part on cost savings to him vis-a-vis MTS operator-assisted collect, station-to-station and other MTS calls. With respect to costs, it is important that Bell itemize and quantify on an embedded cost basis consistent with Docket No. 18128 all costs or alleged cost savings associated with its provision of Inward WATS service. Presently, as admitted in the filing, there is much network congestion caused by Inward WATS services. These additional and other costs, or alleged cost savings such as in billing, must be itemized and quantified. (Footnote omitted.)

4. At para. 49 of our WATS Order, we further stated:

If Bell should choose to justify Inward WATS and Outward WATS, respectively, as "unlike" services from MTS, we expect a showing to be made, among other things, that customers perceive the services primarily as different from other services in terms of capability of being used for different communications needs and not as replacement services. A mere segmentation of the market, e.g., as discussed at paras. 53-54 below, through lower charges to the customer for one service or another would appear to be insufficient. Also, consideration must be given to whether the two services, in fact, satisfy different communications requirements, regardless of any rate differentials which may exist. This showing must be made separately for Inward and Outward WATS vis-a-vis other services. Further, Bell should show that institutional demand by public switched network business customers (MTS and WATS) is, in fact, price sensitive by time of day and thus network peaks could be shifted by offering discounted WATS services. If not, then it would seem that there may be less justification for offering discounted public switched network services. We note that irrespective of whether we find Outward and Inward WATS services, respectively, to be "like" or "unlike" MTS, any rates or rate structures submitted must be shown to be just and reasonable within the meaning of section 201(b) of the Act.

5. In order to resolve the legal issue of whether Outward and Inward WATS, respectively, should be considered "like" or "unlike" services to MTS within the meaning of section 202(a) of the Act we are soliciting comments from all interested parties on this question. An additional round of reply comments will be permitted. If the comments filed indicate an oral argument en banc on this question may also be useful we shall provide for such argument in a subsequent order. This proceeding shall be restricted proceeding, conducted under 47 CFR 1.7201 et seq., and our Decision will be based on matters submitted for or incorporated into the record herein. Also, we note that in the past what constitutes a "like" or "unlike" service has been determined primarily on a case-by-case basis. See, e.g., HI-Lo, 55 FCC 2d 224, 231 (1975), and DDS, 62 FCC 774, 795-97 (1977). It is our hope that this proceeding may result in the establishment of general standards or criteria to aid in the determination in future cases of what may be "like" or "unlike" services within the meaning of section 202(a). Therefore, we expect filing parties to also address their comments to this more general definitional question as well.

6. Accordingly, it is ordered, That pursuant to sections 4(i), 4(j), 202(a) and 403 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. 154(i), 154(j), 202(a), 403, an inquiry is instituted into the following issues:

(a) Whether Outward and Inward WATS services, respectively, constitute "like services" to MTS services within the meaning of section 202(a) of the Act; and

(b) Upon what specific standards, criteria or showing by the advocating carrier should the Commission rely in future cases in determining whether or not two or more communications services are "like" or "unlike" within the meaning of section 202(a) of the Act.

7. It is further ordered, That AT&T is named Party Respondent herein;

8. It is further ordered, That any interested persons may participate herein by filing Comments on the above issues on or before November 4, 1977, and Reply Comments on or before November 25, 1977.

9. It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall cause a copy of this Notice of Inquiry to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER;

10. It is further ordered, That an original and 5 copies of all comments and replies shall be filed with the Commission.

11. It is further ordered, That pursuant to Section 1.1207 of the Commission's Rules, 47 CFR 1.1207, this proceeding shall be conducted pursuant to the Commission's ex parte rules, 47 CFR 1.1201 et seq.

DEER LODGE BROADCASTING, INC.

Order and Notice of Apparent Liability Designating Application for Hearing on Stated Issues

Adopted: September 15, 1977.

Released: September 26, 1977.

In re application of: Deer Lodge Broadcasting, Inc., for renewal of license for radio station KDRG, Deer Lodge, Mont. (Docket No. 21398, File No. BR-4373).

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the above captioned application and its inquiries into the operation by Deer Lodge Broadcasting, Inc., of Station KDRG, Deer Lodge, Mont.

2. Information before the Commission raises serious questions concerning whether the captioned applicant possesses the qualifications to be or to remain a licensee of the captioned station. In view of these questions, the Commission is unable to find that a grant of the renewal application would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity, and must, therefore, designate the application for hearing.<sup>1</sup>

3. Accordingly, it is ordered, That the captioned application is designated for hearing pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, at a time and place specified in a subsequent Order, upon the following issues:

(a) Whether in light of all the facts and circumstances pertaining thereto, the license for Station KDRG was transferred, assigned, or disposed of, by transfer of control of the licensee corporation, or otherwise, in violation of section 310 (d) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended;

(b) Whether the licensee violated the Commission's Rules, as alleged in the Official Notice of Violation issued on February 8, 1977, and if so, the nature and extent of those violations and, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to that determination, whether the licensee has exercised that degree of responsibility required of a licensee of the Commission;

(c) Whether, in light of all the facts and circumstances pertaining thereto, employees, management, officers or principals of the licensee falsified and/or fabricated entries in the station's operating logs, and, if so, the extent to which entries in the KDRG operating logs were falsified and/or fabricated;

(d) Whether, in light of all the facts and circumstances surrounding the preparation and submission to the Commission of statements by principals and/or officers of the licensee corporation concerning entries made in KDRG's operating logs, the licensee corporation has misrepresented facts to the Commission and/or been lacking in candor regarding the preparation of KDRG operating logs;

(e) Whether, in light of the information adduced under the preceding issues, the licensee possesses the requisite qualifications to be or to remain a licensee of the Commission, and whether a grant of the captioned application would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity.

4. It is further ordered, That the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, is directed to serve upon the captioned applicant within thirty (30) days of the release of this Order, a Bill of Particulars with respect to Issues (a) through and including (d).

5. It is further ordered, That, if it is determined that the hearing record does not warrant an order denying the captioned application for renewal of license for Station KDRG, it shall also be determined whether the applicant has repeatedly violated sections 73.113(a), 73.67(a) (3), 73.932(a), 73.92(a), 73.51(e) (2), 73.111(a), 73.52(a), 73.87, and 73.40 (a) (14) of the Commission's Rules.<sup>2</sup> If so, it shall also be determined whether an Order of Forfeiture pursuant to section 503(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, in the amount of $10,000 or some lesser amount, should be issued for violations which occurred within one year preceding the issuance of the Bill of Particulars in this matter.

6. It is further ordered, That, this document constitutes a Notice of Apparent Liability for forfeiture for violation of sections 73.113(a), 73.67(a) (3), 73.932(a), 73.92(a), 73.51(e) (2), 73.111(a), 73.52(a), 73.87, and 73.40(a) (14) of the Commission's Rules. The Commission has determined that, in every case designated for hearing involving revocation or denial of renewal of license for alleged violations which also come within the purview of section 503(b) of the Act, it shall, as a matter of course, include this forfeiture notice so as to maintain the fullest possible flexibility of action. Since the procedure is thus a routine standard one, we stress that inclusion of this Notice is not to be taken as in any way indicating what the initial or final disposition of the case should be; the judgment is, of course, to be made on the facts of each case.

8. It is further ordered, That to avail itself of the opportunity to be heard, the applicant herein, pursuant to section 1.221 of the Commission's Rules, in person or by attorney, shall file with the Commission, within twenty (20) days of the mailing of this Order, a written appearance in triplicate, stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this Order.

9. It is further ordered, That the applicant herein, pursuant to section 311 (a) (2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and section 1.594 of the Commission's Rules, shall give notice of the hearing within the time and in the manner prescribed in such Rule and shall advise the Commission thereof as required by section 1.594(g) of the Rules.

10. It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission send a copy of this Order by Certified Mail—Return Receipt Requested to Deer Lodge Broadcasting, Inc., licensee of KDRG, Deer Lodge, Mont.

WILLIAM J. SCHWARTZ

Order To Show Cause

Adopted: September 15, 1977.

Released: September 23, 1977.

In re William J. Schwartz d.b.a. Tri-Boro Cablevision, Lanesboro, Pa., Oakland, Pa., Susquehanna, Pa., petition for order to show cause (Docket No. 21397, CSC-180, (PA0539), (PA0540), (PA0541)).

1. Southern Tier Educational Television Association, Inc., licensee of Television Broadcast Station WSKG (Educ., Channel 46), Binghamton, N.Y., has petitioned for an order to show cause against

Tri-Boro Cablevision, operator of cable television systems serving Lanesboro, Oakland, and Susquehanna, Pa. The three cable communities are within the Binghamton, N.Y., smaller television market specified zone. Signal carriage rules applicable to cable systems located within smaller markets require carriage upon the station's request of all television stations within whose specified zone the cable community lies and all noncommercial, educational stations within whose Grade B contour the community lies.<sup>1</sup> The three cable communities in-

Where a system serves a community that is located in whole or in part within a smaller television market . . . that community unit shall carry television broadcast signals only in accordance with the following provisions:

(a) Any such community unit may carry or, on request of the relevant station licensee or permittee, shall carry the signals of:

(1) Television broadcast stations within whose specified zone the community is located, in whole or in part;

(2) Noncommercial educational television broadcast stations within whose Grade B contours the community of the unit is located, in whole or in part;

involved in the present proceeding lie well within WSKG's Grade B contour. WSKG has submitted copies of five letters to Tri-Boro requesting carriage. It appears that the station is entitled to carriage under both provisions of the Rules. Tri-Boro has not filed a pleading in this proceeding.

In view of the foregoing, we believe that an order to show cause should be issued against Tri-Boro Cablevision as requested.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That the "Request for Order to Show Cause" filed by Southern Tier Educational Television Association, Inc. (CSC-180), is granted.

It is further ordered, That pursuant to sections 312 (b) and (c) and section 409(a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. 312 (b) and (c) and 409(a), William J. Schwartz d.b.a. Tri-Boro Cablevision is directed to show cause why it should not be ordered to cease and desist from further violation of section 76.59(a) (1) and (2) of the Commission's Rules on its cable television systems serving Lanesboro, Oakland, and Susquehanna, Pa.

It is further ordered, That Tri-Boro Cablevision is directed to appear and give evidence with respect to the matters described above at a hearing to be held at a time and place and before an Administrative Law Judge to be specified by subsequent order, unless hearing is waived, in which event a written statement may be submitted.

It is further ordered, That Southern Tier Educational Television Association, Inc., is made a party to the proceeding.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Federal Communications

Commission shall send copies of this order by certified mail to Tri-Boro Cablevision, 123 Erie Avenue, Susquehanna, Pa. 18847.

FEDERAL ENERGY ADMINISTRATION

ANTHRACITE COAL CONFERENCE Meeting

Notice is hereby given that the Environmental Subgroup to the Anthracite Coal Conference will hold a meeting on Thursday, October 13, 1977, at 10:30 a.m., Governor's Conference Room, State Office Building, Broad and Spring Garden Streets, Philadelphia, Pa.

The objectives of the Anthracite Coal Conference are to make recommendations to the FEA with respect to the increased utilization of anthracite coal as a readily-available energy source and the maintenance of fair and reasonable consumer prices for such supplies.

The importance of convening this subgroup meeting stems from a priority commitment made by the President to find ways of improving coal production and utilization, without endangering the public health or degrading the environment. In support of this commitment the FEA was charged with the responsibility for studying methods to increase the production of anthracite coal. Analysis and recommendations to this end must be completed by the end of October.

The agenda for this meeting will be a summarization of the subgroup's activities, and a discussion of possible follow-up after the briefing with Secretary Schlesinger. In past meetings this subgroup developed a study plan to be followed in analyzing environmental factors impacting upon the acceptability of increases in anthracite production and utilization. Environmental issues previously considered by this subgroup include land use conflicts, water quality, refuse disposal, and land restoration/rehabilitation.

This meeting will be open to the public. The Chairman is empowered to conduct this meeting in a fashion that will, in his judgment, facilitate the orderly conduct of business. Any member of the public who wishes to file a written statement will be permitted to do so, either before or after the meeting.

Further information concerning this meeting may be obtained from Beth Nelson, Room 3502, FEA Headquarters, 12th and Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20461 (202-566-6230).

Minutes of this meeting will be available for public review and copying at the Freedom of Information Public Reading Room, Room 2107, FEA Headquarters, 12th and Pennsylvania Avenue NW.,

Washington, D.C., between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays.

Issued at Washington, D.C. on September 26, 1977.

Acting General Counsel.

ISSUANCE OF DECISIONS AND ORDERS BY OFFICE OF EXCEPTIONS AND APPEALS

Week of August 8 Through August 12, 1977

Notice is hereby given that during the week of August 8 through August 12, 1977, the Decisions and Orders summarized below were issued with respect to Appeals and Applications for Exception or other relief filed with the Office of Exceptions and Appeals of the Federal Energy Administration. The following summary also contains a list of submissions which were dismissed by the Office of Exceptions and Appeals and the basis for the dismissal.

APPEALS

Arent, Fox, Kintner, Plotkin & Kahn; Washington, D.C.; FFA-1405; Freedom of Information

The law firm of Arent, Fox, Kintner, Plotkin and Kahn (Arent) appealed from a partial denial by the FEA Information Access Officer of a request for information which the firm had submitted under the Freedom of Information Act (the Act). In its initial request, Arent had sought copies of documents in the possession of the FEA which relate to line 7 of FEA Form P-125-S-O, entitled "Report of Refiner Profit Margin." The FEA Information Access Officer released copies of two documents to Arent but withheld from disclosure several documents within the scope of Arent's request which the Information Access Officer concluded were exempt from disclosure as intra-agency memoranda under the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552(b) (5). In considering the Arent Appeal, the FEA found that two of the three documents withheld from Arent set forth the advice and recommendations of various FEA personnel concerning a proposed agency reporting form, and the remaining document was a draft of instructions for completing the proposed form. The FEA determined that the material withheld was predecisional in nature and that it was precisely the kind of information which the intra-agency memorandum exemption of the Act was designed to protect from disclosure. The FEA also determined that the material which was withheld did not constitute "secret" or "working" law of the FEA which must be disclosed under the principles set forth in National Labor Relations Board v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 421 U.S. 132 (1975). Finally, the FEA held that the documents did not lose their exempt status merely because a final agency decision had been made regarding an issue discussed in those documents. The Arent Appeal was consequently denied.

Les K. Hanson, Inc.; St. Paul, Minn.; FRA-1191; Refined Petroleum Products

Les K. Hanson, Inc. (Hanson) filed an Appeal from a Remedial Order which the Regional Administrator of FEA Region V had issued to the firm on February 2, 1977. In the Remedial Order, the FEA found that during the period November 1, 1973 through December 31, 1974, Hanson had sold motor gasoline and diesel fuel at prices which exceeded the maximum permissible price levels specified in 6 CFR 150.359 and 10 CFR 212.93. In considering Hanson's Appeal, the FEA rejected the firm's contention that it had been unable to obtain copies of the relevant regulations and therefore should not be held liable for overcharges. In this regard, the FEA determined that a firm's ignorance of its obligations under federal law in no way constitutes a defense for violations of those laws. After reviewing the information contained in the February 2 Remedial Order issued to Hanson, however, the FEA also concluded that the Order did not contain sufficient factual findings regarding the specific amount of overcharges cited. The FEA found that due to the deficiency in the factual findings, the firm was unable to verify the accuracy of the FEA's conclusion that it had overcharged one of its customers or to submit a meaningful appeal of the Remedial Order. The FEA therefore remanded the Remedial Order to FEA Region V for further consideration and directed the Regional Administrator to release to Hanson all workpapers and supporting documents which set forth the basis for the amount of the alleged overcharges which were found to exist.

Martin Oil Service, Inc.; Washington, D.C.; FPI-0110; Motor Gasoline No. 2 Fuel Oil

Martin Oil Service, Inc. appealed from a Decision and Order which was issued to it by the Federal Energy Administration on February 4, 1977. Martin Oil Service, Inc., 5 FEA Par. 83,061 (February 4, 1977). In the prior Decision, the FEA denied Martin's request for an exception from the provisions of 10 CFR 213.35(c) which would have permitted the firm to import 2,158,732 barrels of motor gasoline and 445,867 barrels of No. 2 fuel oil into PAD Districts I-IV on a license fee-exempt basis during the current allocation period. In considering the Martin Appeal, the FEA found that the firm's financial results during its 1974 fiscal year were anomalous and would therefore render use of the firm's historical data unreliable as an index of the impact of the Mandatory Oil Import Regulations upon the firm's current profitability. After adjusting the firm's historical data to eliminate the 1974 financial results, the FEA observed that Martin's projected profits for its 1977 fiscal year were less than the level of profitability which it attained during the historical period used for comparison. Nevertheless, the FEA determined that Martin had failed to demonstrate that the decline in its profitability represents a significant deterioration in Martin's operating posture which is attributable to the firm's license fee obligation. In this regard, no showing had been made that the level of profits projected by the firm would interfere in any material way with its operations. The FEA therefore determined that Martin had failed to meet the standards set forth in the Guidelines which have been established for evaluating requests for exception from the license fee requirements of Part 213. Accordingly, the FEA concluded that Martin had failed to establish that the February 4 Order was erroneous and the Martin Appeal was denied.

Pester Refining Co.; El Dorado, Kans.; FFA-1210; Refined Petroleum Products

Pester Refining Company (Pester) appealed from a Decision and Order which the Federal Energy Administration issued to it on January 31, 1977. Pester Refining Co.; American Petrofina, Inc., 5 FEA Par. 83,062 (January 31, 1977). The January 31 Decision was designed to resolve a number of issues concerning the application of the FEA Regulations to the acquisition by Pester of a refinery located in El Dorado, Kansas (the El Dorado Refinery) which had previously been owned by American Petrofina, Inc. (Pina). The Pester Appeal related to those portions of the January 31 Order which specify (1) the manner in which Pester was directed to calculate increased product costs for purposes of the refiner's price rule (10 CFR 212.83); and (2) the manner in which Pester and Pina were directed to adjust their "banks" of unrecouped increased costs.

In its Appeal, Pester requested that it be permitted to compute the increased product costs which it incurs by using the overall product costs incurred by Pina in connection with its consolidated operations during May 1973. In considering this request, the FEA observed that one of the primary considerations of the FEA in cases involving the transfer of a refinery is the impact which that transfer will have upon the firms which purchase products from the refinery. In the January 31 Decision and Order, the FEA determined that the interests of those firms would best be protected by permitting Pester to assume the May 1973 product costs associated with the operation of the El Dorado refinery rather than the costs associated with Pina's overall operations. In the present proceeding, the FEA found that Pester had failed to present any data which demonstrated that this determination was factually or legally erroneous. Accordingly, this portion of Pester's Appeal was denied.

In its Appeal, Pester also requested that it be permitted to treat the bank of unrecouped product costs which it accumulated as a retailer pursuant to 10 CFR 212.93(e) as if that bank had been accumulated by Pester as a refiner pursuant to 10 CFR 212.83. In considering this request, the FEA observed that prior to its acquisition of the El Dorado refinery, Pester had had an opportunity to pass through all of the increased product costs which it had incurred in its retailing operation, subject to the limitations imposed by market conditions. The FEA pointed out that by entering into its agreement to purchase the El Dorado refinery, Pester made a business decision which substantially changed the nature of its operation, and therefore it had no reason to assume that its rights and obligations under the FEA Regulatory Program would remain the same after its operations were changed from those of a retailer to those of a refiner. In addition, the FEA noted that in a recent Decision, Hudson Oil Co.; Midland Cooperatives, Inc., 5 FEA Par. 83,007 (December 20, 1976), the FEA considered and rejected contentions similar to those presented by Pester in support of this request. Accordingly, this portion of Pester's Appeal was also denied.

Uranich Coal and Oil; La Salle, Ill.; FRA-1224; No. 2 Fuel Oil

Uranich Coal and Oil appealed from a Remedial Order which FEA Region V issued to the firm on February 4, 1977. In the Remedial Order, the FEA determined that Uranich had sold No. 2 fuel oil to certain customers at prices in excess of those permitted under 6 CFR 150.359 and 10 CFR 212.93. In order to remedy the violations cited, Uranich was directed to make refunds to the customers which it allegedly overcharged. In its Appeal, Uranich contended that the Notice of Probable Violation issued to the firm had not contained the type of factual information which would have permitted it to adequately evaluate the charges and formulate a response. Moreover, Uranich asserted that the Remedial Order was procedurally defective in that it failed to set forth adequate findings of fact and conclusions of law with respect to the alleged violations. In considering the firm's assertions, the FEA found that the NOPV was defective and that as a result, the firm had been deprived of its right to respond to it in a proper manner prior to the issuance of a Remedial Order. Moreover, the FEA found that the Remedial Order did not contain specific findings supported by substantial evidence and as a result was also procedurally defective. Accordingly, the FEA vacated the February 4, 1977 Remedial Order and remanded the matter to FEA Region V for further evaluation.

APPLICATIONS FOR EXCEPTION

Arden A. Anderson; Pensacola, Fla.; FEE-4290; Crude Oil

Arden A. Anderson filed an Application for Exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D, which, if granted, would have permitted the working interest owners to sell the crude oil to be produced from the redrilling of the J. O. McHenry No. 1 well at upper tier ceiling prices. In considering Anderson's Application for Exception, the FEA determined that, even if exception relief were not granted, the revenues which Anderson would receive during the remaining economic life of the McHenry well would provide the working interest owners with a sufficient economic incentive to undertake the necessary capital investment to redrill the McHenry well. The FEA also found that in the absence of exception relief, Anderson would realize an internal rate of return on its investment of 40 percent if the well was redrilled. On the basis of these findings, Anderson's Application for Exception was denied.

Ashland Oil, Inc.; Commonwealth Oil Refining Co. Inc.; Washington, D.C.; FEE-4431; Crude Oil and Refined Products

Ashland Oil, Inc. (Ashland) and Commonwealth Oil Refining Company, Inc. (Corco) jointly filed an Application for Exception from the FEA Mandatory Petroleum Price and Allocation Regulations. The exception request, if granted, would permit Ashland and Corco to be treated as separate entities for purposes of all FEA regulatory programs in the event that Ashland acquires a controlling interest in Corco. The firms noted that the FEA had previously issued a Decision and Order to the Tesoro Petroleum Company (Tesoro) in which Tesoro and Corco were permitted separate treatment with respect to a number of regulatory programs after Tesoro had purchased a controlling share of Corco common stock. "Tesoro Petroleum Company," 2 FEA Par. 83,334 (October 14, 1975). In considering the current request the FEA found that, although Ashland and Corco requested a broader range of exception relief than that granted to Tesoro, the same factors which formed the basis for approval of exception relief in the "Tesoro" Decision were present in the current proceeding, including assurances by Ashland and Corco that their traditionally independent business activities would continue to function autonomously. Therefore, in view of the precedent established in the "Tesoro" Decision and the severe financial difficulties being experienced by Corco, the FEA determined that exception relief permitting Ashland and Corco to be treated as separate entities for purposes of all FEA regulatory programs should be approved. The FEA also permitted Corco and Ashland to be treated as separate entities with respect to any exception application filed by either firm and decided within the next two years. Finally, the FEA granted Corco a five-month extension of the exception relief from the Entitlements Program which was previously granted to the firm, contingent upon Ashland's acquisition of a controlling interest in the firm. "See Commonwealth Oil Refining Company, Inc.", 5 FEA Par. 83,132 (April 14, 1977).

Good Hope Industries, Inc.; Washington, D.C.; FPI-0114; FPI-0123; Finished and Unfinished Naphtha

Good Hope Industries, Inc. (GHI) filed an Application for Exception from the provisions of 10 CFR 213.35(c) which, if granted, would permit it to import on a license fee-exempt basis 1,667,685 barrels of unfinished naphtha and 1,994,360 barrels of finished naphtha into Districts I-IV during the current allocation period. In considering the firm's request, the FEA found that GHI was required to import substantial quantities of finished and unfinished naphtha to supply its motor gasoline customers. The FEA determined that the data submitted by GHI supported the firm's contention that the additional expense which it would incur from the payment of license fees on the naphtha which it imports could not be reflected in its selling prices, and that payment of the fees would therefore exacerbate the firm's existing financial difficulties. In this regard, the FEA observed that GHI is currently involved in bankruptcy proceedings and although the firm projects that it will earn substantial profits during the current allocation period, it will be required to use substantially all of these profits to pay bankruptcy expenses, repay debts and make unavoidable capital expenditures. In view of these projected results and the fact that GHI expects to experience a negative cash flow during the 1977-78 allocation period, the FEA concluded that the firm would experience an exceptional hardship in the absence of exception relief. Accordingly, the firm's request was approved with respect to the 2581.12 barrels per day of unfinished naphtha and the 2647.12 barrels per day of finished naphtha which will be necessary to supply its motor gasoline customers. Good Hope also filed a second Application for Exception in which it requested refunds for the license fees which it had already paid during the current allocation period. With respect to this submission the FEA determined that since GHI had made a compelling showing of financial hardship and had pursued its administrative remedies in a timely manner, this request should also be granted.

Great Southern Oil and Gas Co., Inc.; Lafayette, La.; FFE-4416; Crude Oil

Great Southern Oil & Gas Company, Inc. filed an Application for Exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D. The request, if granted, would result in an extension of the exception relief previously granted to Great Southern and would permit the firm to continue to sell a portion of the crude oil produced from the Elizabeth Longman No. 1 well (the Longman well) at upper tier ceiling prices. In considering the exception application, the FEA found that Great Southern continued to incur per barrel operating expenses for the Longman well which were in excess of the lower tier ceiling price the firm was permitted to charge pursuant to Subpart D and that in the absence of continued exception relief, the working interest owners would lack an economic incentive to continue production of crude oil from the property. In view of this situation and on the basis of the operating data presented for the well for the preceding six months, the FEA concluded that the working interest owners should be permitted to sell 100 percent of the crude oil produced from the well at upper tier ceiling prices in order to recover the increased operating costs of the well.

Irving Oil Corp.; Bangor, Maine; FPI-0117; No. 2 Fuel Oil Motor Gasoline Residual Fuel Oil

Irving Oil Corporation filed an Application for Exception from the provisions of 10 CFR 213.35(c) which, if granted, would result in the issuance of an Order by the FEA authorizing the firm to import 3,750,000 barrels of residual fuel oil, 100,000 barrels of No. 2 fuel oil and 50,000 barrels of motor gasoline into PAD District I on a fee-exempt basis during the current and two subsequent allocation periods. In considering the exception request, the FEA found that payment of the import license fee would place the firm at a significant disadvantage in the New England residual fuel oil market. The FEA also found that Irving's attempts to secure domestic supplies of residual fuel oil at competitive prices have been largely unsuccessful, and the firm will probably have to continue to rely primarily on imported products. In addition, the data which Irving submitted indicated that, in the absence of exception relief, the firm will incur a substantial operating loss during the current allocation period. Based on these considerations and the projected needs of Irving's customers, the FEA ordered that Irving be permitted to import an additional 3,750,000 barrels of residual fuel oil on a fee-exempt basis during the current allocation period. However, the FEA observed that a separate adjudicatory determination must be made for each allocation period for which a firm seeks fee-exempt authority and consequently it denied Irving's request for exception relief for subsequent allocation periods. The FEA also found that Irving had not demonstrated that it has supply obligations for either motor gasoline or No. 2 fuel oil, and it therefore denied Irving's request for a fee-exempt allocation with respect to those products.

Kewanee Oil Co.; Tulsa, Okla.; FFE-4385; Crude Oil

Kewanee Oil Company filed an Application for Exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D. The exception request, if granted, would result in the extension of exception relief previously granted to Kewanee and would permit the firm to continue to sell a portion of the crude oil produced from the South Stanley Field at upper tier ceiling prices. "See Kewanee Oil Company," 5 FEA Par. 83,076 (February 22, 1977). In considering the exception application, the FEA found that Kewanee continues to incur per barrel operating expenses at the South Stanley Field which exceed the lower tier ceiling price which it is permitted to charge and that, therefore, in the absence of further exception relief, the working interest owners would lack an economic incentive to continue to produce crude oil from the property. In view of this situation, and on the basis of the operating data presented by Kewanee for the South Stanley Field, the FEA concluded that the working interest owners should be permitted to sell 33.53 percent of the crude oil produced from the field from August 1, 1977 through January 31, 1978 at upper tier ceiling prices.

Laketon Asphalt Refining, Inc.; Evansville, Ind.; FFE-4415; Crude Oil

Laketon Asphalt Refining, Inc. filed an Application for Exception from the provisions of 10 CFR 211.67 (the Old Oil Entitlements Program) which, if granted, would relieve the firm of any obligation to purchase entitlements beginning with the month of August 1977. In support of its exception request, Laketon submitted projected financial statements, and projected monthly crude oil runs to stills and receipts of old, new, stripper well and imported crude oil for its current fiscal year which ends on December 31, 1977. In considering Laketon's exception request, the FEA determined that as a result of Laketon's crude oil runs and receipts during the current fiscal year, the firm would be required to purchase entitlements at a substantial cost commencing with the month of August 1977. As a result of this projected entitlements cost which Laketon would incur during its current fiscal year, the firm's profit margin and return on invested capital would be below its historical levels. The FEA therefore determined that under the criteria set forth in "Delta Refining Co.," 2 FEA Par. 83,275 (September 11, 1975) and "Beacon Oil Co.," 3 FEA Par. 83,209 (June 8, 1976), exception relief was warranted. Accordingly, the FEA granted Laketon's Application for Exception, relieving the firm of any obligation to purchase entitlements during the six-month period August 1977 through January 1978 to account for its crude oil receipts and runs to stills during the period June 1977 through November 1977. However, the FEA noted that the relief approved would be re-evaluated if Laketon requests an extension of exception relief beyond January 1978 and, as is the case with all Entitlements Program exception decisions, at the conclusion of the firm's current fiscal year. The decision further noted that on the basis of that year-end review, an adjustment will be made and Laketon will be required to purchase entitlements if it received excess benefits because of a difference between the financial projections it submitted and the actual financial results which it achieves.

Newhall Refining Co., Inc.; Newhall, Calif.; FEE-394; Crude Oil

Newhall Refining Company, Inc. filed an Application for Exception from the provisions of 10 CFR 211.67 (the Old Oil Entitlements Program) which, if granted, would relieve the firm of any obligation to purchase entitlements beginning with the month of August 1977. In support of its exception request, Newhall submitted projected financial statements, and projected monthly crude oil runs to stills and receipts of old, new and imported crude oil for its current fiscal year which ends on August 31, 1977. In considering Newhall's exception request, the FEA determined that as a result of Newhall's crude oil runs and receipts during the current fiscal year, the firm would be required to purchase entitlements at a substantial cost commencing with the month of August 1977. As a result of the projected entitlements cost which Newhall would incur during its current fiscal year, the firm's profit margin and return on invested capital would be below historical levels. Under the criteria set forth in "Delta Refining Company," 2 FEA Par. 83,275 (September 11, 1975) and "Beacon Oil Company," 3 FEA Par. 83,209 (June 8, 1976), exception relief was therefore warranted. Accordingly, the FEA granted Newhall's Application for Exception relieving the firm of any obligation to purchase entitlements during the six-month period August 1977 through January 1978. However, the FEA noted that the relief approved would be reevaluated if Newhall requested an extension of exception relief beyond January 1978 and, as is the case with all Entitlements Program exception decisions, at the conclusion of the firm's current fiscal year. The decision further noted that, on the basis of that year-end review, an adjustment will be made and Newhall will be required to purchase entitlements if it received excess benefits because of a difference between the financial projections it submitted and the actual financial results which it achieves.

APPLICATIONS FOR STAY

Berry Holding Co.; Fresno, Calif.; FRS-1394; Crude Oil

Berry Holding Company requested that a requirement that it audit its own business operations be stayed. That requirement was imposed on Berry in a Remedial Order which was issued to the firm on June 10, 1977. In the Remedial Order the FEA found that prior to July 31, 1975 Berry had sold crude oil from two of its properties at prices which exceeded the ceiling price levels for that crude oil established pursuant to 6 CFR 150.353 and 10 CFR 212.73. The Remedial Order therefore directed Berry to refund the overcharges plus interest to the purchaser of the crude oil. In addition, Berry was directed to ascertain whether any of its sales of crude oil subsequent to July 31, 1975 were made at prices which exceeded the applicable ceiling price levels and to certify the results of its analysis to the FEA within 30 days of the effective date of the Remedial Order, i.e. by August 12, 1977. In its Application for stay, Berry requested that the self-audit requirement of the Remedial Order be stayed until October 11, 1977, the date established in the Remedial Order by which Berry must complete the refund of its overcharges. In considering Berry's request for stay, the FEA determined that the firm had raised substantial issues of law concerning the FEA's statutory and regulatory authority to require the firm to compute and certify the alleged overcharges which it may have made. In addition, the FEA found that the requirement that Berry conduct the audit required by the Remedial Order would cause it to incur additional expenses and might well result in an irreparable injury to the firm if it were successful on the merits of its Appeal. The FEA therefore concluded that the stay requested by Berry was warranted.

ELY CRUDE OIL CO.; Ely, Nev.; FES-4413; Crude Oil

The Ely Crude Oil Company requested that the FEA stay the application of the provisions of 10 CFR 211.67 (the Old Oil Entitlements Program) to the crude oil which it produces. Ely filed its stay request in conjunction with an Application for Exception which, if granted, would effectively remove any entitlements obligation which would otherwise be incurred by any refiner with respect to crude oil which it purchases from Ely. The Ely stay, if approved, would consequently have provided the firm with the exception relief which it seeks on an interim basis during the pendency of the exception proceeding. In considering the Ely stay request, the FEA found that the firm had failed to satisfy any of the criteria set forth in 10 CFR 205.125(b) which govern the evaluation of an Application for Stay. In addition, the FEA observed that the type of relief which Ely sought in its stay request, i.e. the interim approval of its exception application before the FEA has an opportunity to consider the comments of any interested parties or to conduct a full review of the merits of the exception request, is appropriate only if a firm makes a very strong showing that there is a likelihood of success on the merits of its exception request. "See C&H Refinery, Inc.," 6 FEA Par. (June 28, 1977). The FEA concluded that, in the present case, Ely had not made such a showing and accordingly denied Ely's Application for Stay.

Farmer Gas and Oil Co.; Ithaca, Mich.; FRS-1393; Motor Gasoline

Farmers Gas & Oil Company (Fargo) requested that a Remedial Order which the Regional Administrator of FEA Region V issued to the firm on June 28, 1977 be stayed pending a final determination on Fargo's Appeal. In the Remedial Order, the FEA found that during the period November 1, 1973 through July 31, 1974 Fargo had sold motor gasoline at prices which were in excess of the firm's maximum permissible selling prices. On the basis of this finding, Fargo was directed to refund the overcharges plus interest by reducing its selling prices by $.01 per gallon until the refunds had been completed. In considering the request for stay, the FEA determined that Fargo had satisfied the standards for the approval of a stay set forth in "General Crude Oil Co.," 3 FEA Par. 65,040 (June 26, 1976). In particular, the FEA found that Fargo's submission indicated that it would raise significant arguments in its Appeal concerning the FEA's calculation of the firm's alleged overcharges. In addition, the FEA found that the firm would encounter inordinate difficulty in recovering any refunds it might make through price reductions, and therefore experience an irreparable injury, if it were ultimately successful on the merits of its Appeal. The FEA therefore concluded that the refund requirements should be stayed. However, in accordance with the standards established in "General Crude," the stay was conditioned upon the establishment of an escrow account into which Fargo is required to deposit the refunds at the same rate as that specified in the Remedial Order until the escrow account contains the full amount of overcharges and interest.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDERS

Kern County Refinery, Inc.; Bakersfield, Calif.; FEX-0176; Crude Oil

On July 21, 1977, the FEA issued a Supplemental Order to Kern County Refinery, Inc. in which it was determined that no adjustment to the exception relief previously granted Kern from the provisions of 10 CFR 211.67 (the Old Oil Entitlements Program) was necessary for the firm's fiscal year ended March 31, 1977. "Kern County Refinery, Inc.," 6 FEA Par. (July 21, 1977). In arriving at the July 21 determination, the FEA concluded that no adjustment was necessary despite the fact that Kern had failed to achieve its historical profit margin because Kern had already received exception relief from 100 percent of its obligations to purchase entitlements during its 1977 fiscal year. However, subsequent to the issuance of the July 21 Order the FEA found that the basis for the July 21 Order was incorrect, since Kern was actually granted only partial exception relief for the period April through September 1977. The FEA therefore conducted another review of the exception relief which Kern had been granted for its 1977 fiscal year which ended on March 31, 1977. Based on that review, the FEA determined that Kern had received an insufficient measure of exception relief during its 1977 fiscal year. Kern was therefore permitted to sell additional entitlements having a total value of $1,416,819 during the period August through October 1977.

Mohawk Petroleum Corp., Inc.; Los Angeles, Calif.; FEX-0178; Crude Oil

On July 20, 1977, the Federal Energy Administration issued a Supplemental Order to Mohawk Petroleum Corporation, Inc. in which the FEA determined that Mohawk had received an excess amount of exception relief from the provisions of 10 CFR 211.67 (the Old Oil Entitlements Program) for the firm's fiscal year ended December 31, 1976. "Mohawk Petroleum Corporation, Inc.," 6 FEA Par. (July 20, 1977). Mohawk was therefore directed to purchase entitlements equal in value to the amount of the excess exception relief. The period under review in the July 20 Order encompassed the nine-month period between April 1 and December 31, 1976. However, subsequent to the issuance of that Order, the FEA found that the amount which reflected Mohawk's excess return on invested capital as stated in the July 20 Order had been annualized to reflect a full twelve-month period. The FEA determined that since the amount of the excess exception relief was based on a twelve-month period rather than a nine-month period, the determination reached in the July 20 Order was not in accordance with the criteria set forth in "Beacon Oil Company," 3 FEA Par. 83,209 (June 8, 1976) and "Delta Refining Company," 2 FEA Par. 83,275 (September 11, 1975), and was therefore erroneous. The FEA therefore conducted another review of the exception relief which Mohawk had been granted for the period April 1, 1976 through December 31, 1976. Based on that review the FEA determined that Mohawk had still received an excess measure of exception relief during the April through December 1976 period. The July 20 Order was therefore modified and Mohawk was required to purchase additional entitlements having a total value of $1,416,362 during the period August 1977 through July 1978.

Rock Island Refining Corp.; Indianapolis, Ind.; FEX-0136; Crude Oil

On June 17, 1976 and September 10, 1976, the FEA issued Decisions and Orders to Rock Island Refining Corporation in which it granted the firm exceptions from the provisions of 10 CFR 211.67 (the Old Oil Entitlements Program). "Rock Island Refining Corporation," 3 FEA Par. 83,233 (June 17, 1976). "Rock Island Refining Corporation," 4 FEA Par. 83,086 (September 10, 1976). The June 17 and September 10 Orders had the effect of relieving Rock Island of a portion of its obligation to purchase entitlements during its 1976 fiscal year. That exception relief was granted in accordance with the standards established in "Beacon Oil Company," 3 FEA Par. 83,209 (June 8, 1976) and "Delta Refining Company," 2 FEA Par. 83,275 (September 11, 1975), and applied to the firm's crude oil receipts and runs to stills during the period April 1, 1976 through November 30, 1976. In the June 17 and September 10 Orders, the FEA indicated that it would conduct a review of the exception relief which had been granted to Rock Island at the completion of the firm's fiscal year to determine whether Rock Island had received either excessive or insufficient benefits during its fiscal period, and would then require Rock Island to buy or sell additional entitlements to adjust for any discrepancy between projected and actual financial results. The FEA therefore conducted a review of the exception relief which Rock Island had been granted for the period April 1 through November 30, 1976, i.e. that portion of the firm's 1976 fiscal year that followed the rescission of Special Rule No. 6 (41 FR 10,392, May 18, 1976). Based on that review, the FEA determined that Rock Island had received an excess measure of exception relief during the April through November 1976 period. Rock Island was therefore required to purchase additional entitlements having a total value of $1,736,408 during the period August 1977 through July 1978.

Tenneco Oil Co.; Houston, Tex.; FEX-0181; Crude Oil

On July 15, 1977, the FEA issued a Decision and Order to the Tenneco Oil Company which permitted the firm to sell at upper tier ceiling prices a portion of the crude oil produced from the Myrtle E. Cross Lease for the benefit of the working interest owners. "Tenneco Oil Co.," 6 FEA Par. (July 15, 1977). Subsequent to the issuance of that Order, the FEA determined that the amount of relief granted to Tenneco had been based on an erroneous calculation of the number of barrels of crude oil produced and sold from the Cross Lease. Accordingly, the FEA issued a Supplemental Order in which it granted Tenneco additional exception relief based upon a recalculation of the number of barrels of crude oil produced and sold from that lease.

TEMPORARY STAY

The following Application for Temporary Stay was denied on the ground that the applicant had failed to make a compelling showing that temporary stay relief was necessary to prevent an irreparable injury:

The Reserve (mandated by Part B of Title I, Energy Policy and Conservation Act, 42 U.S.C. 6231-6246) is intended for the storage of crude oil and/or petroleum products for use in the event of a Presidential determination of a severe energy supply interruption or a requirement to meet the obligations of the United States under the International Energy Program.

Single copies of the Seaway draft EIS (DES 77-10) may be obtained from the National Energy Information Center, Room 1404, 12th and Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20461. Copies of this draft EIS will also be available for public review in the FEA Information Access Reading Room, Room 2107, 12th and Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20461, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday except Federal holidays.

COLORADO INTERSTATE GAS CO.

Notice of Application

SEPTEMBER 21, 1977.

Take notice that on September 12, 1977, Colorado Interstate Gas Company (Applicant), P.O. Box 1087, Colorado Springs, Colo. 80944, filed in Docket No. CP77-615 an application pursuant to Section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act and Section 157.7(b) of the Regulations thereunder (18 CFR 157.7(b)) for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction during the calendar year 1978, and operation of facilities to enable Applicant to take into its certificated main pipeline system natural gas which would be purchased from producers and other similar sellers thereof, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

The stated purpose of this budget-type application is to augment Applicant's ability to act with reasonable dispatch in connecting to its pipeline system supplies of natural gas which may become available from various producing areas generally co-extensive with its pipeline system or the system of other pipeline companies which may be authorized to transport gas for the account of or exchange with Applicant.

Applicant states that the total cost of the proposed facilities would not exceed $6,500,000 with no single project to exceed a cost of $1,500,000. These costs would be financed from current working funds on hand, funds from operations, short-term borrowings, or long-term financing, it is said.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before October 12, 1977, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by Sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Secretary.

[Docket No. RP77-125]

COMMERCIAL PIPELINE CO., INC.

Order Accepting for Filing and Suspending Proposed Rate Increase, Initiating Hearing, and Establishing Procedures

SEPTEMBER 22, 1977.

On August 22, 1977, Commercial Pipeline Co., Inc., (Commercial) tendered for filing Twenty-First Revised Sheet No. 3A and Second Revised Sheet No. 7A to its FPC Gas Tariff. The effect of these tariff sheets would be to increase Commercial's annual jurisdictional revenues by $19,428. Commercial requests the proposed increase be permitted to become effective on September 23, 1977. For the reasons stated, the Commission shall accept the proposed increase for filing, suspend its operation for one day or until September 24, 1977, and shall establish procedures for the prompt resolution of certain limited issues or, alternatively for hearing.

Commercial claims the proposed increase is designed to recover higher operating expenses, increased depreciation expense, and a proposed rate of return of 11.58 percent including a rate on common equity of 14.5 percent. Commercial requests waiver of Section 154.63(e) (2) (i) of the Commission's regulations to permit use of calendar year 1976 as the base period for its cost of service study. Commercial states that the expense of obtaining a cost study and audit based on a later period would be greater than the proposed increase. The Commission finds good cause exists to permit Commercial to use calendar year 1976 as the base period in this case.

Commercial's Second Revised Sheet No. 7A changes the notice provision in Commercial's PGA clause from 45 days to 30 days. The 30 day notice period complies with Section 154.38(4)(v) of the Commission's regulations and shall therefore be approved.

Public notice of Commercial's filing was issued on August 30, 1977, with comments, protests or petitions to intervene due on or before September 18, 1977. No protests, comments, or petitions to intervene have been received.

Based upon a review of Commercial's filing the Commission finds that with the exception of Commercial's claimed capitalization and rate of return, the proposed increase is just and reasonable. The Commission finds that Commercial's stated capitalization may be improper and that the claimed rate of return may be excessive. However, in view of the small amounts involved and the expense which would be required to conduct a formal hearing, the Commission believes that procedures should be adopted which may permit the capitalization and rate of return issues to be resolved informally without the need for formal hearings. Accordingly, the Commission shall suspend the proposed increase for one day and shall direct the staff to convene a conference within 30 days following the date of this order. In the event the issues cannot be resolved at the conferences, alternate procedures for hearing shall be prescribed.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that a hearing be held concerning the lawfulness of the increased rates proposed by Commercial, that the same be accepted for filing and suspended as hereinafter ordered, and that the informal procedures described in this order be adopted.

The Commission orders: (A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly Sections 4, 5, 8, and 15 thereof, and the Commission's rules and regulations, a public hearing shall be held concerning the lawfulness of the increased rates proposed by Commercial. (B) Pending hearing and decision, Commercial's proposed rate increase is accepted for filing and suspended for one day until September 24, 1977, when it shall be permitted to become effective, subject to refund, upon motion filed by Commercial in accordance with the provisions of the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Commercial's proposed Second Revised Sheet No. 7A is hereby accepted for filing, approved and permitted to become effective on September 23, 1977.

(D) The requirement of Section 154.63 (e) (2) (i) of the Regulations is waived in order to permit Commercial to use calendar year 1976 as the base period in this docket.

(E) An informal conference shall be convened by the Commission staff within 30 days from the date of this order for the purpose of resolving the issues concerning Commercial's claimed capitalization and rate of return. Further procedures, if any, as may be required following conclusion of the conference shall be prescribed by the Presiding Law Judge upon motion by the parties including the staff.

(F) A Presiding Administrative Law Judge, to be designated by the Chief Administrative Law Judge pursuant to 18 CFR 3.5(d), shall be assigned to this proceeding for the purposes set forth in this order and to preside over any hearings which ultimately may be required.

(G) The Secretary shall cause prompt publication of this order to be made in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

[Docket No. RI77-34]

MAURICE L. BROWN CO.

Order Granting Petition for Special Relief and Permitting Intervention

SEPTEMBER 21, 1977.

On February 14, 1977, as supplemented on May 18, 1977, Maurice L. Brown Co. (Brown) filed a petition for special relief pursuant to Section 2.76 of the Commission's General Policy and Interpretations (18 CFR § 2.76) for the sale of natural gas to Tennessee Gas Pipeline Co. (Tennessee) from acreage in the Bethany and Carthage Fields, Harrison and Panola Counties, Tex. Brown is a small producer and was issued a small producer certificate in Docket No. CS72-950 on June 14, 1972.

In his petition Brown states that on September 30, 1974, he and Tennessee negotiated amendments to four existing purchase contracts which provided for an increase in rates to 45 cents per Mcf effective September 1, 1974, with an annual escalation of 1 cent per Mcf, in consideration for certain remedial work on compression facilities and gas wells. Brown further states that he collected this increased rate until July 27, 1976, when the Commission in Order No. 553 required small producers to reduce their rates to the applicable just and reasonable ceilings prescribed in Opinion No. 742-A.<sup>1</sup> Brown herein seeks a rate increase from 35 cents per Mcf to 69.1282 cents per Mcf at 14.65 psia.

Notice of Brown's petition was issued on March 1, 1977, and on March 21, 1977, Tennessee filed a petition to intervene stating that it supports Brown's petition for special relief.

Based on its analysis of data submitted by Brown, Staff estimates that 3,144,120 Mcf of gas and 158,945 BBls of plant liquids remain to be produced over a period of ten years, and concludes that the requested special relief rate is warranted.<sup>2</sup> After a careful review of the costs to be incurred and the reserves to be recovered, we conclude that it is in the public interest to grant Brown special relief. We note that Brown further requested an increase to the existing contract rate of 45 cents per Mcf to be effective retroactively to July 27, 1976. In Opinion No. 749, which applies to the subject sales, the Commission provided that special relief increases would only be granted prospectively.<sup>3</sup> Brown has not shown good cause for waiver of this requirement, and therefore we shall deny Brown's request for a retroactive effective date.

The Commission orders: (A) The petition for special relief filed by Brown in Docket No. RI77-34 is hereby granted.

(B) Brown is authorized to collect a total rate of 69.1282 cents per Mcf at 14.65 psia for gas sold to Tennessee from the Bethany and Carthage Fields, Harrison and Panola Counties, Tex., effective on the date of issuance of this order.

(C) The special rate authorized in Ordering Paragraph (B) shall not become effective as provided therein unless Brown files within 30 days of the issuance of this order a contractual amendment authorizing the rate granted herein and a notice of change in rate provided for such special rate.

(D) Tennessee is permitted to intervene in the above-entitled proceeding, subject to the Rules and Regulations of the Commission; Provided, however, that its participation shall be limited to matters affecting asserted rights and interests specifically set forth in its petition to intervene; and Provided, further, that the admission of Tennessee in the manner provided shall not be construed as recognition by the Commission that Tennessee might be aggrieved because of any order or orders entered in this proceeding, and that Tennessee agrees to accept the record as it now stands.

By the Commission.

KENNETH F. PLUMB,
Secretary.

NORTHWEST PIPELINE CORP.

Notice of Amendment to Application

SEPTEMBER 21, 1977.

Take notice that on September 9, 1977, Northwest Pipeline Corporation (Applicant), P.O. Box 1526, Salt Lake City, Utah 84110, filed in Docket No. CP77-447 an amendment to its application filed in said docket pursuant to Section 7 of the Natural Gas Act setting forth the maximum volume which Applicant would be obligated to transport for IGC Petroleum Company (IGC) at 5,000 Mcf of natural gas per day, all as more fully set forth in the amendment on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant indicates that on June 17, 1977, it filed an application in the instant docket requesting authorization to transport up to 5,000 Mcf of natural gas per day in interstate commerce for the account of IGC pursuant to the terms of an agreement dated February 22, 1977 between the two parties. Applicant states that it has, inter alia, agreed to transport certain volumes of natural gas, owned or controlled by IGC, from the supply source which is located in the Rangely Field, Rio Blanco County, Colorado to an existing delivery point where it presently sells and delivers natural gas to Intermountain Gas Company.

It is indicated that Section 2.1 of the agreement dated February 22, 1977, limited the volumes of gas to be transported to the volumes of gas which Applicant is able to accept into its Piceance Creek Gathering Line, and, further, provided that the transportation volumes may be reduced in order for Applicant to transport its own gas in satisfaction of the contract demands of Applicant's customers.

It is indicated that Applicant and IGC have verbally agreed that Applicant would limit its request for transportation authorization to 5,000 Mcf of natural gas per day, and that as evidence of such verbal agreement the two parties have entered into an agreement dated August 2, 1977, which establishes the maximum volume which Applicant would be obliged to transport under the February 22, 1977 (Rangely) agreement at 5,000 Mcf per day. The latter agreement dated August 2, 1977, has the further caveat that Applicant's transportation obligation under the Rangely agreement is not intended to and would not in fact require Applicant to inhibit, erode or otherwise prevent full satisfaction of Applicant's firm contractual demands on its pipeline system, it is said.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said amendment should on or before October 12, 1977, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules. All persons who have heretofore filed need not file again.

PANHANDLE EASTERN PIPE LINE CO. AND TRUNKLINE GAS CO.

Notice of Pipeline Application

SEPTEMBER 21, 1977.

Take notice that on September 9, 1977, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company and Trunkline Gas Company (Applicants), P.O. Box 1642, Houston, Texas 77001, filed in Docket No. CP77-613, a joint application pursuant to Section 7 of the Natural Gas Act and the regulations thereunder for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the transportation of natural gas on behalf of Northern Natural Gas Company (Northern) all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Trunkline proposes to receive initial quantities of 54,000 Mcf per day for the account of Northern utilizing the capacity of its existing system. Trunkline will redeliver the volumes transported less compressor fuel and certain quantities to be sold to Panhandle, to Northern at Trunkline's Longville, Louisiana compressor station. Such gas will be transported pursuant to a transportation contract dated July 19, 1977, between Applicants and Northern wherein Trunkline will receive the gas at a point of interconnection to be constructed between the facilities of Columbia Gulf Transmission Company (Columbia Gulf) and Trunkline in Acadia Parish, Louisiana (Egan point of receipt), or the point of delivery of gas by Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company for the account of Northern to Trunkline at the existing interconnection between the facilities of Tennessee and Trunkline in Jefferson Davis Parish, Louisiana (Kinder point of receipt) or the point of delivery of gas by Columbia Gulf for Northern's account to Trunkline at a point of interconnection to be constructed between the facilities of Columbia Gulf and Trunkline in St. Mary Parish, Louisiana (Centerville point of receipt), and redeliver at the suction header of Trunkline's Longville, Louisiana compressor station, for further transportation and delivery to Northern at Mullinville, Kansas. Applicants are not at this time requesting authority to utilize the Centerville point of receipt until the necessary arrangements among the parties have been finalized. At that time, Applicants will file for the appropriate Commission authority.

As partial consideration for this transportation service, Northern has agreed to sell to Panhandle up to 20% of the volumes delivered at the points of receipt. For the transportation service between the points of receipt and Trunkline's Longville, Louisiana compressor station, Northern will pay a monthly charge of $18,144 based on transportation of 43,200 Mcf per day. An upward or downward adjustment of 1.39¢ per Mcf will be applied to any deficiency or excess taken.

Applicants also seek authorization to effectuate a transportation agreement between Applicants which provides for the transportation by Trunkline of the gas purchased by Panhandle from Northern, in consideration for said transportation charge of $66,636.

[Docket No. CP77-619]

PANHANDLE EASTERN PIPE LINE CO.

Notice of Application

SEPTEMBER 23, 1977.

Take notice that on September 15, 1977, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (Applicant), 300 Bissonnet, Houston, Tex., and 3444 Broadway, Kansas City, Mo., filed in Docket No. CP77-619 an application pursuant to Section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of additional compressor horsepower and pipelines to be located in Applicant's gas supply area west and southwest of its Haven Compressor Station situated in Reno County, Kans.; and authorizing the construction and operation of additional pipelines to be located in Applicant's Rocky Mountain system situated in Adams and Weld Counties, Colo., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant indicates that such facilities are required in order to compensate for the natural decline in gas reservoir pressures in the areas of its traditional gas supplies and are necessary to assist Applicant in delivering new gas supplies to its mainline system. Applicant further indicates that the proposed facilities devoted exclusively to the connection of new gas supplies would be in Texas County, Okla., and Weld and Adams Counties, Colo. The proposed facilities for Texas and Cimarron Counties, Okla., Barber County, Kans., Moore, Hansford, Hutchinson, and Carson Counties, Tex., and Morton County, Kans., would serve a two-fold function, it is said. It is stated that these facilities would assist Applicant in maximizing the recovery of natural gas from older reservoirs, and that facilities would also be utilized to connect newly developed sources of natural gas.

Applicant states that it would construct a new 20.3 mile segment of 12-inch pipeline to extend in a generally north and northwest direction from the present Deer Compressor Station to the Sneed Compressor Station. Applicant asserts that this proposed pipeline would provide Applicant with the ability to re-route a portion of the natural gas which presently transverse the South Line, thus reducing the load on this line, and that it would also provide sufficient pipeline capacity to accommodate the new natural gas supplies acquired by Applicant within Carson County, Tex., and provide capacity for additional volumes of natural gas which Applicant anticipates being able to secure within the Carson County area.

It is stated that in conjunction with the construction of the proposed 20.3 mile pipeline, Applicant proposes to modify the Deer Compressor Station by removing the existing 3,100 horsepower of compression and replacing it with 4,200 horsepower of new compression. Applicant requests authorization to relocate the existing Deer Station horsepower as follows: (1) 2,100 horsepower to be relocated to the Southeast Deal Compressor Station, and (2) the remaining 1,000 horsepower to be relocated to the Zofness Compressor Station. The proposed facilities involved in the revamping of the Deer Compressor Station would allow Applicant the flexibility to transport the newly acquired natural gas from the Carson County production areas, and to alleviate line capacity restrictions within the South Line, it is said.

Applicant also requests authorization to retire from service a segment of 22-inch pipeline, 2.9 miles in length, situated in Moore and Hutchinson Counties, Tex., north of Applicant's Sneed Compressor Station. Applicant states that this segment of pipeline has been in service for a number of years, and would require extensive reconditioning or replacement to alleviate deterioration. It is indicated that in order to replace this lost capacity Applicant proposes to construct a 4.2 mile segment of 20-inch pipeline to connect its Sneed to Hansford line with its 18-inch Sunray loop, which is situated south of Applicant's Hansford Compressor Station in Hansford County, Tex. This interconnection would increase the capacity of the Texas System between the Sneed Compressor Station and the Hansford Compressor Station, it is said.

Applicant asserts that the facilities proposed for Weld and Adams Counties, Colo., would allow Applicant to connect an additional 110 new gas wells to its system, with a resulting increase of 43.5 million Mcf per day of new gas supplies. Applicant states that the total cost of the proposed facilities is estimated to be $19,136,000, and that it proposes to finance the cost of this project with internally generated funds and short-term bank borrowings as necessary.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before October 14, 1977, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by Sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Docket No. RP77-32]

SOUTH GEORGIA NATURAL GAS CO.
Notice of Proposed Revisions in Rate Increase

Take notice that, on September 1, 1977, South Georgia Natural Gas Company (South Georgia) tendered for filing the following substitute revised tariff sheets to its FPC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1:

Substitute Fifth Revised Sheet No. 4.
Substitute First Revised Sheet No. 30

South Georgia states that the purpose of these tariff sheets is to incorporate the current purchased gas costs in the rates under suspension in Docket No. RP77-32.

South Georgia states that on February 1, 1977, it filed a general rate increase in Docket No. RP77-32 to become effective on March 1, 1977. By its order issued February 28, 1977, the Commission accepted the revised tariff sheets for filing and suspended their use until August 1, 1977. Additionally, on June 29, 1977, South Georgia filed revised tariff sheets to be effective August 1, 1977. By letter order dated July 28, 1977, the Commission accepted the revised tariff sheets effective August 1, 1977, and directed South Georgia to file sheets to reflect any changes in supplier rates.

South Georgia states that the proposed tariff sheets contain the same costs included in Docket No. RP77-32, modified to reflect reduced gas supplier costs of $226,272. South Georgia requests that the proposed tariff sheets be allowed to be substituted for the tariff sheets previously accepted by the Commission's letter order of July 28, 1977. Since the proposed tariff sheets contain the same costs included in South Georgia's rate filing, South Georgia requests that the Commission grant any waivers as are necessary to allow the proposed tariff sheets to become effective as contemplated by Ordering Paragraph (B) of the Commission's February 28, 1977 order and the Commission's Letter Order dated July 28, 1977.

South Georgia states that copies of its filing were served on all jurisdictional customers, interested state commissions and all other parties to the proceedings in Docket No. RP77-32.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street NE., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with Sections 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before September 30, 1977. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

[Docket No. CI77-712]

TRANSCO EXPLORATION CO.
Notice of Limited-Term Application

SEPTEMBER 23, 1977.

Take notice that on August 5, 1977, Transco Exploration Co. (Applicant), P.O. Box 1396, Houston, Tex. 77001, filed in Docket No. CI77-712 an application for a limited-term certificate of public convenience and necessity with pre-granted abandonment covering the sale of gas by Applicant to Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. (Transco).

Applicant and Transco have entered into two contracts, both being dated July 29, 1977, covering the sale and purchase of gas from the Stephenson Point Field, Galveston County, Tex. Pursuant to both agreements, Applicant proposes to sell natural gas to Transco from the date of initial delivery thereunder, for the period described below, at an initial base rate of $1.45208 per Mcf at 14.65 psia, to be delivered at a mutually agreeable point in the field. The first contract is a traditional long term contract (Long-Term Contract) and covers gas attributable to 70% of Transco's interest in the reservoirs committed thereunder. It is the subject of an application for public convenience and necessity filed substantially contemporaneously herewith. The second contract (Limited-Term Contract), which is the subject of this application, covers the balance of Applicant's interest in the reserves in question. This limited-term contract provides for termination upon the occurrence of the event described below.

Under the terms of the Agreement by which Applicant acquired its interest in the Stephenson Point Field, Gulf Oil Corp. (Gulf) retained an overriding royalty interest convertible at Gulf's option after payout from the first well in the field to a 30% working interest. Also under the terms of said Agreement, Applicant is prohibited from creating or incurring any liens, encumbrances or obligations of any kind relative to Gulf's working interest share of production in the event it elects to convert its override.

Transco has advised that its gas supply shortage is very critical and that it needs all available volumes at the earliest possible date.

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 10 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before September 30, 1977, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

HOSPITAL INSURANCE PROGRAM

Inpatient Hospital Deductible for 1978 Under Part A of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act

Pursuant to authority contained in section 1813(b) (2) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395e(b) (2)), as amended, I hereby determine and announce that the dollar amount which shall be applicable for the inpatient hospital deductible, for purposes of section 1813(a) of the Act, as amended, shall be $144 in the case of any spell of illness beginning during calendar year 1978. Changes in the amount of the inpatient hospital deductible also affect certain other cost-sharing provisions under the hospital insurance program. Thus, for spells of illness beginning in 1978, the daily coinsurance for the 61st through the 90th days of hospitalization (one-fourth the inpatient hospital deductible) will be $36; the daily coinsurance for the lifetime reserve days (one-half of the inpatient hospital deductible) will be $72; and the daily coinsurance for the 21st through the 100th days of extended care services (one-eighth of the inpatient hospital deductible) will be $18. A statement of the actuarial bases employed in arriving at the amount of $144 for the inpatient hospital deductible for 1978 follows.

The law provides that for spells of illness beginning in calendar years after 1968 the inpatient hospital deductible shall be equal to $40 multiplied by the ratio of (1) the current average per diem rate for inpatient hospital services for the calendar year preceding the year in which the promulgation is made (in this case, 1976) to (2) the current average per diem rate for such services for 1966. The law also provides that such current average per diem rates shall be determined by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare from the best available information as to the amounts paid under the program for inpatient hospital services furnished during the year, by hospitals who are qualified to participate in the program and for whom there is an agreement to do so, for individuals who are entitled to benefits as a result of insured status under the Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance program or the Railroad Retirement program. In addition, the law provides that if the amount so determined is not an even multiple of $4, it shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of $4.

The data used to make the necessary computations of the current average per diem rates for calendar years 1966 and 1976 are derived from individual inpatient hospital bills that are recorded for all beneficiaries in the records of the program. These records show for each bill the number of inpatient days of care, the interim reimbursement amount, and the interim cost (the sum of interim reimbursement, deductible, and coinsurance). Tabulations are prepared which summarize the data from these bills by the year in which the care was provided. The resulting average interim per diem rates accurately reflect interim costs on an accrual basis.

In order to properly reflect the change in the average per diem hospital cost under the program, the average interim cost (as shown in the tabulations) must be adjusted for the effect of final cost settlements made with each provider of services after the end of its accounting year to adjust the reimbursement to that provider from the amount paid during that year on an interim basis to the actual cost of providing covered services to beneficiaries. To the extent that the ratio of final cost to interim cost is different in the current year than it was in 1966, the increase in average interim per diem costs will not coincide with the increase in actual cost that has occurred. The best data available indicate that this adjustment, however, does not change the computation of the deductible for 1978 by enough to result in an amount different from the $144 stated.

The current average per diem rate for inpatient hospital services for calendar year 1976, based on tabulated interim costs, is $136.63; the corresponding amount for 1966 is $37.92. These averages are based on approximately 90 million days of hospitalization in 1976 and 30 million days in 1966 (last 6 months of the year). The ratio of the 1976 rate to the 1966 rate is 3.60:3 when this ratio is multiplied by $40, an amount of $144.12 is produced, which must be rounded to $144. Accordingly, the inpatient hospital deductible for spells of illness beginning during calendar year 1978 is $144.

I am bound by the law to promulgate these increases. I do not like them. I am anxious for enactment of the cost containment legislation that will put a break on the spiraling costs of hospital care. This is the only way to reduce annual increases in the amount of money Medicare patients must pay.

The International Joint Commission has been requested by the Governments of Canada and the United States, under letters dated August 2, 1977, to examine into and report upon the water quality of the Poplar River, including the trans-boundary water quality implications of the thermal power station of the Saskatchewan Power Corporation and its ancillary facilities, including coal mining, at a site near Coronach, Saskatchewan, and to make recommendations which would assist the Governments in ensuring that the provisions of Article IV of the Boundary Waters Treaty of 1909 are honored.

At the hearings, opportunity will be given to anyone, either on his own behalf or in a representative capacity, to offer pertinent information which may assist the Commission in its inquiry. The Commission may limit the time allotted to each witness. If a written statement will take longer than ten (10) minutes to present, it is suggested the witness present a summary statement, submitting his full statement for the record. While not mandatory, written statements are desirable to supplement oral testimony and to ensure accuracy of the record. When a written statement is presented, thirty (30) copies should be provided, if possible, for distribution to the news media and for Commission purposes.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
Drug Enforcement Administration CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES IN SCHEDULE IIProposed 1977 Revised Aggregate Production Quota—Thebaine for Conversion

Section 306 of the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 (21 U.S.C. 826) requires the Attorney General to establish aggregate production quotas for all controlled substances in Schedules I and II each year. This responsibility has been delegated to the Administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration pursuant to § 0.100 of Title 28 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

On November 11, 1976, a notice of the final aggregate production quota for this substance was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 49873-74). Since the finalization of this quota, DEA has been made aware of an increased need for Thebaine for Conversion to be used exclusively in the manufacture of three non-controlled drugs, naltrexone hydrochloride, naloxone hydrochloride and naltrexone hydrochloride. This increased need was not anticipated when establishing the previously finalized aggregate production quota for Thebaine for Conversion. The Administrator has now deemed that it is necessary to allow the production during 1977 of additional amounts of Thebaine for Conversion which will be utilized expressly for conversion to non-controlled substances. Therefore the Administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration, under the authority vested in the Attorney General by Section 306 of the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 (21 U.S.C. 826) and delegated to the Administrator by § 0.100 of Title 28 of the Code of Federal Regulations does hereby propose the following change of the aggregate production quota for 1977 for Thebaine for Conversion expressed in grams in terms of anhydrous base:

Basic class	1977 aggregate production quota
	Previously finalized	Proposed revised
Thebaine for conversion	720,000	1,168,000

All interested persons are invited to submit their comments and objections in writing regarding this proposal. The comments or objections should state with particularity the issues concerning which the person desires to be heard. Comments and objections should be submitted in quintuplicate to the Administrator, Drug Enforcement Administration, United States Department of Justice, Washington, D.C. 20537, Attention: DEA Federal Register Representative, and must be received by October 26, 1977. If a person believes that one or more issues raised by him warrant a full adversary-type hearing, he should so state and summarize the reasons for his belief.

In the event that comments or objections to this proposal raise one or more issues which the Administrator finds, in his sole discretion, warrants a full adversary-type hearing, the Administrator shall order a public hearing in the FEDERAL REGISTER summarizing the issues to be heard and setting the time for the hearing.

Dated: September 23, 1977.

PETER B. BENSINGER, Administrator.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION ABNORMAL OCCURRENCE EVENT Loss and Recovery of Radioactive Source and Probable Overexposure

Section 208 of the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974, as amended, required the NRC to disseminate information on abnormal occurrences (i.e., unscheduled incidents or events which the Commission determines are significant from the standpoint of public health and safety). The following incident was determined to be an abnormal occurrence using the criteria published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 24, 1977 (42 FR 10950). Appendix A (Example I, C, 1) of the Policy Statement notes that a loss of licensed material under certain circumstances can be considered an abnormal occurrence. In addition, Example I, A, 2 of Appendix A notes that an exposure exceeding 0.5 rem in one calendar year to an individual in an unrestricted area can be considered an abnormal occurrence.

Date and place. On July 21, 1977, AMF Tuboscope, Inc., Houston, Tex., reported that an Iridium sealed source of approximately 400 millicuries (NRC licensed material) was missing from their warehouse in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Nature and probable consequences. The source was contained in a locked shielded container (the camera part in an Isolog unit used in measuring pipe thickness). The Isolog unit was last used by the licensee on July 11, 1977, and discovered to be missing on July 18, 1977. The loss received extended media coverage in the Oklahoma City area and a reward was offered by the licensee.

The camera part of the Isolog unit, with the source removed, was found on August 14, 1977, in a field approximately ten miles from Oklahoma City. On August 16, 1977, representatives from the State of Oklahoma located the unshielded source (which emits radiation similar to x-rays) under a dresser in the apartment of a man and his wife in Oklahoma City. The man's brother was a former employee of AMF Tuboscope.

In June 1977, the man in whose apartment the source was found, made an allegation of radiation injury to the U.S. Department of Labor as a result of work with a pipe thickness measuring company. The NRC investigated this allegation on June 21 and 22, 1977, and found no evidence to substantiate the allegation. Examinations of this man on July 7-9, 1977 at the Rosewood General Hospital in Houston, Tex., and on August 3, 1977, at the Oklahoma University Hospital indicated no evidence of significant radiation injury.

The above individuals (the man, his wife, and the man's brother) denied any knowledge as to how the source came to be in the apartment. NRC estimates of possible exposure are based on the assumption that the source was placed under the dresser on July 18, 1977, and that the man and his wife were exposed to the source at varying distances and times each day. Based on these assumptions, the man and his wife each could have received a whole body exposure of about twenty-five (25) rems.

The man and his wife, in whose apartment the source was found, were examined at the Oklahoma University Hospital on August 16, 1977. Preliminary medical results indicate no evidence of significant exposure to the man and his wife, but more selective tests are being conducted. An NRC medical consultant is currently reviewing medical data which is being collected at the Oklahoma University Hospital.

The NRC investigation and the investigations conducted to date by the State of Oklahoma health and police authorities have not established that the man's brother was connected with the unauthorized removal of the Isolog unit or subsequent handling of the unshielded source.

Cause or causes. The failure of the licensee to adequately secure the unit in an unrestricted area was a contributing cause for the unauthorized removal of the sealed source, contained in the Isolog unit. The Isolog unit, which weighed 200 pounds, was stored in an unlocked warehouse located within a fenced area that was not always locked.

The man in whose apartment the source was found has been charged by the Oklahoma City, Okla., authorities with concealment of stolen property. How or why the source was taken from its storage place and removed from the shielded camera and then subsequently placed in the apartment have not yet been established.

ACTION TAKEN TO PREVENT RECURRENCE

Licensee. The licensed material was secured to prevent access by unauthorized individuals.

NRC. An NRC investigation was conducted on July 22, 1977, and a Notice of Violation of 10 CFR 20.207 for failure to secure licensed materials in an unrestricted area from unauthorized removal was sent to the licensee on August 4, 1977.

An NRC investigation conducted on August 17 and 18, 1977, failed to establish the circumstances relating to the loss and history of the source after it was discovered to be missing. The FBI was notified regarding this incident. Oklahoma City authorities are continuing their investigation.

CAROLINA POWER & LIGHT CO. Proposed Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering issuance of an amendment to Facility Operating License No. DPR-62 issued to Carolina Power & Light Co. (the licensee) for operation of the Brunswick Steam Electric Plant, Unit No. 2, located in Brunswick County, N.C.

In accordance with the licensee's request dated September 22, 1977, the amendment would consider a reevaluation of Emergency Core Cooling System (ECCS) cooling performance submitted in accordance with the Commission's Order for Modification of License dated March 11, 1977. This reevaluation not only corrected the errors noted in the March 11, 1977, Order but also included the effect of certain other recently approved model changes in the ECCS evaluation models. These changes would permit an increase in authorized Maximum Average Planar Linear Heat Generation Rates for 7 x 7 fuel and establish such limits for new 8 x 8 fuel, and are the aspects of the amendment covered by this notice.

Prior to issuance of the proposed license amendment, the Commission will have made the findings required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations.

By October 31, 1977, the licensee may file a request for a hearing and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a request for a hearing in the form of a petition for leave to intervene with respect to the issuance of the amendment to the subject facility operating license. Petitions for leave to intervene must be filed under oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of § 2.714 of 10 CFR Part 2 of the Commission's regulations. A petition for leave to intervene must set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and the petitioner's contentions with respect to the proposed licensing action. Such petitions must be filed in accordance with the provisions of § 2.714, and must be filed with the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Section, by the above date. A copy of the petition and/or request for a hearing should be sent to the Executive Legal Director, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, and to Richard E. Jones, Esquire, Carolina Power & Light Co., 336 Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N.C. 27602, and George F. Trowbridge, Esquire, Shaw, Pittman, Potts & Trowbridge, 1800 M Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20036, the attorneys for the licensee.

A petition for leave to intervene must be accompanied by a supporting affidavit which identifies the specific aspect or aspects of the proceeding as to which intervention is desired and specifies with particularity the facts on which the petitioner relies as to both his interest and his contentions with regard to each aspect on which intervention is requested. Petitions stating contentions relating only to matters outside the Commission's jurisdiction will be denied.

All petitions will be acted upon by the Commission or licensing board, designated by the Commission or by the Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel. Timely petitions will be considered to determine whether a hearing should be noticed or another appropriate order issued regarding the disposition of the petitions.

In the event that a hearing is held and a person is permitted to intervene, he becomes a party to the proceeding and has a right to participate fully in the conduct of the hearing. For example, he may present evidence and examine and cross-examine witnesses.

For further details with respect to this action, see the application for amendment dated September 22, 1977, which is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C., and at the Southport-Brunswick County Library, 109 West Moore Street, Southport, N.C. 28461.

FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT CO. Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has issued Amendment No. 17 to Facility Operating License No. DPR-67, issued to Florida Power & Light Company (the licensee), which revised the license and its appendices Technical Specifications for operation of the St. Lucie Plant Unit No. 1 (the facility), located in St. Lucie County, Fla. The amendment is effective as of its date of issuance.

The amendment changed the Technical Specifications for the facility to: (1) Clarify that the containment vacuum relief valve may be operable during refueling, (2) add a feedwater isolation response time requirement and delete the response time for the "Feedwater Flow Reduction to 5 percent" for a reactor trip, (3) provide new figures ("Reactor Coolant System Pressure Temperature Limitations") to comply with Appendix G of 10 CFR 50, (4) modify the administrative time allowed for review and approval of temporary plant procedure changes to be consistent with current NRC requirements, (5) correct the number of spent fuel racks to be consistent with the existing plant design, (6) modify the equation for the power distribution limit by deleting the fuel rod bowing factor of 1.05 consistent with the NSSS vendor analysis, and (7) change the emergency diesel generator load sequence timing requirement to be consistent with the existing plant design.

The applications for the amendment comply with the standards and requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations. The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the license amendment. Prior public notice of this amendment was not required since the amendment does not involve a significant hazards consideration.

The Commission has determined that the issuance of this amendment will not result in any significant environmental impact and that pursuant to 10 CFR 51.5(d)(4) an environmental impact statement or negative declaration and environmental impact appraisal need not be prepared in connection with issuance of this amendment.

For further details with respect to this action, see (1) the applications for amendment dated August 16, 1976; October 19, October 29; November 8 (as supplemented by letters dated May 31 and July 6, 1977); March 17, 1977; April 14 and July 7, 1977, (2) Amendment No. 17 to License No. DPR-67, and (3) the Commission's related Safety Evaluation. Pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and the regulations of the Commission in 10 CFR Part 51, the Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc., has filed an environmental report dated March 1977 in support of their application to vacate the requirement for termination of operation with once-through cooling set forth in Facility Operating License No. DPR-26 for Indian Point Nuclear Generating Station, Unit No. 2, located in Westchester County, N.Y. The Environmental Report is accompanied by the applicant's final research report entitled, "Influence of Indian Point Unit 2 and Other Steam Electric Generating Plants on the Hudson River Estuary, with Emphasis on Striped Bass and Other Fish Populations."

The application seeks, as principal relief, the removal of certain provisions of the license requiring the termination of operation with the installed once-through cooling system at Indian Point Station, Unit No. 2 and would permit operation with the present cooling system for the remainder of the term of the license. The application also requests, as ancillary relief, that the Commission enlarge the period of interim operation to permit conclusion of the environmental review of the application (including any judicial review that may be sought) before the applicant must go ahead with investment in a cooling tower.

The operating license presently requires the applicant to terminate operation with once-through cooling by May 1, 1982.

The above-mentioned reports are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20555, and at the White Plains Public Library, 100 Martine Avenue, White Plains, N.Y. 10601. Copies of the report are also being made available at the New York State Division of the Budget, State Capitol, Albany, N.Y., and the Tri-State Regional Planning Commission, 1 World Trade Center, 56 South Street, New York, N.Y.

After the environmental report has been analyzed by the Office of the Nuclear Reactor Regulation, a draft environmental statement will be prepared. The draft statement will also include analyses of the impacts of once-through cooling at Indian Point Unit No. 3, which currently has Consolidated Edison and the Power Authority of the State of New York as co-licensees. Upon preparation of the draft environmental statement, the Commission will, among other things, cause to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER a summary notice of availability of the draft statement. The summary notice will also contain a statement to the effect that comments of Federal agencies, State and local officials, and members of the public will be made available when received. Upon consideration of comments submitted with respect to the draft environmental statement, the staff will issue a final environmental statement, the availability of which will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Dated at Bethesda, Md., this 22nd day of September 1977.

JERSEY CENTRAL POWER AND LIGHT CO. Issuance of Amendment to Provisional Operating License

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has issued Amendment No. 24 to Provisional Operating License No. DPR-16 issued to Jersey Central Power & Light Company which revised Technical Specifications for operation of the Oyster Creek Nuclear Generating Station, located in Ocean County, New Jersey. The amendment is effective as of its date of issuance.

The amendment modifies the Technical Specifications to delete specifications and bases applicable to fuel types I and III which are no longer in the Oyster Creek core and to extend the MAPLHGR curves for the fuel types still in the core.

The application for the amendment complies with the standards and requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations. The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the license amendment. Prior public notice of this amendment was not required since the amendment does not involve a significant hazards consideration.

The Commission has determined that the issuance of this amendment will not result in any significant environmental impact and that pursuant to 10 CFR § 51.5(d)(4) an environmental impact statement or negative declaration and environmental impact appraisal need not be prepared in connection with issuance of this amendment.

For further details with respect to this action, see (1) the application for amendment dated June 23, 1977, (2) Amendment No. 24 to License No. DPR-16, and (3) the Commission's related Safety Evaluation. #### POWER AUTHORITY OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK

Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License and Negative Declaration

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has issued Amendment No. 28 to Facility Operating License No. DPR-59, issued to the Power Authority of the State of New York (the licensee), which revised Technical Specifications for operation of the James A. FitzPatrick Nuclear Power Plant (the facility) located in Oswego County, New York. The amendment is effective as of its date of issuance.

The amendment provides for changes in (1) primary containment atmospheric monitor surveillance requirements; (2) radiation level setpoints for various building ventilation systems; and (3) the reactor coolant leakage monitoring system in the drywell.

The application for the amendment complies with the standards and requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations. The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the license amendment. Prior public notice of this amendment was not required since the amendment does not involve a significant hazards consideration.

The Commission has prepared an environmental impact appraisal for the revised Technical Specifications and has concluded that an environmental impact statement for this particular action is not warranted because there will be no environmental impact attributable to the action other than that which has already been predicted and described in the Commission's Final Environmental Statement for the facility.

For further details with respect to this action, see (1) the application for amendment submitted by letter dated June 17, 1976, (2) Amendment No. 28 to License No. DPR-59, and (3) the Commission's related Safety Evaluation/Environmental Impact Appraisal. #### REGULATORY GUIDE

Issuance and Availability

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has issued a new guide in its Regulatory Guide Series. This series has been developed to describe and make available to the public methods acceptable to the NRC staff of implementing specific parts of the Commission's regulations and, in some cases, to delineate techniques used by the staff in evaluating specific problems or postulated accidents and to provide guidance to applicants concerning certain of the information needed by the staff in its review of applications for permits and licenses.

Regulatory Guide 1.133, "Loose-Part Detection Program for the Primary System of Light-Water-Cooled Reactors," describes a method acceptable to the NRC staff for implementing certain regulatory requirements with respect to detecting a potentially safety-related loose part in light-water-cooled reactors during normal operation. The recommended program can, by the early detection of a loose part, provide the time required to minimize damage to reactor coolant system components.

Comments and suggestions in connection with (1) items for inclusion in guides currently being developed or (2) improvements in all published guides are encouraged at any time. Public comments on Regulatory Guide 1.133 will, however, be particularly useful in evaluating the need for an early revision if received by November 25, 1977.

Comments should be sent to the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Branch.

Regulatory guides are available for inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. Requests for single copies of issued guides (which may be reproduced) or for placement on an automatic distribution list for single copies of future guides in specific divisions should be made in writing to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C.

VERMONT YANKEE NUCLEAR POWER CORP.

Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License and Negative Declaration

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has, pursuant to the Initial Decision of its Atomic Safety and Licensing Board dated August 30, 1977, issued Amendment No. 37 to Facility Operating License No. DPR-28, issued to the Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corporation (the licensee), which revised the Technical Specifications for operation of the Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Station (the facility) located near Vernon, Vermont. The amendment is effective as of its date of issuance.

The amendment revised the Technical Specifications to permit phased replacement of the existing spent fuel storage racks having a capacity of 600 fuel assemblies with new storage racks having a capacity of 2000 fuel assemblies.

The Initial Decision is effective immediately, but is subject to review by an Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board prior to its becoming final. Any decision or action taken by an Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board in connection with the Initial Decision may be reviewed by the Commission.

The application for the amendment complies with the standards and requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations. The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the license amendment.

Notice of Proposed Issuance of the Amendment was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 9, 1976 (41 FR 53871). Interventions were sought by and granted in accordance with 10 CFR 2.714 to New England Coalition on Nuclear Pollution, Conservation Society of Southern Vermont and Vermont Public Interest Research Group, collectively (NECNP) as one intervenor; in addition, intervention was granted to the State of Vermont. The State of New Hampshire participated solely as an "interested State" pursuant to 10 CFR 2.715(c). An evidentiary hearing was held on June 21, 1977, following a special prehearing conference held on April 26, 1977, and subsequently the above-referenced Initial Decision was issued August 30, 1977.

The Commission has prepared an Environmental Impact Appraisal (EIA) for this action. The Atomic Safety and Licensing Board concluded in its Initial Decision that the EIA is comprehensive and that authorizing modification of the spent fuel storage pool is not a major

Negative Declaration Regarding Issuance of a License

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has issued a source material license for the operation of a natural uranium recovery facility by the Wyoming Mineral Corporation at the Kennecott Copper Corporation's Bingham Canyon Mine near Copperton, Utah.

The Commission's Division of Fuel Cycle and Material Safety has prepared an environmental/safety impact appraisal for the operation of the Uranium Recovery Facility. On the basis of this appraisal, the Commission concluded that an environmental impact statement for this particular action is not warranted because there will be no significant environmental impact attributable to the action. NATIONAL TRANSPORTATION SAFETY BOARD

[N-AR 77-39]

SAFETY RECOMMENDATION AND RESPONSES

Availability and Receipt

Railroad Safety Recommendation R-77-28.—The National Transportation Safety Board has recommended that the Federal Railroad Administration promulgate regulations which will establish minimum audible warning requirements for locomotive whistles to provide sufficient warning commensurate with the locomotive's operating speed and direction of travel. The recommendation, issued by letter dated September 19, is designated "Class II, Priority Followup." The recommendation was issued as a result of investigation into two separate train accidents, both involving St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Company (SL-SF) work trains and pedestrians/trespassers. In one accident, which occurred last December 11 near Sikeston, Missouri, one of two teenagers who were walking along the railroad tracks was struck and killed. Last April 2 near Neelyville, Missouri, one of two young motorbike riders, traveling between the main track and a siding, was struck and killed.

The investigations, in both accidents, revealed that the locomotives were moving backward at approximately 50 mph. The locomotives were equipped with five chime whistles, all five chimes facing forward. Originally, the Safety Board noted, the SL-SF railroad had some of the chimes of the locomotive whistles facing to the rear for the purpose of recalling the flagman. In the early 1960's, when the need for flag protection was eliminated, SL-SF remounted the whistle, with all five chimes facing forward, to provide a louder warning. When mounted in this manner, however, the effectiveness of the whistle is greatly reduced when the locomotive is moving backward.

The surviving witnesses in both the Sikeston and Neelyville accidents testified that they did not receive any prior warning from the locomotive whistles, even though the engineers were blowing the whistles continuously.

Response from the Federal Aviation Administration to Aviation Safety Recommendations A-77-45 through 47.—Letter of September 9 is in answer to recommendations issued following investigation into the crash last November 26 of a Piper PA-28 some 33 miles northeast of Farmington, New Mexico. Six days elapsed before rescue personnel were able to locate the aircraft wreckage. (See 42 FR 33391, June 30, 1977.)

In answer to recommendation A-77-45, which asked FAA to alert all ATC personnel of the circumstances of this accident and emphasize to them the importance of transmitting to search and rescue personnel all available information on the last known location of a missing aircraft, FAA notes that the use of computer position recording capability for locating lost aircraft is relatively new and still in the development stage. To provide the best usage of existing capabilities while the National Program is being developed, FAA has directed all regions to provide the fullest possible cooperation with the National Rescue Coordination Center (NRCC) in providing computer derived position information.

Recommendation A-77-46 asked FAA to revise the Air Traffic Controller's Handbook, Chapter 8, to include specific instructions to relay to NRCC at Scott Air Force Base, Illinois, information on the last known location of a missing aircraft obtained from the computer-stored radar information. FAA states that in view of limitations that must be considered until the National Program is implemented, it is premature to forecast specific actions that will apply to the Safety Board's recommendations. Program guidance, under development, will encompass the automation methodology function and procedures for coordination with NRCC, FAA states. FAA is coordinating with the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center (AFRCC) at Scott Air Force Base in its documentation and program development effort.

With reference to A-77-47, which recommended that FAA inform the NRCC of the NAS radar system computer capabilities and advise them to include in their procedures provisions for updating more rapidly information on last known positions of missing aircraft, FAA reports close cooperation with the NRCC at Scott Air Force Base in this continuing effort. FAA notes that the procedure for having radar data on aircraft targets recorded on tape where it can be retrieved in the form of a computer print-out was originally developed for testing the new computerized air traffic control system. The technique was extended two years ago to search and rescue use after personnel at the Denver Air Route Traffic Control Center recognized its potential and worked out procedures in cooperation with AFRCC at Scott Air Force Base.

FA states, "At present, special training is needed for the delicate task of tracing an aircraft flight path on the print-out to the point where it disappears from the radar screen. Currently 15 Air Route Traffic Control Centers have the proper equipment for that purpose. However, we expect that within the next two years the task can be simplified and a new computer technique developed so that all 20 Centers will have the capability of searching for missing aircraft position by means of computer derived information."

Response of City of Cherokee, Alabama, to Pipeline Safety Recommendations P-77-18 through 20.—The September 7 letter from a Cherokee City Commissioner reports on progress in efforts to prevent recurrence of the gas explosion and fire which on July 30, 1977, destroyed a house in Cherokee. One person in the house suffered third-degree burns, was hospitalized, and died four days later. (See 42 FR 44045, September 1, 1977.)

During investigation into the cause of the explosion, the Safety Board recommended that the Cherokee Water and Gas Board: Require, during its current and all future sewer construction programs, the support and protection of its cast-iron gas mains in accord with Federal regulations and in a manner acceptable to the Alabama Public Service Commission (P-77-18); examine, support, and protect where necessary in accord with Federal regulations and acceptable to the Alabama Public Service Commission, those segments of cast-iron gas mains that have been disturbed already by this sewer construction project (P-77-19); and immediately begin to patrol its gas distribution system as frequently as necessary while the potential exists for gas main failure due to settlement (P-77-20).

The Commissioner reports that officials of the Gas Pipeline Safety Division of the Alabama Public Service Commission began their investigation within five hours of the explosion. Guidelines, similar to those issued by the Safety Board on August 22, were set for the city government and water and gas department to follow. The Commissioner states, "Upon our first instructions to monitor the gas system closely to check for leaks, we immediately started observing these instructions and have continued to do so on a day to day basis since that time."

The Commissioner reports that on August 8 the city officials felt it necessary to check the system by all means available and decided to "put the maximum amount of odorant into the system." They believed that it was important to have citizen participation to find any possible leaks in the system. The Commissioner states that the leaks that were reported at that time were only minor in nature and all were promptly repaired.

Further, the Commissioner reports that the City of Cherokee will require that the sewer contractor and the city engineer redo work where gas lines are involved and bring all work up to standard in accordance with a letter dated September 2, 1977, from the Alabama

Public Service Commission; a copy of the letter is attached to the Commissioner's letter.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Rel. No. 9942 (812-4075)]

INTERMENT ASSOCIATION OF CALIFORNIA

Notice of Filing of Application

SEPTEMBER 22, 1977.

In the matter of The Interment Association of California, 925 "L" Street, Suite 315, Sacramento, California 95814 and Ahlser-Wilson Mortuary, 225 So. Broadway, Escondido, California 92025 and California Funeral Services, Inc., 401 W. Channel Islands Blvd., Oxnard, California 93030 and Lavista Cemetery association, P.O. Box 536, National City, California 92050.

Notice is hereby given that the Interment Association of California (the "Association"), on behalf of certain of its members, Ahlser-Wilson Mortuary, California Funeral Services, Inc., and La Vista Cemetery Association (collectively referred to as "Applicants") filed an application on January 3, 1977 and amendments thereto on April 28, 1977 and on August 18, 1977, for an order, pursuant to Section 6(c) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), exempting Applicants from all the provisions of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder in connection with (a) completion of installment sales of certain debentures issued by Applicants under existing subscription agreements, and (b) certain outstanding debentures which were sold on an installment basis. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein, which are summarized below.

The members of the Association joining as Applicants consist of Chapel of the Chimes Memorial Park, East Lawn Mortuary Co., Forest Lawn Memorial Parks and Mortuaries, Green Acres Memorial Gardens, Hillcrest Memorial Park, Oakdale Memorial Park, Oak Hill Improvement Company, Pacific View Memorial Park, Pierce Brothers Valhalla Memorial Park, Redding Memorial Park, Rose Hills Memorial Park, San Diego Cemetery Association, and Skylawn Memorial Park; and each of the other Applicants is a funeral service company located in the State of California. Applicants in the past have sold pre-need funeral service debentures on an installment basis ("Debentures") to individuals desiring to set aside money to pay for their funerals.

Applicants state that the Debentures typically bear a modest rate of interest, mature in twenty to twenty-five years and can be applied at their face amount prior to maturity toward payment for funeral services "at time of need."

Applicants represent that most of the Debentures were sold pursuant to subscription agreements under which an average of $500 to $1,000 of Debentures were subscribed for and were to be paid for over a five to ten year period. Applicants further represent that as of February 9, 1976, there was outstanding an aggregate of approximately $55,000,000 of fully or partially paid Debentures, and subscription agreements providing for payments to be made on issued Debentures or for the purchase of additional unissued Debentures of the Applicants in the aggregate amount of approximately $22,500,000.

On January 5, 1976, the Commission announced its decision in The Matter of International Funeral Services of California, Inc. (Investment Company Act Release No. 9112), in which it found that installment sales of pre-need funeral service debentures of the type issued by the Applicants constitute the issuance of face-amount certificates of the installment type requiring the issuer to be registered under and comply with the provisions of the Act.

Section 3(a)(2) of the Act defines "investment company" to mean an issuer which is engaged or proposes to engage in the business of issuing face-amount certificates of the installment type, or has been engaged in such business and has any such certificates outstanding.

Section 2(a)(15) of the Act defines "face-amount certificates" to include "any . . . security which represents an obligation of its issuer to pay a stated or determinable sum at a fixed or determinable date more than twenty-four months after the date of issuance, in consideration of the payment of periodic installments of a stated or determinable amount (which security shall be known as a face-amount certificate of the installment type)."

Applicants state that, if the Debentures are face-amount certificates of the installment type, registration of the issuers or an exemption under the Act will be required (1) to complete sales on an installment basis of Debentures already subscribed for, and (2) for so long as the Applicants have outstanding any previously issued Debentures which were sold on an installment basis. Applicants have, therefore, applied for an exemption from all the provisions of the Act pursuant to Section 6(c) of the Act, in connection with (a) completion of Debenture sales by Applicants under existing subscription agreements, and (b) outstanding Debentures which were sold on an installment basis.

Section 6(c) provides, in pertinent part, that the Commission, by order upon application, may conditionally or unconditionally exempt any person or class of persons from any or all provisions of the Act if and to the extent that such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.

Applicants make six basic representations which form the basis for their assertion that the granting of an exemption pursuant to Section 6(c) of the Act is appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors:

(1) Applicants represent that they have neither solicited nor accepted any new subscription agreements for the installment sale of Debentures since February 9, 1976, and that in the future they will not enter into any new agreements for the sales of Debentures on an installment basis.

(2) Applicants represent that all future pre-need funeral arrangements made on an installment basis will be undertaken only by way of trust agreements established pursuant to the provisions of Section 7735 et seq. of the California Business and Professions Code ("the Short Act") which requires, among other things, that all cash or other property received by a funeral director in advance of need be maintained by trustees in segregated accounts and held in specified investments.

(3) Applicants represent that each Applicant has established a trust account meeting the requirements of the Short Act to hold all monies received and to be received since February 9, 1976, pursuant to existing subscription agreements. The funds held in such accounts may be used to meet redemption requests on those Debentures issued since February 9, 1976, pursuant to existing subscription requirements. Income on the corpus of such trust funds is to be applied first to the expenses of administering the trust, second to the payment of interest due on the Debentures, if any, and third to Applicants. As of May 26, 1977, the total amount held in such trust funds was approximately $6,000,000.

(4) Applicants propose to offer to the original purchaser, his conservator or other legal representative in the case of his incapacity, or any member of his immediate family to whom he has transferred his Debentures a right to redeem for cash all outstanding Debentures. The redemption right will be available only during the life of the original purchaser. Debentures purchased since February 9, 1976, will be redeemable at the full face amount of the Debenture plus any accrued and unpaid interest. With respect to Debentures issued or paid for prior to February 9, 1976, each Applicant will have the option for three years after the date of the order granting this application to charge an administrative fee for cash redemptions of up to 7 percent of the amount of Debentures redeemed. Any Applicant with outstanding Debentures having existing provisions affording more liberal redemption rights will continue to be bound by such provisions. On the expiration of the 3 year period following the date of the order issued on this application, all outstanding Debentures issued by Applicants will be redeemable at the full face amount of the Debentures plus interest, if any, without the imposition of any administrative fees. Applicants assert that the 7 percent administrative charge is not inconsistent with the redemption requirements of the Act and that it is necessary to provide a redemption disincentive to make less likely an initial flood of redemptions which might have serious adverse consequences to the Applicants.

(5) Applicants represent that they will notify all holders of outstanding Debentures of their redemption right, the exemption obtained from the Commission, and the trust arrangements created to assure performance of the pre-need contracts. Notice will be in the form of a letter sent to each Debenture holder promptly upon the granting of the requested exemption or, at the option of each Applicant, with the next interest payment on the Debentures subsequent to the issuance of an order granting the application.

(6) Applicants further propose to establish a cash Performance Trust Fund (the "Performance Trust") in an initial amount of $250,000 with a subsequent contribution of an additional $125,000 should the Performance Trust fall below $125,000 during the term of its existence. The purpose of the proposed Performance Trust would be to reimburse the cost of funeral services performed by any of the Applicants or other mortuaries for holders of Debentures of any of the Applicants which may be unable to perform such services because of insolvency. Companies which perform funeral services for holders of Debentures issued by one of the Applicants which became insolvent would be reimbursed by the Performance Trust in the amount of approximately 20% of the face amount of the Debentures so redeemed in services. The Performance Trust would not be used to meet cash redemptions. Applicants propose to maintain the Performance Trust until all obligations under outstanding Debentures are satisfied or until the Trustees unanimously determine, with the concurrence of the California Department of Corporations, that some or all of the Performance Trust is no longer reasonably required to assure performance of funeral services for holders of outstanding Debentures.

Applicants state that they have undertaken to form the Performance Trust and the trusts for all monies received since February 9, 1976, under existing subscription agreements in order to ensure that monies received upon the sale of the Debentures are substantially reserved for the performance of the terms and conditions of the Debentures.

Applicants assert that the granting of the requested exemption would be in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors in view of (a) the protection afforded investors by the six numbered representations set out above, and (b) the adverse effects that a refusal to grant said exemption could have on the funeral service industry of California. Applicants state that such adverse effects include the possibility of some or all of Applicants being unable to remain in business, thus leaving up to approximately 75,000 holders of outstanding Debentures without the funeral services which they sought to secure by purchasing Applicants' Debentures.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than October 17, 1977, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon Applicants at the addresses stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0-5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application will be issued as of course following said date unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

By the Commission.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

TEXT OF PROPOSED RULE CHANGE, NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE, INC.

THE LISTED COMPANY AND THE SPECIALIST

I. The need for maintaining contact. The Exchange's communications efforts are designed to provide all of its many constituencies with a better and more thorough understanding of its primary product—the continuous, two-way auction market. A crucial aspect of these efforts is the role of the specialist who is accountable to all of the many constituencies he serves for the quality of the Exchange market. By contributing to the liquidity, continuity and depth of the market, the specialist also contributes to the value and prestige of an Exchange listing.

The Exchange believes that a good, working rapport with its listed companies is essential for achieving an awareness of auction market operations, its many facets, and the many factors that affect the marketability of a company's stock. Because specialists stand as the focal point for the market in the stock, they are best able to contribute to that understanding. Accordingly, specialists are encouraged to maintain an active, two-way dialogue with representatives of listed companies. As a result, company officials can more fully appreciate the problems and the obstacles which confront the specialist in maintaining a fair and orderly market thus enabling them to better respond to questions on their stock from their stockholders, employees, and the general public. Equally important, the specialist gains a greater familiarity with the company, its management and its business philosophy, and a better general understanding of the industry of which that company is a part. This will enable him to better assess the impact of corporate or industry developments on the market in the company's stock.

II. Frequency of contact. It is recommended that specialists be available to meet with listed company officials on a regular basis. Such meetings are desirable as specialists gain the benefit of exposure to the company's point of view, and companies can more fully appreciate the role of the specialist and the rules under which he operates.

IV. Guidelines for contact. Guidelines for delineating the types of information that can be discussed between specialist and listed company are designed primarily to provide a framework within which a meaningful exchange of views can be made. They are not intended to inhibit the company or the specialist from discussing other matters of mutual interest provided such matters are those that could be freely discussed with or made available to anyone having a legitimate interest in the company. However, the company should not discuss non-public information which could affect the decision of investors to buy, sell, or hold the company's stock. The specialist, by the same token, should not discuss information which he has been asked to hold in confidence as agent.

It is expected that when both parties meet, they will exercise caution and good judgment in the types of information exchanged. However, if in the course of discussion the specialist inadvertently acquires information about the business of the company which he feels might significantly impact on the market in the stock, he should inform the company that such information must be reported to the Exchange so that steps will be taken to insure that it is adequately disseminated before trading in the stock can continue.

The Exchange suggests that in discussions between specialists and listed companies, proper liaison can be maintained, and the resulting dialogues mutually beneficial, if the conversations include the types of information described below.

1. By the company. Any information given by the company to security analysts, financial writers, stockholders, and others having a legitimate interest in the company's affairs, may also be given to the specialist.

Company officials may discuss such matters as the number of shares publicly held and the geographical distribution of the shares, the trend of business and the types of products manufactured and/or services provided, and policies regarding the business of the company.

2. By the specialists.—a. The role of the specialist. The specialists should de-holders, security analysts, or anyone having a legitimate interest in the company may also be discussed.

Rumors encountered by the listed company which might reasonably be expected to significantly affect market conditions in the stock should be brought to the attention of the Exchange staff as quickly as possible. Specialists encountering such rumors should contact a Floor Official in accordance with established procedures. The staff will then take immediate steps to confirm or deny their accuracy. In this regard, the specialist and the listed company should be familiar with Exchange rules and policies concerning the circulation of unsubstantiated information. These are contained in an Exchange pamphlet entitled "Expanded Policy on Timely Disclosure".

IV. Guidelines for contact. Guidelines for delineating the types of information that can be discussed between specialist and listed company are designed primarily to provide a framework within which a meaningful exchange of views can be made. They are not intended to inhibit the company or the specialist from discussing other matters of mutual interest provided such matters are those that could be freely discussed with or made available to anyone having a legitimate interest in the company. However, the company should not discuss non-public information which could affect the decision of investors to buy, sell, or hold the company's stock. The specialist, by the same token, should not discuss information which he has been asked to hold in confidence as agent.

It is expected that when both parties meet, they will exercise caution and good judgment in the types of information exchanged. However, if in the course of discussion the specialist inadvertently acquires information about the business of the company which he feels might significantly impact on the market in the stock, he should inform the company that such information must be reported to the Exchange so that steps will be taken to insure that it is adequately disseminated before trading in the stock can continue.

The Exchange suggests that in discussions between specialists and listed companies, proper liaison can be maintained, and the resulting dialogues mutually beneficial, if the conversations include the types of information described below.

1. By the company. Any information given by the company to security analysts, financial writers, stockholders, and others having a legitimate interest in the company's affairs, may also be given to the specialist.

Company officials may discuss such matters as the number of shares publicly held and the geographical distribution of the shares, the trend of business and the types of products manufactured and/or services provided, and policies regarding the business of the company.

2. By the specialists.—a. The role of the specialist. The specialists should describe his functions in meaningful terms, particularly his principal and agency responsibilities and his efforts to bring buyers and sellers together. In addition, he may discuss how he tailors his performance to the specific trading characteristics of the company's stock.

b. His organization. 1. Number of specialists, years of experience, ages, other stocks in which the firm specializes, other business activities (i.e., retail business, options, arbitrage);

ii. Exchange committee of which individual specialists are members;

iii. General financial information may be given at the discretion of the specialist.

c. Market characteristics of the stock.

i. The number and sizes of orders normally present in the market, without disclosing the actual size or terms of orders currently on the book;

ii. The amount of institutional interest, including the extent of block orders. Buyers and sellers of significant transactions can be disclosed, but when the specialist has acted as agent, permission from the buying and selling brokers involved must be obtained;

iii. Price continuity (trade-to-trade price variations), quotation spreads (the difference between the reported bid and offer prices), depth (price movement over a given volume of shares traded), Exchange share of the Consolidated Tape System volume, etc.;

iv. How the stock has reacted to past news announcements.

d. General topics regarding the Exchange and the specialist system (i.e., the DOT System, specialist surveillance, procedures for monitoring the financial conditions of specialists, performance evaluation and stock allocation procedures).

In addition to the above, the specialist is permitted to discuss his performance based on evaluation methods employed by the Exchange and any disciplinary or performance improvement action that has been taken. However, corporations are encouraged to direct inquiries of this nature to the staff of the Exchange so that full explanations can be provided and possible misunderstandings averted.

(c). The Exchange may deny membership to, or condition the membership of, a registered broker or dealer, and may bar a natural person from becoming a member or associated with a member, or condition the membership of a natural person or association of a natural person with a member, if such broker or dealer, or natural person (1) does not successfully complete such written proficiency examinations as required by the Exchange to enable it to examine and verify the applicant's qualifications to function in one or more of the capacities applied for; (2) does not meet such other standards of training, experience, and competence as may be established by the Exchange; (3) has engaged and there is a reasonable likelihood he will again engage in acts or practices inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade; or (4) such natural person (i) is subject to any unsatisfied liens, judgments or unsatisfied creditor claims of a material nature, which, in the absence of a reasonable explanation therefor, remain outstanding for more than sixty (60) days, (ii) has been subject to any bankruptcy proceeding, receivership or arrangement for the benefit of creditors within the past three years; or (iii) has engaged in an established pattern of failure to pay just debts.

The Board may waive a required examination for any applicant if, within two years of the date such applicant applied to the Exchange for membership, such applicant has successfully completed a comparable examination administered by a self-regulatory body or the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Application Procedures; Approval

Sec. 3(d). Every individual applying to become the owner of a membership, every individual designated as a nominee of a member organization, every organization applying to become the owner of a membership and every organization for which the owner of an individual membership is to be registered shall complete an application on the appropriate form prescribed by the Exchange and shall file it with the Department of Membership Services of the Exchange. All applications shall be filed together with such application fees and such additional documents and agreements as may be required by the Exchange.

Within 15 days following receipt of an application for membership, the Department of Membership Services shall mail to all members the name of the applicant and the name of the nominee of an applicant organization. A notice containing the same information shall be posted on the bulletin board on the floors of the Exchange.

Before an application is considered for approval by the Compliance Department, every individual applicant and, in the case of applicant organizations, all persons associated with the member organization, may be investigated by the Exchange. Individual applicants may be required to appear in person before the Membership Services Director or Compliance Director. After the notice of application has been posted for at least 10 days, the Compliance Department shall approve or disapprove the application. The Compliance Department shall disapprove an application for membership if it does not make such a finding or if it finds that if the application were approved, the member would be subject to suspension or expulsion under the provisions of these Rules.

Approval of an application requires a vote of the majority of the members of the Membership Committee then in office, and any application not receiving such approval shall be deemed disapproved. Written notice of the action of the Compliance Department specifying, in the case of disapproval of an application, the grounds therefor shall be given to the applicant. When an application involves the purchase of a membership, if the approved applicant fails to acquire and pay for a membership the approval shall be withdrawn.

Disapproval of Membership Application

Sec. 3(e). In the event that an application for membership is disapproved by the Compliance Department, the applicant shall have an opportunity to be heard upon the specific grounds for the disapproval, in accordance with the provisions of Article VI, section 1 (f) of the Exchange Constitution and Rules promulgated thereunder. A disapproved applicant desiring to be heard shall so notify the Exchange in writing, within fifteen days of the applicant's receipt of notice of such disapproval and file with the Exchange a petition for review of such disapproval.

Commentary

.01. As used in section 3(b)(3)(i), the term "material" means any amount which equals more than 5 percent of the total assets of the broker or dealer.

.02. The Exchange shall regard the failure to carry out any contract or honor any financial commitment with another member or member firm, (a) by any applicant as a violation of just and equitable principles of trade and, (b) an indication of a broker or dealer applicant's inability to meet such standards of financial responsibility as may be set by the Exchange.

Obligations of Terminating Members

Sec. 11. Every member who sells or transfers his membership pursuant to the provisions of this Rule must be current in all filings and payments of dues, fees and charges relating to that membership, including filing fees and charges required by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation. If a member fails to make all such filings, or to pay all such dues, fees and charges, the Secretary may notwithstanding the other applicable provisions of this Rule, withhold distribution of the proceeds of the sale of said membership, or delay the effectiveness of the membership of the transferee, until such time as the failures have been remedied.

STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE

The basis and purpose of the foregoing proposed rule change is as follows:

The purpose of the proposed rule change is to remove language from the Rules of the PSE which is no longer applicable (present sections 3(a) through 3(f)), to add definitive provisions for approving, denying and conditioning membership on the PSE (new sections 3(a) through 3(e)), and to define certain obligations of terminating members (new section 11).

The basis for the proposed rule change is sections 6(c)(2) and 6(b)(5) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, which shall enable the PSE to better carry out the purposes of the Act in the processing of membership applications and in clarifying the obligations of terminating members.

Comments have neither been solicited nor received from members on the proposed rule change.

The proposed rule change imposes no burden upon competition.

On or before November 3, 1977, or within such longer period (i) as the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:

(A) By order approve such proposed rule change, or

(B) Institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be disapproved.

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views and arguments concerning the foregoing. Persons desiring to make written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary of the Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. Copies of the filing with respect to the foregoing and of all written submissions will be available for inspection and copying in the Public Reference Room, 1100 L Street NW., Washington,

[Release No. 34-13994, File No. SR-PHLX 77-13]

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE, INC.
Self-Regulatory Organizations; Proposed Rule Change

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1), as amended by Pub. L. No. 94-29, 16 (June 4, 1975), notice is hereby given that on September 16, 1977, the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a proposed rule change as follows:

EXCHANGE'S STATEMENT OF TERMS OF SUBSTANCE OF THE PROPOSED RULE CHANGE

The Philadelphia Stock Exchange, Inc. (PHLX), proposes an amendment to its Rule 1010 relating to withdrawal of approval of an underlying stock previously approved for Exchange option transactions. Under present provisions, upon Exchange determination that any underlying stock should no longer be approved because it does not meet current requirements or for any other reason, trading is not opened in any additional series of options of the class covering such underlying stock. An additional section to the rule is now proposed which, notwithstanding the foregoing, would, in the case of a class or series of previously approved option contracts not exclusively traded on the Exchange, permit the Exchange with SEC approval to strike from trading or listing such class or series of option contracts. The text of a proposed second section of Rule 1010 to be designated as (b) follows. The present first section will be designated as (a). Italics indicate new material:

1010(b) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, whenever the Exchange determines in the interest of maintaining a fair and orderly market or for the protection of investors that a class or series of option contracts previously approved for Exchange option transactions and not exclusively traded on the Exchange should no longer be approved, the Exchange may make application to the Securities and Exchange Commission to strike from trading and listing such class or series of option contracts.

EXCHANGE'S STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE

The basis and purpose of the foregoing proposed rule change is as follows:

In the case of option contracts not exclusively traded on one Exchange, the significant trading activity may shift, for various reasons, to one or more other market centers which then can provide fair and orderly markets for outstanding series of option contracts. If alternative market centers of adequate quality are available to the public, it appears reasonable for an exchange experiencing such significant loss of trading activity to have the power, in the case of multiply-traded option contracts, to terminate trading in a class or series at a particular time with SEC approval and without waiting for an outstanding series to expire.

The standards of fair and orderly markets and the protection of investors are written into this rule and would be the basis for invoking it.

No comments have been received or solicited.

No burden on competition will be imposed by the proposed amendment.

Within 35 days of the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, or within such longer period (i) as the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:

(A) By order approve such proposed rule change, or

(B) Institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be disapproved.

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views and arguments concerning the foregoing. Persons desiring to make written submissions should file 6 copies thereof, with the Secretary of the Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. Copies of the filing with respect to the foregoing and of all written submissions will be available for inspection and copying in the Public Reference Room, 1100 L Street NW., Washington, D.C. Copies of such filing will also be available for inspection and copying at the principal office of the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization. All submissions should refer to the file number referenced in the caption above and should be submitted on or before October 31, 1977.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

MOTOR CARRIER BOARD TRANSFER PROCEEDINGS

The following publications include motor carrier, water carrier, broker, and freight forwarder transfer applications filed under sections 212(b), 206(a), 211, 312(b), and 410(g) of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Each application (except as otherwise specifically noted) contains a statement by applicants that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of the application.

Protests against approval of the application, which may include a request for oral hearing, must be filed with the Commission within 30-days after the date of this publication. Failure seasonably to file a protest will be construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. A protest must be served upon applicants' representative(s), or applicants (if no such representative is named), and the protestant must certify that such service has been made.

Unless otherwise specified, the signed original and six copies of the protest shall be filed with the Commission. All protests must specify with particularity the factual basis, and the section of the Act, or the applicable rule governing the proposed transfer which protestant believes would preclude approval of the application. If the protest contains a request for oral hearing, the request shall be supported by an explanation as to why the evidence sought to be presented cannot reasonably be submitted through the use of affidavits.

SEPTEMBER 23, 1977.

Petitions for Modification, Interpretation, or Reinstatement of Operating Rights Authority

The following petitions seek modification or interpretation of existing operating rights authority, or reinstatement of terminated operating rights authority.

The Commission has recently provided for easier identification of substantive petition matters and all documents should clearly specify the "docket", "sub", and "suffix" (e.g. M1, M2) numbers identified by the FEDERAL REGISTER notice.

An original and one copy of protests to the granting of the requested authority must be filed with the Commission on or before October 31, 1977. Such protest shall comply with Special Rule 247(d) of the Commission's General Rules of Practice (49 CFR 1100.247) and shall include a concise statement of protestant's interest in the proceeding and copies of its conflicting authorities. Verified statements in opposition should not be tendered at this time. A copy of the protest shall be served concurrently upon petitioner's representative, or petitioner if no representative is named.

The following applications are governed by Special Rule 247 of the Commission's General Rules of Practice (49 CFR § 1100.247). These rules provide, among other things, that a protest to the granting of an application must be filed with the Commission within 30 days after the date of notice of filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Failure to seasonably file a protest will be construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. A protest under these rules should comply with section 247(d)(3) of the rules of practice which requires that it set forth specifically the grounds upon which it is made, contain a detailed statement of protestant's interest in the proceeding (including a copy of the specific portions of its authority which protestant believes to be in conflict with that sought in the application, and describing in detail the method—whether by joinder, interline, or other means—by which protestant would use such authority to provide all or part of the service proposed), and shall specify with particularity the facts, matters, and things relied upon, but shall not include issues or allegations phrased generally. Protests not in reasonable compliance with the requirements of the rules may be rejected. The original and one copy of the protest shall be filed with the Commission, and a copy shall be served concurrently upon applicant's representative, or applicant if no representative is named. If the protest includes a request for oral hearing, such requests shall meet the requirements of section 247(d)(4) of the special rules, and shall include the certification required therein.

Section 247(f) further provides, in part, that an applicant who does not intend timely to prosecute its application shall promptly request dismissal thereof, and that failure to prosecute an application under procedures ordered by the Commission will result in dismissal of the application.

Further processing steps will be by Commission order which will be served on each party of record. Broadening amendments will not be accepted after the date of this publication except for good cause shown, and restrictive amendments will not be entertained following publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of a notice that the proceeding has been assigned for oral hearing.

Each applicant states that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of its application.

Docket No. AB 55 (Sub-No. 7)

SEABOARD COAST LINE RAILROAD COMPANY
ABANDONMENT BETWEEN ASHWOOD AND SUMTER IN LEE AND SUMTER COUNTIES, SOUTH CAROLINA

NOTICE OF FINDINGS

Notice is hereby given pursuant to section 1a(6)(a) of the Interstate Commerce Act (49 U.S.C. 1a(6)(a)) that by an order entered on July 21, 1977, a finding, which is administratively final, was made by the Commission, Review Board Number 5, stating that, subject to the conditions for the protection of railway employees prescribed by the Commission in Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co., Abandonment, 257 ICC 700, and for public use as set forth in said order, the present and future public convenience and necessity permit the abandonment by the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad Co. of its line of railroad beginning at milepost SJA-337.35 near Ashwood, Lee County, S.C., and extending to milepost SJA-349.16 near Sumter, Sumter County S.C., a distance of 11.81 miles. A certificate of abandonment will be issued to the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad Co. based on the above-described finding of abandonment, 30 days after publication of this notice, unless within 30 days from the date of publication, the Commission further finds that:

(1) A financially responsible person (including a government entity) has offered financial assistance (in the form of a rail service continuation payment) to enable the rail service involved to be continued; and

(2) It is likely that such proffered assistance would:

(a) Cover the difference between the revenues which are attributable to such line of railroad and the avoidable cost of providing rail freight service on such line, together with a reasonable return on the value of such line, or

(b) Cover the acquisition cost of all or any portion of such line of railroad.

If the Commission so finds, the issuance of a certificate of abandonment will be postponed for such reasonable time, not to exceed 6 months, as is necessary to enable such person or entity to enter into a binding agreement, with the carrier seeking such abandonment, to provide such assistance or to purchase such line and to provide for the continued operation of rail services over such line. Upon notification to the Commission of the execution of such an assistance or acquisition and operating agreement, the Commission shall postpone the issuance of such a certificate for such period of time as such an agreement (including any extensions or modifications) is in effect. Information and procedure regarding the financial assistance for continued rail service or the acquisition of the involved rail line are contained in the Notice of the Commission entitled "Procedures for Pending Rail Abandonment Cases" published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 31, 1976, at 41 FR 13691. All interested persons are advised to follow the instructions contained therein as well as the instructions contained in the above-referenced order.

[Notice AB127]

SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION ON BEHALF OF THE CENTRAL IOWA TRANSPORTATION COOPERATIVE

Abandonment Over CIRC Railroad Line Between Hills and Montezuma, in Johnson, Washington, Keokuk, Mahaska, and Poweshiek Counties, Iowa

SEPTEMBER 20, 1977.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hereby gives notice that its Section of Energy and Environment has concluded that the abandonment proposed by the Des Moines District Office of the Small Business Administration of the total short-line trackage of the Central Iowa Transportation Cooperative (CIRC), extending from Hills to Montezuma in Johnson, Wash., Keokuk, Mahaska, and Poweshiek Counties, Iowa, if approved by the Commission, does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. 4321, et seq., and that preparation of a detailed environmental impact statement will not be required under section 4332(2)(C) of the NEPA.

It was concluded, among other things, that there would be no environmental impacts associated with traffic diversion as there have been no operations on the line in recent years. The abandonment of the CIRC line would not result in a significant loss of habitat for local wildlife species, nor does the line have potential for alternate public use which would warrant the recommendation of an appropriate condition in the abandonment certificate. There are no known sites or structures of historic value in the vicinity of the subject line, and no foreseeable public safety hazards would result from the abandonment.

A serious adverse impact on rural and community development would not be anticipated in light of the lack of reliance on the subject line for agricultural shipments by area farmers at present and the lack of rail-related economic development plans. Although there are some notable coal deposits in two of the counties traversed by the rail line, any future development of those deposits would not require service on the line.

This conclusion is contained in a staff-prepared environmental threshold assessment survey, which is available on request to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Office of Proceedings, Washington, D.C. 20423; telephone 202-275-7011.

Interested persons may comment on this matter by filing their statements in writing with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423 on or before November 3, 1977.

It should be emphasized that the environmental threshold assessment survey represents an evaluation of the environmental issues in the proceeding and does not purport to resolve the issue of whether the present or future public convenience and necessity permit discontinuance of the line proposed for abandonment. Consequently, comments on the environmental study should be limited to discussion of the presence or absence of environmental impacts and reasonable alternatives.

H. G. HOMME, Jr.,
Acting Secretary.

Title 33—Navigation and Navigable Waters
CHAPTER I—COAST GUARD,
DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
 [CGD 75-082]

TRANSFER OF NAVIGATION REGULATIONS FROM THE CORPS OF ENGINEERS TO THE COAST GUARD

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: Certain inland waterways navigation regulations are being transferred from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to the Coast Guard. This action is the result of the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding between the Corps of Engineers and the Coast Guard that clarifies the responsibilities of each agency for safety on the navigable waters of the United States. This administrative transfer assures effective and efficient regulation of waterway safety.

EFFECTIVE DATE: These amendments are effective on September 29, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Captain George K. Greiner, Jr., Marine Safety Council (G-CMC/81), Room 8117, Department of Transportation, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20590 (202-426-1477).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Since these amendments are matters relating to agency organization, they are exempt from the notice of proposed rule-making requirements in 5 U.S.C. 553(b) (3)(A) and since these amendments are not substantive, they may be made effective in less than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register under 5 U.S.C. (d) (2).

DRAFTING INFORMATION

The principal persons involved in the drafting of this regulation are Ensign George W. Molessa, Jr., Project Manager, Office of Marine Environment and Systems, and Lieutenant William R. Kerivan, Project Attorney, Office of Chief Counsel.

Discussion of Regulation

A Memorandum of Understanding between the United States Army Corps of Engineers and the United States Coast Guard was signed May 5, 1977, clarifying the responsibilities for safety on the navigable waters of the United States as a result of the enactment of the Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1972 (Pub. L. 92-340).

Pursuant to sections 7 of 40 Stat. 266 and 6 of 32 Stat. 374, (33 U.S.C. 1), the Secretary of the Army acting through the Corps of Engineers exercises certain regulatory authority over the use, administration, and navigation of the navigable waters of the United States. Under these authorities, the regulations contained in 33 CFR Part 207 were promulgated by the Corps of Engineers.

The Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1972 (86 Stat. 424 33 U.S.C. 1221 et seq.) provides authority for the Secretary of the Department in which the Coast Guard is operating to regulate vessel navigation on navigable waters of the United States for purposes of marine safety and environmental protection. The Secretary of Transportation, under 49 CFR 1.46(n) (4), has delegated his responsibility under 33 U.S.C. 1221 to the Commandant of the Coast Guard.

A significant portion of the regulations published in 33 CFR Part 207 under Corps of Engineers authority contained in 33 U.S.C. 1 relate to speed limits, non-Department of Defense restricted areas, and vessel operations affecting navigational safety. All regulations in 33 CFR Part 207 falling under Coast Guard responsibility, as determined by a joint agency working committee, are being transferred from the Corps of Engineers to the Coast Guard. The Coast Guard is publishing these regulations in 33 CFR Parts 161 and 162 and will be responsible for their enforcement.

All regulations in 33 CFR Part 207 not covered by the Coast Guard's authority granted by the Ports and Waterways Safety Act will remain with the Corps of Engineers and will remain a part of 33 CFR Part 207. Enforcement responsibilities for these regulations will not be affected.

Those regulations in 33 CFR Part 207 that are being transferred to the Coast Guard are redesignated as follows:

In consideration of the foregoing, Chapter I of Title 33 of the Code of Regulations is amended as follows:

1. By amending Part 161 by adding §§ 161.401 and 161.402 grouped under a center-head reading as follows:

PART 161—NEW ORLEANS VESSEL TRAFFIC SERVICE

GENERAL RULES

Sec. 161.401 Purpose and applicability.
 161.402 Vessel operation.

AUTHORITY: Sec. 104, Pub. L. 92-340, 86 Stat. 424 (33 U.S.C. 1224); 49 CFR 1.46(n) (4).

§ 161.401 Purpose and applicability.

(a) Sections 161.401 and 161.402 prescribe rules for vessel operation in the New Orleans Vessel Traffic Service Area (VTS Area) to prevent collisions and groundings and to protect the navigable waters of the VTS Area from environmental harm resulting from collisions and groundings.

§ 161.402 Vessel operation.

(a) Mississippi River below Baton Rouge, LA, including South and Southwest Passes—

(1) Supervision. The use, administration, and navigation of the waterways to which this paragraph applies shall be under the supervision of the District Commander, Eighth Coast Guard District.

(2) Speed; high-water precautions. When passing another vessel (in motion, anchored, or tied up), a wharf or other structure, work under construction, plant engaged in river and harbor improvement, levees withstanding flood waters, buildings partially or wholly submerged by high water, or any other structure liable to damage by collision, suction or wave action, vessels shall give as much leeway as circumstances permit and reduce their speed sufficiently to preclude causing damages to the vessel or structure being passed. Since this subparagraph pertains directly to the manner in which vessels are operated, masters of vessels shall be held responsible for strict observance and full compliance therewith. During high river stages, floods, or other emergencies, the District Commander may prescribe by navigation bulletins or other means the limiting speed in land miles per hour deemed necessary for the public safety for the entire section or any part of the waterways covered by this paragraph, and such limiting speed shall be strictly observed.

(3) Towing. Towing in any formation by a vessel with insufficient power to permit ready maneuverability and safe handling is prohibited.

(b) Movement of vessels in vicinity of Algiers Point, New Orleans Harbor—

(1) Control lights. When the Mississippi River reaches 10 feet on the Carrollton Gage on a rising stage, and until the gage reads 12 feet on a falling stage, the movement of all tugs with tows and all ships, whether under their own power or in tow, and excluding tugs or towboats without tows or river craft of comparable size and maneuverability operating under their own power, in the vicinity of Algiers Point shall be governed by red and green lights designated and located as follows: Governor Nicholls Light located on the left descending bank on the wharf shed at the upstream end of Esplanade Avenue Wharf, New Orleans, approximately 94.3 miles above Head of Passes; and Gretna Light located on the right descending bank on top of the levee at the foot of Ocean Avenue, Gretna, approximately 96.6 miles above Head of Passes. Governor Nicholls Light has lights visible from both upstream and downstream, and Gretna Light has lights visible from upstream, all indicating by proper color the direction of traffic around Algiers Point. From downstream, Gretna Light always shows green. All lights oscillate through 60 degrees, sweeping the entire width of the river every five seconds. A green light displayed ahead of a vessel (in the direction of travel) indicates that Algiers Point is clear and the vessel may proceed. A red light displayed ahead of a vessel (in the direction of travel) indicates that Algiers Point is not clear and the vessel shall not proceed. Absence of lights shall be considered a danger signal and no attempt shall be made to navigate through the restricted area.

(3) Descending vessels. (i) Descending vessels shall not proceed farther down the river than a line connecting the lower end of Julia Street Wharf (on left descending bank) with Diana Street (on right descending bank) when a red light is displayed. Vessels shall round to and be headed upstream before they reach that line, if the signal remains against the vessel. Vessels awaiting a change of signal shall keep clear of ascending vessels.

(ii) Vessels destined to a wharf above the lower end of Julia Street Wharf shall signal the Gretna towerman three long blasts and one short blast of a whistle or horn to indicate that the vessel is not bound below the Julia Street Wharf.

(iii) The master, pilot, or authorized representative of any vessel scheduled to depart from a wharf between Governor Nicholls Light and Louisiana Avenue, bound downstream around Algiers Point, shall communicate with the Governor Nicholls Light towerman by telephone to determine whether the channel at Algiers Point is clear before departure. When the point is clear, vessels shall then proceed promptly so that other traffic will not be unnecessarily delayed.

NOTE.—Telephone numbers of both signal towers will be published in navigation bulletins in advance of each operating period.

(4) Minor changes. The District Commander is authorized to waive operation or suspension of the lights whenever prospective river stages make it appear that the operation or suspension will be required for only a brief period of time or when river stages will rise or fall below the critical stage which is established for operation or suspension by only a few tenths on the Carrollton Gage.

(5) Underpowered vessels. When the Carrollton Gage reads 12 feet or higher, any vessel which is considered by the master or pilot as being underpowered or a poor handler shall not navigate around Algiers Point without the assistance of a tug or tugs.

(6) Towing. When the Carrollton Gage reads 12 feet or higher, towing on a hawser in a downstream direction between Julia Street and Desire Street is prohibited except by special permission of the District Commander.

(c) Navigation of South and Southwest Passes.

(1) No vessel, except small craft and towboats and tugs without tows, shall enter either South Pass or Southwest Pass from the Gulf until after any descending vessel which has approached within two and one-half (2½) miles of the outer end of the jetty and visible to the ascending vessel shall have passed to sea.

(2) No vessel having a speed of less than ten mph shall enter South Pass from the Gulf when the stage of the Mississippi River exceeds 15 feet on the Carrollton Gage at New Orleans. This subparagraph does not apply when Southwest Pass is closed to navigation.

(3) No vessel, except small craft and towboats and tugs without tows, ascending South Pass shall pass Franks Crossing Light until after a descending vessel shall have passed Depot Point Light.

(4) No vessel, except small craft and towboats and tugs without tows, shall enter the channel at the head of South Pass until after an ascending vessel which has reached Franks Crossing Light shall have passed through into the river.

(5) When navigating South Pass during periods of darkness no tow shall consist of more than one towed vessel other than small craft, and during daylight hours no tow shall consist of more than two towed vessels other than small craft. Tows may be in any formation. When towing on a hawser, the hawser shall be as short as practicable to provide full control at all times.

(6) When towing in Southwest Pass during periods of darkness no tow shall consist of more than two towed vessels other than small craft, and during daylight hours no tow shall consist of more than three towed vessels other than small craft.

§ 162.15 Manhasset Bay, N.Y.; seaplane restricted area.

(a) The restricted area. An area in Manhasset Bay between the shore at Manohaven on the north and the southerly limit line of the special anchorage area in Manhasset Bay, west area at Manohaven (described in § 202.60 of this chapter), on the south; its axis being a line bearing 166°50' true from latitude 40°50'17.337", longitude 73°43'03.877", which point is on the south side of Orchard Beach Boulevard at Manohaven; and being 100 feet wide for a distance of 380 feet in a southerly direction from the south side of Orchard Beach Boulevard, and thence flaring to a width of 300 feet at the southerly limit line.

(b) The regulations. (1) Vessels shall not anchor or moor within the restricted area.

(2) All vessels traversing the area shall pass directly through without unnecessary delay, and shall give seaplanes the right-of-way at all times.

§ 162.20 Flushing Bay near La Guardia Airport, Flushing, N.Y.; restricted area.

(a) The area. An area in the main channel in Flushing Bay extending for a distance of 300 feet on either side of the extended center line of Runway No. 13-31 at La Guardia Airport.

(b) The regulations. (1) All vessels traversing in the area shall pass directly through without unnecessary delay.

(2) No vessels having a height of more than 35 feet with reference to the plane of mean high water shall enter or pass through the area whenever visibility is less than one mile.

§ 162.25 Ambrose Channel, New York Harbor, N.Y.; navigation.

(a) The use of Ambrose Channel (formerly and before improvement called "East Channel") is hereby restricted to navigation by vessels under efficient control with their own motive power and not having barges or other vessels or floats in tow. Sailing vessels and vessels carrying tows are not permitted to use this channel except under permit as provided in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) The Captain of the Port, New York may authorize vessels under tow to use Ambrose Channel in special cases when, in his judgment, the draft of such vessels or other conditions may render unsafe the use of other channels.

(c) Vessels permitted to use Ambrose Channel under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section must proceed through the channel at a reasonable speed such as not to endanger other vessels and not to interfere with any work which may become necessary in maintaining, surveying, or buoying the channel; and they must not anchor in the channel except in cases of emergency, such as fog or accident, which would render progress unsafe or impossible.

(d) This section is not to be construed as prohibiting any necessary use of the channel by any Government boats while on Government duty, nor in emergencies by pilot boats whether steam or sail, nor by police boats.

(e) This section shall remain in force until modified or rescinded, and shall supplant all prior regulations governing the use of Ambrose Channel, which are hereby revoked.

§ 162.30 Channel of Tuckerton Creek, N.J.; navigation.

(a) Power boats or other vessels propelled by machinery shall not proceed at any time within the limits of these waters at a greater speed than 8 statute miles per hour.

§ 162.35 Channel of Christina River, Del.; navigation.

(a) That vessels of over 20 tons capacity, propelled by machinery, shall not proceed at any time within the limits of these waters at a greater speed than 8 statute miles per hour.

§ 162.40 Inland waterway from Delaware River to Chesapeake Bay, Del. and Md. (Chesapeake and Delaware Canal).

(a) Applicability. The regulations in this section are applicable to that part of the inland waterway from Delaware River to Chesapeake Bay, Del. and Md., between Reedy Point, Delaware River, and Old Town Point Wharf, Elk River.

(b) Speed. No vessel in the waterway shall be raced or crowded alongside another vessel. Vessels of all types, including pleasure craft, are required to travel at all times at a safe speed throughout the canal and its approaches so as to avoid damage by suction or wave wash to wharves, landings, riprap protection, or other boats, or injury to persons.

Pilots and vessel operators transiting the canal and its approaches are warned that violation of this rule may result in having their privilege to transit the canal suspended. Passages of vessels through the canal will be monitored and specific cases will be investigated where damage by suction or wave wash does occur. Owners and operators of yachts, motorboats, rowboats, and other craft are cautioned that large deep draft ocean-going vessels and other large commercial vessels ply the canal, and such owners and operators should be particularly careful to moor or anchor well away from the main ship channels, with moorings and lines which are sufficient and proper.

(c) Right-of-way. All vessels proceeding with the current shall have the right-of-way over those proceeding against the current. Large vessels or tows must not overtake and attempt to pass other large vessels or tows in the waterway. All small pleasure craft shall relinquish the right-of-way to deeper draft vessels, which have a limited maneuvering ability due to their draft and size.

(d) Stopping in waterway. Vessels will not be permitted to stop or anchor in the ship channel.

(e) Water skiing. Water skiing in the waterway is prohibited between Reedy Point and Welch Point.

(f) Sailboats. Transiting the canal by vessels under sail is not permitted between Reedy Point and Welch Point.

NOTE: The Corps of Engineers also has regulations dealing with this section in 33 CFR Part 207.

§ 162.45 York Spit Channel, Chesapeake Bay; navigation.

The use of this channel shall be restricted to vessels and other watercraft passing up or down the bay, and no vessel or other watercraft shall cross the channel or enter it at any point other than at its ends and in the direction of its axis. Any vessel having entered the channel shall follow the course thereof for its entire length.

§ 162.50 Thimble Shoal Channel, Chesapeake Bay; navigation.

(a) The use of this channel shall be restricted to vessels, tows, and other watercraft drawing 20 feet or more at the time of navigating the channel. Provided, That this restriction shall not apply to passenger-carrying vessels.

(b) Watercraft permitted to use the channel under paragraph (a) of this section shall proceed through at a reasonable speed so as not to endanger other vessels or interfere with any work in connection with maintaining, surveying or buoying the channel. Vessels shall not anchor in the channel except in cases of emergency, such as fog or accident, which would render progress unsafe or impossible.

(c) This section shall not be construed as prohibiting necessary use of the channel by Government boats while on Government duty, or its use in emergencies by pilot boats, whether steam or sail, or by police boats.

§ 162.55 Southern Branch of Elizabeth River; speed.

In that part of the Southern Branch of Elizabeth River between the junction of the Southern and Eastern Branches of the Elizabeth River and the Norfolk and Portsmouth Belt Line Railroad Bridge, no vessel shall move at a speed exceeding six knots.

§ 162.60 Little Creek, Va.; speed.

No vessel shall proceed at a speed exceeding five knots in that part of Fishermans Cove (Northwest Branch of Little Creek) between the highway bridge on U.S. Route 60 and the mouth of the Cove.

§ 162.65 All waterways tributary to the Atlantic Ocean south of Chesapeake Bay and all waterways tributary to the Gulf of Mexico east and south of St. Marks, Fla.

(a) Description. This section applies to the following:

(1) Waterways. All navigable waters of the United States, natural or artificial, including bays, lakes, sounds, rivers, creeks, intracoastal waterways, as well as canals and channels of all types, which are tributary to or connected by other waterways with the Atlantic Ocean south of Chesapeake Bay or with the Gulf of Mexico east and south of St. Marks, Florida.

(2) United States property. All river and harbor lands owned by the United States in or along the waterways described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, including lock sites and all structures thereon, other sites for Government structures and for the accommodation and use of employees of the United States, and rights of way and spoil disposal areas to the extent of Federal interest therein.

(3) Vessels and rafts. The term "vessel" as used in this section includes all floating things moved over these waterways other than rafts.

(b) Waterways. (1) Fairway. A clear channel shall at all times be left open to permit free and unobstructed navigation by all types of vessels and rafts that normally use the various waterways or sections thereof. The District Commander may specify the width of the fairway required in the various waterways under his charge.

(2) Stoppage in waterway, anchorage or mooring. (i) No vessels or rafts shall anchor or moor in any of the land cuts or other narrow parts of the waterway, except in case of an emergency. Whenever it becomes necessary for a vessel or raft to stop in any such portions of the waterway it shall be securely fastened to one bank and as close to the bank as possible.

This shall be done only at such a place and under such conditions as will not obstruct or prevent the passage of other vessels or craft. Stoppages shall be only for such periods as may be necessary.

(ii) No vessel or raft will be allowed to use any portion of the fairway as a mooring place except temporarily as authorized above without the written permission from the District Commander.

(iii) When tied up, all vessels must be moored by bow and stern lines. Rafts and tows shall be secured at sufficiently close interval, to insure their not being drawn away from the bank by winds, currents or the suction of passing vessels. Tow lines shall be shortened so that the different parts of the tow shall be as close together as possible. In narrow sections, no vessel or raft shall be tied abreast of another.

(iv) Lights shall be displayed in accordance with provisions of the Inland Rules and the Pilot Rules for Inland Waters.

(v) No vessel, even if fastened to the bank as prescribed in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, shall be left without a sufficient crew to care for it properly.

(vi) Vessels will not be permitted to load or unload in any of the land cuts except as a regular established landing or wharf without written permission secured in advance from the District Commander.

(vii) No vessel, regardless of size, shall anchor in a dredged channel or narrow portion of a waterway for the purpose of fishing, if navigation is obstructed, thereby.

(viii) Except in cases of emergency the dropping of anchors, weights, or other ground tackle, within areas occupied by submarine cable or pipe crossings, is prohibited. Such crossings will ordinarily be marked by signboards on each bank of the shore or indicated on coast charts.

(3) Speed. (i) Vessels shall proceed at a speed which will not endanger other vessels or structures and will not interfere with any work in progress incident to maintaining, improving, surveying or marking the channel.

(ii) Official signs indicating limiting speeds through critical portions of the waterways shall be strictly obeyed.

(iii) Vessels approaching and passing through a bridge shall so govern their speed as to insure passage through the bridge without damage to the bridge or its fenders.

(iv) A vessel being overtaken by another shall slacken speed sufficiently to permit the passage to be effected with safety to both vessels.

(4) Assembly and handling of tows.

(i) All vessels drawing tows and equipped with rudders shall use two tow lines or a bridle and shorten them to the greatest possible extent so as to have full control at all times. The various parts of a tow shall be securely assembled with the individual units connected by lines as short as practicable. If necessary, as in the case of lengthy or cumbersome tows or tows in restricted channels, the District Commander may require that tows be broken up and may require the installation of a rudder, drag or other approved steering device on the tow in order to avoid obstructing navigation or damaging the property of others, including aids to navigation maintained by the United States or under its authorization, by collision or otherwise.

(ii) No tow shall be drawn by a vessel that has insufficient power or crew to permit ready maneuverability and safe handling.

(iii) Tows desiring to pass a bridge shall approach the opening along the axis of the channel so as to pass through without danger of striking the bridge or its fenders. No vessel or tow shall navigate through a drawbridge until the movable span is fully opened.

(iv) In the event that it is evident to the master of a towing vessel that a tow cannot be safely handled through a bridge, it will be brought to anchor and the towed vessels will be taken through the bridge in small units, or singly if necessary, or the tow will wait until navigation conditions have improved to such an extent that the tow can pass through the bridge without damage.

(5) Projections from vessels. No vessel carrying a deck load which overhangs or projects over the side of said vessel, or whose rigging projects over the side of the vessel so as to endanger passing vessels, wharves or other property, will enter or pass through any of the narrow parts of the waterway.

(6) Meeting and passing. Vessels, on meeting or overtaking, shall give the proper signals and pass in accordance with the Inland Rules and the Pilot Rules for Inland Waters. Rafts shall give to vessels the side demanded by proper signal. All vessels approaching dredges, or other plant engaged on improvements to a waterway, shall give the signal for passing and slow down sufficiently to stop if so ordered or if no answering signal is received. On receiving the answering signal, they shall then proceed to pass at a speed sufficiently slow to insure safe navigation.

NOTE.—The Corps of Engineers also has regulations dealing with this section in 33 CFR Part 207.

§ 162.70 Biscayne Bay, Fla.: Seaplane Operating Area, Coast Guard, Miami, Fla.

(a) The seaplane operating area.—(1) The area. Beginning at Dinner Key Seaplane Channel Approach Light 2; thence 54° for approximately 9,900 feet to Biscayne Bay Range Three Front Light C; thence 178° for approximately 4,350 feet to Biscayne Bay Range Three Rear Light; thence 182° for approximately 12,750 feet to Southwest Point Daybeacon 26; thence 270° for approximately 13,500 feet to a position in Biscayne Bay at latitude 25°41'24", longitude 80°13'30"; thence 30° for approximately 9,900 feet to Dinner Key Channel Light 1; and thence 21° for approximately 3,050 feet to the point of beginning.

NOTE: All bearings are referred to true meridian.

(2) The regulations. (i) Watercraft may navigate, anchor, or moor within the operating area. Fishing will be permitted.

(ii) Watercraft utilizing the area during hours from sunset to sunrise, or during periods of low visibility, shall comply strictly with existing regulations of the Inland Rules and the Motorboat Act of 1940.

(iii) Watercraft within the operating area must recognize the fact that the maneuverability of aircraft on the surface is relatively limited as compared to that of vessels or vehicles specifically designed for surface operations. Therefore, it is essential that occupants of all watercraft shall, when in the seaplane operating area, exercise due vigilance and be alert for the presence of aircraft either taxiing on the surface, or approaching for landings and takeoffs within the area.

(iv) Seaplane landings and takeoffs will be covered by the presence of a station crash boat whenever possible. Under unusual and infrequent circumstances seaplanes may be limited to a particular heading or portion of the operating area, and watercraft in that vicinity may be requested by the crash boat to yield right-of-way to the aircraft for the particular maneuver involved. Under such unusual conditions watercraft shall comply with the request made by the crash boat for the mutual safety of boats and aircraft.

(b) Notices. Notices covering the regulations in this section will be posted at the nearby marina and wharves and at boat basins in Miami and adjoining towns.

§ 162.75 All waterways tributary to the Gulf of Mexico (except the Mississippi River, its tributaries, South and Southwest Passes and the Atchafalaya River) from St. Marks, Fla., to the Rio Grande.

(a) The regulations in this section shall apply to:

(1) Waterways. All navigable waters of the U.S. tributary to or connected by other waterways with the Gulf of Mexico between St. Marks, Fla., and the Rio Grande, Tex. (both inclusive), and the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway; except the Mississippi River, its tributaries, South and Southwest Passes, and the Atchafalaya River above its junction with the Morgan City-Port Allen Route.

(2) Bridges, wharves, and other structures. All bridges, wharves, and other structures in or over these waterways.

(3) Vessels. The term "vessels" as used in this section includes all floating craft other than rafts.

(b) Waterways:

(1) A clear channel shall at all times be left open to permit free and unobstructed navigation by all types of vessels and tows normally using the various waterways covered by the regulations of this section.

(2) Fairway. The District Commander may specify the width of the fairway required in the various waterways under his charge.

(3) Anchoring or mooring:

(i) Vessels or tows shall not anchor or moor in any of the land cuts or other narrow parts of the waterway, except in an emergency, or with permission of the District Commander. Whenever it becomes necessary for a vessel or tow to stop in any such portions of the waterway, it shall be securely fastened to one bank and as close to the bank as possible. This shall be done only at such a place and under such conditions as will not obstruct or prevent the passage of other vessels or tows. Stoppages shall be only for such periods as may be necessary.

(ii) When tied up individually, all vessels and tows shall be moored by bow and stern lines. Tows shall be secured at sufficiently frequent intervals to insure their not being drawn away from the bank by winds, currents, or the suction of passing vessels. Lines shall be shortened so that the various barges in a tow will be as close together as possible.

(iii) Lights shall be displayed in accordance with provisions of the Inland Rules and the Pilot Rules for Inland Waters.

(iv) Whenever any vessel or tow is moored to the bank (subdivision (i) of this subparagraph) at least one crew member shall always remain on board to see that proper signals are displayed and that the vessel or tow is properly moored at all times.

(v) No vessel, regardless of size, shall anchor in a dredged channel or narrow portion of a waterway for the purpose of fishing if navigation is obstructed thereby.

(4) Speed. Speeding in narrow sections is prohibited. Official signs indicating limited speeds shall be obeyed. Vessels shall reduce speed sufficiently to prevent damage when passing over vessels or structures in or along the waterway.

(5) Size, assembly, and handling of tows:

(i) On waterways 150 feet wide or less, tows which are longer than 1,180 feet, including the towing vessel, but excluding the length of the hawser, or wider than one-half of the bottom width of the channel or 55 feet, whichever is less, will not be allowed, except when the District Commander has given special permission or the waterway has been exempted from these restrictions by the District Commander. Before entering any narrow section of the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway, tows in excess of one-half the channel width, or 55 feet, will be required to stand by until tows which are less than one-half the channel width or 55 feet wide have cleared the channel. When passing is necessary in narrow channels, overwidth tows shall yield to the maximum. Separate permission must be received from the District Commander for each overlength or overwidth movement. In addition, the following exceptions are allowed:

(ii) Gulf Intracoastal Waterway. Between mile 6.2 EHL (Inner Harbor Navigation Canal Lock) and mile 33.6 EHL tows of 78 feet in width will be allowed.

(iii) Gulf Intercoastal Waterway. Between mile 33.6 EHL and the Mobile Bay Ship Channel, tows of 108 feet in width will be allowed if under 750 feet in length including the towboat but excluding the length of the hawser.

(iv) Gulf Intracoastal Waterway. Mobile Bay Ship Channel to St. Marks, Fla., for tows made up of empty barges on the off or shallow side, a width of 75 feet will be allowed.

(v) All vessels pulling tows not equipped with rudders in restricted channels and land cuts shall use two towlines, or a bridle on one towline, shortened as much as safety of the towing vessel permits, so as to have maximum control at all times. The various parts of a tow shall be securely assembled with the individual units connected by lines as short as practicable. In open water, the towlines and fastenings between barges may be lengthened so as to accommodate the wave surge. In the case of lengthy or cumbersome tows, or tows in restricted channels, the District Commander may require that tows be broken up, and may require the installation of a rudder or other approved steering device on the tow in order to avoid obstructing navigation or damaging the property of others. Pushing barges with towing vessel astern, towing barges with towing vessel alongside, or pushing and pulling barges with units of the tow made up both ahead and astern of the towing vessel are permissible provided that adequate power is employed to keep the tows under full control at all times. No tow shall be drawn by a vessel that has insufficient power or crew to permit ready maneuverability and safe handling.

(6) Projections from vessels: Vessels or tows carrying a deck load which overhangs or projects over the side, or whose rigging projects over the side, so as to endanger passing vessels, wharves, or other property, shall not enter or pass through any of the narrow parts of the waterway without prior approval of the District Commander.

(7) Meeting and passing: Passing vessels shall give the proper signals and pass in accordance with the International Rules, the Inland Rules and the Pilot Rules for Inland Waters, where applicable. At certain intersections where strong currents may be encountered, sailing directions may be issued through navigation bulletins or signs posted on each side of the intersections.

NOTE.—The Corps of Engineers also has regulations dealing with this section in 33 CFR 207.

§ 162.80 Mississippi River below mouth of Ohio River, including South and Southwest Passes.

(a) Mooring on Mississippi River between Miles 314.5 AHP and 340.0 AHP. (1) No vessel or craft shall moor along either bank of the Mississippi River between Mile 314.5 AHP and Mile 340.0 AHP except in case of an emergency, pursuant to an approved navigation permit, or as authorized by the District Commander. Vessels may be moored any place outside the navigation channel in this reach in case of an emergency and then for only the minimum time required to terminate the emergency. When so moored, all vessels shall be securely tied with bow and stern lines of sufficient strength and fastenings to withstand currents, winds, wave action, suction from passing vessels or any other forces which might cause the vessels to break their moorings. When vessels are so moored, a guard shall be on board at all times to insure that proper signals are displayed and that the vessels are securely and adequately moored.

(2) Vessels may be moored any time at facilities constructed in accordance with an approved navigation permit or as authorized by the District Commander. When so moored, each vessel shall have sufficient fastenings to prevent the vessels from breaking loose by wind, current, wave action, suction from passing vessels or any other forces which might cause the vessels to break their mooring. Number of vessels in one fleet and the width of the fleet of vessels tied abreast shall not extend into the fairway or be greater than allowed under the permit.

(3) Mariners should report immediately by radio or fastest available means to the lockmaster at Old River Lock or to any Government patrol or survey boat in the vicinity any emergency mooring or vessels drifting uncontrolled within the area described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. It is the responsibility and duty of the master of a towing vessel releasing or mooring a vessel in this reach of the Mississippi River to report such action immediately.

NOTE.—The Corps of Engineers also has regulations dealing with this section in 33 CFR Part 207.

§ 162.85 Yazoo Diversion Canal, Vicksburg, Miss., from its mouth at Klein-ton Landing to Fisher Street; navigation.

(a) Speed. Excessive speeding is prohibited. A vessel shall reduce its speed sufficiently to prevent any damage when approaching another vessel in motion or tied up, a wharf or other structure, works under construction, plant engaged in river and harbor improvement, levees, floodwalls withstanding floodwaters, buildings submerged or partially submerged by high waters, or any other structure or improvement likely to be damaged by collision, suction, or wave action.

NOTE.—The Corps of Engineers also has regulations dealing with this section in 33 CFR Part 207.

§ 162.90 White River, Arkansas Post Canal, Arkansas River, and Verdigris River between Mississippi River, Ark., and Catoosa, Okla.

(a) The regulations in this section shall apply to:

(1) Waterways. White River between Mississippi River and Arkansas Post Canal, Ark.; Arkansas Post Canal, Ark.; Arkansas River between Arkansas Post Canal, Ark., and Verdigris River, Okla.; Verdigris River between Arkansas River and Catoosa, Okla.; and reservoirs on these waterways between Mississippi River, Ark., and Catoosa, Okla.

(2) Bridges, wharves and other structures. All bridges, wharves, and other structures in or over the waterways described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) Vessels and rafts. The term "vessels" as used in this section includes every description of watercraft used, or capable of being used, as a means of transportation on water, other than rafts.

(b) Waterways:

(1) Fairway. A clear channel shall at all times be left open to permit free and unobstructed navigation by all types of vessels and rafts that normally use the various waterways or sections thereof. The District Commander may specify the width of the fairway required in the waterways under his charge.

(2) Anchoring or mooring in waterway. (i) No vessels or rafts shall anchor or moor in any of the land cuts or other narrow parts of the waterway, except in an emergency. Whenever it becomes necessary for a vessel or raft to stop in any such portions of the waterway, it shall be securely fastened to one bank and as close to the bank as possible. This shall be done only at such a place and under such conditions as will not obstruct or prevent the passage of other vessels or rafts. Stoppages shall be only for such periods as may be necessary.

(ii) Except temporarily, as authorized in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, no vessel or raft will be allowed to use any portion of the fairway as a mooring place without written permission from the District Commander.

(iii) When tied up individually, all vessels shall be moored by bow and stern lines. Rafts and tows shall be secured at sufficiently close intervals to insure their not being drawn away from the bank by winds, currents, or the suction of passing vessels. Towlines shall be shortened so that the different parts of the tow will be as close together as possible. In narrow sections, no vessel or raft shall be tied abreast of another if the combined width of vessels or rafts is greater than 70 feet.

(iv) When a vessel is moored under an emergency condition, as provided in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, at least one crew member shall remain in attendance to display proper lights and signals and tend the mooring lines. The crew member shall be provided with an adequate means of communication or signalling a warning in the event that, for any reason, the vessel or tow should go adrift. Immediately after completion of the emergency mooring, the lockmaster of the first lock downstream shall be notified of the character and cargo of the vessel and the location of such mooring.

(v) Vessels will not be permitted to load or unload in any of the land cuts, except at a regular established landing or wharf, without written permission secured in advance from the District Commander.

(vi) Except in an emergency, no vessel or raft shall anchor over revetted banks of the waterway, nor shall any type vessel except launches and other small craft land against banks protected by revetment except at regular commercial landings.

(3) Speed. (i) Excessive speed in narrow sections is prohibited. Official signs indicating limiting speeds through critical sections shall be strictly obeyed.

(ii) When approaching and passing through a bridge, all vessels and rafts, regardless of size, shall control their speed so as to insure that no damage will be done to the bridge or its fenders.

(iii) Within the last mile of approach to unattended, normally open automatic, movable span bridges, the factor of river flow velocity, of vessel (and tow) velocity, and of vessel power and crew capability are never to be permitted to result in a condition whereby the movement of vessel (and tow) cannot be completely halted or reversed within a 3-minute period.

(iv) A vessel shall reduce its speed sufficiently to prevent any damage when approaching another vessel in motion or tied up, a wharf or other structure, works under construction, plant engaged in river and harbor improvement, levees withstanding floodwaters, buildings submerged or partially submerged by high waters, or any other manner of structure or improvements likely to be damaged by collision, suction, or wave action.

(4) Assembly and handling of tows. (i) All vessels drawing tows not equipped with rudders in restricted channels and land cuts shall use two towlines, or a bridle on one towline, shortened to the greatest possible extent so as to have maximum control at all times. The various parts of a tow shall be securely assembled with the individual units connected by lines as short as practicable. In open water, the towlines and fastenings between barges may be lengthened so as to accommodate the wave surge. In the case of length or cumbersome tows, or tows in restricted channels, the District Commander may require that tows be broken up, and may require the installation of a rudder or other approved steering device on the tow in order to avoid obstructing navigation or damaging the property of others. Pushing barges with towing vessel astern, towing barges with towing vessel alongside, or pushing and pulling barges with units of the tow made up both ahead and astern of the towing vessel is permissible provided that adequate power is employed to keep the tow under full control at all times.

(ii) No tow shall be drawn by a vessel that has insufficient power or crew to permit ready maneuverability and safe handling.

(iii) No vessel or tow shall navigate through a drawbridge until the movable span is fully opened.

(5) Projections from vessels. No vessels carrying a deck load which overhangs or projects over the side, or whose rigging projects over the side, so as to endanger passing vessels, wharves, or other property, shall enter or pass through any of the narrow parts of the waterway.

(6) Meeting and passing. Vessels on meeting or overtaking shall give the proper signals and pass in accordance with the Inland Rules and the Pilot Rules for Inland Waters. Rafts shall give to vessels the side demanded by proper signal. All vessels approaching dredges or other plant engaged on improvements to a waterway shall give the signal for passing and slow down sufficiently to stop if so ordered or if no answering signal is received. On receiving the answering signal, they shall then pass at a speed sufficiently slow to insure safe navigation. Vessels approaching an intersection or bend where the view is obstructed must exercise due caution. At certain intersections where strong currents may be encountered, sailing directions may be issued from time to time through navigation bulletins or signs posted on each side of the intersections which must be observed.

NOTE.—The Corps of Engineers also has regulations dealing with this section in 33 CFR Part 207.

§ 162.100 Ohio River at Louisville, Ky.: restricted area.

(a) The area. The portion of the Ohio River from the Clark Memorial (Highway) Bridge, Mile 603.5, downstream to McAlpine Dam, Mile 604.4.

(b) The regulations. (1) no pleasure or fishing craft shall be operated within the restricted area at any time without prior permission of the Captain of the Port, Louisville, except in case of emergency and except:

(i) For passage through the Louisville and Portland Canal;

(ii) For launching and docking at the Louisville, Kentucky Wharf within the restricted area; and

(iii) During open river conditions.

§ 162.105 Missouri River: administration and navigation.

(a) Supervision. The District Commander, Second Coast Guard District, has certain administrative supervision over reaches of the river within the limits of his district and is charged with the enforcement under his direction of emergency regulations to govern navigation on the river.

(b) Navigation. During critical flood stages on any particular limited reach of the Missouri River when lives, floating plant, or major shore installations and levees are endangered, the District Commander in charge of the locality shall have the authority to declare the reach of the river closed to navigation or to prescribe temporary speed regulations whenever it appears to him that such action is necessary to prevent immediate human suffering or to mitigate major property damage or destruction from wave action. The period of closure and all speed regulations prescribed by the District Commander shall be for the duration of the emergency as determined by the District Commander and shall be terminated at the earliest practicable time that improved river conditions permit.

§ 162.110 Duluth-Superior Harbor, Minn., and Wis.: use, administration, and navigation, and bridge regulations.

(a) Navigation regulations.—(1) Speed of vessels. (i) Vessels will not be restricted as to speed while passing through the channels between entrance piers, but vessels of 300 gross tons and upward shall not exceed 8 miles per hour while running through any of the dredged channels within the harbor.

(ii) When approaching a bridge (excepting the Duluth Ship Canal bridge) the speed shall be reduced enough to enable the vessel, in case the draw fails to open, to come to a dead stop without striking the bridge.

(iii) No restrictions as to speed are required for passing the Duluth Ship Canal bridge. However, vessels approaching this bridge should make such reductions in speed as the currents and weather conditions will permit and still allow for safe passage through the canal.

(iv) While passing all other bridges under ordinary conditions of weather the speed should not exceed 8 miles per hour. A greater speed will be allowed when necessary for steorage as when running light in a wind.

(v) A steamer must employ a tug or tugs whenever the conditions of weather or currents make the passage difficult or dangerous to either the vessel or the bridge.

(2) Passing in Duluth Ship Canal. Self-propelled vessels exceeding 300 gross tons, and barges or scows exceeding (light) 100 displacement tons, shall not pass within the canal. Inbound vessels shall have the right of way.

(3) Anchorage of vessels. (i) Vessels shall not anchor in the entrance canals, or in any of the navigable channels, except in the harbor basins, and then only where not in the way of passing vessels.

(ii) Vessels and rafts shall not be anchored or otherwise fastened where they are liable to swing into the channels by reason of a wind or current.

(iii) The position and arrangement of vessels lying at anchor in the harbor basin shall be subject to the direction of the District Commander, or his authorized representatives, and vessels shall, when so directed, promptly shift their position to another part of the basin.

(4) Dragging anchors. No vessel shall be towed while the anchor of such vessel is down or dragging at the bottom of the channel.

(5) Towing through bridges. Freight steamers shall not tow consorts astern while passing through the bridges of this harbor, the Duluth Ship Canal bridge excepted. Towing alongside the steamer will, however, be permitted.

(6) Patrol signals. (i) Three short blasts of the signal whistle when sounded from a patrolling vessel will indicate that the vessel to which such signal is given is proceeding at too high a rate of speed, and such vessel must immediately moderate its speed.

(ii) Three long blasts of the signal whistle followed by two short blasts when sounded from a patrolling vessel, will indicate that the vessel to which such signal is given must stop until further orders from the patrolling vessel.

(iii) One long blast, followed by four short blasts, when sounded from the patrolling vessel, will indicate that the vessel to which such signal is given may proceed on its course.

(7) Other requirements. (i) No vessel shall be moored to any United States pier.

(ii) No material of any kind shall be loaded on or loaded from the United States piers, except for the use of the United States, unless by special permission of the Captain of the Port.

(iii) Vessels shall take great care not to run into, strike, rub against, or otherwise injure the United States piers, buoys, or beacons in the harbor.

(iv) Dredges and attending scows and tugs are expected and required to give half the channel for passing vessels, and the latter are required to do the same when passing the dredges or other craft.

(v) Where there are two or more channels leading to a given point, in one of which improvement work is going on, the latter channel may be temporarily closed to navigation by the District Commander after due notice.

§ 162.115 Keweenaw Waterway, Mich.: use, administration, and navigation.

(a) Authority. The movement of all vessels, rafts, and floating craft of every description which makes use of this waterway, the approaches thereto, and connecting waters, shall be under the general direction of the District Commander, Ninth Coast Guard District.

(b) Speed of vessels. The speed of vessels of more than 20 tons shall not exceed eight statute miles per hour between Lily Pond and Pilgrim Point.

(c) Towing. Boats engaged in towing shall use towlines of such number, type, and length as will insure full control over their tows at all times and the safe passing of other craft or canal structures and markers.

(d) Channel markers. Masters of vessels shall keep careful watch when passing aids to navigation, and should any be accidentally displaced they shall report this fact to the local United States Coast Guard Station.

(e) Harbors of refuge. Two mooring basins of limited area are located in the waterway, Portage River Harbor of Refuge near the Portage entry, and Lily Pond Harbor of Refuge between Portage Lake and the Upper Entrance. Craft using these harbors are required to make fast to the mooring piers, and except in case of storms or breakdowns shall not use the harbors longer than 24 hours without special permission from the Captain of the Port, Duluth. The position and arrangement of vessels moored in the harbors will be subject to the direction of the Captain of the Port.

(f) Mooring to Government structures. No vessels or craft of any kind shall moor or tie up to any Government structures other than the mooring piers which are provided for the use of vessels at the harbors of refuge.

(g) Damage to Government structures. The regulations in this section shall not affect the liability of the owners and operators of vessels for any damage caused by their operations to breakwaters, piers, and revetments. Vessels shall use great care not to strike or injure these structures.

(h) Use or injury of Government property. The occupancy or use of Government structures and of Government lands adjoining the waterway for private business of any kind, storage of property, or residence purposes is prohibited. The injury or defacement of Government buildings, structures, trees, or property of any kind is prohibited.

(i) Obstructing navigation. No person shall willfully or carelessly obstruct or hinder the free navigation of the waterway.

§ 162.120 Harbors on Lake Michigan: speed of vessels.

(a) East shore. The speed of all vessels and other watercraft entering or leaving the harbors of Michigan City, Ind.; St. Joseph, South Haven, Saugatuck, Holland (Lake Macatawa), Grand Haven, Muskegon, White Lake, Pentwater, Ludington, Manistee, Portage Lake (Manistee County), Frankfort, Charlevoix, and Petoskey, Mich., shall be reduced to and shall not exceed a rate of 8 miles per hour.

(b) West shore. The speed of all vessels and other watercraft entering or leaving the harbors of Menominee, Mich. and Wis.; Algoma, Keweenaw, Two Rivers, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Port Washington, Milwaukee, Racine, and Kenosha, Wis., and Waukegan, Ill., shall be reduced to and shall not exceed a rate of 4 miles per hour.

§ 162.125 Sturgeon Bay and Lake Michigan Ship Canal, Wis.: use and navigation.

(a) Supervision. The movement of all boats and floating things in the canal and in the approaches thereto shall be under the direction of the Captain of the Port, Milwaukee.

(b) Signals. On entering the canal at either entrance, steamers or tugs must blow their whistles for 1 minute in order to warn craft approaching from opposite direction and give them time to guard against collisions, by tying up if necessary. All steamers approaching others going in the opposite direction shall slacken speed so as to pass in safety. Compliance is required with rule V of the Inland Rules and the Pilot Rules for Inland Waters.

Rule V. Whenever a steamer is nearing a short bend or curve in the channel where, from the height of the banks or other cause, a steamer approaching from the opposite direction cannot be seen for a distance of half a mile, the pilot of such steamer, when he shall have arrived within half a mile of such curve or bend, shall give a signal by one long blast of the steam whistle, which signal shall be answered by a similar blast by the pilot of any approaching steamer that may be within hearing. Should such signal be so answered by a steamer upon the farther side of such bend, then the usual signals for the meeting and passing shall immediately be given and answered; but if the first alarm signal of such pilot be not answered, he is to consider the channel clear and govern himself accordingly.

(c) Speed. The rate of speed while passing through the canal shall not exceed 5 miles per hour.

(d) Keeping in the center. The center must be kept all the way through, except in passing other craft. In case of grounding, the rapid or strong working of boat's engines is strictly forbidden.

(e) Draft of boats. No vessel shall enter the canal whose actual draft exceeds the least depth of water in the channel of the canal as given by the Captain of the Port or his authorized representative.

(f) Turning around in canal. Tugs or other steam vessels exceeding 150 feet in length are forbidden to turn around or to attempt to turn around in the canal.

(g) Navigating the canal. All vessels and boats are forbidden: (1) To enter the canal two or more abreast. (2) To pass another while going in the same direction in the canal. (3) To pass the canal in more than one line going each way. (4) To obstruct the canal in any way or to delay, by slow passage through the canal or by any other means, the progress of other vessels. (5) To attempt passing the canal in the face of running ice, except at their own risk and liability to make good any damage to the canal or its banks, which may result from such attempt.

(h) To shorten sail. No vessel, however propelled or being towed, shall pass through the canal with sail or sails up, except sail vessels running with a fair wind. Every craft that sails into or attempts to sail into or through the canal must be responsible for any damage resulting therefrom.

(i) Towing. (1) All boats engaged in towing vessels that are laden, or partially laden, shall use two towlines and shorten them to the greatest extent, so as to have full control of their tows, and thereby avoid accident while meeting or otherwise passing other craft. Boats that are towing vessels without cargo need use but one towline, but the line between the steamer and the first vessel or barge of the tow must not exceed 100 feet in length. Towing more than one craft abreast, or rafts of greater width than 50 feet, is forbidden.

(2) Towing in the same tow of more than one scow or barge of 1,000 tons or more, of a draft not exceeding 10 feet when loaded, whose load is carried on the deck, is hereby prohibited, except upon condition that there shall be two towlines between each vessel in the tow, the lines to be secured to the starboard and port quarters of each craft and to be of a length not to exceed 25 feet in the clear.

(j) Harbor of refuge. The anchoring or mooring of any craft in any part of the canal, except at such place or places as may be directed by the Captain of the Port or his authorized representative, is strictly forbidden. The master of any craft entering into the canal for shelter shall report such fact at once to the Captain of the Port, who will thereupon assign a mooring to such craft. Moorings will usually be assigned at the westerly end of the canal. Under no circumstances shall vessels, other than those on Government business, be permitted to moor or make fast to either of the converging piers or any of the appurtenances thereto, at the Lake Michigan entrance to the canal. Should it become necessary, in the judgment of the Captain of the Port, for a vessel moored in the canal to change its moorings, the vessel shall be promptly moved as may be directed by the Captain of the Port.

(k) Injury to cribs, piers, and sheet piling. Vessels shall use great care not to strike or injure the cribs, piers, sheet piling, or any structure pertaining to the canal.

(l) Obstructing navigation. Anyone who shall willfully or through carelessness in any way obstruct the free navigation of the canal, or by the violation of any of the laws or regulations governing the canal and those using it, delay or inconvenience any boat having the right to use the canal, shall be responsible for all damages and delays and for all expenses of removing the obstructions.

NOTE.—The Corps of Engineers also has regulations dealing with this section in 33 CFR Part 207.

§ 162.130 Waukegan Harbor, Ill.

(a) All vessels or other craft are forbidden to lie at anchor in the basin or channel of Waukegan Harbor except for refuge from storms, or in any way to obstruct free navigation of the harbor.

NOTE.—The Corps of Engineers also has regulations dealing with this section in 33 CFR Part 207.

§ 162.135 Connecting waters of the Great Lakes from Lake Huron to Lake Erie; use, administration and navigation.

(a) General.—(1) Application and supervision. The regulations in this section shall apply to such of those waters as are within the United States. These waters are under the general supervision of the District Commander, Ninth Coast Guard District.

(2) Local arrangements. The District Commander may make local arrangements with authorized Canadian officials in the interest of safety of operations, to facilitate movement of traffic, to avoid disputes as to jurisdiction and to take necessary action and render assistance in emergencies.

(3) Patrol vessels. The anchorage and movement of all vessels shall be under the direction and subject to the orders of officers in charge of patrol vessels. The following sound signals shall be used by patrol vessels as required:

(i) Three long blasts of a whistle or horn, which signal may also be used by dredges, drill scows, derrick scows, sweep scows, and other floating plant engaged in the maintenance and improvement or investigation of channels, to indicate that the vessel to which it is given is moving at too high a rate of speed; such vessel shall immediately slacken its speed.

(ii) Four long blasts of a whistle or horn, to indicate that the vessel to which the signal is given must stop until further orders are received from the patrol vessel.

(iii) One long blast, followed by four short blasts, of a whistle or horn, to indicate that the vessel to which the signal is given may proceed on its course. (Radio telephone may be used in lieu of sound signals.)

(4) Other obligations. The regulations in this section shall not be considered to cover all the obligations imposed by law upon vessels and their operators, and shall not be construed as relieving the owners or operators of vessels from any penalties which may be incurred in the violation of the laws relating to navigation on the Great Lakes and their connecting waters or the regulations issued pursuant to such laws.

(5) Definitions. As used in this section, the terms:

(i) "St. Clair River" shall apply to the connecting waters of the Great Lakes from the Lakeward limits of the improved navigation channels at the foot of Lake Huron to the St. Clair Flats Canal Light 2 at the upper end of Lake St. Clair.

(ii) "Lake St. Clair" shall apply to the channels lying westerly from the International Boundary from the St. Clair Flats Canal Light 2 to Windmill Point Light at the head of the Detroit River.

(iii) "Upper Detroit River" shall apply to that portion of the Detroit River extending from Windmill Point Light to Fighting Island North Light.

(iv) "Lower Detroit River" shall apply to that portion of the River between Fighting Island North Light and the lakeward limits of the improved navigational channels at the head of Lake Erie.

(v) "Patrol Vessel" means a vessel operated by the United States Coast Guard, the Canadian Coast Guard, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police or a harbor master.

(b) Length of towlines. On the connecting waters of the Great Lakes between the Lake Huron Lightship and the southerly limits of the improved channels of the Detroit River, terminating in Lake Erie, the length of towlines shall not exceed by more than 50 feet the length of the scow, barge, vessel, or other craft being towed: Provided, That no scow, barge, vessel or other craft shall be required to have a towline less than 250 feet. The length of the towline shall be measured from the stern of one vessel to the bow of the following vessel.

Upbound vessels shall navigate the Canadian Channel east of the Port Huron Traffic Lighted Buoy.

NOTE.—Channels east of Stagg Island, east of the St. Clair Middle Ground and the South East Bend Channel below the St. Clair Cut-Off are no longer maintained.

(2) Lower Detroit River south of Livingstone Channel Upper Entrance Light. Downbound vessels shall navigate the Livingstone Channel (west of Bois Blanc Island) except that downbound passenger vessels may use the Amherstburg Channel (east of Bois Blanc Island) and except as hereinafter provided. All downbound vessels shall enter Lake Erie through the East Outer Channel east of Detroit River Light except those whose draft permits may enter Lake Erie through the West Outer Channel west of Detroit River Light. Upbound vessels shall enter from Lake Erie by way of the East Outer Channel east of Detroit River Light and shall use the Amherstburg Channel, except that under certain conditions during the winter navigation season two-way traffic will be allowed in Livingstone Channel and in the West Outer Channel west of Detroit River Light. The conditions for use of these downbound channels, including the opening and closing dates for two-way traffic, will be established each year by the District Commander.

(3) Vessels exempted. The regulations in this paragraph do not apply to public vessels of the United States, craft employed upon river and harbor improvement work, and vessels under 100 gross tons or vessels making local stops along these routes.

(d) Speed. Commercial vessels (including tug and barge combinations) 65 feet, or greater, in length shall not exceed the following speeds measured in statute miles per hour over the bottom:

(1) In the St. Clair River:

(i) Between Fort Gratiot Light and Stag Island Upper Junction Lighted Buoy, 9 m.p.h. for upbound vessels and 12 m.p.h. for downbound vessels.

(ii) Between Stag Island Upper Junction Lighted Buoy and Harsens Island Rear Range Light, 12 m.p.h. for both upbound and downbound vessels.

(iii) Between Harsens Island Rear Range Light and St. Clair Cut-off Channel Lt2, Ft1R, 10 m.p.h. for both upbound and downbound vessels.

(2) In the Detroit River:

(i) Between the black turn buoy (lat. 42°22.0' N., long. 82°54.0' W.—Lake St. Clair), and Fighting Island South Light, 12 m.p.h. for upbound vessels and 14 m.p.h. for downbound vessels.

(ii) Between Fighting Island South Light and Detroit River Light 12 m.p.h. for both upbound and downbound vessels.

(3) [Reserved]

(4) In the St. Clair River when the stage of Lake Huron exceeds two (2) feet above International Great Lakes Datum, the District Commander may, if he deems it necessary to protect life and property, including floating plant or shore installations, reduce the allowable maximum speed in all or any part of the river. Temporary speed limits so prescribed shall become effective through publication in a Notice to Mariners and may be modified or likewise rescinded by the District Commander as changing water stages permit or make necessary.

(e) Passing. (1) In the St. Clair River and the Lower Detroit River, any vessel overtaking a tug with a tow moving in the same direction may pass such tow after an exchange of signals indicating on which side the vessel desires to pass, and the pilot of the tug shall haul with the tow to the proper side of the channel to provide passing room.

(2) In the St. Clair River, no vessel of 500 gross tons or over shall pass or attempt to pass another vessel of 500 gross tons or over moving in the same direction within the following limits: (1) Downbound. From the first buoy above Fort Gratiot Light to Port Huron Traffic Lighted Buoy; and from Walpole Island Upper Light to the St. Clair Flats Canal Light 2.

(ii) Upbound. From the St. Clair Flats Canal Light 2 to Walpole Island Upper Light; and from Port Huron Traffic Lighted Buoy to the first buoy above Fort Gratiot Light.

(3) In the Lower Detroit River between Fighting Island South Light and Bar Point Pier Light 29D, no vessel shall pass or attempt to pass another vessel or vessels moving in either the same or opposite direction when more than two vessels would be abreast.

(4) There shall be a time interval of not less than five (5) minutes between any two vessels entering or navigating the Livingstone Channel between the Upper Entrance Light and Bar Point Pier Light 29D except that tugs without tows and vessels under 100 gross tons are exempted from this rule. This requirement shall not apply under emergency conditions such as might exist when the vessel ahead is proceeding below the speed limits due to engine breakdown or other difficulties, provided the vessel ahead assents to the passing, the overtaking vessel remains within the speed limits, and the passing may be safely undertaken.

(f) Obstruction of traffic. (1) No person shall willfully or carelessly obstruct the free navigation of any of the waterways to which the regulations in this section apply, or delay any vessel having the right to use the waterway.

(2) No vessel shall anchor within the limits of any of the improved channels between the upstream limits of the Windsor Harbor Anchorage Area north of Fighting Island and the aerial cable across the Detroit River at Fort Wayne except in distress or under stress of weather. Any vessel forced to anchor in this forbidden area shall leave the area as soon as possible.

(3) No vessel of 500 gross tons or over shall anchor in the Detroit River between Belle Isle and Fighting Island so as to have any part of the vessel extended riverward more than 300 feet from shore nor in such position as will interfere with easy movement to and from any dock except in distress or under stress of weather. Vessels unable to comply with this subparagraph and subparagraph (2) of this paragraph shall request anchorage instructions from the U.S. Coast Guard, Belle Isle Lifeboat Station or the Windsor Harbor Master.

(4) Motorboats (as defined by the Motorboat Act of April 25, 1940), sailboats, rowboats, and other small crafts shall not anchor or drift in the regular ship channels except under stress of weather or in case of breakdown. Such craft shall be so operated that they shall not interfere with the safe passage of a vessel which can navigate only inside such channels.

(5) Whenever vessels collect in any of the channels by reasons of fog, smoke, ice, or other obstruction, their anchorage and movement shall be under the direction and control of an officer of the United States Coast Guard or patrol vessel, except as provided in subparagraph (6) of this paragraph. Regular scheduled vessels carrying passengers or mail may be advanced in order, and any vessel not ready to move when directed to do so may lose its position. The masters of all vessels shall comply promptly with the orders of the patrol vessels.

(6) When, as determined by the District Commander or his authorized representative, there is a stoppage of, interference with or danger to navigation by reasons of the sinking or grounding or unnecessary delay in any channel of any vessel, boat, water craft or raft or other obstruction, he may stop all vessels and direct their anchorage, clear the channel, designate the order in which all vessels shall proceed after the channel is open, and shall do all things deemed necessary to safeguard and expedite the passage of vessels.

(g) Vessels aground or not under command. (1) A vessel over sixty-five feet in length aground or disabled in or near the channel, in addition to displaying the lights or day signals required by Rule 30, of the Rules of the Road—Great Lakes, upon the approach of another vessel bound up or down the channel, shall sound the danger signal of several short and rapid blasts of the whistle, not less than five. If the approaching vessel cannot pass with safety, it shall stop at a safe distance from, and make proper dispositions to avoid fouling the grounded or disabled vessel, and upon the approach of another vessel coming up astern shall repeat the danger signal. Each additional vessel approaching from the same direction shall be similarly warned, in turn, by the vessel preceding. Each vessel shall keep a safe distance from the vessel ahead until the channel has been cleared, and shall pass a grounded or disabled vessel at reduced speed and with caution.

(2) Any vessel passing a stranded or disabled vessel shall report the location and nature of the casualty to the U.S. Coast Guard.

(f) All vessels equipped with radio telephone shall thereby broadcast the following security calls:

(1) Within 20 to 30 minutes before entering Rouge River or Short Cut Canal.

(2) Within 20 to 30 minutes before departing any mooring or docking in Rouge River or Short Cut Canal.

(3) Immediately upon leaving Rouge River or Short Cut Canal.

(4) Each 30 minutes when a vessel or any part thereof is lying in the channel for loading, unloading, or other purposes and is in position to obstruct other traffic.

(g) Every vessel, boat, raft, or other floating property which is not underway or anchored in Rouge River shall be securely moored to or made fast to the shore or wharf to avoid its drifting or sliding into the channel or otherwise obstructing navigation.

§ 162.145 Monroe Harbor, Mich.; use, administration, and navigation.

(a) No vessel shall exceed a speed of 6 miles per hour in the river channel nor 10 miles per hour in the lake channel.

(b) No vessel or other craft shall moor or anchor in or along any improved channel or basin in such a manner as to interfere with the improvement or maintenance operations therein. Whenever in the opinion of the District Commander or his authorized representative, any vessel or craft is so moored or anchored, the owner thereof shall cause such vessel or craft to be moved upon notification from, and within the time specified by, said District Commander.

(c) No tow shall enter or pass through the river portion of the channel with a towline more than 200 feet in length.

(d) Vessels of 500 gross tons or over, or tugs with tows, shall not overtake or pass another vessel traveling in the same direction in the Bay Channel, or in the River Channel from the mouth upstream to the railroad bridge located about 2 miles upstream of the mouth of the river, where such will result in meeting a vessel or tug with tow navigating in the opposite direction during the overtaking situation.

(e) Vessels of 500 tons or over, or tugs with tow, shall not overtake or pass a vessel traveling in the same direction in the River Channel upstream of the railroad bridge located about 2 miles upstream of the mouth of the river.

§ 162.205 San Pablo Bay, Carquinez Strait, Suisun Bay, San Joaquin River, and connecting waters, Calif.

(a) Pinole Shoal Channel, San Pablo Bay; use, administration, any navigation. (1) The use of Pinole Shoal Channel is reserved for navigation of vessels of greater draft than 20 feet or by tow-boats with tows drawing more than 20 feet. Vessels operated by either sail or power and tows drawing less than 20 feet are not permitted to use this channel or to cross it at any point between San Pablo Bay Lighted Buoy 5 and San Pablo Bay Lighted Bell Buoy 13.

(2) Vessels permitted to use Pinole Shoal Channel under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall proceed through the channel at a reasonable speed so as not to endanger other vessels or interfere with any work which may become necessary in maintaining, surveying, or buoying the channel, and they shall not anchor in the channel, except in cases of emergency such as fog or accident which would render progress unsafe or impossible.

(3) This paragraph shall not be construed as prohibiting any necessary use of the channel by any Government boats while on Government duty, or in emergencies by pilot boats, whether steam or sail, or by police boats, or by the vessels of passenger steamship lines operated on regular schedules.

(b) San Joaquin River Deep Water Channel between Suisun Bay and the easterly end of the channel at Stockton; use, administration, and navigation.—(1) Maximum speed. The maximum speed for all ocean-going craft shall not exceed 10 miles per hour above the lower end of New York Slough, seven miles per hour above Criminal Point, or five miles per hour while passing any wharf, dock, or moored craft. As used in this subparagraph, the speed of a vessel when navigating with the current shall be its rate of movement in excess of the velocity of the current.

(2) Passing. All craft passing other boats, barges, scows, etc., in motion, moored or anchored, shall slow down and take every necessary precaution to avoid damage.

(3) Right of way. (i) United States dredges, tugs, launches, derrick boats, and similar plant of contractors executing river and harbor improvement work for the United States, and displaying the signals prescribed by the regulations contained in Part 80 of this Chapter shall have the right of way and other craft shall exercise special caution to avoid interference with the work on which the plant is engaged. Dredges, whether Federal or contractors' plant, working the channel must, however, take special care to give ocean-going vessels sufficient room for passing, and must lift both spuds and the ladder, and pull clear, if an adequate width of clear channelway cannot otherwise be provided. Ocean-going vessels may show at the masthead a black ball not more than 20 inches in diameter as a signal to the dredge, and may also blow five long blasts of the whistle when within reasonable hearing distance of the dredge, such signal to be followed at the proper time by the passing signal described in the local pilot rules. The dredge shall promptly acknowledge both signals in the usual manner.

(ii) Light-draft vessels when meeting or being overtaken by ocean-going vessels, shall give the right of way to such vessels by making use of the shallower portions of the waterway.

(iii) Rafts and tows must promptly give the channel side demanded upon proper signal by a vessel, and must be handled in such a manner as not to obstruct or interfere with the free use of the waterway by other craft.

(4) Collisions. (i) Ocean-going vessels in collision in the channel or turning basin must, if still afloat and in a condition making anchorage necessary, be immediately removed to an approved anchorage ground, or if in such condition that beaching is necessary, they shall be temporarily beached on the north-west side of Mandeville Island or in the Old River.

(ii) Light-draft vessels suffering collision shall be disposed of as directed by the District Commander or his authorized representative.

(5) Wrecks. In no case following accidents of fire or collision will a vessel be allowed to remain either anchored or grounded in the channel, or beached at any place where it endangers other vessels, while settlement is pending with the underwriters.

(6) Other laws and regulations. In all other respects, the existing Federal laws and rules and regulations affecting navigable waters of the United States will govern in this channel.

(c) Sacramento Deep Water Ship Channel between Suisun Bay and easterly end of Turning Basin at West Sacramento; use, administration, and navigation.—(1) Maximum speed for all ocean going craft.—(i) Between Tolands Landing (Mile 6.2) and Rio Vista Bridge. When going against a current of two knots or more, the maximum speed over the bottom shall not exceed 8 knots. When going with the current, in slack water, or against a current of two knots or less, the maximum speed through the water shall not exceed 10 knots.

(ii) Between Rio Vista Bridge and Port of Sacramento. When going against a current of two knots or more, the maximum speed over the bottom shall not exceed 5 knots. When going with the current, in slack water, or against a current of two knots or less, the maximum speed through the water shall not exceed 7 knots.

(iii) Speed past docks or moored craft. Within 550 feet of the centerline of the channel the speed shall be the minimum required to maintain steerageway; wind, tide, current, etc., being taken into consideration.

(iv) Passing. All craft passing other boats, barges, scows, etc., underway, moored or anchored, shall take every necessary precaution to avoid damage.

(v) Speed, high-water precautions. When passing another vessel (underway, anchored, or tied up); a wharf or other structure; work under construction; plant engaged in river and harbor improvement; levees withstanding flood waters; buildings partially or wholly submerged by high water; or any other structure liable to damage by collision, suction or wave action; vessels shall give as much leeway as circumstances permit and reduce their speed sufficiently to preclude causing damage to the vessel or structure being passed. As deemed necessary for public safety during high river stages, floods, or other emergencies, the District Commander may prescribe, by navigation bulletins or other means, the limiting speed in knots or temporarily close the waterway or any reach of it to traffic. Since this subparagraph pertains directly to the manner in which vessels are operated, masters of vessels shall be held responsible for strict observance and full compliance herewith.

(2) Right of way. (i) Dredges, tugs, launches, derrick boats and other similar equipment, executing river and harbor improvement work for the United States, and displaying the signals prescribed by the regulations contained in Part 80, of this Chapter, shall have the right-of-way and other craft shall exercise special caution to avoid interference with the work on which the plant is engaged.

Dredges, whether Federal or contractor's plant, working the channel must however, take special care to give ocean-going vessels sufficient room for passing, and must lift both spuds and the ladder, and pull clear, if an adequate width of clear channelway cannot otherwise be provided.

(ii) Vessels intending to pass dredges or other types of floating plant working in navigable channels, when within a reasonable distance therefrom and not in any case over a mile, shall indicate such intention by one long blast of the whistle, and shall be directed to the proper side for passage by the sounding, by the dredge or other floating plant, of the signal prescribed in the inland pilot rules for vessels underway and approaching each other from opposite directions, which shall be answered in the usual manner by the approaching vessel. If the channel is not clear, the floating plant shall sound the alarm or danger signal and the approaching vessel shall slow down or stop and await further signal from the plant.

(iii) When the pipeline from a dredge crosses the channel in such a way that an approaching vessel cannot pass safely around the pipeline or dredge, there shall be sounded immediately from the dredge the alarm or danger signal and the approaching vessel shall slow down or stop and await further signal from the dredge. The pipeline shall then be opened and the channel cleared as soon as practicable; when the channel is clear for passage the dredge shall so indicate by sounding the usual passing signal as prescribed in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph. The approaching vessel shall answer with a corresponding signal and pass promptly.

(iv) When any pipeline or swinging dredge shall have given an approaching vessel or tow the signal that the channel is clear, the dredge shall straighten out within the cut for the passage of the vessel or tow.

(v) Shallow draft vessels when meeting or being overtaken by ocean-going vessels, shall give the right-of-way to such vessels by making use of the shallower portions of the waterway, wherever possible.

(vi) Tows should promptly give the channel side requested by proper signal from a vessel, and should be handled in such a manner as not to obstruct or interfere with the free use of the waterway by other craft.

(3) Obstruction of traffic. (i) Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph no person shall willfully or carelessly obstruct the free navigation of the waterway, or delay any vessel having the right to use the waterway.

(ii) No vessel shall anchor within the channel except in distress or under stress of weather. Any vessel so anchored shall be moved as quickly as possible to such anchorage as will leave the channel clear for the passage of vessels.

(iii) Motorboats, sailboats, rowboats, and other small craft shall not anchor or drift in the regular ship channel except under stress of weather or in case of breakdown. Such craft shall be so operated that they will not interfere with or endanger the movement of commercial or public vessels.

(4) Collisions. (i) Ocean-going vessels in collision in the channel or turning basin, must if still afloat and in a condition making anchorage necessary, be immediately removed to an approved anchorage ground, or if in such condition that beaching is necessary, they shall be temporarily beached on the southwest side of Ryer Island from Mile 15.0 to Mile 16.3 or in the Harbor and Turning Basin at West Sacramento.

(ii) Light-draft vessels suffering collision shall be disposed of as directed by the District Commander or his authorized representative.

(5) Marine accidents. Masters, mates, pilots, owners, or other persons using the waterway to which this paragraph applies shall notify the Commander, 12th U.S. Coast Guard District and in the case of undocumented vessels, the State Division of Small Craft Harbors also, by the most expeditious means available of all marine accidents, such as fire, collision, sinking or stranding, where there is possible obstruction of the channel or interference with navigation or where damage to Government property is involved, furnishing a clear statement as to the name, address, and ownership of the vessel or vessels involved, the time and place, and the action taken. In all cases, the owner of the sunken vessel shall take immediate steps to mark the wreck properly.

(6) Other laws and regulations. In all other respects, existing Federal laws and rules and regulations affecting navigable waters of the United States will govern in this channel.

(2) Speed. The speed limit within the canal grounds shall not exceed five miles per hour.

(3) Signals. All boats desiring to use the canal shall give one long and one short whistle. Southbound boats shall sound the signal within 600 yards of Port Townsend Canal Light. Northbound boats shall sound this signal at least 500 feet south from the end of the jetties in Oak Bay. If no other boat answers the signal the first boat shall have the right of way through the canal. Any approaching boat that is in the canal shall answer by giving the same signal and the first boat shall not enter the canal until the second boat shall have passed through the canal. In the case of boats going in the same direction the boat which is in the canal shall not answer the signal of the boat desiring to enter.

(2) Two green lights, one vertically above the other, displayed ahead of a vessel, shall indicate that the waterway is clear. Two red lights, one vertically above the other, displayed ahead of a vessel, shall indicate that the waterway is not clear.

(3) A vessel approaching the narrow section and drawbridges from either end of the waterway shall give one long blast of a whistle and shall not enter the narrow section until green lights are displayed.

(4) One vessel may follow another vessel in either direction, but the channel shall not be kept open in the same direction for an unreasonable time if a vessel is waiting at the other end.

(5) Tugs, launches, and small craft shall keep close to one side of the channel when vessels or boats with tows are passing.

(6) All craft shall proceed with caution. The display of a green light is not a guarantee that the channel is clear of traffic, and neither the United States nor the City of Seattle will be responsible for any damage to vessels or other property which may be chargeable to mistakes in the operation of the signal lights or to their failure to operate.

CHAPTER II—CORPS OF ENGINEERS, DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY

PART 207—NAVIGATION REGULATIONS Transfer of Certain Navigation Regulations to the Coast Guard

AGENCY: U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, DOD.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: Certain inland waterways navigation regulations are being transferred from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to the Coast Guard. This action is the result of the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding between the Corps of Engineers and the Coast Guard that clarifies the responsibilities of each agency for safety on the navigable waters of the United States. This administrative transfer assures effective and efficient regulation of waterway safety.

EFFECTIVE DATE: September 29, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Ralph T. Eppard, 202-693-5070 or write Office of the Chief of Engineers, Forrestal Building, Washington, D.C. 20314. Attn: DAEN-CWO-N.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A Memorandum of Understanding between the United States Army Corps of Engineers and the United States Coast Guard was signed May 5, 1977, clarifying the responsibilities for safety on the navigable waters of the United States as a result of the enactment of the Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1972 (Pub. L. 92-340).

Pursuant to sections 7 of 40 Stat. 266 and 6 of 32 Stat. 374, (33 U.S.C. 1), the Secretary of the Army acting through the Chief of Engineers exercises regulatory authority over the use, administration, and navigation of the navigable waters of the United States. Under these authorities, the regulations contained in 33 CFR Part 207 were promulgated by the Corps of Engineers.

The Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1972 (86 Stat. 424 33 U.S.C. 1221 et seq.) provides authority for the Secretary of the Department in which the Coast Guard is operating to regulate vessel navigation on certain navigable waters of the United States for purposes of marine safety and environmental protection.

A significant portion of the regulations published in 33 CFR Part 207 under Corps of Engineers authority contained in 33 U.S.C. 1 relate to speed limits, non-Department of Defense restricted areas, and vessel operations affecting navigational safety. All regulations in 33 CFR Part 207 falling under Coast Guard responsibility, as determined by a joint agency working committee, are transferred from the Corps of Engineers to the Coast Guard. The Coast Guard will publish these regulations in 33 CFR Parts 161 and 162 and will be responsible for their enforcement.

All regulations in 33 CFR Part 207 not covered by the Coast Guard's authority granted by the Ports and Waterways Safety Act will remain with the Corps of Engineers and will remain a part of 33 CFR Part 207. Enforcement responsibilities for these regulations will not be affected. Where necessary, certain paragraphs which define specific areas are published by both agencies. Those regulations in 33 CFR Part 207 that are being transferred to the Coast Guard are hereby revoked and reserved and are redesignated as follows:

The Coast Guard is concurrently publishing these amendments to assure continuity of regulatory authority. The Chief Counsel has determined that since these amendments are matters relating to agency organization, they are exempt from the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking requirements in 5 U.S.C. 553(b) (3) (A) and since these amendments are not substantive, they may be made effective in less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER under 5 U.S.C. 553(d) (3).

NOTE.—The Department of the Army has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

Title 24—Housing and Urban Development
CHAPTER X—FEDERAL INSURANCE ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

SUBCHAPTER B—NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM

[Docket No. FI-3368]

PART 1914—COMMUNITIES ELIGIBLE FOR THE SALE OF INSURANCE

Status of Participating Communities

AGENCY: Federal Insurance Administration, HUD.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The purpose of this rule is to list those communities where the sale of flood insurance is authorized under the National Flood Insurance Program. Flood insurance policies for property located in the communities listed can be obtained from any licensed property insurance agent or broker serving the eligible community, or from the National Flood Insurers Association servicing company for the state.

DATES: The date that appears in the fourth column of the table is the effective date of authorization for the sale of flood insurance.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Richard Krimm, Assistant Administrator, Office of Flood Insurance, 202-755-5581 or Toll Free Line 800-424-8872, Room 5270, 451 Seventh Street, Southwest, Washington, D.C. 20410.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234) requires the purchase of flood insurance as a condition of receiving any form of Federal or federally related financial assistance for acquisition or construction purposes in a flood plain area having special hazards within any community identified for at least one year by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. The requirement applies to all identified special flood hazard areas within the United States, and no such financial assistance can legally be provided for acquisition or construction except as authorized by section 202(b) of the Act, as amended, unless the community has entered the program. Accordingly, for communities listed under this Part no such restriction exists, although insurance, if required, must be purchased.

The addresses of the National Flood Insurers Association servicing companies, where flood insurance policies can be obtained, are published at § 1912.5 (24 CFR Part 1912).

The Federal Insurance Administrator finds that delayed effective dates would be contrary to the public interest. The Administrator also finds that notice and public procedure under 5 U.S.C. 553 (b) are impracticable and unnecessary.

Section 1914.6 of Part 1914 of Subchapter B of Chapter X of Title 24 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended by adding in alphabetical sequence new entries to the table. In each entry, a complete chronology of effective dates appears for each listed community. The entry reads as follows:

[Docket No. FI-3369]

PART 1916—CONSULTATION WITH LOCAL OFFICIALS

Changes in Special Flood Hazard Areas

AGENCY: Federal Insurance Administration, HUD.

ACTION: Interim rule.

SUMMARY: The purpose of this rule is to list those communities wherein the Federal Insurance Administrator, after consultation with the Chief Executive Officer of the community, has determined that modification of the Special Flood Hazard Areas (SFHAs) of some locations is appropriate.

Any persons who have knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data or who wish to comment on these changes should immediately notify the Chief Executive Officer at the address listed.

For rating purposes, the revised community number is listed and must be used for all new policies and renewals.

DATES: These modified SFHAs are currently in effect and amend the Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM), in effect prior to this determination. A revised FIRM will be distributed in each community listed as soon as possible.

From the date of the second publication of notice of these changes in a prominent local newspaper, any person has 90 days in which he can request through the community that the Federal Insurance Administrator reconsider the changes. Any request for reconsideration must be based on knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data. All interested parties are on notice that until the 90-day period elapses, these modified SFHAs may be changed.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Richard Krimm, Assistant Administrator, Office of Flood Insurance, 202-755-5581 or toll free line 800-424-8872, Room 5270, 451 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20410.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The numerous changes made in the SFHAs on the Flood Insurance Rate Map(s) make it administratively infeasible to publish in this notice all of the modified SFHAs contained on the map. However, this notice includes the address of the Chief Executive Officer of the community where the modified SFHAs determinations are available for inspection.

The modifications are made pursuant to section 206 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234) and are in accordance with the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, Pub. L. 90-448), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 24 CFR Part 1916.

These SFHAs are the basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

These SFHAs together with the flood plain management measures required by § 1910.3 of the program regulations are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their flood plain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, state, or regional entities.

These modified SFHAs shall be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

The entry (entry not to be codified in CFR) reads as follows:

§ 1916.8 Changes in special flood hazard areas.

Changes in Base Flood Elevations

AGENCY: Federal Insurance Administration, HUD.

ACTION: Interim rule.

SUMMARY: The purpose of this rule is to list those communities wherein the Federal Insurance Administrator, after consultation with the Chief Executive Officer of the community, has determined that modification of the base (100-year) flood elevations of some locations is appropriate.

The numerous changes made in the base flood elevations on the Flood Insurance Rate Map(s) make it administratively infeasible to publish in this notice all of the modified base flood elevations contained on the map. However, this notice includes the address of the Chief Executive Officer of the community where the modified base flood elevation determinations are available for inspection.

Any persons who have knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data or who wish to comment on these changes should immediately notify the Chief Executive Officer at the address listed.

The modifications are made pursuant to section 206 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. For rating purposes, the revised community number is listed and must be used for all new policies and renewals.

DATES: These modified elevations are currently in effect and amend the Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM), in effect prior to this determination. A revised FIRM will be distributed in each community listed as soon as possible.

From the date of the second publication of notice of these changes in a prominent local newspaper, any person has 90 days in which he can request through the community that the Federal Insurance Administrator reconsider the changes. Any request for reconsideration must be based on knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data. [Docket No. FI-3371]

PART 1916—CONSULTATION WITH LOCAL OFFICIALS

Changes in Special Flood Hazard Areas

AGENCY: Federal Insurance Administration, HUD.

ACTION: Interim rule.

SUMMARY: The purpose of this rule is to list those communities wherein the Federal Insurance Administrator, after consultation with the Chief Executive Officer of the community, has determined that modification of the Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHAs) of some locations is appropriate.

Any persons who have knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data or who wish to comment on these changes should immediately notify the Chief Executive Officer at the address listed.

For rating purposes, the revised community number is listed and must be used for all new policies and renewals.

DATES: These modified SFHAs are currently in effect and amend the Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM), in effect prior to this determination. A revised FIRM will be distributed in each community listed as soon as possible.

From the date of the second publication of notice of these changes in a prominent local newspaper, any person has 90 days in which he can request through the community that the Federal Insurance Administrator reconsider the changes. Any request for reconsideration must be based on knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data. All interested parties are on notice that until the 90-day period elapses, these modified SFHAs may be changed.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CON-TACT:

Mr. Richard Krimm, Assistant Administrator, Office of Flood Insurance, (202-755-5581) or toll free line (800-424-8872) Room 5270, 451 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20410.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The numerous changes made in the SFHAs on the Flood Insurance Rate Map(s) make it administratively infeasible to publish in this notice all of the modified SFHAs contained on the map. However, this notice includes the address of the Chief Executive Officer of the community where the modified SFHAs determinations are available for inspection.

The modifications are made pursuant to section 206 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234) and are in accordance with the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, Pub. L. 90-448), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 24 CFR Part 1916.

These SFHAs are the basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

These SFHAs together with the flood plain management measures required by § 1910.3 of the program regulations are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their flood plain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, state, or regional entities.

These modified SFHAs shall be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

The entry (entry not to be codified in CFR) reads as follows:

§ 1916.8 Changes in special flood hazard areas.

State	County	Location	Date and name of newspaper where notice was published	Chief executive officer of community	Effective date of modified flood insurance rate map	New community No.

FEDERAL COLLECTION AND ADMINISTRATION OF QUALIFIED STATE INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAXES; REPORTS TO JOINT COMMITTEE ON TAXATION

Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

AGENCY: Internal Revenue Service, Treasury.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: This document contains proposed regulations relating to the Federal collection and administration of qualified State individual income taxes. Changes to the applicable tax law were made by the Federal-State Tax Collection Act of 1972 as amended by the Tax Reform Act of 1976. The regulations would provide the States with guidance needed in determining whether to elect Federal collection and administration of their individual income taxes.

DATES: Written comments and requests for a public hearing must be delivered or mailed by December 14, 1977. Federal collection and administration of qualified State individual income taxes will go into effect on the first January 1 which is more than one year after the first date on which at least one State has filed a notice of its election with the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate.

ADDRESS: Send comments and requests for a public hearing to Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: CC:LR:T, LR-2150, Washington, D.C. 20224.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

William E. Mantle of the Legislation and Regulations Division, Office of the Chief Counsel, Internal Revenue Service, 1111 Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20224, Attention: CC:LR:T, 202-566-3734.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

BACKGROUND

This document contains proposed amendments to the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1), the Employment Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 31), the Temporary Employment Tax Regulations Under the Tax Reform Act of 1969 (26 CFR Part 32), and the Regulations on Procedure and Administration (26 CFR Part 301). These amendments are proposed to conform the regulations to sections 202(a), 203(a), and 204 (a) and (b) of the Federal-State Tax Collection Act of 1972 (86 Stat. 936, 944, 945), and to section 2116 of the Tax Reform Act of 1976 (90 Stat. 1910). The amendments are to be issued under the authority contained in sections 6364 and 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (86 Stat. 944, 26 U.S.C. 6364 and 68A Stat. 917, 26 U.S.C. 7805).

IN GENERAL

In essence, the new law provides a system whereby the Federal Government will collect individual income taxes imposed by a State which elects to participate in the system. Those taxes will be collected as if they were Federal income taxes and the revenue collected will be turned over to the electing State. No fee or other charge will be imposed on any State for the collection or administration of its individual income taxes. In the interest of administrability, a State tax which is eligible for Federal collection (a "qualified tax") must conform to certain explicit specifications contained in the statute and the regulations. Such qualified taxes conform generally to the Federal income tax.

"Piggybacking", as it is generally known, was designed to increase the efficiency of collecting State taxes by eliminating duplication of effort by State and Federal tax administrators, eliminating duplicate recordkeeping by taxpayers, establishing uniform treatment for individual taxpayers at both the State and Federal levels, providing faster collection of State income taxes, and freeing State courts from individual income tax controversies.

IMPOSITION OF QUALIFIED TAX

A qualified State tax may be imposed on nonresidents as well as residents, at the option of the State. Rules are set forth to determine who is a resident, and what income of nonresident is subject to tax. A qualified resident tax may be either based on Federal taxable income or a percentage of Federal tax liability, in either case with certain mandatory and optional adjustments. One of the optional adjustments to either type of qualified resident tax is a credit against the tax for the taxpayer's income tax liability to another State or a political subdivision thereof. In addition, States are permitted to enter into reciprocal agreements under which all residents of one State are exempted from liability for the other State's qualified nonresident tax.

FEDERAL REPRESENTATION OF STATE

The proposed regulations provide, in accordance with the statutory policy, that the Federal Government will generally represent the State's interest in any administrative or judicial proceeding involving a qualified tax. However, the right of the State to represent its own interest is preserved in State court litigation relating to the State constitution and in certain litigation involving the relationship between the United States and the State. In addition, States may be permitted to carry on certain supplemental operations, including audits and examinations of tax returns. However, all administrative determinations with respect to the qualified tax liability of an individual are to be made by the Federal Government, and are not reviewable by the State.

TRANSFER OF TAX TO STATES

Amounts collected with respect to qualified taxes are to be transferred on a current basis to the State on the basis of estimates, with adjustments to be made at least annually when figures relating to the actual amounts collected are available.

ELECTION BY STATES

The proposed regulations contain guidelines indicating the steps that must be followed by a State in electing, or withdrawing from, piggybacking. In addition, provision is made for the State to obtain judicial review of an adverse determination by the Federal Government with respect to the qualification of the State tax laws or the validity of the State's notice of election.

EFFECTIVE DATE

Piggybacking will go into effect on the first January 1 which is more than one year after the first date on which at least one State has filed a notice of its election with the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate.

COMMENTS AND REQUESTS FOR A PUBLIC HEARING

Before adopting these proposed regulations, consideration will be given to any written comments that are submitted (preferably six copies) to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. All comments will be available for public inspection and copying. A public hearing will be held upon written request to the Commissioner by any person who has submitted written comments. If a public hearing is held, notice of the time and place will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

DRAFTING INFORMATION

Principal author of these proposed regulations was William E. Mantle of the Legislation and Regulations Division of the Office of Chief Counsel, Internal Revenue Service. However, personnel from other offices of the Internal Revenue Service and Treasury Department participated in developing the regulations, both on matters of substance and style.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE REGULATIONS

The proposed amendments to 26 CFR Parts 1, 31, 32, and 301 are as follows:

PART 1—INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1953

Paragraph 1. So much of paragraph (a) of § 1.164-1 as follows subparagraph (5) thereof is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.164-1 Deduction for taxes.

(a) In general. . . .

(5) . . . .

In addition, there shall be allowed as a deduction under this section State and local, and foreign, taxes not described in subparagraphs (1) through (5) of this paragraph which are paid or accrued within the taxable year in carrying on a trade or business or an activity described in section 212 (relating to expenses for production of income). For example, dealers or investors in securities and dealers or investors in real estate may deduct State stock transfer and real estate transfer taxes, respectively, under section 164, to the extent they are expenses incurred in carrying on a trade or business or an activity for the production of income. In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed. However, see § 1.164-5 in the case of certain taxes paid by the consumer. Also, in the case of a qualified State individual income tax (as defined in section 6362 and the regulations thereunder) which is determined by reference to a percentage of the Federal income tax (pursuant to section 6362 (c)), an accrual method taxpayer shall use the cash receipts and disbursements method to compute the amount of his deduction therefor. Thus, the deduction under section 164 is in the amount actually paid with respect to the qualified tax, rather than the amount accrued with respect thereto, during the taxable year even though the taxpayer uses the accrual method of accounting for other purposes. In addition, see paragraph (f) (1) of § 301.6361-1 of this chapter (Regulations on Procedure and Administration) with respect to rules relating to allocation and reallocation of amounts collected on account of the Federal income tax and qualified taxes.

For rules relating to the inclusion in income of an amount paid by a taxpayer in respect of his liability for a qualified State individual income tax and allocated or reallocated in such a manner as to apply it toward the taxpayer's liability for the Federal income tax, see paragraph (f) (1) of § 301.6361-1 of this chapter (Regulations on Procedure and Administration).

PAR. 3. Paragraphs (a) and (d) of § 1.6001-1 are amended to read as follows:

(a) In general. Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, any person subject to tax under subtitle A of the Code (including a qualified State individual income tax which is treated pursuant to section 6361(a) as if it were imposed by chapter 1 of subtitle A), or any person required to file a return of information with respect to income, shall keep such permanent books of account or records, including inventories, as are sufficient to establish the amount of gross income, deductions, credits, or other matters required to be shown by such person in any return of such tax or information.

(d) Notice by district director requiring returns, statements, or the keeping of records. The district director may require any person, by notice served upon him, to make such returns, render such statements, or keep such specific records as will enable the district director to determine whether or not such person is liable for tax under subtitle A of the Code, including qualified State individual income taxes, which are treated pursuant to section 6361(a) as if they were imposed by chapter 1 of subtitle A.

PAR. 4. There is inserted immediately after § 1.6001-1 the following new section:

§ 1.6012-3 Returns by fiduciaries.

(a) For estate and trusts. . . .

(8) Estates and trusts liable for qualified tax. In the case of an estate or trust which is liable for one or more qualified State individual income taxes, as defined in section 6362, for a taxable year, see paragraph (b) of § 301.6361-1 of this chapter (Regulations on Procedure and Administration) for rules relating to returns required to be made.

§ 301.6212-1 Notice of deficiency.

(c) Further deficiency letters restricted. If the district director (or assistant regional commissioner, appellate) mails to the taxpayer notice of a deficiency, and the taxpayer files a petition with the Tax Court within the prescribed period, no additional deficiency may be determined with respect to income tax for the same taxable year, gift tax for the same calendar quarter (calendar year with respect to gifts made before January 1, 1971), or estate tax with respect to the taxable estate of the same decedent. This restriction shall not apply in the case of fraud, assertion of de-iciencies with respect to any qualified tax (as defined in paragraph (b) of § 301.6361-4) in respect of which no deficiency was asserted for the taxable year in the notice, assertion of deficiencies with respect to the Federal tax when deficiencies with respect to only a qualified tax (and not the Federal tax) were asserted for the taxable year in the notice, assertion of greater deficiencies before the Tax Court as provided in section 6214(a), mathematical errors as provided in section 6213(b)(1), or jeopardy assessments as provided in section 6961(c).

Par. 20. Section 301.6321-1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 301.6321-1 Lien for taxes.

If any person liable to pay any tax neglects or refuses to pay the same after demand, the amount (including any interest, additional amount, addition to tax, or assessable penalty, together with any costs that may accrue in addition thereto, shall be a lien in favor of the United States upon all property and rights to property, whether real or personal, tangible or intangible, belonging to such person. For purposes of section 6321 and this section, the term "any tax" shall include a State individual income tax which is a "qualified tax", as defined in paragraph (b) of § 301.6361-4. The lien attaches to all property and rights to property belonging to such person at any time during the period of the lien, including any property or rights to property acquired by such person after the lien arises. Solely for purposes of sections 6321 and 6331, any interest in restricted land held in trust by the United States for an individual noncompetent Indian (and not for a tribe) shall not be deemed to be property, or a right to property, belonging to such Indian. For the method of allocating amounts collected pursuant to a lien between the Federal Government and a State or States imposing a qualified tax with respect to which the lien attached, see paragraph (f) of § 301.6361-1. For the special lien for estate and gift taxes, see section 6324 and § 301.6324-1.

Par. 21. The following new sections are inserted immediately after § 301.6344:

§ 301.6361-1 Collection and administration of qualified taxes.

(a) In general. In the case of any State which has in effect a State agreement (as defined in paragraph (a) of § 301.6361-4), the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall collect and administer each qualified tax (as defined in paragraph (b) of § 301.6361-4) of such State. No fee or other charge shall be imposed upon any State for the collection or administration of any qualified tax of such State or any other State. In any such case of collection and administration of qualified taxes, the provisions of subtitle F (relating to procedure and administration), subtitle G (relating to the Joint Committee on Taxation), and chapter 24 (relating to the collection of income tax at source on wages), and the provisions of regulations thereunder, insofar as such provisions relate to the collection and administration of the taxes imposed on the income of individuals by chapter 1 (and the civil and criminal sanctions provided by subtitle F, or by title 18 of the United States Code (relating to crimes and criminal procedure), with respect to such collection and administration) shall apply to the collection and administration of qualified taxes, as if such taxes were imposed by chapter 1, except to the extent that the application of such provisions (and sanctions) are modified by regulations issued under subchapter E (as defined in paragraph (d) of § 301.6361-4). Any extension of time which is granted for the making of a payment, or for the filing of any return, which relates to any Federal tax imposed by subtitle A (or by subtitle C with respect to filing a return) shall constitute automatically an extension of the same amount of time for the making of the corresponding payment or for the filing of the corresponding return relating to any qualified tax.

(b) Returns of qualified taxes. Every individual, estate, or trust which has liability for one or more qualified taxes for a taxable year—

(1) Shall file a Federal income tax return at the time prescribed pursuant to section 6072(a) (whether or not such return is required by section 6012), and shall file therewith on the prescribed form a return under penalties of perjury for each tax which is—

(i) A qualified resident tax imposed by a State of which the taxpayer was a resident, as defined in § 301.6362-6, for any part of the taxable year;

(ii) A qualified nonresident tax imposed by a State within which was located the source or sources from which the taxpayer derived, while not a resident of such State and while not exempt from liability for the tax by reason of a reciprocal agreement between such State and the State of which he is a resident, 25 percent or more of his aggregate wage and other business income, as defined in paragraph (c) of § 301.6362-5, for the taxable year; or

(iii) A qualified resident or nonresident tax with respect to which any amount was currently collected from the taxpayer's income (including collection by withholding on wages or by payment of estimated income tax), as provided in paragraph (f) of § 301.6362-6, for any part of the taxable year; and

(2) Shall declare (in addition to the declaration required with respect to the return of the Federal income tax and in the place and manner prescribed by form or instructions thereto) under penalties of perjury that, to the best of the knowledge and belief of the taxpayer (or, in the case of an estate or trust, of the fiduciary who executes the Federal income tax return), he has no liability for any qualified tax for the taxable year other than any such liabilities returned with the Federal income tax return (pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph). Such declaration shall constitute a return indicating no liability with respect to each qualified tax other than any such tax for which liability is so returned. A Federal income tax return form which is filed but which does not contain such declaration shall constitute a Federal income tax return only if the taxpayer in fact has no liability for any qualified State tax for the taxable year.

(c) Credits.—(1) Credit for tax of another State or political subdivision.—(i) In general. A credit allowable under a qualified tax law against the tax imposed by such law for a taxpayer's tax liability to another State or a political subdivision of another State shall be allowed if the requirements of subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph are met, and if the credit meets the requirements of paragraph (c) of § 301.6362-4. Such credit shall be allowed without regard to whether the tax imposed by the other State or subdivision thereof is a qualified tax, and without regard to whether such tax has been paid.

(ii) Substantiation of tax liability for which a credit is allowed. If the liability which gives rise to a credit of the type described in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph is with respect to a qualified tax, then the fact of such liability shall be substantiated by filing the return on which such liability is reported. If such liability is not with respect to a qualified tax, then the Commissioner may require a taxpayer who claims entitlement to such a credit to complete a form to be submitted with his return of the qualified tax against which the credit is claimed. On such form the taxpayer shall identify each of the other States (the liabilities to which were not substantiated as provided in the first sentence of this subdivision) or political subdivisions to which the taxpayer reported a liability for a tax giving rise to the credit, furnish the name or description of each such tax, state the amount of the liability so reported with respect to each such tax and the beginning and ending dates of the taxable period for which such liability was reported, and provide such other information as is requested in the form or in the instructions thereto. In addition, the taxpayer shall agree on such form to notify the Commissioner in the event that the amount of any tax liability (or portion thereof) which is claimed as giving rise to a credit of the type described in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph is changed or adjusted, whether as a result of an amended return filed by the taxpayer, a determination by the jurisdiction imposing the tax, or in any other manner.

(2) Credit or withheld qualified tax. An individual from whose wages an amount is withheld on account of a qualified tax shall receive a credit for such amount against his aggregate liability for all such qualified taxes and the Federal income tax for the taxable year, whether or not such tax has been paid over to the Federal Government by the employer. The credit shall operate in the manner provided by section 31(a) of the Code and the regulations thereunder with respect to Federal income tax withholding.

(d) Collection of qualified taxes at source on wages.—(1) In general. Except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, every employer making payment of wages to an employee described in such subparagraph shall deduct and withhold upon such wages the amount prescribed with respect to the qualified tax designated in such subparagraph. The amounts prescribed for withholding with respect to each such qualified tax shall be published in Circular E (Employer's Tax Guide) or other appropriate Internal Revenue Service publications. See paragraph (f) (1) of § 301.6362-7 with respect to civil and criminal penalties to which an employer shall be subject with respect to his responsibilities relating to qualified taxes.

(2) Specific withholding requirements. An employer shall deduct and withhold upon an employee's wages the amount prescribed with respect to a qualified tax with respect to which such employee is subject to the current collection provisions pursuant to paragraph (f) of § 301.6362-6, unless:

(i) In the case of a qualified resident tax, the employee's services giving rise to the wages are performed in another State, and such other State or a political subdivision thereof imposes a nonresident tax on such employee with respect to which the withholding amount exceeds the prescribed withholding amount with respect to such qualified resident tax, and the State imposing such qualified resident tax grants a credit against it for such nonresident tax.

(ii) In the case of a qualified nonresident tax, either:

(A) Residents of the State in which the employee resides are exempt from liability for the qualified nonresident tax imposed by the State from sources within which his wage income is derived, by reason of an interstate compact or agreement to which the two States are parties, or

(B) The State in which the employee resides imposes a qualified resident tax on such employee with respect to which the prescribed withholding amounts exceed the prescribed withholding amounts with respect to the qualified nonresident tax imposed by the State from sources within which his wage income is derived, and the State in which he resides grants a credit against its qualified resident tax for such qualified nonresident tax.

If the nonresident tax described in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph is a qualified nonresident tax imposed by a State, then the reference in such subdivision to the State in which the services are performed shall be construed as a reference to the State from sources within which the wage income is derived, within the meaning of paragraph (d) (1) of § 301.6362-5.

(3) Forms, procedures, and returns relating to withholding with respect to qualified taxes.—(i) Forms W-4 and W-4P. Forms W-4 (Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate) and W-4P (Annuitant's Request for Income Tax Withholding), shall include information as to the State in which the employee resides, and shall be used for purposes of withholding with respect to both Federal and qualified taxes. An employee shall show on his Form W-4 the State in which he resides for purposes of this paragraph, and shall file a new Form W-4 within 10 days after he changes his State of residence. An employee who fails to meet either of the requirements set forth in the preceding sentence, with the intent to evade the withholding tax imposed with respect to a qualified tax, shall be subject to the penalty provided in section 7205 of the Code. An employer shall be responsible for determining the State within which are located the sources from which the employee's wage income is derived for purposes of this paragraph; and, if the employee does not file a Form W-4, the employer shall assume for such purposes that the employee resides in that State. When an employer and an employee enter into a voluntary withholding agreement pursuant to § 31.3402(p)-1, the employer shall withhold the amount prescribed with respect to the qualified resident tax imposed by the State in which the employee resides, as indicated on Form W-4. Similarly, if an annuitant requests withholding with respect to his annuity payments pursuant to section 3402 (c) (1) (B) of the Code, the payer shall withhold the whole dollar amount specified by the annuitant with respect to a qualified resident tax, provided that the combined withholding with respect to Federal and qualified taxes on each annuity payment shall be a whole dollar amount not less than $5, and that the net amount of any annuity payment received by the payee shall not be reduced to less than $10.

(ii) Forms W-2 and W-2P. Forms W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement) and W-2P (the corresponding form for annuities) shall show:

(A) The total amount withheld with respect to the Federal income tax;

(B) The total amount withheld with respect to qualified taxes;

(C) The name of each State imposing a qualified tax in which the employee (or annuitant) resided during the taxable year, as shown on Form W-4 (or W-4P);

(D) The name of each State imposing a qualified nonresident tax within which were located sources from which the employee's wage income was derived during a period of the taxable year in which he was not shown as a resident of such State on Form W-4, and the amount of the employee's wage income so derived; and

(E) The name of each State or locality that imposes an income tax which is not a qualified tax and with respect to which the employer withheld on the employee's wage income for the taxable year, and the amount of wage income with respect to which the employer so withheld.

(iii) Requirements relating to deposit and payment of withheld tax. Rules relating to the deposit and remittance of withheld Federal income and FICA taxes, including those prescribed in section 6302 of the Code and the regulations thereunder, shall apply also to amounts withheld with respect to qualified taxes. Thus, an employer's liability with respect to the deposit and payment of withheld taxes shall be for the combined amount of withholding with respect to Federal and qualified taxes. The Federal Tax Deposit form shall separately indicate:

(A) The combined total amount of Federal income, FICA, and qualified taxes withheld;

(B) The combined total amount of qualified taxes withheld; and

(C) The total amount of qualified taxes withheld with respect to each electing State.

Data indicating the total amount of tax deposits processed by the Internal Revenue Service with respect to the qualified taxes of an electing State will be available to that State upon request on as frequent as a weekly basis. These data will be available no later than 10 working days after the end of the calendar week in which the deposits were processed by the Service.

(iv) Employment tax returns. Forms 941 (Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return), 941-E (Quarterly Return of Withheld Income Tax), 941-M (Employer's Monthly Federal Tax Return), 942 (Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees), and 943 (Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees), shall indicate the total amount withheld with respect to each qualified tax, as directed by such forms or their instructions.

(e) Criminal penalties. A criminal offense committed with respect to a qualified tax shall be treated as a separate offense from a similar offense committed with respect to the Federal tax. Thus, for example, if a taxpayer willfully attempts to evade both the Federal tax and a qualified tax by failing to report a portion of his income, he shall be considered as having committed two criminal offenses, each subject to a separate penalty under section 7201. See also § 301.6362-7 (f) with respect to criminal penalties.

(f) Allocation of amounts collected with respect to tax and criminal fines.—

(1) In general. The aggregate amount that has been collected from a taxpayer (including amounts collected by withholding) in respect of liability for both one or more qualified taxes and the Federal income tax for a taxable year shall be allocated among the Federal Government and the States imposing qualified taxes for which the taxpayer is liable in the proportion which the taxpayer's liability for each such tax bears to his aggregate liability for such year to all of such taxing jurisdictions with respect to such taxes. A reallocation shall be made either when an amount is collected from the taxpayer or his employer or is credited or refunded to the taxpayer, subsequent to the making of the initial allocation, or when a determination is made by the Commissioner that an error was made with respect to a previous allocation. However, any such allocation or reallocation shall not affect the amount of a taxpayer's or employer's liability to either jurisdiction, or the amount of the assessment and collection which may be made with respect to a taxpayer or employer. Accordingly, such allocations and reallocations shall not be taken into consideration for purposes of the application of statutes of limitation or provisions relating to interest, additions to tax, penalties, and criminal sanctions.

See example (4) in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph. In addition, any such allocation or reallocation shall not affect the amount of the deduction to which a taxpayer is entitled under section 164 for a year in which he made payment (including payments made by withholding) of an amount which was designated as being in respect of his liability for a qualified tax. However, to the extent that an amount which was paid by a taxpayer and designated as being in respect of his liability for a qualified tax is allocated or reallocated in such a manner as to apply it toward the taxpayer's liability for the Federal income tax, such allocation or reallocation shall be treated as a refund to the taxpayer of an amount paid in respect of a State income tax, and shall be included in the gross income of the taxpayer to the extent appropriate under section 711 and the regulations thereunder in the year in which the allocation or reallocation is made. See section 451 and the regulations thereunder. Similarly, to the extent that an amount which was paid by a taxpayer and designated as being in respect of his Federal income tax liability is allocated or reallocated in such a manner as to apply it toward his liability for a qualified tax, such allocation or reallocation shall be treated as a payment made by the taxpayer in respect of a State income tax, and shall be deductible under section 164 in the year in which the allocation or reallocation is made. The Internal Revenue Service shall notify the taxpayer in writing of any allocation or reallocation of tax liabilities in a proportion other than that of the respective tax liabilities shown on the taxpayer's returns.

(2) Amounts of collections and liabilities. For purposes of this paragraph the aggregate amount that has been collected from a taxpayer or his employer in respect of tax liability shall include the amounts of interest provided in chapter 67, and additions to tax and assessable penalties provided in chapter 68, which are collected with respect to such tax; but shall not include criminal fines provided in chapter 75, or in title 18 of the United States Code, which are collected with respect to offenses relating to such tax. (See subparagraph (3) of this paragraph with respect to the treatment of such criminal fines.) However, for purposes of this paragraph, the amount of the taxpayer's liability for each tax shall exclude his liability for such interest, additions to tax, and assessable penalties with respect to such tax, and his liability for criminal fines imposed with respect to offenses relating to such tax. For purposes of this paragraph, the amount of the taxpayer's liability for each tax shall be computed by taking credits into account, except that there shall be no reduction for any amounts paid on account of such liability, whether by means of withholding, estimated tax payment, or otherwise.

(3) Special rules relating to criminal fines. (i) Except as otherwise provided in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, when a criminal charge is brought against a taxpayer with respect to a taxable year pursuant to chapter 75, or to title 18 of the United States Code, or to a corresponding provision of a qualified tax law, alleging that an offense was committed against the United States with respect to the Federal income tax or against a State with respect to a qualified tax, and an amount of money is collected by the Federal Government as a fine as a result of such charge, then the Federal Government shall remit an amount to each State, if any, which is an affected jurisdiction. The amount remitted to each such State shall bear the same proportion to the total amount collected as a fine as the taxpayer's liability with respect to the qualified taxes of that State bears to the aggregate of the taxpayer's income tax liabilities to all affected jurisdictions for the taxable year, as determined under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph. For purposes of this subparagraph, an affected jurisdiction is (A) a jurisdiction with respect to the tax of which a criminal charge described in the preceding sentence was brought for the taxable year, or (B) a jurisdiction with respect to the Federal income tax or the qualified tax of which the acts or omissions alleged in such a criminal charge would constitute the basis for the bringing of a criminal charge for the same taxable year. However, in no case shall the amount received by an affected State, or the amount of the excess of the amount received by the Federal Government over the amount of its remissions to States, with respect to a fine exceed the maximum fine prescribed by statute for the offense against that jurisdiction with respect to which a criminal charge was brought, or with respect to which the bringing of a criminal charge could have been supported on the basis of the acts or omissions alleged in a criminal charge brought. For purposes of this subparagraph, the amount collected as a fine as a result of a criminal charge shall include amounts paid in settlement of an actual or potential liability for a fine, amounts paid pursuant to a conviction and amounts paid pursuant to a plea of guilty or nolo contendere.

(ii) If a criminal charge described in the first sentence of subdivision (i) of this subparagraph is actually brought with respect to the income tax of every affected jurisdiction with respect to the taxable year, and if a Court adjudicates on the merits the taxpayer's liability for a fine to each such jurisdiction, and includes in its decree a direction of the amount, if any, to be paid as a fine to each such jurisdiction, then that decree shall govern the allocation of the amount of money collected by the Federal Government as a fine with respect to the taxable year.

(4) Examples. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). The total combined amount of State X qualified tax and Federal income tax collected from A, a resident of State X, for the taxable year is $5,100. The amounts of A's liabilities for such taxes for that year are $800 to State X and $4,300 to the Federal Government. Since A's tax liability to State X is one-sixth of the combined tax liability ($4,800), one-sixth ($800) of the amount to be refunded to A ($100) is chargeable against State X's account, and five-sixths ($250) is chargeable against the Federal Government's account.

Example (2). Assume the same facts as in example (1) except that the total amount collected from A is $4,500. Since A's liabilities for the State X tax and the Federal tax are one-sixth and five-sixths, respectively, of the combined tax liability, the Federal Government shall pay over to State X one-sixth ($750) of the amount actually collected from A, and the Federal Government shall retain five-sixths ($3,750).

Example (3). The total amount of State X qualified tax, State Y qualified tax, and Federal income tax collected from B, a resident of State X who is employed in State Y, for the taxable year is $5,500. The amounts of B's liabilities for such taxes for that year are $250 for the State X tax (after allowance of a credit for State Y's qualified tax), $750 for the State Y tax, and $4,000 for the Federal tax. Since B's liability for the State X tax ($250) is 5 percent of the combined tax liability ($5,000), his liability for the State Y tax ($750) is 15 percent of such combined liability, and his liability for the Federal tax ($4,000) is 80 percent of such combined liability, the total amount to be refunded to B ($500) shall be chargeable in the following manner: 5 percent ($25) against State X's account, 15 percent ($75) against State Y's account, and 80 percent ($400) against the Federal Government's account.

Example (4). C is liable for \$2,000 in Federal income tax and \$500 in State X qualified tax (a resident tax) for the taxable year. However, on his Federal income tax return for such year, C erroneously described himself as a resident of State Y (which does not have a qualified tax), and he filed with such return his declaration to the effect that he had no qualified tax liability for the year. Accordingly, C paid only \$2,000 for his Federal tax liability, and such amount was retained in the account of the Federal Government. Subsequently, C's error is discovered. The amount collected by the Federal Government from C for such year must be allocated between the Federal Government and State X in proportion to C's tax liability to both. Accordingly, the Federal Government must pay over to State X the amount of \$400 (which is  $\frac{1}{6}$  (\$500/\$2,500) of the \$2,000 collected). If the Federal Government collects from C the additional \$500 owed, it will retain \$100 of such amount and pay the remaining \$100 to State X. Similarly, if the Federal Government collects from C any interest, or any additions to tax or assessable penalties under chapter 68,  $\frac{1}{6}$  of the amount of such collections shall be retained by the Federal Government, and  $\frac{5}{6}$  of such amount shall be paid over to State X. However, notwithstanding the allocation of the funds between the taxing jurisdictions, C's liability for the \$500 retains its character as a liability for State X tax. Therefore, any interest, additions to tax, or assessable penalties imposed with respect to the State X tax shall be imposed with respect to C's full \$500 liability for such tax, notwithstanding the fact that amounts collected with respect to such items shall be allocated  $\frac{1}{6}$  to the Federal Government.

Example (5). A criminal charge is brought against D pursuant to chapter 75, alleging that he willfully evaded the payment of Federal income tax by failing to report interest income derived from obligations of the United States. D enters a plea of nolo contendere to the charge and pays $2,500 as a fine to the Federal Government. The act alleged in the criminal charge would not support the bringing of a criminal charge under a State law corresponding to chapter 75, or to title 18 of the United States Code, with respect to the qualified tax of any State; accordingly, the United States is the only affected jurisdiction, and no remittance shall be made to any State with respect to the amount collected by the Federal Government as a fine.

Example (6). A criminal charge is brought against E pursuant to chapter 75, alleging that he willfully attempted to evade the assessment of liability for both Federal income tax and the qualified tax of State X by filing false and fraudulent income tax returns. E's case is settled upon the condition that he pay a fine in the amount of \$5,000. As determined pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, E's liabilities for the taxable year are in the amounts of \$7,200 to the Federal Government and \$800 to State X. Accordingly, after the Federal Government collects the fine, \$500 ( $\frac{1}{15}$  of \$7,200 + \$800), is remitted to State X.

Example (7). Assume the same facts as in example (6), except that E is tried and convicted on both charges, and pursuant to court decree he pays to the United States a fine of $6,000 with respect to each charge, or a total of $12,000. Because a criminal charge was brought with respect to each affected jurisdiction, and the allocation of the total amount paid as a fine was specifically imposed by a court decree, the direction of the Court shall govern the allocation. Accordingly, after the Federal Government collects the fines it pays over $6,000 to the account of State X.

§ 301.6361-2 Judicial and administrative proceedings; Federal representation of State interests.

(a) Civil proceedings.—(1) General rule. Any person shall have the same right to bring or contest a civil action, and to obtain a review thereof, with respect to a qualified tax (including the current collection thereof) in the same court or courts which would be available to him, and pursuant to the same requirements and procedures to which he would be subject, under chapter 76 (relating to judicial proceedings), and under title 28 of the United States Code (relating to the judiciary and judicial procedure), if the tax were imposed by section 1 or chapter 24 of the Internal Revenue Code. For purposes of this section, the term "person" includes the Federal Government. Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, to the extent that the preceding sentence provides judicial procedures (including review procedures) with respect to any matter, such procedures shall replace civil judicial procedures under State law.

(2) Exception. The right or power of the courts of any State to pass on matters involving the constitution of such State is unaffected by any provision of this paragraph; however, the jurisdiction of a State court in such matters shall not extend beyond the issue of constitutionality. Thus, if in a case involving the validity of a qualified tax statute under the State constitution, the State court holds such statute constitutional, such court shall not proceed to decide the amount of the tax liability.

(b) Criminal proceedings. Only the Federal Government shall have the right to bring a criminal action with respect to a qualified tax (including the current collection thereof). Such an action shall be brought in the same court or courts which would be available to the Federal Government, and pursuant to the same requirements and procedures to which the Federal Government would be subject, if the tax were imposed by section 1 or chapter 24 of the Internal Revenue Code.

(c) Administrative proceedings. Any person shall have the same rights in administrative proceedings of the Internal Revenue Service with respect to a qualified tax (including the current collection thereof) which would be available to him, and shall be subject to the same administrative requirements and procedures to which he would be subject, if the tax were imposed by section 1 or chapter 24 of the Internal Revenue Code.

(d) United States representation of State interests.—(1) General rule. Except as provided in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph, the Federal Government shall appear on behalf of any State the qualified tax of which it collects (or did collect for the year in issue), and shall represent such State's interests in any administrative or judicial proceeding, either civil or criminal in nature, which relates to the administration and collection of such qualified tax, in the same manner as it represents the interests of the United States in corresponding proceedings involving Federal income tax matters.

(2) Exceptions. The Federal Government shall not so represent a State's interests either—

(i) In proceedings in a State court involving the constitution of such State, to the extent of such constitutional issue, or

(ii) In proceedings in any court involving the relationship between the United States and the State, to the extent of the issue pertaining to such relationship, if either:

(A) The proceeding is one which is initiated by the United States against the State, or by the State against the United States, and no individual (except in his official capacity as a governmental official) is an original party to the proceeding, or

(B) The proceeding is not one described in (A), but the State elects to represent its own interests to the extent permissible under this subdivision.

(3) Finality of Federal administrative determinations. State and local government officials and employees may not review Federal administrative determinations concerning tax liabilities of, refunds owed to, or criminal prosecutions of, individuals with respect to qualified taxes. See, however, § 301.6363-3 relating to State administration of a qualified tax with respect to transition years. If requested by an electing State, the Commissioner or his delegate may, under terms and conditions set forth in an agreement with such State, permit such State to carry on operations supplementary to the Federal administration of the State's qualified tax (including supplemental audits or examinations of tax returns by State audit personnel), but all administrative determinations shall be made by the Federal Government without review by the State. An agreement which permits supplemental audits or examinations of tax returns by State audit personnel shall provide that the audits and examinations shall be conducted under the supervision and control of the Commissioner or his delegate, who shall have the authority to determine which returns shall be audited and when the audits shall occur. Also, such agreements shall provide that the results of any such supplemental audit shall be referred to the Commissioner or his delegate for final administrative determination. The Commissioner or his delegate shall, to the extent permitted by law, allow an electing State reasonable access to tax returns and other appropriate records and information relating to its qualified tax for the purpose of conducting any such supplemental operations. In addition, the Secretary or his delegate shall permit an electing State to inspect the workpapers which are compiled in the course of verification by the Treasury Department of the correctness of the accounting by which the amounts of the actual net collections attributable to the electing State's qualified taxes are determined.

§ 301.6361-3 Transfers to States.

(a) Periodic transfers. In general, amounts collected by the Federal Government which are allocable to qualified taxes (including criminal fines which are required to be paid to a State, as determined under paragraph (f) (3) of § 301.6361-1) shall be promptly transferred to each State imposing such a tax. Transfers of such amounts, based on percentages of estimated Federal collections, shall be made not less frequently than every third business day unless the State agrees to accept transfers at less frequent intervals.

(b) Determination of amounts of transfers. The amounts allocable to the qualified taxes of each State for purposes of periodic transfer shall be determined as a percentage of the estimated aggregate net individual income tax collections made by the Federal Government. For purposes of this paragraph, the "aggregate net individual income tax collections" shall include amounts collected on account of the Federal individual income tax and all qualified taxes by all means (including withholding, tax returns, and declarations of estimated tax), and shall be reduced to the extent of any liability to taxpayers for credits or refunds by reason of overpayments of such taxes. The percentage of the estimated amount of such collections which is allocated to each State shall be based on an estimate which is to be made by the Office of Tax Analysis prior to the beginning of each calendar year as to what portion of the estimated aggregate net individual income tax collections for the forthcoming year will be attributable to the qualified taxes of that State. Each State will be notified prior to the beginning of each calendar year of the amount which it is estimated that the State will receive by application of that percentage for the year. However, the Office of Tax Analysis shall, from time to time throughout the calendar year, revise the percentage estimates when such a revision is, in the opinion of that office, necessary to conform such estimates to the actual receipts. When such a revision is made, the payments to the State will be adjusted accordingly.

(c) Adjustment of difference between actual collections and periodic transfers. At least once annually the Secretary or his delegate shall determine the difference between the aggregate amount of the actual net collections made (taking into account credits, refunds, and amounts received by withholding with respect to which a tax return is not filed) which is attributable to each State's qualified taxes during the preceding year and the aggregate amount actually transferred to such State based on estimates during such year. The amount of such difference, as so determined, shall be a charge against, or an addition to, the amounts otherwise determined to be payable to the State.

(d) Recipient of transferred funds. All funds transferred pursuant to section 6361(c) and paragraph (a) of this section shall be transferred by the Federal Government to the State official designated by the Governor to receive such funds in the State agreement pursuant to paragraph (d)(5) of § 301.6363-1, unless the Governor notifies the Secretary or his delegate in writing of the designation of a different State official to receive the funds.

§ 301.6361-4 Definitions.

For purposes of the regulations in this part under subchapter E of chapter 64 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, relating to collection and administration of State individual income taxes—

(a) State agreement. The term "State agreement" means an agreement between a State and the Federal Government which was entered into pursuant to section 6363 and the regulations thereunder, and which provides for the Federal collection and administration of the qualified tax or taxes of that State.

(b) Qualified tax. The term "qualified tax" means a tax which is a "qualified State individual income tax," as defined in section 6362 (including subsection (f) (1) thereof, which requires that a State agreement be in effect) and the regulations thereunder.

(c) Chapters and subtitles. References in regulations in this part under subchapter E to chapters and subtitles are to chapters and subtitles of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, unless otherwise indicated.

(d) Subchapter E. The term subchapter E" means subchapter E of chapter 64 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, relating to collection and administration of State individual income taxes, as amended from time to time.

§ 301.6361-5 Effective date of section 6361.

Section 6361 shall take effect on the first January 1 which is more than 1 year after the first date on which at least one State has filed a notice of election with the Secretary or his delegate to enter into a State agreement. For purposes of this section, a notice of election shall be deemed to have been filed by a State only if there is no defect in either the State's notice of election or the State's tax law of which the Secretary notified the Governor pursuant to paragraph (c) of § 301.6363-1, and which has not been retroactively cured under the provisions of such paragraph.

§ 301.6362-1 Types of qualified tax.

(a) In general. A qualified tax may be either a "qualified resident tax" within the meaning of paragraph (b) of this section, or a "qualified nonresident tax" within the meaning of paragraph (c) of this section.

(b) Qualified resident tax. A tax imposed by a State on the income of individuals, estates, and trusts which are residents of such State within the meaning of section 6362(e) and § 301.6362-6 shall be a "qualified resident tax" if it is either:

(1) A tax based on Federal taxable income which meets the requirements of section 6362 (b), (e), and (f), and of §§ 301.6362-2, 301.6362-6, and 301.6362-7; or

(2) A tax which is a percentage of the Federal tax and which meets the requirements of section 6362 (c), (e), and (f), and of §§ 301.6362-3, 301.6362-6, and 301.6362-7.

(c) Qualified nonresident tax. A tax imposed by a State on the wage and other business income of individuals who are not residents of such State within the meaning of section 6362(e) (1) and paragraph (b) of § 301.6362-6 shall be a "qualified nonresident tax" if it meets the requirements of section 6362 (d), (e), and (f), and of §§ 301.6362-5, 301.6362-6, and 301.6362-7.

§ 301.6362-2 Qualified resident tax based on taxable income.

(a) In general. A tax meets the requirements of section 6362(b) and this section only if it is imposed on the amount of the taxable income, as defined in section 63, of the individual, estate, or trust, adjusted—

(1) By subtracting an amount equal to the amount of the taxpayer's interest on obligations of the United States which was included in his gross income for the taxable year;

(2) By adding an amount equal to the amount of the taxpayer's net State income tax deduction, as defined in paragraph (a) of § 301.6362-4, for the taxable year;

(3) By adding an amount equal to the amount of the taxpayer's net tax-exempt income, as defined in paragraph (b) of § 301.6362-4, for the taxable year; and

(4) If a credit is allowed against the tax in accordance with paragraph (b) (3) of this section for sales tax imposed by the State or a political subdivision thereof, by adding an amount equal to the amount of the taxpayer's deduction under section 164(a)(4) for such sales tax.

The tax may provide for either a single rate of multiple rates which vary with the amount of taxable income, as adjusted.

(b) Permitted adjustments. A tax which otherwise meets the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section shall not be deemed to fail to meet such requirements solely because it provides for one or more of the following adjustments:

(1) A credit meeting the requirements of paragraph (c) of § 301.6362-4 is allowed against the tax for the taxpayer's income tax liability to another State or a political subdivision thereof.

(2) A tax is imposed on the amount taxed under section 56 (relating to the minimum tax for tax preferences).

(3) A credit is allowed against the tax for all or a portion of any general sales tax imposed by the State or a political subdivision thereof with respect to sales either to the taxpayer or to one or more of his dependents.

(c) Method of making mandatory adjustments. The mandatory adjustments provided in paragraph (a) of this section shall be made directly to taxable income. Except as provided in paragraph (c) (2) of § 301.6362-4, no account shall be taken of any reduction or increase in the Federal adjusted gross income which would result from the exclusion from, or inclusion in, gross income of the items which are the subject of the adjustments. Thus, for example, when for purposes of the calculation the taxpayer's Federal taxable income is adjusted to reflect the exclusion from gross income of interest on obligations of the United States, no change shall be made in the amount of the taxpayer's deduction for medical expenses, or in the amount of his charitable contribution base, even though such amounts would ordinarily depend upon the amount of adjusted gross income.

§ 301.6362-3 Qualified resident tax which is a percentage of Federal tax.

(a) In general. A tax meets the requirements of section 6362(c) and this section only if:

(1) The tax is imposed as a single specified percentage of the excess of the taxes imposed by chapter 1 over the sum of the credits allowable under part IV of subchapter A of chapter 1 (other than the credits allowable under sections 31 and 39), and

(2) The amount of the tax is decreased by the amount of the decrease in such liability which would result from excluding from the taxpayer's gross income an amount equal to the amount of interest on obligations of the United States which was included in his gross income for the taxable year.

(b) Permitted adjustments. A tax which otherwise meets the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section shall not be deemed to fail to meet such requirements solely because it provides for one or more of the following three adjustments:

(1) The amount of a taxpayer's liability for tax is increased by the amount of the increase in such liability which would result from including in such taxpayer's gross income all of the following:

(i) An amount equal to the amount of his net State income tax deduction, as defined in paragraph (a) of § 301.6362-4, for the taxable year;

(ii) An amount equal to the amount of his net tax-exempt income, as defined in paragraph (b) of § 301.6362-4, for the taxable year; and

(iii) If a credit is allowed against the tax under paragraph (b) (3) of this section for sales tax imposed by the State or a political subdivision thereof, an amount equal to the amount of his deduction under section 164(a)(4) for such sales tax.

(2) A credit meeting the requirements of paragraph (c) of § 301.6362-4 is allowed against the tax for the income tax of another State or a political subdivision thereof.

(3) A credit is allowed against the tax for all or a portion of any general sales tax imposed by the State or a political subdivision thereof with respect to sales either to the taxpayer or to one or more of his dependents.

(c) Method of making adjustments. Except as specifically provided in paragraphs (a) (2) and (b) (1) of this section and in paragraph (c) (2) of § 301.6362-4, no account shall be taken of any reduction or increase in the Federal adjusted gross income which would result from the exclusion from, or inclusion in, gross income of the items which are the subject of the adjustments provided in those paragraphs. Thus, for example, when for purposes of the calculation the taxpayer's Federal income tax liability is adjusted to reflect the exclusion from gross income of interest on obligations of the United States, no change shall be made in the amount of the taxpayer's deduction for medical expenses, or in the amount of his charitable contribution base, even though such amounts would ordinarily depend upon the amount of adjusted gross income. Also, when calculating the adjusted Federal tax liability to which the rate of the State tax is to be applied, no adjustment shall be made in the amount of any credit against Federal tax to which a taxpayer is entitled.

§ 301.6362-4 Rules for adjustments relating to qualified resident taxes.

(a) Net State income tax deduction. For purposes of section 6362 (b) (1) (B) and (c) (3) (B), and §§ 301.6362-2 and 301.6362-3, the "net State income tax deduction" shall be the excess (if any) of (1) the amount deducted from income under section 164(a)(3) as taxes paid to a State or to a political subdivision thereof, over (2) the amounts included in income as recoveries of prior income taxes which were paid to a State or to a political subdivision thereof and which had been deducted under section 164 (a) (3).

(b) Net tax-exempt income. For purposes of section 6362 (b) (1) (C) and (c) (3) (A) and §§ 301.6362-2 and 301.6362-3, the "net tax-exempt income" shall be the excess (if any) of:

(1) The sum of (i) the interest on obligations described in section 103 (a) (1) other than obligations of the State imposing the tax and the political subdivisions thereof, and (ii) the interest on obligations described in such section of such State and the political subdivisions thereof which under the law of the State is subject to the tax; over

(2) The sum of (i) the amount of deductions allocable to the interest described in subparagraph (1) (i) or (ii) of this paragraph which is disallowed pursuant to section 265 and the regulations thereunder, and (ii) the amount of the adjustment to basis allocable to such obligations which is required to be made for the taxable year under section 1016 (a) (5) or (6).

For purposes of subparagraphs (1) (ii) of this paragraph, a State may, at its option, subject to the tax the interest from all, none, or some of its section 103(a)(1) obligations and those of its political subdivisions. For example, a State may subject to tax all of such obligations other than those which it or its political subdivisions issued prior to a specified date, which may be the date that subchapter E becomes applicable to the State.

(c) Credits for taxes of other jurisdictions.—(1) In general. A State tax law that provides for a credit, pursuant to section 6362(b)(2)(B) or (C) or section 6362(c)(4), and paragraph (b)(1) of § 301.6362-2 or paragraph (b)(2) of § 301.6362-3, for income tax of another State or a political subdivision thereof shall provide that, in the case of each taxpayer, the amount of the credit shall equal the amount of his liability with respect to such other jurisdiction's tax for the taxable year which runs concurrently with, or which ends in, the taxable year used by the taxpayer for purposes of the State tax which provides for the credit. Such a credit may be allowed with respect to every income tax (whether or not qualified) imposed on the taxpayer by another State or a political subdivision thereof, or only with respect to certain of such taxes. However, for purposes of this paragraph, the amount which is treated as being the amount of the taxpayer's liability with respect to any such tax imposed by another jurisdiction shall not exceed the amount of liability for such tax which is both—

(A) Reported to the taxing authorities responsible for collecting such other jurisdiction's tax, and

(B) Substantiated pursuant to the requirements of paragraph (c) (1) (ii) of § 301.6361-1.

(2) Limitation. The amount of any credit allowed for the taxable year pursuant to this paragraph shall not exceed the product of the amount of the resident tax against which the credit is allowed, as computed without subtracting any such credit, multiplied by a fraction the numerator of which is the amount of income subject to tax by both the State imposing the resident tax against which the credit is allowed and the other jurisdiction whose tax is being credited, and the denominator of which is the amount of income subject to tax by the State imposing the resident tax against which the credit is allowed. For purposes of the preceding sentence, "income subject to tax" means the amount of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income which is taken into account for purposes of computing tax liability; in the case of a qualified resident tax, an appropriate modification shall be made to take into account any adjustments which are made pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) and (3) of § 301.6362-2, or pursuant to paragraph (a) (2) or (b) (1) (ii) of § 301.6362-3.

(3) Examples. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). (i) A, a calendar-year, cash-basis taxpayer, is a resident of State X throughout the taxable year. For such year, his adjusted gross income for Federal income tax purposes consists of $24,000, consisting of $3,000 derived from employment in State X, $5,000 derived from employment in State Y, $15,000 derived from employment in State Z, and $1,000 in interest income from United States savings bonds. In addition, he received net tax-exempt income in the amount of $2,000. For the taxable year, he incurs liabilities of $200 for the State Y nonresident income tax, and $1,400 for the State Z nonresident income tax. State X, which has in effect a State agreement for the taxable year, imposes a resident tax against which credits are allowed for the nonresident taxes imposed by States Y and Z. Without taking any such credits into account, however, the amount of A's liability for such resident tax would be $1,500. A properly reports his nonresident income tax liabilities to States Y and Z at the same time that he files his return with respect to the State X tax, and he substantiates on such return his liabilities to States Y and Z.

(ii) The amount of A's income subject to tax in State X is $25,000 (his adjusted gross income of $24,000, minus the United States savings bond income of $1,000, plus the net tax-exempt income of $2,000). The amount of the credit allowable against the State X resident tax for the amount of A's liability with respect to the State Y nonresident tax is calculated as follows: The maximum amount of credit is the actual amount of his liability to Y, or $200. Under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the amount of the credit is limited to $300 ($1,500 x $5,000/$25,000). Thus, such limit has no effect, and the full $200 is allowable as a credit against A's liability for the resident tax of State X. The amount of the credit allowable against the State X resident tax for the amount of A's liability with respect to the State Z nonresident tax is calculated as follows: The maximum amount of the credit is the actual amount of his liability to Z, or $1,400. Under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the amount of the credit is limited to $900 ($1,500 x $15,000/$25,000). Thus, such limit has the effect of reducing to $900 the amount of the credit allowable for tax of State Z against A's liability for the resident tax of State X.

Example (2). (i) B, a calendar-year, cash-basis taxpayer, is a resident of State X employed in State Y through March 14, 1977. On March 15, 1977, B becomes a resident of State Z and remains a resident of such State through the remainder of 1977. For 1977, the amount of B's adjusted gross income for Federal income tax purposes is $20,000, consisting of $6,000 derived from employment in State Y which B held during the period of his residence in State X, $12,000 derived from employment in State Z which B held during the period of his residence in State Z, and $2,000 in interest income from various bank accounts. During 1977, B has no interest income from United States obligations, and no tax-exempt income. For 1977, B incurs a liability of $200 to State Y on account of its nonresident income tax imposed with respect to his $6,000 of income derived from sources within that State. State Z, which has in effect a State agreement for 1977, imposes a resident income tax on B which, if B had been a resident of State Z for all 1977, would amount to $1,200 prior to the allowance of any credits under this paragraph. However, by reason of paragraph (e) (1) of § 301.6362-6, B's liability for the resident tax of State Z, before taking into account credits allowed under this paragraph, is reduced to $960 ($1,200 x .292/365, or 4/5). Furthermore, State Z allows a credit for the nonresident tax imposed by State Y.

(ii) The amount of the credit allowable against the State Z resident tax for the amount of B's liability with respect to the State Y nonresident tax is calculated as follows: The maximum amount of the credit is the amount of his actual liability to State Y, or $200. Under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the amount of the credit is limited to $288 ($960 x $6,000/$20,000). Thus, such limit has no effect, and the full $200 is allowable as a credit for tax of State Y against B's liability for the resident tax of State Z.

§ 301.6362-5 Qualified nonresident tax.

(a) In general. A tax meets the requirements of section 6362(d) and this section only if:

(1) The tax is imposed by a State which simultaneously imposes a resident tax meeting the requirements of section 6362(b) and § 301.6362-2 or of section 6362(c) and § 301.6362-3;

(2) The tax is required to be computed in accordance with either the method prescribed in paragraph (b) of this section or another method of which the Secretary or his delegate approves upon submission by the State of the laws pertaining to the tax;

(3) The tax is imposed only on the wage and other business income derived from sources within such State (as defined in paragraph (d) of this section), of all individuals each of whom derives 25 percent or more of his aggregate wage and other business income for the taxable year from sources within such State while he is neither (i) a resident of such State within the meaning of section 6362(e) and § 301.6362-6, nor (ii) exempt from liability for the tax by reason of a reciprocal agreement between such State and the State of which he is a resident within the meaning of those provisions;

(4) The amount of the tax imposed with respect to any individual does not exceed the amount of tax for which such individual would be liable under the qualified resident tax imposed by such State if he were a resident of the State for the period during which he earned wage or other business income from sources within the State, and if his taxable income for such period were an amount equal to the sum of the zero bracket amount (within the meaning of section 63(d) and determined as if he had been a resident of the State for such period) and the excess of:

(i) The amount of his wage and other business income derived from sources within the State, over

(ii) That portion of the sum of the zero bracket amount and the nonbusiness deductions (i.e., all deductions from adjusted gross income allowable in computing taxable income) taken into account for purposes of the State's qualified resident tax which bears the same ratio to such sum as the amount described in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph bears to his total adjusted gross income for the year; and

(5) For purposes of the tax, wage or other business income is considered as being the income of the individual whose income it is for purposes of section 61.

(b) Approved method of computing liability for qualified nonresident tax. A tax satisfies the requirement of paragraph (a) (2) of this section if the amount of the tax is computed either as a percentage of the excess of the amount described in paragraph (a) (4) (i) of this section over the amount described in paragraph (a) (4) (ii) of this section, or by application of progressive rates to such excess.

(c) Definition of wage and other business income. For purposes of section 6362(d) and this section, the term "wage and other business income" means the following types of income:

(1) Wages, as defined in section 3401 (a) and the regulations thereunder, but for these purposes:

(i) The amount of wages shall exclude amounts which are treated as wages under section 3402 (o) or (p) (relating to supplemental unemployment compensation benefits, annuity payments, and voluntary withholding agreements), and amounts which are treated as disability payments to the extent that they are excluded from gross income for Federal income tax purposes, pursuant to section 105(d), and

(ii) The amount of wages shall be reduced by those expenses which are directly related to the earning of such wages and with respect to which deductions are properly claimed from gross income in computing adjusted gross income;

(2) Net earnings from self-employment, as defined in section 1402 (a); and

(3) The distributive share of income of any trade or business carried on by a trust, estate, or electing small business corporation (as defined in section 1371 (a) and the regulations thereunder), to the extent that such share:

(i) Is includible in the gross income of the taxpayer for the taxable year, and

(ii) Would constitute net earnings from self-employment if the trade or business were carried on by a partnership.

For purposes of this subparagraph, "distributive share" includes the income of a trust or estate which is taxable to the taxpayer as a beneficiary under applicable Federal income tax rules, and the undistributed taxable income of an electing small business corporation which is taxable to the taxpayer as a shareholder under section 1373.

(d) Income derived from sources within a State.—(1) Income attributable primarily to services. Except as otherwise provided by Federal statute (see paragraphs (h), (i), and (j) of § 301.6362-7), wage income and other business income (net earnings from self-employment or distributive shares) which is attributable more to services performed by the taxpayer than to a capital investment of the taxpayer shall be considered to have been derived from sources within a State only if the services of the taxpayer which gives rise to the income are performed in such State. If for a taxable year only a portion of the taxpayer's services giving rise to the income from one employment, trade, or business is performed within a State, then it shall be presumed that the amount of income from such employment, trade, or business which is derived from sources within that State equals that portion of the total income derived from such employment, trade, or business for the year which the amount of time spent by the taxpayer for such year performing services with respect to that employment, trade, or business in that State bears to the aggregate amount of time spent by the taxpayer for such year performing all of such services. However, the presumption stated in the preceding sentence may be rebutted in the event that the taxpayer proves, by use of detailed records, that the correct allocation of his income is otherwise.

(2) Income attributable primarily to investment. Except as otherwise provided by Federal statute (see paragraph (j) of § 301.6362-7), business income (net earnings from self-employment or distributive shares) which is attributable more to a capital investment of the taxpayer than to services performed by the taxpayer shall be considered to have been derived from sources within the State, if any, in which the significant activities of the trade or business are conducted. If for the taxable year only a portion of the significant activities conducted with respect to one trade or business is conducted within a certain State, then the portion of the taxpayer's total income for the year from such trade or business which is considered to be derived from sources within that State shall be computed as follows:

(i) Allocation by records. The portion of the taxpayer's total income from the trade or business which is considered to be derived from sources within the State shall be the portion which is allocable to such sources according to the records of the taxpayer or of the partnership, trust, estate, or electing small business corporation from which his income is derived, provided that the taxpayer establishes to the satisfaction of the district director, when requested to do so, that those records fairly and equitably reflect the income which is allocable to sources within the State. An allocation made pursuant to this subdivision shall be based on the location of the significant activities of the trade or business, and not on the location at which the taxpayer's personal services are performed.

(ii) Allocation by formula. If the taxpayer (or the trade or business) does not keep records meeting the requirements of subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, or if the taxpayer fails to meet the burden of proof set forth therein, then the amount of the taxpayer's income from the trade or business which is considered to be derived from sources within the State shall be determined by multiplying the total of his income (as defined in paragraphs (c) (2) and (3) of this section) from the trade or business for the taxable year by the percentage which is the average of these three percentages:

(A) Property percentage. The percentage computed by dividing the average of the value, at the beginning and end of the taxable year, of real and tangible personal property connected with the taxpayer's trade or business and located within the State, by the average of the value, at the beginning and end of the taxable year, of all such property located both within and without the State. For this purpose, real property shall include real property rented to the taxpayer in connection with the trade or business, or rented to the trade or business.

(B) Payroll percentage. The percentage computed by dividing the total wages, salaries, and other compensation for personal services which is paid or incurred during the taxable year to employees in connection with the taxpayer's trade or business, and which would be treated as derived by such employees from sources within the State pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, by the total of all such wages, salaries, and other compensation for personal services which is so paid or incurred without regard to whether such payments would be treated as derived by the employees from sources within the State. For purposes of this subdivision (ii), no amount paid as deferred compensation pursuant to a retirement plan to a former employee shall be taken into consideration.

(C) Gross income percentage. The percentage computed by dividing the gross sales or charges for services performed by or through an agency located within the State by the total of all gross sales or charges for services performed both within and without the State. The sales or charges to be allocated to the State shall include all sales which are negotiated, and charges which are for services performed, by an employee, agent, agency, or independent contractor chiefly situated at, or working principally out of an office located within, the State.

(3) Income attributable to real estate investment. Notwithstanding subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, income and deductions from the rental of real property, and gain and loss from the sale, exchange, or other disposition of real property, shall not be subject to allocation under subparagraph (2), but shall be considered as entirely derived from sources located within the State in which such property is located.

(4) Treatment of losses. A loss attributable to the taxpayer's employment, or to his conduct of, participation in, or investment in a trade or business, shall be allocated in the same manner as the income attributable to such employment or trade or business would be allocated pursuant to this paragraph.

(5) Examples. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A, an employee who earns $10,000 in wage income attributable to services, and who has no other wage or other business income, spends 60 percent of his working time performing services for his employer in State X, 30 percent in State Y, and 10 percent in State Z. In the absence of the requisite proof to the contrary, A's wage income is considered to have been derived 60 percent from sources located within State X, 30 percent within State Y, and 10 percent within State Z. Assuming that A is a nonresident with respect to all three States, and that they all impose qualified nonresident taxes, then the qualified nonresident tax of State X is imposed on $6,000, the qualified nonresident tax of State Y is imposed on $3,000, and the qualified nonresident tax of State Z is not imposed on any of the income because A did not derive at least 25 percent of his wage and other business income from sources located within State Z.

Example (2). B, who earns no wage income but who has a total of $10,000 of other business income for the taxable year, all of which is net income from self-employment attributable primarily to services, spends 45 percent of his working time performing services in State X, 30 percent in State Y, and 25 percent in State Z. However, the rates that B is able to charge for his services and the business expenses which he incurs vary in the different States, and he is able to prove by detailed records that his net income from self-employment was in fact derived 60 percent from sources located within State X, 35 percent from sources located within State Y, and 15 percent from sources located within State Z. Assuming that B is a nonresident with respect to all three States, and that they all impose qualified nonresident taxes, then the qualified nonresident tax of State X is imposed on $5,000, the qualified nonresident tax of State Y is imposed on $3,500, and the qualified nonresident tax of State Z is not imposed on any of the income because B did not derive at least 25 percent of his wage and other business income from sources located within State Z.

Example (3). C is a partner in a profitable business concern, in which he has a substantial capital investment. His net earnings from self-employment attributable to his partnership interest are $75,000 for the taxable year. The fair market value of the services which C performs for the partnership during the taxable year is $30,000. C's income is therefore attributable primarily to his capital investment. The partnership business is carried on partially within and partially without State X. Neither C nor the partnership maintains records from which the portion of C's $75,000 income which is considered to be derived from sources within State X can be satisfactorily proven. As determined under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the partnership's "property percentage" in State X is 70, its "payroll percentage" therein is 60, and its "gross income percentage" therein is 56. The amount of C's partnership income considered to be derived from sources within State X is $46,500 ($75,000 x 62 percent). This result would obtain even if C's services for the partnership are performed entirely within State X.

Example (4). Assume the same facts as in (3), except that the records of the partnership of which C is a member indicate that the net profits of the partnership are derived 40 percent from business activities conducted in State X, and 60 percent from business activities conducted in State Y. C is requested to prove that those records fairly and equitably reflect the income which is allocable to sources within State X. The documentary evidence which he adduces in support of the allocation made by the records shows how such allocation results from a careful step-by-step tracing of the profitability of each phase and aspect of the partnership's operations, and shows the State in which each such phase and aspect of the operations is conducted. C's proof is satisfactory to show the percentage allocation, and the amount of his partnership income considered to be derived from sources within State X is $30,000, or $75,000 multiplied by 40 percent. This result would obtain even if B's services for the partnership are performed entirely within State X.

§ 301.6362-6 Requirements relating to residence.

(a) In general. A tax imposed by a State meets the requirements of section 6362(e) and this section if in effect it provides that:

(1) The State of residence of an individual, estate, or trust is determined according to paragraphs (1), (2), or (3), respectively, of section 6362(e), and according to paragraphs (b), (c), or (d), respectively, of this section.

(2) The liability for a resident tax imposed by such State upon an individual or trust which changes residence to another State in the taxable year is determined according to section 6362 (e) (4) and paragraph (e) of this section.

(3) The rules relating to current collection of tax apply as provided in section 6362(e) (5) and paragraph (f) of this section.

(b) Residence of an individual.—(1) In general. Except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph, an individual is treated as a resident of a State with respect to a taxable year only if:

(i) His principal place of residence (as defined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph) is within such State for a period of at least 135 consecutive days, at least 30 days of which are in such taxable year; or

(ii) In the case of a citizen or resident of the United States who is not a resident of any State (determined as provided in subdivision (1) of this subparagraph) with respect to such taxable year, his domicile (as defined in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph) is in such State for at least 30 days during such taxable year.

With respect to an individual who is a resident (determined as provided in subdivision (1) of this subparagraph) of more than one State during a taxable year, see paragraph (e) of this section.

(2) Principal place of residence—(i) Definition.—For purposes of subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph and paragraph (d)(4) of this section, the term "principal place of residence" shall mean the place which is an individual's primary home. An individual's temporary absence from his primary home shall not affect a change with respect thereto. On the other hand, if an individual moves to another State, other than as a mere transient or sojourner, he shall be treated as having changed the location of his primary home.

(ii) Examples. The application of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A has a city home and a country home. He resides in the city home for 7 months of the year and uses the address of that home as his legal residence for purposes of driver's license, automobile registration, and voter registration. He resides in the country home 5 months of the year. His city home is considered his principal place of residence.

Example (2). During the taxable year, B, a construction worker, is employed at several different locations in different States. The duration of each job on which he is employed ranges from a few weeks to several months, and he knows when he accepts a job what its approximate duration will be. He owns a house in State X which he uses as his legal residence for purposes of driver's license, automobile registration, and voter registration. In addition, his family lives there during the entire year, and B lives there during periods between jobs. However, the duration of the jobs and the distance between the job-sites and his house require him to live in the localities of the respective job-sites during the period of his employment, although occasionally he returns to his house in State X on weekends. B's house in State X is his principal place of residence during all of the taxable year.

Example (3). C, a dependent of his parents who are residents of State X, is a full-time student in a 4-year degree program at a college in State Y. During the 9-month academic year, C lives on the college campus, but he returns to his parents' home in State X for the summer recess. C gives State Y as his residence for purposes of his driver's license and voter registration, but lists the address of his parents' home in State X as his "permanent address" on the records of the college which he attends. Although C's domicile remains at his parents' home in State X, his presence in State Y cannot be regarded as that of a mere transient or sojourner; accordingly, C's principal place of residence is in State Y for that portion of the taxable year during which he attends college.

Example (4). D loses his job in State X, where he lived and worked for many years. After a series of unsuccessful attempts to find other employment in State X, he accepts a job in State Y. D gives up his apartment in State X and moves to State Y upon commencing his new job; however, he intends to continue to explore available employment opportunities in State X so that he may return there as soon as any opportunity to do so arises. D changes his principal place of residence when he moves to State Y.

(3) Domicile defined. For purposes of subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph and paragraph (d)(4) of this section, the term "domicile" shall mean an individual's fixed or permanent home. An individual acquires a domicile in a place by living there; even for a brief period of time, with no definite present intention of later removing therefrom. Residence without the requisite intention to remain indefinitely will not suffice to change domicile, nor will intention to change domicile effect such a change until accompanied by actual removal. A domicile, once acquired, is maintained until a new domicile is acquired.

(4) Period of residence—(i) General rule. An individual who becomes a resident of a State pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, or who is at the beginning of a taxable year a resident of a State pursuant to such provision, shall be treated as continuing to be a resident of such State through the end of the taxable year, unless, prior thereto, such individual becomes a resident, under the principles of subparagraph (1), of another State or a possession or foreign country. In the event that the individual becomes a resident of such another jurisdiction prior to the end of the taxable year, his residence in such State shall be treated as ending on the day prior to the day on which he becomes a resident of such other jurisdiction pursuant to subparagraph (1).

(ii) Examples. The application of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A, a calendar-year taxpayer, has his principal place of residence in State X from the beginning of 1976 through August 1, 1976, when he gives up permanently such principal place of residence. He spends the remainder of 1976 traveling outside of the United States, but does not become a resident of any other country. A is considered to be a resident of State X for the entire year 1976.

Example (2). Assume the same facts as in example (1), except that A ceases his traveling and establishes his principal place of residence in State Y on November 15, 1976. Assume, also, that A maintains that principal place of residence for more than 135 consecutive days. Under these circumstances, for his taxable year 1976, A is considered to be a resident of State X from January 1 through November 14, and a resident of State Y from November 15 through December 31.

(5) Special rules. (i) No provision of subchapter E or the regulations thereunder shall be construed to require or authorize the treatment of a Senator, Representative, Delegate, or Resident Commissioner as a resident of a State other than the State which he represents in Congress.

(ii) For special rules relating to members of the Armed Forces, see paragraph (h) of § 301.6362-7.

(6) Examples. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A, a calendar-year taxpayer, maintains his principal place of residence in State X from December 1, 1976, through April 15, 1977. Assuming that A was not a resident of any other jurisdiction at any time during 1976, A is treated as a resident of State X for the entire year 1976. Such result would obtain even if A was absent from State X on vacation for some portion of December 1976. Moreover, such result would obtain even if it is assumed that A was a domiciliary of State Y from January 1, 1976, through April 15, 1977, because an individual's domicile does not determine his residence so long as residence in one State for the taxable year can be determined from the general rule stated in the first sentence of paragraph (b)(1) of this section.

Example (2). Assume the same facts as in example (1) (including the fact of A's domicile in State Y), except that A maintained his principal place of residence in State Z from September 15, 1975, through January 31, 1976, inclusive. With respect to the year 1976, A is treated as a resident of State Z from January 1 through November 30, and as a resident of State X from December 1 through December 31. A's liability for the qualified taxes of the respective States for 1976 shall be determined pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (e) of this section.

(c) Residence of an estate. An estate of an individual is treated as a resident of the last State of which such individual was a resident, as determined under the rules of paragraph (b) of this section, prior to his death. However, the estate of an individual who was not a resident of any State (as determined without regard to the 30-day requirement in paragraph (b)(1) of this section) immediately prior to his death, and who was not a resident of any State at any time during the 3-year period ending on the date of his death, is not treated as a resident of any State. For purposes of determining the decedent's last State of residence, the rules of paragraph (b) shall be applied irrespective of whether subchapter E was in effect at the time the period of 135 consecutive days of residence began, or whether the decedent's last State of residence is a State electing to enter into an agreement pursuant to subchapter E. The determination of the State of residence of an estate pursuant to this paragraph shall not be governed by any determination under State law as to which State is treated as the residence or domicile of the decedent for purposes other than its individual income tax (such as liability for State inheritance tax or jurisdiction of probate proceedings).

(d) Residence of a trust—(1) In general. (i) The State of residence of a trust shall be determined by reference to the circumstances of the individual who, by either an inter-vivos transfer or a testamentary transfer, is deemed to be the "principal contributor" to the trust under the provisions of subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph.

(ii) If only one individual has ever contributed assets to the trust, including the assets which were transferred to the trust at its inception, then such individual is the principal contributor to the trust. However, if on any day subsequent to the initial creation of the trust, such trust receives assets having a value greater than the aggregate value of all assets theretofore contributed to it, then the trust shall be deemed (for the limited purpose of determining the State of residence) to have been "created" anew, and the individual who on the day of such creation contributed more (in value) than any other individual contributed on that day shall become the principal contributor to the trust. When a trust is created anew, all references in this paragraph to the creation of the trust shall be construed as referring to the most recent creation. For purposes of this paragraph, the value of any asset shall be its fair market value on the day that it was contributed to the trust; any subsequent appreciation or depreciation in the value of the asset shall be disregarded.

(2) Testamentary trust. A trust with respect to which a deceased individual is the principal contributor by reason of property passing on his death is treated as a resident of the last State of which such individual was a resident, as determined under the rules of paragraph (b) of this section, before his death. However, if such deceased individual was not a resident of any State (as determined without regard to the 30-day requirement in paragraph (b)(1) of this section) immediately prior to his death, and was not a resident of any State at any time during the 3-year period ending on the date of his death, then a testamentary trust of which he is the principal contributor by reason of property passing on his death is not treated as a resident of any State. All property passing on the transferor's death is treated for this purpose as a contribution made to the trust on the date of death, regardless of when the property is actually paid over to the trust.

(3) Nontestamentary trust. A trust which is not a trust described in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph is treated as a resident of the State in which the principal contributor to the trust, during the 3-year period ending on the date of the creation of the trust, had his principal place of residence for an aggregate number of days longer than the aggregate number of days he had his principal place of residence in any other State. However, if the principal contributor to such a trust was not a resident of any State at any time during such 3-year period, then the trust is not treated as a resident of any State.

(4) Special rules. If the application of the provisions of the foregoing subparagraphs of this paragraph results in a determination of more than one State of residence for a trust, or does not provide a rule by which the residence or nonresidence of the trust can be determined, then the determination of the State of residence of such trust shall be made according to the rules of the applicable subdivision of this subparagraph.

(i) If, at the time of creation of the trust, 50 percent or more in value of the trust corpus consists of real property, then the trust shall be treated as a resident of the State in which more of the real property (in value) which was in the trust at such time was located than any other State.

(ii) If, at the time of creation of the trust, less than 50 percent in value of the trust corpus consists of real property, then the trust shall be treated as a resident of the State in which, at such time, the trustee, if any individual, had his principal place of residence, or, if a corporation, had its principal place of business. If there were two or more trustees, then the foregoing sentence shall be applied by reference to the principal places of residence, or of business, of the majority of trustees who had authority to make investment and other management decisions for the trust.

(iii) If, after application of the provisions of subdivisions (1) and (ii) of this subparagraph, the State of residence of the trust still cannot be ascertained, then the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall determine the State of residence of such trust for purposes of qualified taxes. Such determination shall be made by reference to the number of significant contacts each State had with the trust at the time of its creation. Significant contacts shall include the principal place of residence of the principal contributor or contributors to the trust, the principal place of residence or business of the trustee (or trustees), the situs of the assets of which the trust corpus was composed, and the location from which management decisions emanated with respect to the business and investment interests of the trusts.

(5) Examples. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A created a trust in 1950 by transferring to it certain stock in a corporation. At the time of such transfer, the stock had a fair market value of $1,000. A at all relevant times had his principal place of residence in State X, and accordingly the trust is treated as a resident of such State for qualified tax purposes. As of January 1, 1977, the stock originally contributed by A, which was at all times the only property in the trust, has a fair market value of $3,000. On such date, B, who has had his principal place of residence in State Y for more than 3 years, contributes to the trust property having a fair market value of $1,200. For purposes of determining the identity of the principal contributor to the trust and the State of residence of the trust, the stock contributed by A in 1950 continues to be valued for such purposes at $1,000. Thus, the trust is treated as being created anew on January 1, 1977, with B as the principal contributor, and with State Y as its State of residence.

Example (2). C has his principal place of residence in State X continuously for many years, until August 1, 1978 when he establishes his principal place of residence in State Y. The change of residence is intended to be permanent, and C has no further contact with State X after such change. On January 1, 1980, C creates a nontestamentary trust. During the 3-year period ending on such date C had his principal place of residence in State X for 576 days, and in State Y for 519 days. Therefore, the trust is treated as a resident of State X.

(e) Liability for tax on change of residence during taxable year—(1) In general. If, under the principles contained in paragraph (b) or (d) of this section, an individual or trust becomes a resident, or ceases to be a resident, of a State, and is also a resident of another jurisdiction outside of such State during the same taxable year, the liability of such individual or trust for the resident tax of such State shall be determined by multiplying the amount which would be his or its liability for tax (computed after allowing the nonrefundable credits (i.e., credits not corresponding to the credits referred to in section 6401 (b) available against the tax)) if he or it had been a resident of such State for the entire taxable year by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of days he or it was a resident of such State during the taxable year, and the denominator of which is the total number of days in the taxable year. The preceding sentence shall not apply by reason of the fact that an individual is born or dies during the taxable year, or by reason of the fact that a trust comes into existence or ceases to exist during the taxable year.

(2) Residence determined by domicile. When an individual is treated as a resident of a State by reason of being domiciled in such State, pursuant to paragraph (b)(1)(ii) of this section, then the numerator of the fraction provided in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be the number of days the individual was domiciled in the State during the taxable year.

(3) Example. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. A, a calendar-year taxpayer, is a resident of State X continuously for many years prior to March 15, 1977. On such date, A retires and establishes a new principal place of residence in State Y. A earns $6,000 in 1977 prior to March 15, but receives no taxable income for the remainder of such year. If A had been a resident of State X for the entire taxable year 1977, his liability with respect to the qualified tax of such State (computed after allowing the nonrefundable credits available against the tax) would be $600. If he had been a resident of State Y for the entire taxable year 1977, his liability with respect to the qualified tax on that State (computed similarly) would be $400. Pursuant to the provisions in paragraph (e) of this section, A's liabilities for State qualified taxes for 1977 are as follows:

Liability for  $550 \times \frac{77}{365} = $120$
State X tax

Liability for  $$400 \times \frac{292}{365} = $380$
State Y tax

(f) Current collection of tax. The State tax laws shall contain provisions for methods of current collection with respect to individuals which correspond to the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 with respect to such current collection, including chapter 24 (relating to the collection of income tax at source on wages) and sections 6015, 6073, 6153, and other provisions of the Code relating to declarations (and amendments thereto) and payments of estimated income tax. Except as otherwise provided by Federal statute (see paragraphs (h), (i), and (j) of § 301.6362-7), in applying such provisions of the State tax laws:

(1) In the case of a resident tax, an individual shall be subject to the current collection provisions if either—

(i) He is a resident of the State within the meaning of paragraph (b) of this section, or

(d) He has his principal place of residence (as defined in paragraph (b) (2) of this section) within the State, and it is reasonable to expect him to have it within the State for 30 days or more during the taxable year.

(2) In the case of a nonresident tax, an individual shall be subject to the current collection provisions if he does not meet either description relating to an individual in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, if he is not exempt from liability for the tax by reason of a reciprocal agreement between the State of which he is a resident and the State imposing the tax, and if it is reasonable to expect him to receive wage or other business income derived from sources within the State imposing the tax (as defined in paragraph (d) of § 301.6362-5) for services performed on 30 days or more of the taxable year.

For additional rules relating to withholding see paragraph (d) of § 301-6361.1.

§ 301.6362-7 Additional requirements.

A State tax meets the additional requirements of section 6362(f) and this section only if:

(a) State agreement must be in effect for period concerned. A State agreement, as defined in paragraph (a) of § 301-6361-4, is in effect with respect to such tax for the taxable period in question.

(b) State laws must contain certain provisions. Under the laws of such State, the provisions of subchapter E and the regulations thereunder, as in effect from time to time, are applicable for the entire period for which the State agreement is in effect. Any change made by the State in such tax (other than an adjustment in the State law which is made solely in order to comply with a change in the Federal law or regulations) shall not apply to taxable years beginning in any calendar year for which the State agreement is in effect unless the change is enacted before November 1 of such year.

(c) State individual income tax laws can be only of certain kinds. Such State does not impose any tax on the income of individuals other than (1) a qualified resident tax, and (2) either or both a qualified nonresident tax and a separate tax on income which is not wage and other business income (as defined in paragraph (c) of § 301.6362-5) and which is received or accrued by individuals who are domiciled in the State, but who are not residents of the State (as defined in paragraph (b) of § 301.6362-6). For purposes of this paragraph, a tax imposed on the amount taxed under section 56 (as permitted under § 301.6362-2 (b) (2)) shall be treated as an adjustment to and a part of the qualified resident tax. Also, tax laws which were in effect prior to the effective date of a State agreement and which are not repealed, but which are made in applicable for the period during which the State agreement is in effect, shall be disregarded.

(d) Taxable years must coincide. The taxable years of all individuals, estates, and trusts under such tax are required to coincide with their taxable years used for purposes of the taxes imposed by chapter 1. Accordingly, when subchapter E begins to apply to a State, a taxpayer whose taxable year for purposes of the Federal income tax is different from his taxable year for purposes of the State income tax which precedes the qualified tax may have one short taxable year for purposes of such State income tax, so that thereafter his taxable years for purposes of the qualified tax will coincide with the Federal taxable year.

(e) Married individuals. Individuals who are married within the meaning of section 143 of the Code are prohibited from filing (1) a joint return for purposes of such State tax if they file separate Federal income tax returns, or (2) separate returns for purposes of such State tax if they file a joint Federal income tax return.

(f) Penalties; no double jeopardy. Under the laws of such State:

(1) Civil and criminal sanctions identical to those provided by subtitle F, and by title 18 of the United States Code (relating to crimes and criminal procedure), with respect to the taxes imposed on the income of individuals by chapter 1 and on the wages of individuals by chapter 24, apply to individuals and their employers who are subject to such State tax (and the collection and administration thereof, including the corresponding withholding tax imposed to implement the current collection of such State tax) as if such tax were imposed by chapter 1 (or chapter 24, in the case of the withholding tax), except to the extent that the application of such sanctions is modified by regulations issued under subchapter E; and

(2) No other sanctions or penalties apply with respect to any act or omission to act in respect of such State tax.

See also paragraph (e) of § 301.6361-1 with respect to criminal penalties.

(g) Partnerships, trusts, subchapter S corporations, and other conduit entities. Under the laws of such State, the State tax treatment of—

(1) Partnerships and partners,
(2) Trusts and their beneficiaries,
(3) Estate and their beneficiaries,
(4) Electing small business corporations (within the meaning of section 1371(a)) and their shareholders, and
(5) Any other entity and the individuals having beneficial interests therein (such as a cooperative corporation and its shareholders), to the extent that such entity is treated as a conduit for purposes of the taxes imposed by chapter 1, corresponds to the tax treatment provided therefor with respect to the taxes imposed by chapter 1. For example, a subchapter S corporation shall not be subject to the State's corporate income tax on amounts which are includible in shareholders' incomes which are subject to that State's individual income tax, except to the extent that the subchapter S corporation is subject to tax under Federal law. Similarly, a partnership shall not be subject to the State's unincorporated business income tax on amounts which are includible in partners' incomes which are subject to that State's individual income tax. However, the laws of the State which set forth the provisions of such State individual income tax shall authorize the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to require that the conduit entities described in this paragraph (or some of them) supply information to the Federal Government with respect to the source of income, the State of residence, or the amount of income of a particular type, of an individual, estate, or trust holding a beneficial interest in such conduit entity.

(h) Members of armed forces. The relief provided to any member of the Armed Forces by section 514 of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act (50 U.S.C. App. sec. 574) is in no way diminished. Accordingly, for purposes of such State tax, an individual shall not be considered to have become a resident of a State solely because of his absence from his original State of residence under military order. Moreover, compensation for military service shall not be considered as income derived from a source within a State of which the individual earning such compensation is not a resident, within the meaning of paragraph (d) of § 301.6362-5. The preceding sentence shall not apply to nonmilitary compensation. Thus, for example, if an individual who is serving in State X as a member of the Armed Forces, and who is regarded as a resident of State Y under the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act, earns nonmilitary income in State X from a part-time job, such nonmilitary income may be subject to a qualified nonresident tax imposed by State X.

(i) Withholding on compensation of employees of railroads, motor carriers, airlines, and water carriers. There is no contravention of the provisions of section 26, 226A, or 324 of the Interstate Commerce Act, or of section 1112 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, with respect to the withholding of compensation to which such sections apply for purposes of the nonresident tax.

(j) Income derived from interstate commerce. There is no contravention of the provisions of the Act of September 14, 1959 (73 Stat. 555), with respect to the taxation of income derived from interstate commerce to which such statute applies.

§ 301.6363-1 State agreements.

(a) Notice of election. If a State elects to enter into a State agreement it shall file notice of such election with the Secretary or his delegate. The notice of election shall include the following:

(1) Statement by the Governor. A written statement by the Governor of the electing State:

(i) Requesting that the Secretary enter into a State agreement, and

(ii) Binding the Governor and his successors in office to notify the Secretary or his delegate immediately of the enactment, between the time of the filing of the notice of election and the time of the execution of the State agreement, of any law of that State which meets the description given in any of the subdivisions of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, whether or not such law is intended to be administered by the United States pursuant to subchapter E.

(2) Copy of State laws. Certified copies of all laws of that State described in any of the following subdivisions of this subparagraph, and a specification of laws described in subdivision (1) of this subparagraph as "subchapter E laws", of laws described in subdivision (ii) as "other tax laws", of laws described in subdivision (iii) as "non-tax laws", and of laws described in subdivision (iv) as "interstate cooperation laws":

(i) All of the State individual income tax laws (including laws relating to the collection or administration of such taxes or to the prosecution of alleged civil or criminal violations with respect to such taxes) which the State would expect the United States to administer pursuant to subchapter E if the State agreement is executed as requested. In order to have a valid notice, the State must have a tax which would meet the requirements for qualification specified in section 6362 and the regulations thereunder if a State agreement were in effect with respect thereto, with no conditions attached to the effectiveness of such tax other than the execution of a State agreement. Such tax must be effective no later than the January 1 specified in the State's notice of election as the date as of which subchapter E is desired to become applicable to the electing State, except that such effective date shall be deferred to the date provided in the State agreement for the beginning of applicability of subchapter E to the State, if the latter date is different from the date specified in the notice of election.

(ii) All of the State income tax laws applicable to individuals (including laws relating to the collection or administration of such taxes or to the prosecution of alleged civil or criminal violations with respect to such taxes) which the State would not expect the United States to administer but which may be in effect simultaneously (for any period of time) with the State agreement.

(iii) All of the State laws other than individual income tax laws which provide for the making of any payments by the State based on one or more criteria which the State may desire to verify by reference to information contained in returns of qualified taxes.

(iv) All of the State laws which may be in effect simultaneously (for any period of time) with the State agreement and which provide for cooperation or reciprocal agreement between the electing State and another State with respect to income taxes applicable to individuals.

(3) Approval by legislature or authorization by constitutional amendment. A certified copy of an Act or Resolution of the legislature of the electing State in which the legislature affirmatively expresses its approval of the State's entry into a State agreement, or a certified copy of an amendment to the constitution of such State by which the voters of the State affirmatively authorize such entry.

(4) Opinion by State Attorney General or judgment of highest court. A written statement by the State Attorney General to the effect that, in his opinion, no provision of the State's Constitution would be violated by the State law's incorporation by reference of the Federal individual income tax laws and regulations, as amended from time to time, by the Federal prosecution and trial of individuals who are alleged to have committed crimes with respect to the State's qualified tax (when it goes into effect as such), or by any other provision relating to such tax, considered as of the time it is being collected and administered by the Federal Government pursuant to subchapter E. However, if such a statement is not included in the notice of election, a judgment of the highest court of the State to the same effect may be submitted in its place.

(5) Effective date. A written specification of the January as of which subchapter E is desired to become applicable to the electing State.

(b) Rules relating to time for filing notice of election. An electing State must file its notice of election more than 6 months prior to the January 1 as of which the notice specifies that the provisions of subchapter E are desired to become applicable to such State. Thus, for example, if the date specified in the notice is January 1, 1979, the notice must be filed no later than June 30, 1978. However, because under the provisions of section 204(b) of the Federal-State Tax Collection Act of 1972 (86 Stat. 945), as amended by section 2116(a) of the Tax Reform Act of 1976 (90 Stat. 1910), the provisions of subchapter E will initially take effect on the first January 1 which is more than 1 year after the first date on which at least one State has filed a notice of its election (see § 301.6361-5), the notice of an election which causes subchapter E to initially take effect must be filed with the Secretary or his delegate more than 1 year prior to the January 1 as of which such notice specifies that the provisions of subchapter E are desired to become applicable to such State. Thus, for example, if such an initially electing State desires to elect subchapter E as of January 1, 1979, its notice must be filed no later than December 31, 1977. For purposes of this section, if the notice of election is sent by either registered or certified mail to the Secretary of the Treasury, Washington, D.C. 20220, then it shall be deemed to be filed on the date of mailing; otherwise, the notice of election shall be deemed to be filed when it is received by the Secretary or his delegate.

(c) Procedures relating to defects in notice or tax laws. If a State has filed a notice of election, then the Secretary shall, within 90 days after the notice is filed, notify the Governor of such State in writing of any defect in the notice of election which prevents it from being valid, and of any defect in the State's tax laws which causes the tax submitted to fail to meet the requirements for qualification specified in section 6362 and the regulations thereunder, other than the fact that no State agreement is in effect with respect thereto.

Any such defect of which the Secretary does not notify the Governor within such 90-day period is waived. The Secretary or his delegate may, in his discretion, permit any of such defects of which the Governor is timely notified to be cured retroactively to the date of the filing of the notice of election, by amendment of the notice or the State law. Judicial review of the Secretary's determination that the notice of election or the tax laws, or both, contain defects, may be obtained as set forth in section 6363(d) and § 301.6363-4.

(d) Execution and contents of State agreement. If the Secretary does not timely notify the Governor of a defect in the notice of election or in the State's tax laws, as provided in paragraph (c) of this section, or if, as provided in such paragraph, all such defects have been cured retroactively, then the Secretary shall enter into a State agreement. The agreement shall include the following elements:

(1) Effective date. The agreement shall specify the January 1 as of which subchapter E will commence to be applicable to the State. Such date shall be the same as that specified in the notice of election pursuant to paragraph (a)(5) of this section, unless the parties agree to a different January 1, except that in no event shall a State agreement executed after November 1 specify the next January 1.

(2) Obligation of Governor to notify the United States of changes in pertinent State laws. The agreement shall require the Governor of the State, and his successors in office, to notify the Secretary or his delegate within 30 days of the enactment of any law of the State, after the execution of the agreement, of a type described in paragraph (a)(2) of this section.

(3) Obligation of Governor to furnish to the United States information needed to administer State tax laws. The agreement shall require the Governor and his successors to furnish to the Secretary or his delegate any information needed by the Federal Government to administer the State tax laws. Such information shall include, for example, a list (which shall be maintained on a current basis) of those obligations of the State or its political subdivisions described in section 103(a)(1) from which the interest is not subject to the qualified taxes of the State.

(4) Identification of State official to act as liaison with Federal Government. The agreement shall include a designation by the Governor of the State official or officials with whom the Secretary or his delegate should coordinate in connection with any questions or problems which may arise during the period for which the State agreement is effective, including those which may result from changes or contemplated changes in pertinent State laws.

(5) Identification of State official to receive transferred funds. The agreement shall include a designation by the Governor of the State official who shall initially receive the funds on behalf of the State when they are transferred pursuant to section 6361(c) and § 301.6361-3.

(6) Other obligations. If the Secretary and the Governor both so agree, the agreement shall provide for additional obligations.

(e) State agreement superseding certain other agreements. For the period of its effectiveness, a State agreement shall supersede an otherwise effective agreement entered into by the State and the Secretary for the withholding of State income taxes from the compensation of Federal employees pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 5517 (or pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 5516, in the case of the District of Columbia).

§ 301.6363-2 Withdrawal from State agreements.

(a) By notification. If a State which has entered into a State agreement desires to withdraw from the agreement, its Governor shall file a notice of withdrawal with the Secretary or his delegate. A notice of withdrawal shall include the following documents:

(1) Request by the Governor. A request by the Governor of the State that the State agreement cease to be effective with respect to taxable years beginning on or after a specified January 1, except as provided in paragraph (b)(2) of § 301.6365-2 with respect to withholding in the case of fiscal-year taxpayers.

(2) Legislative approval of withdrawal. A certified copy of an Act or Resolution of the legislature of the State in which the legislature affirmatively expresses its approval of the State's withdrawal from the State agreement.

(3) Identification of State official. A written identification of the State official or officials with whom the Secretary or his delegate should coordinate in connection with the State's withdrawal from the State agreement.

(b) By change in State law. If any law of a State which has entered into a State agreement is enacted pertaining to individual income taxes (including the collection or administration of such taxes, and the prosecution of alleged civil or criminal violations with respect to such taxes), and if the Secretary or his delegate determines that as a result of such law the State no longer has a qualified tax, then such change in the State law shall be treated as a notification of withdrawal from the agreement. The Secretary shall notify the Governor in writing when a change is to be so treated. Such notification shall have the same effect as if, on the effective date of the disqualifying change in the law, the Governor had filed with the Secretary or his delegate a valid and sufficient notice of withdrawal requesting that the State agreement cease to be effective with respect to taxable years beginning on or after the first January 1 which is more than 6 months thereafter, subject to the exception with respect to withholding in the case of fiscal-year taxpayers. However, the cessation of effectiveness may be deferred to a subsequent January 1 if the Governor so requests and if the Secretary or his delegate in his discretion determines that the date of cessation provided in the preceding sentence would subject the State or its taxpayers to undue hardship. In addition, the Governor may request the Secretary or his delegate to permit the State's early withdrawal from the agreement, pursuant to paragraph (c)(2) of this section. Until the date of cessation of effectiveness of the State agreement, the change in State law which was treated as a notification of withdrawal, and any other such subsequent change that would be similarly treated, shall not be given effect for purposes of the Federal collection and administration of the State taxes. Similarly, such changes shall not be given effect for such purposes during the period of litigation if the State seeks judicial review of the action of the Secretary or his delegate pursuant to section 6363(d) or § 301.6363-4, even if such changes are ultimately found by the court not to disqualify the State's qualified tax. However, a change in State law which would be treated as a notice of withdrawal in the absence of this sentence shall not be so treated if, prior to the last November 1 preceding the January 1 on which the cessation of effectiveness of the State agreement is to occur, either such change in State law is retroactively repealed, or the State law is retroactively modified and the Secretary or his delegate determines that with such modification the State has a qualified tax.

(c) Rules relating to time of withdrawal.—(1) General rule. Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, a notice of withdrawal shall not be valid unless the January 1 specified therein is not earlier than the first January 1 which is more than 6 months subsequent to the date on which the notice is received by the Secretary or his delegate. Thus, for example, if the notice is received by the Secretary or his drawal, the notice must be received no later than June 30, 1979.

(2) Early withdrawal. The Secretary or his delegate may, in his discretion and upon written request by a Governor of a State who has filed a notice of withdrawal, waive the 6-months requirement of section 6363(b)(1) and subparagraph (1) of this paragraph if the Secretary determines that:

(i) The State will suffer a hardship if required to meet such requirement, and

(ii) The early withdrawal requested by the Governor would be practicable from the standpoint of orderly collection of the qualified tax and administration of the State law by the Federal Government.

§ 301.6363-3 Transition years.

The State may by law provide for the transition to or from a qualified tax to the extent necessary to prevent double taxation or other unintended hardships, or to prevent unintended benefits, under State law. Generally, such provisions shall be administered by the State; but, if requested to do so by the Governor of the State, the Secretary or his delegate may, in his discretion, agree to administer such provisions either solely or jointly with the State.

§ 301.6363-4 Judicial review.

(a) General rule. If the Secretary or his delegate determines pursuant to paragraph (c) of § 301.6363-1 that a State did not file a valid notice of election or does not have a tax which would meet the requirements for qualification specified in section 6362 and the regulations thereunder if a State agreement were in effect with respect thereto, or if he determines pursuant to paragraph (b) of § 301.6363-2 that a participating State has enacted a law as a result of which the State no longer has a qualified tax, such State may, within 60 days after its Governor has received notification of such determination, file a petition for the review of such determination with either the United States Court of Appeals for the circuit in which the State is located or the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. If a State files such a petition, the clerk of the court shall forthwith transmit a copy of the petition to the Secretary or his delegate, who in turn shall thereupon file in the court the record of proceedings on which the determination adverse to the State was based, as provided in section 2112 of title 28, United States Code.

(b) Court of Appeals' jurisdiction. The Court of Appeals may affirm or set aside, in whole or in part, the action of the Secretary or his delegate; and (subject to the rules delaying the effectiveness of the change in State law provided in paragraph (b) of § 301.6363-2) the court may issue such other orders as may be appropriate with respect to taxable years which include any part of the period of litigation.

(c) Review of Court of Appeals' judgment. The judgment of the Court of Appeals shall be subject to review by the Supreme Court of the United States upon certiorari or certification sought by either party as provided in section 1254 of title 28, United States Code.

(d) Effect of final judgment. If a final judgment, rendered with respect to litigation involving a State's petition to review a determination of the Secretary or his delegate to the effect that the State's individual income tax laws included in its notice of election would not meet the requirements for qualification specified in section 6362 and the regulations thereunder if a State agreement were in effect with respect thereto, includes a determination that the State's tax would in fact meet such requirements, then the provisions of subchapter E shall apply to the State with respect to taxable years beginning on or after the first January 1 which is more than 6 months after the date of such final judgment. If a final judgment, rendered with respect to litigation involving a State's petition to review a determination of the Secretary or his delegate to the effect that the State's previously-qualified tax ceases to qualify because of a change in the State's law, includes a determination that the State's tax does in fact cease to qualify, then the provisions of subchapter E (other than section 6363) shall cease to apply to the State with respect to taxable years beginning on or after the first January 1 which is more than 6 months after the date of such final judgment. See paragraph (b) of § 301.6365-2 for special rules with respect to withholding in the case of fiscal-year taxpayers.

(e) Expedient treatment of judicial proceedings. Under section 6363(d)(4), any judicial proceedings to which a State and the United States are parties, and which are brought pursuant to section 6363, are entitled to receive a preference, and to be heard and determined as expeditiously as possible, upon request of the Secretary or the State.

§ 301.6365-1 Definitions.

(a) State. For purposes of subchapter E and the regulations thereunder, the term "State" shall include the District of Columbia, but shall not include the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico or any possession of the United States.

(b) Governor. For purposes of subchapter E and the regulations thereunder, the term "Governor" shall include the Mayor of the District of Columbia.

§ 301.6365-2 Commencement and cessation of applicability of subchapter E to individual taxpayers.

(a) General rule. Except for purposes of chapter 24 (relating to the collection of income tax at source on wages), whenever subchapter E begins or ceases to apply to any State (i.e., a State agreement begins or ceases to be effective) as of any January 1, such commencement or cessation of applicability shall apply to taxable years of individuals beginning on or after such date. For example, if subchapter E begins to apply to a particular State on January 1, 1980, it would become applicable for calendar year 1980 for calendar-year taxpayers in that State; but if a taxpayer in the State is using a fiscal year running from July 1 to June 30, the subchapter would begin to apply (except for purposes of chapter 24) to that taxpayer on July 1, 1980, for his taxable year ending June 30, 1981. Similarly, if the subchapter ceases to apply to such State on January 1, 1982, it would cease to apply to calendar-year taxpayers after the end of calendar year 1981; but it would cease to apply (except for purposes of chapter 24) to fiscal-year taxpayers at the end of their fiscal years which are in progress on January 1, 1982. The cessation of applicability of subchapter E to a State does not affect rights, duties, and liabilities with respect to any taxable year for which subchapter E does apply with respect to any taxpayer (or his employer).

(b) Special rules pertaining to withholding.—(1) Subchapter E beginning to apply. The Federal withholding system provided in chapter 24 shall go into effect for State individual income tax purposes with respect to wages paid on or after the January 1 as of which subchapter E begins to apply to a State. If an employee is subject to a qualified tax imposed by the State, such withholding system shall apply to his wages paid on or after that January 1, without regard to whether he is a calendar-year or fiscal-year taxpayer. See § 301.6363-3 with respect to transition-year rules.

(2) Subchapter E ceasing to apply. The Federal withholding system provided in chapter 24 shall cease to be effective for State tax purposes with respect to wages paid on or after the January 1 as of which subchapter E ceases to apply to the State, although fiscal-year taxpayers of that State continue to be subject to the other provisions of subchapter E for the remainder of their fiscal years then in progress. See § 301.6363-3 with respect to transition-year rules.

Par. 22. Section 301.6405-1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 301.6405-1 Reports of refunds and credits.

Section 6405 requires that a report be made to the Joint Committee on Taxation of proposed refunds or credits in excess of $100,000 of any income tax (including any qualified State individual income tax collected by the Federal Government), war profits tax, excess profits tax, estate tax, or gift tax. An exception is provided under which refunds and credits made after July 1, 1972, and attributable to an election under section 165 (h) to deduct a disaster loss for the taxable year in which the disaster occurred, may be made prior to the submission of such report to the Joint Committee on Taxation.

(AC 00-21, Effective July 15, 1977)

ADVISORY CIRCULAR CHECKLIST AND STATUS OF FEDERAL AVIATION REGU-LATIONS

1. Purpose. This notice contains the revised checklist of current FAA advisory circulars (and the status of Federal Aviation Regulations) as of July 15, 1977.

2. Explanation. The FAA issues advisory circulars to inform the aviation public in a systematic way of nonregulatory material of interest. Unless incorporated into a regulation by reference, the contents of an advisory circular are not binding on the public. Advisory circulars are issued in a numbered-subject system corresponding to the subject areas of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Ch. I). This checklist is issued triannually to list all current advisory circulars and also includes a checklist showing the status of the Federal Aviation Regulations.

3. The Circular Numbering System.

a. General. The advisory circular numbers relate to the FAR subchapter titles and correspond to the Parts, and when appropriate, to the specific sections of the Federal Aviation Regulations. Circulars of a general nature bear a number corresponding to the number of the general subject (subchapter) in the FAR's. A general subject number is used only when a circular covers more than one Part.

b. General subject numbers. The general subject matter areas and related numbers are as follows:

General Subject Number and Subject Matter

- 00 General.
- 10 Procedural.
- 20 Aircraft.
- 60 Airman.
- 70 Airspace.
- 90 Air Traffic Control and General Operations.
- 120 Air Carrier and Commercial Operators and Helicopters.
- 140 Schools and Other Certified Agencies.
- 150 Airports.
- 170 Air Navigational Facilities.
- 180 Administrative.
- 210 Flight Information.

Within the General Subject Number Areas, specific selectivity in advisory circular mail lists is available corresponding to the applicable FAR Parts. For example: under the 60 general subject area, separate mail lists for advisory circulars issued in the 61, 63, 65, or 67 series are available.

c. Breakdown of subject numbers. When the volume of circulars in a series warrants a subsubject breakdown, the general number is followed by a slash and a subsubject number. Material in the 150 series, Airports, is issued under the following subsubjects:

Number and Subject

- 150/1900 Defense Readiness Program.
- 150/4000 Resource Management.
- 150/5000 Airport Planning.
- 150/5100 Federal-aid Airport Program.

- 150/5150 Surplus Airport Property Conveyance Programs.
- 150/5190 Airport Compliance Program.
- 150/5200 Airport Safety—General.
- 150/5210 Airport Safety Operations (Recommended Training, Standards, Manning).

- 150/5220 Airport Safety Equipment and Facilities.

- 150/5230 Airport Ground Safety System.
- 150/5240 Civil Airport's Emergency Preparedness.

- 150/5300 Design, Construction, and Maintenance—General.

- 150/5320 Airport Design.
- 150/5325 Influence of Aircraft Performance on Aircraft Design.

- 150/5335 Runway, Taxiway, and Apron Characteristics.

- 150/5340 Airport Visual Aids.
- 150/5345 Airport Lighting Equipment.

- 150/5360 Airport Buildings.
- 150/5370 Airport Construction.

- 150/5380 Airport Maintenance.
- 150/5390 Heliports.

- 150/5900 Planning Grant for Airports.

d. Individual circular identification numbers. Each circular has a subject number followed by a dash and a sequential number identifying the individual circular. This sequential number is not used again in the same subject series. Revised circulars have a letter A, B, C, etc., after the sequential number to show complete revisions. Changes to circulars have CH 1, CH 2, CH 3, etc., after the identification number on pages that have been changed. The date on a revised page is changed to the effective date of the change.

4. The Advisory Circular Checklist.

a. General. Each circular issued is listed numerically within its subject-number breakdown. The identification number (AC 120-1), the change number of the latest change, if any, to the right of the identification number, the title, and the effective date for each circular are shown. A brief explanation of the contents is given for each listing.

b. Omitted numbers. In some series, sequential numbers are missing. These numbers were assigned to advisory circulars still in preparation which will be issued later or were assigned to advisory circulars that have been canceled.

c. Free and sales circulars. This checklist contains advisory circulars that are for sale as well as those distributed free of charge by the Federal Aviation Administration. A list of circulars sold by the Superintendent of Documents is shown at the end of the numerical list of AC's. Please use care when ordering circulars to ensure that they are ordered from the proper source.

d. Internal directives for sale. A list of certain internal directives sold by the Superintendent of Documents is shown at the end of the checklist. These documents are not identified by advisory circular numbers, but have their own directive numbers.

5. How to get circulars.

a. When a price is listed after the description of a circular, it means that this circular is for sale by the Superintendent of Documents. When (Sub.) is included with the price, the advisory circular is available on a subscription basis only. After your subscription has been entered by the Superintendent of Documents, supplements or changes to the basic document will be provided automatically at no additional charge until the subscription expires. When no price is given, the circular is distributed free of charge by FAA.

b. Request free advisory circulars shown without an indicated price from:

U.S. Department of Transportation, Publications Section TAD 443.1, Washington, D.C. 20590.

c. Persons who want to be placed on FAA's mailing list for future circulars should write to:

U.S. Department of Transportation, Distribution Requirements Section, TAD 482.3, Washington, D.C. 20590.

NOTE: Be sure to identify the subject matter numbers and titles shown in paragraph 3b because separate mailing lists are maintained for each advisory circular subject series. Checklists and circulars issued in the General series will be distributed to every addressee on each of the subject series lists. Persons requesting more than one subject classification may receive more than one copy of related circulars and this checklist because they will be included on more than one mailing list. Persons already on the distribution list for AC's will automatically receive related circulars.

<sup>2</sup> Due to their length, complexity, and frequency of issuance, individual Airworthiness Directives are published separately in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Copies of Airworthiness Directives that have been issued are for sale in summary form by DOT, FAA Aeronautical Center (Consigned agent for Superintendent of Documents), P.O. Box 25461, Oklahoma City, Okla. 73125. Attn: AAC-23.

<sup>3</sup> Due to their length, complexity, and frequency of issuance, individual airspace designations, airways descriptions, restricted areas, jet route descriptions, and en route IFR altitudes are not included in the publication of these basic parts. Such descriptions are published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and depicted on appropriate aeronautical charts. Aeronautical charts can be obtained from the U.S. Department of Commerce, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, Distribution Division (C-44), National Ocean Survey, Riverdale, Md. 20840.

<sup>4</sup> Standard instrument approach procedures are published in the FEDERAL REGISTER by reference to FAA documents which are available for examination in the Rules Docket (AGC-24) and the National Flight Data Center, FAA Headquarters, Washington, D.C., and at the appropriate FAA Regional Offices and Flight Inspection District Offices. These approach procedures can be obtained from the U.S. Department of Commerce, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, Distribution Division (C-44), National Ocean Survey, Riverdale, Md. 20840.

FEDERAL ELECTION COMMISSION

Advisory Opinion Requests

Pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 437f(c) and the procedures reflected in Part 112 of the Commission's regulations, published on August 25, 1976 (41 FR 35954), Advisory Opinion Requests 1977-45, 1977-46, 1977-47, and 1977-48 have been made public at the Commission. Copies of AOR's 1977-45, 1977-46, 1977-47, and 1977-48 were made available on September 23, 1977. These copies of the advisory opinion requests were made available for public inspection and purchase at the Federal Election Commission, Public Records Division, at 1325 K Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20463.

Interested persons may submit written comments on any advisory opinion request within ten days after the date the request was made public at the Commission. These comments should be directed to the Office of General Counsel, Advisory Opinion Section, at the Commission. Persons requiring additional time in which to respond to any advisory opinion requests will normally be granted such time upon written request to the Commission. All timely comments received by the Commission will be considered before the Commission issues an advisory opinion. Comments on pending requests should refer to the specific AOR number of the requests and statutory references should be to the United States Code citations rather than to the Public Law citations.

A descriptive listing of each of the requests recently made public as well as the identification of the requesting party follows hereafter:

AOR 1977-45. May a candidate for Federal office receive compensation from his newspaper employer for writing editorials and soliciting advertising for the newspaper which compensation takes the form of credits to an account, based upon the fair market value of work performed, until he officially announces candidacy, and then obtain campaign advertising space in the newspaper by debiting such account until it is depleted? In these circumstances would the publisher be making a gift or in-kind contribution under 2 U.S.C. § 441a? If proper, how should the transactions be reflected on reports filed pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 434?

Requested by Franklin S. Adler on behalf of Terry Martin, candidate for the House of Representatives, Los Angeles, Calif.

AOR 1977-46. May a Member of Congress, who did not earn the maximum permissible amount of honoraria in 1976, receive in January and February of 1977 honoraria for appearances made in December 1976 without such honoraria counting against the 1977 limit?

Requested by James M. Sparling, Jr., on behalf of Representative Vander Jagt, United States House of Representatives, Washington, D.C.

AOR 1977-47. May a Senator, whose term expires in 1978 and who has announced his decision not to run for reelection, terminate his campaign committee which has surplus funds remaining from a 1972 election campaign or should it continue to report until a later time? May the surplus funds be legally used by the Senator for entertainment of constituents, or motel and travel costs incurred by him and his wife for travel to or in Wyoming?

Requested by Clifford P. Hansen, United States Senator, Washington, D.C.

AOR 1977-48. May the principal campaign committee of a candidate in a special primary and general election use excess campaign funds for the purpose of retiring an outstanding campaign debt incurred in connection with an election for State office in 1976 in circumstances where the same individual was a candidate in both the special Federal election and the State election?

Requested by Joan Singler, Treasurer, Durning for Congress Committee, Seattle, Wash.

Dated: September 26, 1977.

THOMAS E. HARRIS,
Chairman for the Federal Election Commission.

Beardsley Zoological Gardens is a municipally operated zoo, assisted by the Connecticut Zoological Society, a non-profit organization. It is also an institution member of the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums, and holds USDA Exhibitor License No. 16-c-2.

(a6) The mandrills will be housed in an indoor enclosure measuring 30 ft. in length, 12 ft. in width, and 12 ft. in height. Off exhibit are two bedrooms, which each measure 8 ft. in length, 6 ft. in width, and 12 ft. in height. The bedrooms are separated by metal sliding shift doors. The exhibit contains a protected skylight allowing access to sunlight. (See diagram of exhibit attached.)

(a6ii) This will be the first time mandrills have been kept at Beardsley Zoological Gardens. We currently have several primate species in our collection including: Hanuman's langurs (Presbytis entellus); ring-tailed lemurs (Lemur catta); common marmosets (Callithrix jacchus); spider monkeys (Ateles paniscus); squirrel monkeys (Saimiri sciureus); woolly monkeys (Lagothrix lagothrica); and thick-tailed galago (Galago senegalensis). Our primates are cared for primarily by two keepers with ten years of combined primate experience. We have achieved success in breeding spider and squirrel monkeys, and ring-tailed lemurs. We are anticipating births in our langurs and lemurs.

(a6iii) We are willing to participate in cooperative breeding programs, and to maintain or contribute data to a studbook.

(a6iv) The transport crates, provided by Gladys Porter Zoo, will be of adequate wood construction measuring approximately 3' x 3' x 3', and will conform to IATA specifications. The animals will be transported in separate crates with either dropping trays or absorbent material available for urine and fecal material. Drinking vessels will be provided. The mandrills will be transported via air to either Bradley Airport, Hartford, Conn., or J. F. K., New York City, and then transported via zoo truck to Beardsley Zoo.

(a6v) Not applicable.
 (a7) The mandrills will be purchased from the Gladys Porter Zoo for a price of $800 for the pair. Shipment of the animals will be effective thirty (30) days of permit approval date.

(a8) Beardsley Zoological Gardens is justified in obtaining permits for mandrills because we have shown the ability to successfully maintain primate breeding colonies. Our primary concern as a zoological facility is for the propagation of all species, but most importantly for endangered species.

We feel we can enhance the chances of the species' survival by maintaining them in our facility.

(a8i-ii) Permits are sought for maintaining mandrills (Papio sphinx) for captive propagation and public exhibit. Efforts at captive propagation will be made by employing sound husbandry practices. We have found that maintaining proper sex ratios, uncrowded and comfortable living quarters, and occasional isolation from the public to be great assets in primate reproduction. All necessary steps will be taken to assure reproduction in mandrills at Beardsley Zoo.

(a8iii) Mandrills are listed as endangered throughout their native range. As man encroaches upon their territory, the chances for species survival is drastically reduced. Efforts at captive propagation, whether in a large or small zoo, is one, positive answer to species survival. Beardsley Zoological Gardens is equipped to handle the Papio species through its adequate exhibit space that provides room for exercise, privacy and appropriate year-round environmental conditions. Zoos throughout the world have exhibited the ability to successfully breed mandrills, and to insure their lives, in some cases up to twenty-seven (27) years. Naturally, all steps taken at Beardsley Zoological Gardens for reproduction would enhance chances of survival for this species.

(a8iv) Offspring would be maintained at Beardsley Zoological Gardens as long as space allows. Should space eventually limit us, future offspring would be dispersed to other zoological facilities at the USDI's approval.

(1) Pheasants. White Eared (Crossoptilon crossoptilon) 1 male. I would like to be able to buy and sell these birds for propagation purposes and to get new blood to help keep the stock strong.

(2) (iii) Wildlife—born in captivity.

(3) By acquiring the above pheasant that was raised in captivity by breeders in Canada. By having the above shipped in padded crates to avoid any possible chance of injury.

(4) The White Eared pheasant I would like to acquire was raised in captivity by Mr. Jack Schulteman, R.R. No. 2 Devlin, Ontario, Canada.

(5) The pheasants are and will be housed in my aviaries at 219 Cowlitz Drive, Kelso, Wash. 98626. These aviaries are planted with trees and shrubs to help insure the contentment of the birds, and a fence has been installed completely around our property which covers 2 acres.

(6) (i) Our pheasantry consists of 15 pens measuring 8' wide by 6' high by 16' long, 23 pens measuring 8' wide by 6' high by 24' long, 2 pens measuring 12' wide by 35' long by 12' high, one flight pen measuring 12' wide by 7' high by 80' long, 8 pens measuring 9' long by 6' high by 8' wide, and a Java Green Peafowl pen measuring approximately 7' high by 25' wide by 25' long, plus a completely enclosed house for their protection in inclement weather. All pheasant pens are constructed using creosoted 8" x 6" x 8' long or 15' long railroad ties. The house at the back of each pen is constructed of 1/2" exterior plywood with roofs measuring 8' and 12' in width and covered by 80 lb. roofing paper and covered with tar. All pens are completely enclosed with 1" mesh poultry netting, or 1" x 2" welded heavy gauge wire. The railroad ties are used for support posts and ground runners and a profile drawing is shown below.

All inclement weather comes from the southwest and our aviaries are constructed so that our birds have maximum protection from inclement weather yet ample shade in the summer months. We are soon to begin a completely rewired program in which 1" x 2" welded heavy gauge wire will be on the outside of all of our aviaries.

(ii) I have been raising rare ornamental pheasants and imported Java Green Peafowl for 6 years and have raised young Edwards, Mikado, Elliotts, Satyr and Temminck Tragopan, Scintillating and Ijima Coopers, Silvers, Golden, Impeyan, Blue and Brown Eared Manchurian and Java Green Peafowl.

(iii) I would be only too willing to cooperate in a breeding program and keep accurate records as I am convinced that the only reason some species exist today is because of the unselfish and dedicated efforts of breeders who hatched and raised them in captivity.

(iv) The containers used for shipping are 12" wide, 18" high, and 24" long, constructed of Masonite with the top of the inside lined with 1" foam rubber. Water and feed are placed in each container. The maximum time the birds would be contained in this shipping container would be 36 hours.

(v) I have been extremely fortunate in that I have lost very few birds; however, I have not lost a single bird to disease. My losses have been due to young becoming chilled when electric power is lost in a brooder, attack from another in the brooder or shortly after being placed in outside pens, breaking a neck by flying into top wire and one cock that escaped when the gate opened due to the eye pulling loose from the wood frame at the gate and is covered in my letter

ENDANGERED SPECIES PERMIT

George Olson; Notice of Receipt of Application

Notice is hereby given that the following application for a permit is deemed to have been received under section 10 of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-205).

Applicant: George Olson, Forest Supervisor, National Forests in North Carolina, P.O. Box 2750, Asheville, N.C. 28802.

to your department dated August 29, 1977, PRT 8-407. All of my pens are cleaned monthly, weather permitting, disinfected twice yearly, and medicated water is supplied once a month. Our birds are fed the very finest game bird food that I can purchase, given ample fruit and berries in season and a commercial game bird grit is supplied at all times. Our ground is a sandy loam with excellent drainage so that our birds do not wallow in mud. When young birds are placed in outside pens they are frequently clipped on one wing to prevent their flying into the wire if they become spooked in a new environment.

(7) There are no contracts or agreements. As previously stated, if I am issued the permit I plan to obtain a White Eared Pheasant cock from Mr. Jack Schuitman, R.R. No 2 Derlin, Ontario, Canada.

(8) (i) I plan on keeping, breeding, buying, and selling for propagation purposes Edwards, Mikado, Brown and White Eared Manchurian and Elliotts pheasants.

(ii) and (iii) I will supply adequate pens, housing, feed and care to insure the birds contentment in captivity in order that they will breed and keep the specie going. My children and their children will have watched them grow and produce young, and they are a living thing instead of just a picture in a book.

(iv) My birds are therapy to me and a way of life to all of my family; however, I know that one day the time will come when I may not be able to care for them in a manner they deserve. Then, and only then, will I dispose of them to a very few of my very closest and dearest friends in the pheasant fancy who are completely qualified to care for them.

Respectfully submitted,

F. M. (CHICK) DRISCOLL.

(1) Felis concolor cougar, eastern cougar. Felis concolor coryi, Florida panther. The number, sex, and ages of animals are unspecified.

(2) Application is for activities related to cougars in the wild. The origin of cougars, if they exist in the wild, is unknown. An examination of bounty records for the period 1700-1800 suggests that cougars once occurred throughout the State.

(3) Most probable source of injury or mortality is mauling of young lions by the hounds. We expect to minimize this hazard by close surveillance and the use of only two hounds. If available, a transmitter will be attached to one of the dogs to facilitate tracking.

INFORMATION REQUIRED BY PERMIT No. 17.22

1. Parakeets: Scarlet-chested (Neophema splendida) 1 male, 1 female; Turquoise (Neophema pulchella) 1 male, 1 female. Would like to purchase one pair of each. Would like to be allowed to buy and sell the above for propagation purposes and to obtain new blood to keep the stock strong.

2. Wildlife—born in captivity.

3. By purchasing the above parakeets that were raised in captivity from breeders in the States. By having the above shipped or sent in padded crates to avoid any injury.

4. The Scarlet-chested and Turquoise parakeets I would like to purchase were raised in captivity by Vera Rosenkranz, Westchester, Ill.

5. The birds will be kept at my house. My outside aviary is an 8' x 8' house with an outdoor wire cage, 8' x 8', which will be supplemented with shrubs and trees to insure contentment of the birds. During the winter months the birds will be kept indoors in my large flight cage, 4' x 4', at 1716 South 25 Street, Manitowoc, Wis.

6. 1. My outside aviary is an 8' x 8' house with an attached 8' x 8' wire flight cage. My wire cage will be plated with vines and shrubs for a natural setting which the parakeets should enjoy.

ii. I've been raising different species for about ten years. Wild waterfowl have been my main interest up till the present, but I've also raised rare quail, partridge, grouse, finches, parakeets, pigeons, and bantam chickens. I really enjoy raising birds, they are a very important part of my life.

iii. I would be more than willing to cooperate in a breeding program and keep accurate records as I believe the only reason some species exist today is from the dedicated people who raised them in captivity.

iv. The containers used for shipping are 1 foot wide, 18 inches high, and 2 feet long, made of wood, and lined with foam rubber. Feed and water are placed in each box. The duration the birds would be in a box would be approximately four to six hours.

v. I've been very fortunate that I have lost very few birds. I lost some young one year when an electrical storm cut off our electricity, chilling the birds and resulting in several deaths. Also several species of rare quail have a tendency toward cannibalism, which is an inherited characteristic. I've lost several this way. My mortality ratio is always few and far between, nothing like preventative practices to insure healthy birds. I clean my pens every month and disinfect the pens every three months. My birds receive medicated feed and water to prevent loss.

7. There are no contracts or agreements. As I stated earlier, if I get the permit, I will purchase the Scarlet-chested and Turquoise parakeets from Vera Rosenkranz, Westchester, Illinois.

8. i. I plan on keeping, breeding, buying and selling for propagation only, Scarlet-chested and Turquoise parakeets.

ii. and iii. I will supply adequate pens, housing, feed, and care to insure the bird's contentment in captivity, in order that they will breed to insure the species survival. Perhaps through careful breeding, care, and love these species of parakeets will endure for all to enjoy. With the growing world population, the only way any of these birds will be saved is by captive propagation.

iv. If I should decide to quit raising birds I would sell them to other breeders whom I felt were capable of raising them. However, since my love for raising birds in general is great, I feel this is a remote possibility.

(1) Etheostoma okaloosae, Okaloosa darter. Collection of no more than 100 Okaloosa darters to determine population size at several sites where this species and Etheostoma edwini (the Brown darter) occur sympatrically.

(2) All fishes that will be collected occur in seven small streams in Okaloosa and Walton Counties.

(3) Specimens of Okaloosa darter will not be preserved normally unless their morphological appearance is unusual and requires closer examination in the laboratory.

(4) Not applicable.

(5) All specimens collected and preserved during the study will be deposited in the University of Alabama Ichthyological and Herpetological Collections in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, where they will be maintained for reference purposes.

(6) Not applicable.

(7) Not applicable.

(8)(i) It is possible that the endangered darter, Etheostoma okaloosae and its nearest relative Etheostoma edwini are in competition in streams that until recently were occupied only by the endangered form. The first purpose of this study is to monitor these sympatric populations and observe any changes that occur in their relative numbers. A second function of the study is to find any new areas with the Okaloosa darter streams where the two species occur sympatrically so that these sites can also be monitored.

(ii) Fishes will be collected with nylon minnow selves. No more than 100 specimens of the Okaloosa darter will be collected during the study.

(iii) The data that will be accumulated during the study will be used by the Okaloosa darter recovery team to initiate a recovery plan for the Okaloosa darter.

(iv) See number 5.

Attachment (1) Laysan Duck (Anas laysanensis)—At the present time it is our intention to purchase at least two pair (male and female) of the species as noted. I intend to purchase such Laysan Teal from Mr. Arthur Searles of Patchogue, N.Y. (Federal permit No. PRT 2-117 NW). The birds we intend to purchase are newly hatched in captivity. It is my intention to possess, hold, propagate and sell this endangered species of waterfowl, namely Laysan Teal (Interstate Commerce).

Attachment (2) The wildlife sought to be covered by the permit have been born in captivity.

Attachment (3) I do intend to purchase the Laysan Teal directly from Mr. Arthur Searles, Robinson Ave., Patchogue, N.Y. The birds sought will be transported to my home, a matter of a few miles, in proper and adequate containers. The birds so purchased have been born and bred in captivity.

Attachment (4) I intend to purchase the Laysan Teal, which have been born and raised in captivity, from Mr. Arthur Searles, Robinson Ave., Patchogue, N.Y. (U.S.A.). Federal Permit No. PRT 2-117 NY. The subject Laysan Teal were born and raised in captivity as were the Laysan Teal producing the subject young.

Attachment (5). At this time I have erected two holding pens at my home (170 So. Snedecor Ave., Bayport, N.Y. 11705). One pen is 14'x21' and is wired top and sides. The second pen is 6'x10' and is similarly wired. Both holding pens have man made ponds with running water and natural foliage. The entire facility is surrounded with a five foot high fencing of wood stockade and welded wire, with one entry. The entire area is shaded but, does offer more than adequate sun-light. At this time I am also constructing proper brooding facilities and installing adequate nesting boxes in the larger pen. Accepted incubation facilities have already been established.

Attachment (6) (i) *See photos attached. I feel that a complete description of the area and facility is fully covered in Attachment No. 5.

(ii) I have been an avid out-doors-man all of my life. I have hunted wild water-fowl, in the Long Island area, since I have been of licensing age. I studied, through text and periodicals, all species of water-fowl native to North America and those not native; I am fully familiar with markings, coloring, habits and breeding process of wild water-fowl. Over the years I have raised and nursed back to health such animals as Rabbit, Raccoon and Muskrat; and on occasions, songbirds. There is very little that I do not know about wild water-fowl and I am applying this knowledge to the raising of such wildlife.

(iii) I would be very happy to participate in a cooperative breeding program and contribute data to a studbook.

(iv) With regards to the Laysan Teal, they will be transported a matter of four to five miles on initial acquisition. They will be held in a metal brooding container, approximately 20" high, 20" wide and 24" long. They will have adequate water and feed placed in the container while being transported to my facility and will be under constant supervision during the time. The container does have more than adequate ventilation. With regards to my intended sale of Laysan Teal to interested water-fowlers, Zoos, etc. I will construct my own shipping containers of wood, approximately 15" high, 20" wide and 20" long. Adequate water and feed will be provided to sustain the birds while being transported; water and feed will be sufficient to sustain them if a delay is encountered. No more than one pair of birds will be transported at any one time. All birds will be shipped Air Express with proper labeling attached, indicating that live wildlife is contained. The forwarders will be notified of what is being shipped and they should act accordingly. I would like to note that my shipping containers will have openings on the sides of 3/4" to 1", running the length of the container, to provide proper ventilation.

(v) This is a new venture and I have not raised any water-fowl prior to this time; therefore, no mortalities have been involved. Once my required State and Federal permits have approved and issued, I will acquire adult water-fowl, in pairs, and commence my operations in propagating such water-fowl and detailed record keeping will be instituted.

Attachment (7) There are no contracts or agreements in existence at this time and none are in the offing. My father and two brothers, who are very experienced water-fowlers, will assist me in my program to propagate the endangered species, Laysan Teal. My activities in propagating the Laysan Teal will commence as soon as approval and proper permits are received from your department.

Attachment (8) (i) Permit is requested for the possession, propagation, holding and sale of the endangered species of water-fowl namely Laysan Teal.

(ii) I intend to propagate and raise the noted species in adequate facilities at my home, 170 So. Snedecor Ave., Bayport, N.Y. 11705. It is my intention to purchase a pair, possibly two, adult Laysan Teal from Mr. Arthur Searles, Robinson Ave., Patchogue, N.Y. (Federal Permit #PRT 2-117 NY) to commence propagation processes. When young birds are acquired from the adults, I will retain a sufficient number of male and female breeding pairs in order to increase the species population. I do intend to sell, from time to time, such Laysan Teal to interested water-fowlers, bird fanciers, educational institutions and Zoo's. The sale will be dependent upon the intentions of the intended buyer.

(iii) My sole intention in acquiring such Federal permits is to enhance the Laysan Teal and increase its population. The sale of Laysan Teal to interested parties is also being done to increase the species population, not monetary consideration. I know that I have the expertise and facilities to aid in removing the Laysan Teal from the endangered classification.

(iv) If I should ever terminate my propagation activities, regarding the Laysan Teal, I shall return any remaining birds to my original source or offer them to responsible water-fowl breeders, bird fanciers, educational institutions, or Zoo's for the sole purpose of propagation.

RUTGERS,
THE STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW JERSEY,
September 6, 1977.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service,
Federal Fish and Wildlife,
License/Permit Application (3-240).

The following information is submitted in compliance with 50 CFR 17.22a.

1. Fish to be collected.—a. Poeciliopsis occidentalis occidentalis — Monkey Spring, Santa Cruz County, Ariz. Poeciliopsis occidentalis sonoriensis — on San Bernardino Ranch, Cochise County, Ariz.

b. Taking a total of 100 mature and immature fish of both sexes. Approximately 50 individuals of each subspecies will be taken. A majority of these fish will be frozen immediately after capture and will be used later in an electrophoretic study of protein polymorphism in these subspecies. The carcasses will be preserved for later morphological study.

c. Live samples of both subspecies (5 males and 5 females from each) will be maintained by the applicant at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. These fish will be used to establish a laboratory stock that will be maintained for use in genetic studies of these subspecies and related species already being maintained at Rutgers, as well as several other laboratories.

2. The fish to be covered by this permit are still in the wild. The locations of the populations to be sampled are Monkey Spring on the Rail-X Ranch in Santa Cruz County, Ariz., and in a spring on the San Bernardino Ranch in Cochise County, Ariz.

3. The applicant has not previously attempted to collect this species within the United States. A majority of the wildlife to be covered by this permit will not be maintained alive. Their immediate freezing after capture will prevent deterioration of their proteins prior to examination. The genetic studies planned for the subspecies require laboratory breeding. The live samples indicated in 1. c. will provide the necessary stocks for these studies.

4. Not applicable, the subspecies populations to be sampled are not captive, self-sustaining populations.

5. The applicant is an Assistant Professor of Zoology at Rutgers University. Rutgers is a public institution and is located in New Brunswick, N.J. 08903.

6. The applicant seeks to have live wildlife covered by this permit.

(i) The applicant has a wetroom with over 250 aquaria, including 64—2½ gal breeding tanks, 36—5½ gal tanks, 36—10 gal tanks, 6—40 gal tanks, and over 125—1½ gal rearing tanks. The wetroom is supported by NSF Grant DEB76-19285 to the applicant. The wetroom is supplied with supplemental lighting, forced air and is maintained at 78° F. year round. A diagram of the wetroom is attached.

(ii) Mexican species of fishes in the genus Poeciliopsis have been maintained in laboratories at Rutgers and elsewhere for the past twenty years. The applicant has been involved with laboratory maintenance of species related to the fish to be covered by this permit for ten years. The applicant has a doctoral student, who has been involved with laboratory stock care for three years, a full-time technician and another graduate student, who has been involved with fish care for one year.

(iii) The applicant has routinely maintained detailed records on all live stocks of fish born or reared in his laboratory. The fish to be covered by this permit will be added to the records and all subsequent events involving them will be recorded. These records will be available to other interested researchers. All carcasses of the laboratory stocks will be preserved.

(iv) The live fish will be placed in several 1 gal bottles after capture. The water in the bottles will be aerated until just before shipment to Rutgers. The closed bottles will be protected inside an insulated container during the time they are being shipped. The applicant will accompany the fish to the plane and will ride the plane with them to New Jersey. On arrival in New Jersey, the fish will immediately be taken to the wetroom at Rutgers and placed in a previously prepared area. The fish will be in closed containers for about seven hours. This system has been used to return several hundred fish from Mexico over the past five years and mortality during transit has been less than two percent.

(v) The laboratory stocks of related species that have been maintained at Rutgers during the past three years (as far back as the applicant has records) have had accidental mortality of less than ten percent. The progeny of wild caught females have had similar mortality, while the wild caught females themselves have had mortality less than five percent. Mortality at around ten percent has been the case in every laboratory that has raised large stocks of Poeciliopsis under conditions similar to those at Rutgers. Usually individual fish are not maintained in the laboratory for more than two years. All fish not needed for on-going studies or for maintenance of the stock are preserved in formalin. Studies are in progress to determine the parameters affecting mortality in the laboratory stocks. Most of the mortality has been restricted to periods when large numbers of several strains of fish were being reared. During these times space became a limiting factor and crowding became a problem. Additional space in a temperature controlled greenhouse has been obtained and at least a portion of the P. occidentalis subspecies to be covered by this permit will be housed there during times of crowding. When fish stocks are being kept at maintenance levels, mortality is considerably less than ten percent. Death due to disease is usually less than one percent.

7. (1) Persons involved with collecting and maintenance of the fish to be covered by this permit: Dr. Robert C. Vrijenhoek, Mr. James F. Lealle, Mr. Dominic Spinella, Ms. Susan Krepp.

(11) The date of the collection will be between 15 November 1977 and 31 January 1978. The lack of a firm collecting date is due to the uncertainty concerning when approval for the collection will be obtained from Federal and state authorities. Appropriate applications have been filed by the applicant.

8. The applicant is seeking a permit to collect frozen and live samples of two subspecies of Poeciliopsis occidentalis.

(1) The populations of P. occidentalis to be sampled are located in Monkey Spring on the Rali-X Ranch in Santa Cruz County (P. o. occidentalis) and in a spring on the San Bernardino Ranch in Cochise County (P. o. sonoriensis), Arizona. Permission is requested for a single collection of each subspecies during the period 15 November 1977 through 31 January 1978. The flexibility in time is needed in order to allow time for permission to be obtained from appropriate authorities. Permission has also been sought from Mexican authorities to collect Mexican species related to the fish to be covered by this permit. Once permission from all the above authorities has been granted the final dates for the collection will be determined.

(11) The collecting will be by seining and dip nets. The individuals selected will be mature and immature fish of both sexes. In order to conduct the planned studies the individuals must be at least 20 mm in total length. A total of 50 individuals of each subspecies will be taken, including 5 males and 5 females of each subspecies that will be maintained alive for breeding purposes. The live specimens will be shipped by air to New Jersey as was described in 6. iv. above.

(111) This collection will complete a survey of genetic variation in P. occidentalis that has been being conducted under NSF Grant DEB76-19285 to the applicant. This study has been completed for the Mexican portion of the range of this species (copy of manuscript in press is attached). That portion of the study was completed with the cooperation and assistance of Mexican authorities. This study of genetic variation in P. occidentalis is part of a larger study of variation in a complex of sexually and asexually reproducing fishes in the genus Poeciliopsis that is being conducted by the applicant under NSF Grant DEB76-19285. The grant provides funds for the maintenance of live stocks in the laboratory and for the biochemical analysis of frozen fish collected in the wild.

(iv) The carcasses of the fish used in the genetic variation study will be preserved for use in morphological studies. The live fish and their progeny will be maintained as laboratory stocks for use in genetic studies. The carcasses of fish used in the genetic studies will be preserved. Laboratory stocks of P. o. occidentalis and P. o. sonoriensis will be available to other researchers in accordance with standard breeding loans.

THREATENED SPECIES PERMIT

Rare Feline Breeding Compound; Notice of Receipt of Application

Notice is hereby given that the following application for a permit is deemed to have been received under Section 4(d), 16 USC 1533(d), of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-205).

Applicant: Rare Feline Breeding Compound, P.O. Box 132, Center Hill, Fla. 33514; Robert E. Baudy, owner.

The Applicant seeks a permit to authorize an unlimited number of transactions through interstate commerce over a two-year period of time for the seven species of pheasant listed above in this paragraph, with the permit being subject to renewal according to section 13.24.

(2) The applicant possesses 100 aviaries varying in size from 6 feet wide by 18 feet long to 12 feet wide by 36 feet long. All are 6 feet high. Each has a shelter 6 feet square and six feet high. There are also two buildings, each 16 feet square and 7 feet high, which are heated in winter.

(3) Applicant has been raising ornamental pheasants for over twenty years. Prior to 1973 my pheasantry contained 45 species of ornamental pheasants. Now there are only twelve, but applicant would like to increase that number again. Applicant has raised approximately two thousand young birds in the last twenty years from the species listed above, and may be the only one in the country to have the very rare Imperial pheasant. The applicant has been active in conservation minded organization and is a director and past president of the American Pheasant and Waterfowl Society. He is also a member of the International Wild Waterfowl Society and the American Game Breeders Cooperative Federation.

Mortality of all birds hatched each year has been kept below 5 percent.

The Applicant is making this application to gain authorization to engage in interstate commerce with the seven species of pheasants listed above. This will enable the applicant to dispose of progeny raised each year to qualified breeders and thereby recover costs invested in the above species. This will also increase the "captive self-sustaining population" of each species involved and thereby enhance their overall chances for survival.

Upon termination of my breeding program, those birds covered by the permit as well as those which are not will be distributed among qualified breeders of those species concerned.

Very truly yours,
JAMES O. RUMBAUGH, Jr., M.D.

In accordance with paragraph 17.33 the following information is given:

(1) Jaguar, Panthera onca; Leopard, Panthera pardus; Tiger, Panthera tigris; Lemur, ring-tailed, Lemur catta.

Buy, sell, and transport the above species in interstate commerce for a period of two (2) years.

(2) Photographs and description of facilities attached.

(3) Robert Baudy, owner, personally supervises all personnel in the care of the animals at the Rare Feline Breeding Compound. Mr. Baudy's technical expertise is demonstrated by the fact that since 1960, 162 tigers, 324 leopards, and 152 jaguars were successfully raised at the compound. Mr. Baudy has also successfully bred puma, snow leopard, clouded leopard, ocelot, margay, asiatic golden cat, caracal, pallas cat, siberian lynx, canadian lynx, and bobcat.

At the present time, there are 117 exotic cats housed at the Breeding Compound. Included in this number are 8 tigers, 33 leopards, 3 snow leopards, 16 jaguars, 2 cheetahs, 9 clouded leopards, 7 ocelots, 13 leopard cats, and 3 margays.

Applicant is a member of the Florida Panther Recovery Team.

(4) Applicant will cooperate in any breeding program and maintain or contribute data to a stud book that is sanctioned by the U.S.D.I.

(5) No temporary storage is planned. All animal crates will meet acceptable standards with provisions for watering and feeding. Fastest means of transportation will be used. Both U.S.D.A. and Florida Game Commission standards are used.

(6) Oct. 1973.....Female leopard killed male during breeding.

Feb. 1974.....One young male tiger killed another young male.

Mar. 1974.....Euthanized female tiger, cancer of skin.

Sept. 1975.....Male jaguar killed, human mistake.

Do .....Male black jaguar, euthanized due to debilitate condition.

June 1976.....Female tiger died following surgery.

All of the above deaths have been studied and when possible, corrective steps have been taken.

(7) The purpose of the Rare Feline Breeding Compound is to propagate felines. Since the subject cats are rare and endangered in their wild state, it is imperative to have a good breeding stock in captivity.

If granted the requested permit, it would be possible to trade, sell, and buy cats that would introduce new blood lines into the Compound's cats, and to use its gene pools to help other captive cats.

The applicant will keep complete and accurate records of all activities required if subject permit is granted.

This attachment is in regard to my request for a Unlimited CSSP Permit for the following:

Brown Eared—Crossoptilon mantchuricum.
Bar-tailed—Symptomatic humiae.
Edwards—Lophura edwards.
Mikado—Symptomatic Mikado.
Palawan peacock—Polyplectran emphatum.
Swinhoe—Lophura swinhoe.

This permit is needed to allow me to sell off surplus stock, obtain a new blood line for the species that I have now, and to obtain the two species that I don't have in my collection.

I have enclosed on another page a description along with diagrams and photo's of the facilities in which I house my pheasants.

I am a member of the American Pheasant and Waterfowl Society and the American Game Bird Breeders Cooperative Federation, and I am thirty years old. I have been raising pheasants and waterfowl for eight years. I have seventeen species of pheasants including five that are now on the endangered species list. I also have twenty six species of waterfowl including one that is also on the endangered species list. I have successfully raised off all my endangered pheasants with the exception of my Brown Eared. My problem with them being infertility due to both being closely related, and my not being able to obtain any unrelated stock in my area.

In transporting these birds they will be shipped Air Freight. I usually ship and receive on United Airlines as they have more direct flights to more airports than do other air lines. The size of the shipping container of course would depend upon the birds, the most common size is 20" x 20" x 18", a Eared pheasant would have to be larger. It is constructed of a wooden frame covered with burlap preventing the birds from seeing out and being frightened and allowing fresh air in. The bottom is made of plywood and covered with straw. The top has a piece of hardware cloth all the way across one end allowing fresh air in the top, the rest is made plywood with foam rubber fastened to it to prevent the bird from hitting his head and injuring himself. On one corner I have a large can fastened which contains water, on the other corner one contains feed. (both of which can be filled and refilled from the outside) I also put freshly cut apples inside of the container for the bird to eat on during shipment.

I would definitely be willing to participate in a cooperative breeding program, and or contribute data on a studbook, or anything else that would help to preserve and increase the population of the species.

As for mortalities I have never lost any birds during shipping. I have of course lost birds, as does everybody during raising. I have lost two Bar-tails this year and one last year, two of which died from fighting and one from flying into a perch and hitting its head. I also lost one pair of Swinhoe due to Mink getting into the pen and killing them. I sometimes lose a bird during hatching as they don't get out of the egg. As in the case of Bartails losing two isn't bad considering I have raised twelve this year so far. In preventing such mortalities I try to provide large pens which usually takes care of birds fighting but of course this doesn't always work. In preventing predators from getting into the pens I place wire around the bottom and cover it with soil preventing anything from digging in. Around the side I have an electric fence to prevent anything from climbing up the sides and getting in.

My purpose for wanting a permit is for one thing a means of selling off my surplus stock. I try to keep several pairs of breeders of each species, but as other breeders with the price of feed and building facilities it is necessary to sell off any surplus that I raise and the local market is just not enough to take care of it. I would also like to obtain a new blood line to mix with the one that I have now to upgrade my stock. Being an avid bird fancier I am always interested in acquiring and breeding new breeds of birds. I feel that if myself and others don't continue to maintain and breed these birds they will soon be extinct. I have a lot of groups from local schools come out and they really enjoy looking at the birds. I also have a lot of people come by to take pictures. Myself being only thirty years old I would hope to be raising these birds for several years, but should it become necessary for me to terminate my activities I would hope to place my collection in with some of the other collections in my area, and some of the rarer species be donated to the Game Bird Preservation Center in Salt Lake City Utah.

OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
Proposed Budget Rescission

To the CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:
In accordance with the Impoundment Control Act of 1974, I herewith propose

CONTENTS OF SPECIAL MESSAGE

(in thousands of dollars)

rescission of $2.7 million in general criminal justice and corrections grant funds appropriated to the Department of Justice.

The details of the proposed rescission are contained in the attached report.

JIMMY CARTER.
THE WHITE HOUSE.
September 23, 1977.

Rescission #	Item	Budget Authority
R78-1	Department of Justice Law Enforcement Assistance Administration Salaries and expenses.....	2,668

*****

SUMMARY OF SPECIAL MESSAGES

FOR FY 1978

(in thousands of dollars)

Rescissions	Deferrals 1/
First special message.....	2,668
1/ Deferrals for FY 1978 cannot be proposed until October 1, 1977, in accordance with section 1013 of P.L. 93-344.	---

Justification:

Funds totalling $2,668,000 of budget authority available until expended in the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration's (LEAA) Salaries and expenses account are proposed for rescission. These funds represent the amount remaining available for general criminal justice and corrections formula grants. The funds had been allocated to State and local governments but were not used by them. In these cases, such unused funds revert to LEAA for general application.

The proposed rescission of these funds is equal to an amount proposed for transfer to Salaries and expenses, General legal activities ($1,445,000) and Salaries and expenses, Antitrust Division ($1,223,000), both in the Department of Justice. Additional funds are needed for General legal activities to alleviate a serious backlog of cases involving monetary claims of the government, white collar crime, corporate taxes, torts, fraud, and general litigation. Increased funding for the Antitrust Division is required to meet the additional grand jury workload resulting from criminal price fixing investigations, to increase ADP support in complex antitrust litigation, to administer the new antitrust enforcement grant program, and to maintain a computerized document retrieval system for the grand jury investigation related to ocean shipping.

In summary, the need for using the $2,668,000 for the General legal activities and in the Antitrust Division is greater than known LEAA needs for the funds. Therefore, they are proposed for transfer. This budget authority is also being reported as a rescission proposal to be consistent with section 1012 of the Impoundment Control Act which states that budget authority shall be proposed for rescission if it is no longer required for the purpose for which it was provided. The attached transfer language is included in a supplemental appropriations request presently before the Congress.

NOTICES

NOTICES

Comparison with President's 1978 Budget:

1. Budget outlay estimate for FY 1978.....	807.6

Current Outlay Estimates for FY 1978

3. Without rescission.....	807.6
4. With rescission.....	807.3
5. Current outlay savings (line 3-line 4) 1/.....	.3

Outlay Savings for FY 1979 1/.....	1.5

552a(e)(11) will be given to comments which are submitted in writing on or before October 31, 1977. Comments should be addressed to the Acting Director, Fair Information Practice Staff, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, 200 Independence Ave., SW., Washington, D.C. 20201. Comments received will be available for inspection in Room 526E, South Portal Building, at the above address. The routine uses will be adopted as of the closing date of the comment period unless comment resulting in a contrary determination is received and a revised notice published.

The following routine use is in effect for all systems of records within the Department with the exceptions noted below:

"In the event of litigation where one of the parties is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to effectively represent such party, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected."

The systems of records of the Office of Research and Statistics in SSA which are identified as: 09-60-0148; 09-60-0149; 09-60-0159; 09-60-0183; 09-60-0196; 09-60-0197; 09-60-0199; 09-60-0200; 09-60-0201; 09-60-0202; 09-60-0203; 09-60-0204 and 09-60-0209 do not include this routine use because statute/regulation preclude such disclosures from these systems.

Any additional modifications, additions, deletions, or corrections due to any inadvertent oversight will be published in later issues of the Federal Register.

It should be noted that there are certain routine uses that apply to a substantial number of HEW systems of records and that such uses have been set forth in the Appendix preceding the notices. In the notices of systems of records it is referred to by the following name: Appendix B of the Department Regulations (45 CFR Part 5b). Whenever this Appendix is cited, however, it is only the referenced line item which supplements the routine uses described in the rest of the system notice.

Dated: September 27, 1977.

Assistant Secretary for Management and Budget.
